TURKEY HUNTING TIPS GIVEN BY WILDLIFE EXPERT

EARL FRANKLIN KENNAMER

Auburn University Extension Service

Fish and Wildlife Specialist

SPRINGTIME turkey hunting has no equal. When that old tom sounds off at dawn from his high perch in a ridge or swamp pine, even the veteran hunter gets goose pimples!

Alabama ranks among the top states in numbers of wild turkeys. Sportsmen have an opportunity in 34 counties (including state management areas) to hunt turkeys during March and April.

While there is a fall turkey season, nothing compares with the sport of calling a bearded gobbler in the mating season. He's unpredictable. He may come to you strutting and dragging his wing tips on the ground and gobbling lustily. Or he may sneak up behind you without making a sound. More times than not, he won't come at all!

Turkey hunting during springtime is biologically sound. One tom may have a harem of five to seven or more hens, and one mating is sufficient to make the eggs fertile. When you bag a gobbler, there are many more around to take his place.

The turkey population in the past decade has apparently increased tremendously. This, I believe, is collectively due to better protection of the big birds, to trapping and transplanting wild turkey stock by the state conservation department to areas where they once existed half a century ago, to providing food patches in necessary instances, and to better education in game management.

Wild turkeys reach a weight of as much as 20 pounds, says Wildlife Specialist Earl Kennamer (above) who bagged this 20 pounder. Pointing out how the hunter can identify the wild turkey he says markings on the wild bird are brown and chestnut tipped tail feathers. On the barnyard turkey the tail feathers are white tipped.

Hunting that gobbler during April is easier said than done. I'd say the turkey has the keenest sight of all game and his hearing ranks with the best, even though he can't smell.

To try for that tom, get in the woods before daybreak so you can hear him gobble. And get as close to him as you can before he flies down. Then find a bit of screening cover—just enough to break up your outline—and a big stump or tree for a back rest. Settle down (and that's hard to do!). When you get your breath, imitate the yelp of a turkey hen. At times a "cluck" will be more effective than the customary yelp. If he's interested, he may rock the ground with his answering gobble, or he may say nothing at all. From then on it's a waiting game—and that may be an hour or longer, while you shiver in the morning cold or suffer from mosquito bites. I'll guarantee you'll be on the losing end most of the time because, by nature, the hen customarily goes to the gobbler— not the tom to the hen.

Turkey calling is an art; the beginner usually calls too much. You have a choice of many types of callers, and the cedar box and slate is used more than any other possibly because it's the simplest to use. There also is the slate and "scratch peg," the wingbone, the hinged-top box caller, and the snuff box. I prefer the horseshoe mouth caller with a thin rubber membrane. Some hunters use a leaf effectively, and I have seen a few who use only throat and mouth to call.

Certainly the turkey hunter should be well armed. Use nothing smaller than a 16 gauge shotgun with maximum loads of No. 4 to 6 shot. Let him walk within range and shoot for the head and neck. Here I like the double barreled gun because I usually load the second barrel with a heavy load of No. 2's in case he dosen't stay down with the 6's.

I've seen good hunters go several days during the season and fail to bring in a bird. There just isn't an easy way to bag a wild turkey!

in addition to doing all the other things," declared Johnny.

An example of the good breeding job done by the Rankins is the many awards their animals have taken. One bull—Basil Jester Advancer—being used on the farm now is classified Very Good and last year received the American Jersey Cattle Club Superior Sire Award. He has 36 tested daughters averaging 8,417 pounds of milk and 479 pounds of butterfat. He has sired both the winning Junior and Senior Get-of-Sire at the National Jersey Show and to date has 32 Excellent daughters.

The Rankin record in dairy shows includes the Best Udder Cow at Waterloo, Iowa; first place 2-year-old and 3-year-old and the Junior and Senior Get-of-Sires at the National Jersey Show; grand and reserve champions at the National Dairy Cow Congress; and the grand and reserve champions twice at the Mid-South Show in Memphis.

And in raising replacements the following system is used: heifer calves are taken from the dam when they are three days old and put in movable pens until they are weaned. They are fed milk substitute and one pound of whole milk, commercial calf feed, and Johnson grass hay. After weaning they are taken out of the pens and put on the cleanest available land for pasture in the summer or fall.

In the winter they are put in a shed and fed two to three pounds of calf feed and Johnson grass hay. In the spring they go on good grazing with some grain and hay until they're settled down. Then grain and hay are taken away. During the summer when grazing is poor they get hay. The following winter the animals are fed two pounds of range pellets each and as much hay as they need.

Breeding of the heifers is started at 13 to 15 months of age. They are moved to the dairy barn before calving and put in with the dry cows so they become used to the barn, feeding routine, and handling before they calve.

In regard to health, the Rankin herd is certified and a yearly blood test is made. The ring test is made at the milk plant, and heifer calves are vaccinated at five and one-half to six and one-half months of age. Everything under milking age is vaccinated for blackleg and malignant edema, and heifers up to breeding age are wormed regularly with phenothiazine.

For mastitis control proper milking and sanitation during milking is maintained. This year they have used a vaccine that seems to help prevent mastitis and also seems to have been useful in controlling old cases, according to Agent Mayberry. All the cows are checked during the dry period.

Quarters known to be infected are treated during the dry period and whenever a flare-up occurs during lactation. Treating when they are dry and vaccination have reduced the number of flare-ups considerably over the past several years.

Get 20 Percent Higher Yields

Plant First Generation Hybrid Corn Seed Do Not Use Second Year Hybrid From Crib

MELVIN MOORER

Extension Seed Crops Specialist

Auburn University

The picture above shows the last step of corn breeding to get hybrid seed corn. Tassels on the plot at the left have been removed. Pollen from corn tassels at right fertilize the detasseled plot. Hybrid seed are harvested from the plot on the left, or the detasseled plot—not from the one with the tassels. Corn of the plot on the right—by fertilizing itself—produced commercial corn and not seed corn.

HYBRID seed corn from the crib is hurting Alabama's chances for higher yields and income. It is reported that last year producers lost millions of bushels—and dollars—by using these inferior seed to plant nearly half their corn crop.

So it's no surprise that county agents and other farm leaders are campaigning for growers to use only the right kind of hybrid seed in 1960.

No farmer should go to his crib for hybrid seed corn. When he does, he's cutting his yield at least 20 percent under what he would have with first generation hybrid seed of adapted varieties.

MOORER

In this day of mounting costs, the best economy is good seed. They cost relatively little on a per acre basis, give higher yields, and hence lower per bushel production cost.

First generation hybrid seed are those produced under exacting conditions by crossing two single crosses. These seed are full of the hybrid vigor that's necessary for high yields.

To produce a hybrid from which planting seed are good for only the first year that they are used for reproduction, the following technical, controlled breeding procedure is followed.

For the first six to eight years two lines of open-pollinated corn are continuously inbred. Then the seed from these two lines of corn are planted in adjoining plots of land. When the tassels form, they are removed from one plot leaving the tassels from the second plot to cross-pollinate the detasseled corn on the first one. The seed of the detasseled plot are single cross seed. To produce first generation hybrid seed, two single crosses are planted in adjoining plots and cross-pollinated in the same way the two inbred lines were crossed. The seed harvested from the detasseled plot are the hybrid seed.

Second generation seed, as the name indicates, are from the first generation seed and have lost their hybrid vigor or, if planted, they revert back to the parent seed which is the inbred line of corn.

Some farmers have not realized just how badly they are penalizing themselves, primarily because they haven't realized the difference between the two generations of hybrids—one very excellent, the other very poor.

Records show that in 1959 Alabama farmers planted a total of 2,247,000 acres in corn—by far the state's biggest row crop. Of this total, 1,887,000 acres were planted to hybrids. So far so good, for the best hybrids out-yielded by 20 percent the open-pollinated varieties, which accounted for 360,000 acres last year.

But the catch is that approximately 800,000 acres of the 1,887,000 acres of hybrids were reported by seedsmen as being first generation hybrids. If this is true, then the remaining 1,087,000 acres of hybrid corn were in second generation hybrids from the crib.

Even so, the state's average yield for last year was 28 bushels per acre. That's a long way from the 15-bushel-per-acre crops of a few years ago. So progress has been made.

But, what if most of our corn were planted to recommended hybrids? Our farmers would be millions of bushels—and dollars—ahead.

In addition to increased yields, recommended varieties of first generation hybrid seed have considerably more resistance to lodging and insect damage. Generally, they have better quality ears and grain at harvest time.

Production Supplies, Prices, and Parity

Buying production supplies—the other half of farm marketing—usually is concentrated in late winter and early spring and is equally as important as selling farm products, maybe more so in times like these when prices you pay are high and prices you receive are low. Knowing when and when not to cut costs is a major point in good marketing and good farm management.

Three aspects of buying any supply item even more important than the cost are: will the item pay, how much supply of a certain item will pay most, and the right proportion of money spent for each item to make it pay off the most.

The cost that has advanced most is wage rates. Farm labor that one dollar paid for in 1910-14 now averages $6.32. So, whether using your own or hired labor you have to be careful. There is little use for hand labor in the field today. It should be combined with farm machinery, fertilizer, and other items to make it go further.

The best buy a farmer gets today is in fertilizer. For $1.52 he can get the same value in fertilizer that he got for a dollar in 1910-14. In a comparable way the farm machinery index is now $3.77, motor vehicles $4.18, and building materials $3.94.

Breeding Ground

In the long run, Alabama and other Southeastern states will have to supply a higher percentage of the nation's cattle numbers and beef supply for more people—50 million more by 1975. With land worth $600 per acre and going up in the principal row crop areas of the country, you can be sure that less of it will be in pastures for the cow and calf and that such land will be pushed to the limit for maximum production—largely grain for feeding more cattle and other livestock and poultry. We must become the primary breeding ground for calves that are sent directly to slaughter and feeders that are carried to heavier weights and higher finish for local packers. We may also continue to expand the production of feeders that go to feed lots in the Corn Belt and elsewhere. This kind of market will improve the competition in the market and benefit every cattleman no matter what class of cattle he produces or to which market he sells.

Farm Surpluses

We need bold, imaginative, and far-sighted programs dealing with the problems of agricultural surpluses including a more accurate survey into the future of the food requirements of this nation and the world; a more effective means of diverting surplus production to the underdeveloped countries; and research programs in land-grant college experiment stations designed to develop industrial uses for farm surpluses.

Agriculture surpluses have both favorable and unfavorable aspects. The opposite of surplus is shortage and since supply and demand in agriculture can never be brought into perfect balance, it is far better to have too much than too little food. The population of the U. S. will likely increase by 50 million by 1975, while about 30 million acres of productive farmland will be taken out of cultivation in the same period.

Alabama Cattle in California Feed Lots

An Auburn man—now one of the key livestock marketing men in the Midwest—told me in December that in California he saw 18,000 head of cattle in one feed lot and that 4,000 of these were shipped by truck from Montgomery. These Alabama cattle showed better breeding and were feeding out better than the others which came mainly from western ranges. This feed lot operator—some distance from a railroad—trucked grain from the Midwest and pelleted hay from Canada. He paid nearly twice the price for corn that the Midwest farmer received. He gathered his three basic resources from widely separated areas on the North American continent. The marketing specialist added that the Midwest grain producer should be able to beat the California operator but didn't because the midwesterner could do a sloppy job and get by whereas the California feeder couldn't. There must be several points of significance in this for the cattle and beef industry in Alabama.

Farm Population Drops

Latest figures on farm population, released jointly on December 28 by the Bureau of Census and Agricultural Marketing Service, showed today's farm population at 21.2 million—a decrease of 3.9 million since 1950. Only one person in eight now lives on the farm compared with one in six in 1950, and one in three 50 years ago.

EXTENSION GETS NEW FILM—A new 4-H Club film has been added to the Auburn University Extension Service film library. Available on request, the film is called "The Promise in the Glory" and was produced in Virginia when 4-H Club members from 20 states participated in a 4-H tractor contest. Through this film you can see what the clubsters saw on various tours while attending the tractor meeting. Here, Floyd Clardy (left), district sales manager of the American Oil Company (donor of the film), presents Dr. E. T. York Jr., Extension Service director, a picture taken from one scene of the film. The 16 millimeter, educational film is 22 minutes long, according to Clardy.

Prepare Now

APRIL is a good month for putting in patches of large partridge peas for quail. A limited supply of seed is available. Check with your county agent on sources. And be sure to follow his recommendations for planting.

Watch for Snakes

This is the month when snakes begin to stir about. There is little to fear from them if you will keep the following points in mind: only one of every six to ten snakes you see will be poisonous; a poisonous snake can strike only one-third to one-half its length; poisonous snakes don't come looking for you, so don't try to handle them; a bite from a poisonous snake is seldom fatal, provided you follow prescribed treatment; fewer than two persons die in Alabama as the result of poisonous snakebite and in several cases deaths were the result of snake handling rites; wear boots when you go into the woods, watch where you step, and use a flashlight at night.

Fishbaits To Use

It's been my experience that jug and trotline fishing for channel catfish gives best results in spring and fall. Baits? Give the whiskered rascals whatever is popular. I tried chicken entrails in one place, but others had better success with shad because they're oily, I guess. Then later, in other waters, chicken entrails caught more fish. Stink baits, earthworms, catalpa worms, and mussels are also good.

Fishpond Balance

Know what the difference is in the amount of bass and bluegills in a good fishpond? In general, you can expect three to four pounds of bream, all sizes, for every pound of bass, all sizes. When the ratio is greater than this, you may have too many small bluegills; if smaller, you may have a great population of small bass.

Throw Back Small Bass

Every year your county agent and I visit hundreds of ponds with unbalanced fish populations. The biggest fault I find is too many small bluegills. And usually, too few bass are present to "eat down" this reproductive fish. For this reason I suggest that pond-owners return to the water all bass weighing less than a pound (or under 11 inches in length) provided they are not harmed by hooking. These small bass, if plentiful in number, will tend to keep dollar-size bluegills in check and, as a result, those remaining can gain in size.

Know Poison Oak

Many persons who don't know poison oak or ivy when they see it are liable to suffer rash and itching sensations when they touch it. If at any time you see leaflets on a vine growing up a tree, and the leaflets look like water oak leaves and have pink or reddish stems, stay away. If you think you have touched poison oak or ivy, wash with bicarbonate of soda solution. The poison is an acid.

Protect The Turkey Hen

April is an important month in wild turkey management. The turkey hen nests on the ground. Any unusual and disturbing activity may make her desert her nest. For this reason, fox hounds and stray dogs should be kept out of the woods. If cutting timber, restrict sawmilling activities to one area rather than working over the entire range.

Rankin Brothers Of Marengo County Carry On Excellent Dairy Operation

BRUCE JETTON
Auburn University Extension Service

THE name Rankin has been synonymous with fine Jersey dairy cattle herds in Alabama for many years. The dairy program started by the late A. G. Rankin is still being carried on by Mrs. Rankin and her sons, Amzi, Jr., Johnny, Joe, and William, on 1,253 acres at Faunsdale in Marengo County.

All four sons attended Auburn and studied agriculture, with Amzi and William completing four years. And they have continued to add to the Rankin dairying reputation by having an efficient operation and by winning top honors with their cows and bulls at shows throughout the United States and Canada.

However, when the entire Rankin farm was put on the Farm and Home Development phase of the Extension Service in 1956, the family discovered that the operation could be made more efficient by doing some work on the forage and grazing program. Myles Mayberry, assistant county agent doing FHD work, says the number of cattle had increased without an increase in acres used for grazing and forage. They were harvesting and feeding to the cattle but the cows were not doing enough of the work. There is plenty of winter and summer grazing, the amount of grazing for the cows being doubled with sufficient silage and hay available. "There is now a better balance between grazing and supplementary feeding," says Mayberry.

And Amzi says, "There has been a lot of improvement made in the last two years due to the rearrangement of the roughage and pasture program."

There are two dairy units on the Rankin farm, one managed by Amzi and the other by Joe. Johnny and William are responsible for forage production and raising replacements, William being a 1957 graduate of Auburn with a major in agronomy.

An indication of the progress made during the past two or three years was evident recently when the unit managed by Amzi was awarded the first place Efficient Production Award for herds of over 56 cows. The award was presented to Amzi at the annual Dairy Herd Improvement Association meeting in Auburn.

The Rankin operation was featured at this same meeting. And it was revealed that Amzi had increased his production from 6,310 pounds of milk and 346 pounds of butterfat per cow to 7,325 pounds of milk and 408 pounds of butterfat. This was done during the year from Oct. 1, 1958, to Sept. 30, 1959.

Going back a little, County Agent Frank Jones explained that A. G. Rankin bought the present farm—known as the Cedarcrest Farms—in 1939. He purchased the beginning of the present herd in 1933 and bought his first Jersey cattle in 1919.

As of Jan. 1, 1960 there were 260 dairy cows, 126 heifers, and 100 calves in both units. And during 1959 there were 40 acres of oats that made 1600 bushels. For silage there were 53 acres of oats and clover making 636 tons, 15 acres of oats and alfalfa making 180 tons, and 35 acres of alfalfa making 350 tons. The silage is put up with about 150 pounds of crushed corn and beet pulp added per ton in five upright silos that have a capacity of 1500 tons. For hay there were 35 acres of alfalfa that produced 35 tons in one cutting and 175 acres of Johnson grass that made 17,500 bales.

For grazing there were 300 acres of Johnson grass grazed, 100 acres being seeded in 1959. There were 425 acres of improved pastures and 271 acres of oats planted in the fall of 1959 for grazing. Also planted last fall were 80 acres of wheat and 45 acres of alfalfa.

Of course, an outstanding phase of the Rankin operation is the breeding program. The Rankin brothers say a cow has to pay her way or go. And Dr. Jack Moore, state veterinarian department, says the Rankins have done one of the best jobs of breeding fine Jersey cattle of anyone in the South. "You've got to have a good breeding program

Time For The Outdoor Cook To Take Over

CALL it charcoal grilling, barbecuing, or cooking out—they all add up to good eating, relaxation, and wholesome fun for all.

It may be the fresh air, the companionship, or the menu. Anyhow, outdoor cooking is now an accepted way of American life. And it gives the head of the household an opportunity to prove his cooking ability to his family and friends.

Maybe it's the activity of preparing an outdoor meal, the aroma of hickory smoke, or the sight of a juicy steak on the grill and potatoes roasting in the glowing coals that stimulates the appetite; but whatever it is, outdoor eating is hard to beat.

To make the outdoor meal successful, make all the preparations you can before going out. Disposable eating equipment will come in handy if you are leaving home, or even for use in the back yard. Check the grill and other utensils that will be used and don't forget about fuel.

Building the Fire

A successful cookout depends on a good fire, and starting it in plenty of time is important. Often by the time cooking is completed, the coals have just reached the point where they will do the best job. Start the fire about 30 minutes before cooking time when using charcoal, and an hour before cooking when using wood.

Both wood and charcoal are good sources of heat. But when using wood, select a good hardwood. Plenty of wood will be needed to produce enough coals to cover the bottom of the fire box of an average size grill if all the grill surface is to be used for cooking, so don't be too saving on the wood.

Charcoal is a favorite fuel for outdoor cooking, but you may have difficulty at first getting the pieces to catch fire. Start by heaping the charcoal in the middle of the fire box. A commercial charcoal lighter fluid is probably the safest and most effective way of lighting the fuel. When the charcoal has burned until it becomes almost covered with white ash, spread evenly around the fire box or under the area to be used for cooking. There are several kinds of charcoal on the market. One very popular kind is in the form of briquets which give a uniform heat and are easy to handle.

Kinds of Equipment

It doesn't take fancy equipment for good, outdoor cooking. You can go to your local hardware store and find anything from the simplest fire box and a rack to the most elaborate units equipped with revolving spits, electric motors, and lights. However, in buying a grill consider first whether or not it is portable, durable, easy to clean, and the right size for your family's needs.

Grills may be made with a few stones and a rack built over the fire. Or the industrious chef may design one of his own. With a little cutting, drilling, and welding, a workable unit can be built from a drum, a few pieces of pipe, and an old oven rack.

Other outdoor cooking equipment such as long-handle forks, knives, food tongs, skewers, and fire equipment can be found at any hardware or sporting goods store. However, a raid on the kitchen pantry will usually turn up all the equipment that is necessary to do a good job of outdoor cooking.

Steak on the Rack

Choose your favorite steak and have it cut three-fourths to one and a half inches thick. Trim excess fat and score—make short cuts one inch apart—around the outside edge. This prevents the steak from curling around the edges during grilling. Cook the steak six to eight minutes, depending on the thickness. Then turn and cook six to eight minutes longer. Of course, the length of cooking time should be determined by how done or rare you like your steak. You should allow a slightly longer cooking time for medium-done and well-done steaks.

Barbecue sauces may be used on steaks; however, if you crave that full, rich, natural beef flavor, go light or leave off the barbecue sauces. A little butter, pepper, and salt is all that is needed.

These are just a couple of the many suggestions for outdoor cooking outlined in Extension Service Circular 565, "Fun With Outdoor Cooking" by Extension Specialists Ray Cavender and Fariss Prickett. This circular will be available to you at your county and home demonstration agent's offices throughout the state this month.

These Changing Times

FOLKS in Walker County have been interested in 4-H Club work for a long, long time—nigh on to 50 years I'd say. County Agent J. C. Bullington tells me that 4-H work in the county dates back to the corn and tomato club days and has been gaining every year since.

Claude Ferguson was one of the corn club boys, says Bullington, who did a fine job and then saw the need of improving the quality of hogs as well as corn. When he started raising hogs it took about a year to get one to killing size.

BYRD

Through Claude's efforts toward breeding better balanced animals, he learned to keep pigs from good milking mothers that turned out big litters of fast growing pigs, and he has stayed with the type that cut out the best pork.

Over the years he has bought boars from the best breeding stock he could find. Result: Claude has reduced the time of growing a market hog from one year to five months. One of his recent litters of pigs was put on the market averaging over 200 pounds per pig in five months.

We've still got some piney woods rooters round about that never reach market weight, but times have changed for most folks.

Seed Treatment Important

Would you feed your cow faulty feed and still expect her to fill the pail with milk? Certainly not. Neither would the wise farmer plant poor quality seed and expect Mother Earth to yield forth a good harvest.

That's why County Agent George McMillan of Houston County and others like him over the state are telling our farmers the merits of top-quality, certified seed of all crops. And that's not all. Seed treatment is needed as insurance against soil-borne diseases and fungi. Farmers should check every bag of seed before buying to see that a seed treatment tag is attached. Every bag of treated seed must carry this tag in order to comply with the state law, says Agent McMillan.

And if you plant home-grown seed or seed from your neighbor's storehouse, be sure to treat them for best results.

Soil Acidity And You

Will soil acidity steal your cotton profits in 1960? This sneak thief has been robbing profits from many farmers in Jefferson County for years, declares County Agent Clint Johns.

According to one experiment at Auburn, the seed cotton yield at a pH of 6.5 was 467 pounds more than at a pH of 5.5. This was worth over $50, points out the agent. That amount would have paid for the required lime several times, and the liming operation would not have to be repeated for four or five years.

It may be a little late to soil test for your cotton—but there are other crops such as pasture crops that you'll be planting. And they need lime, too.

Soil testing is your inside look at the needs of your soil, so don't stand by while opportunity—and your profits—roll past.

Another Hidden Marketing Cost

OTIS RUSSELL
Extension Marketing Economist
Auburn University

YOUR livestock weigh less at the market than they do at your farm. And it's not the fault of scales or the weighmaster. The critters simply lose weight.

Such weight loss is called shrinkage or drift and is of major importance in marketing livestock because it is a hidden marketing charge. Shrinkage can't be completely eliminated, but an understanding of the factors which influence it will eliminate much of the uncertainty about its cost.

Two Kinds of Shrinkage

There are two kinds of shrinkage—excretory and tissue. Both are due to the physiological functioning of the animal's body, but the importance of the excretory shrinkage weight loss far exceeds that of tissue shrinkage.

RUSSELL

Excretory shrinkage is simply an elimination of fill-water and fecal material. Though this shrinkage results in loss of live weight, it does not affect carcass weight. And to the packer, fill is of no value. It reduces the dress yield of the live animals and likewise, reduces the prices the packer may offer per hundred pounds of liveweight, if animals are excessively filled.

Weight lost by the elimination of fill can be easily replaced by giving livestock access to feed and water in the market. However, there is no reason to feed and water slaughter livestock at a market, other than for humane reasons. According to Federal law, livestock moved in interstate commerce cannot be transported for more than 28 hours without access to feed and water. An additional eight-hour extension may be obtained with shipper's consent.

Tissue shrinkage, though less important in terms of actual weight loss, results in actual loss of carcass weight. This type of shrinkage is due largely to the loss of tissue water through respiratory and other body activities. Tissue shrinkage can be offset by giving livestock access to feed and water, too. But it takes longer as these nutrients must be converted to animal tissue.

In estimating carcass value from live animals, packers must be concerned with an additional tissue shrinkage—that which occurs in the cooler. It's generally referred to as cooler shrink, and runs about two to three percent of hot carcass weight.

Amount of Shrinkage

Research data on livestock shrinkage is small. But available data indicates that it varies from about two to ten percent of the animal's total live weight.

Swine appear to lose less weight in transit than other species. Studies indicate that this loss may vary from about one and one-half to three percent of their farm weight. That is, a hog weighing 200 pounds on your farm will probably weigh about three to six pounds less at market.

Cattle shrinkage is generally heavier than shrinkage in swine and will probably average near the three to five percent level. Sheep show the greatest rate of shrinkage, averaging nearer the six to nine percent level. However, remember that a number of factors influence both the amount and rate of shrinkage occurring in livestock.

Factors Affecting Shrinkage

Probably the most evident factor influencing shrinkage is the distance livestock are hauled and the time required to move them. Though the total weight loss increases as the distance increases, the rate of shrinkage declines. For example, even though steers may be moved several hundred miles to slaughter, more than 50 percent of all the shrinkage which will take place will occur during the first 50 miles.

The amount of fill livestock carry at the time of weighing will, of course, influence the amount of shrinkage occurring in transit—the more fill, the heavier the shrinkage.

Weather also influences the amount of shrinkage that will occur in livestock. Shrinkage will be greater in the summer than in winter, and extreme cold or heat will also increase shrinkage.

Many other factors influence shrinkage, too. Younger and lighter animals will show a greater rate of shrinkage than will more mature and heavier animals because there is more moisture in their bodies. Mixed loads of livestock tend to exhibit a greater rate of shrinkage than straight loads, too.

WAY I SEE IT...

by Dr. E.T. York, Jr. - Director
Auburn University Extension Service

COMMERCIAL horticulture is big business in the South.

Each year southern farmers sell about $750 million worth of fruits, nuts, and vegetables—considerably more than the returns from either hogs or broilers. Of the four leading states producing vegetables for fresh markets, three are from the South and two—Florida and Georgia—are our next door neighbors.

Room for Improvement

Unfortunately, Alabama is far down this list. At the present we are selling only $25 million worth of fruits, vegetables, and nuts each year. This accounts for less than five percent of our total farm income. We are obviously falling far short of keeping up with our neighbors in this phase of our total agriculture.

Let's look at some of our opportunities to expand. First of all we know that markets for these products are expanding both inside and outside the state. The fact that the United States must feed some 50 million more people by 1975 presents a tremendous challenge to anyone interested in the production and sale of food products. This is particularly true of fruits and vegetables since per capita consumption is also steadily increasing.

Conditions Suitable

Commercial horticulture is well adapted to many of Alabama's resources. We have a wide variety of soils well suited to a great many crops, a favorable rainfall, and a long growing season. We have or can impound water for supplemental irrigation as needed. Our southern counties have the advantage of being able to produce crops for early markets. And the elevation in many of our central and northern counties provides distinct advantages of cool summer temperatures and late fall frost.

Alabama is a state of relatively small farms. Over one-half of our farms are, in fact, less than 50 acres in size. Many of our farms are obviously too small to provide a satisfactory income unless they are devoted to a more intensive type of agriculture—where labor can be more fully employed and where higher returns per acre can be realized.

Highly Competitive Market

While we have excellent potentials for development, the achievement of these potentials will not be easy. In the first place, we are concerned with a highly competitive market. There are no great voids in the supply of fruits and vegetables except for seasonal scarcities due to drought, freezes, or other factors. Consequently, if we expect to expand production, we must be competitive with other producers.

This means that we must produce and market a competitive product—one high in quality and consumer acceptance.

The way I see it, one of our big problems at present is our low per acre production. Research information suggests that we can double or even triple present yields of many of our horticultural crops by use of proper production practices. We must do a better job in this respect if we expect to compete successfully with other producing areas.

Markets Look Promising--

Volume, Quality Stressed By Co-op For Chilton's '60 Truck Crops

Chilton County Fruit and Truck Growers' Ass'n., Thorsby, Ala., is to act as farmers' marketing agent for blackberries, pickle cucumbers, roastin gear corn and tomatoes.

In making 1960 marketing plans and contacts, Association directors are constantly aware of the importance of volume and qauilty of produce necessary to make any marketing effort successful .

Food crop producers interested in utilizing the facilities of the Cooperative Association during the coming production season are requested to carefully consider the following program remainders:

Pickle Cucumbers

An agreement has been reached with W. & W. Pickle Company, Montgomery, through which Chilton County Fruit and Truck Growers Ass'n., Thorsby, Ala., will act as receiving Agent for pickle cucumbers.

Cucumbers may be produced by Chilton County farmers under contract to W. & W. Pickle Company. They can be delivered to Thorsby. Guaranteed cash prices will be paid to producers on day of delivery. Prices are:

No. 1's-$5.00 per 100 pounds
No. 2's--$2.50 per 100 pounds
No. 3's-$1.00 per 100 pounds
Nubs, crooks, etc. $.50 per 100 pounds.

No limit has been placed on acreage for Chilton County for 1960. Cucumber seed and contracts for this crop may be secured at County Agent's office, Clanton, or at Thorsby Truck and Implement Co., Thorsby, Ala.

Tomatoes

Cooperative Association is equipped to handle bulk green tomatoes providing trailer loads of tomatoes sufficiently smooth to make the repack house grade, can be received on a given market day.

Roasting Ear Corn

Buyer contacts have been made through which additional volume of fresh corn can be marketed locally. Cooperative is equipped to grade, pack and chill corn preparatory to marketing out of the local market area.

Blackberries

All supplies of Alabama hold-over berries in frozen storage, or as canned, berry juice have been sold West Coast producers have effectively reduced acreage. Frequent calls are being received from users requesting berries. Chilton County evidently has a timely opportunity to re-expand this crop. Now is the proper time to set berry fields. Plants can be secured from existing growers. Call County Agent's office if you need assistance in locating blackberry plants.

Orange Rips Blues To End Clanton's Spring Football

By Wayne Atcheson

The Orange team spearheaded by their passing attack ripped the Blue team 32 to 13 last Friday afternoon.

John Will Wyatt threw a 61 yard pass to Bubba Deason early in the first quarter to send the Orange team ahead 6 to O. Gene Roach's place kick off to the right and was no good.

Shelton 1st Blue TD

Tommy Shelton scored the Blues first touchdown in the next quarter on a 13 yard run after Elliott Monroe had intercepted a pass on the 30 yard line. Gene Roach, who kicked extra points for both teams converted for the Blues.

Orange Scores on 62 Yd. Pass

The Orange team came right back and scored on a 62 yard pass play from quarterback John Will Wyatt to Mike Mims. Roach kicked the extra point and the Orange squad was ahead 13 to 7 at the half.

Carroll Recovers Fumble

In the third quarter Clay Carroll recovered a Blue fumble on the 30 yard line and a tuochdown was in the making. A twenty yard pass from John Will Wyatt to Curtis Deason carried the ball to the one yard stripe and Wyatt sneaked over from there. Roach kicked the extra point.

After the Orange kicked off, Tommy Shelton of the Blues fumbled on the first play and the Orange eleven recovered on the 28 yard line. Wyatt threw John Robinson and Mike Mims two passes that carried down to the eight. Wyatt then carried the ball and fumbled, but Melvin Billingsley was there to recover and take the ball on in for the touchdown. Roachs try for the extra point was no good. The score was now 26 to 7.

Orange Scores Again

The Orange team scored again in the last quarter on a one yard plunge by John Robinson. The extra point attempt was no good.

The Blues scored their last time also in the third quarter on a 37 yard pass play from Hilliard Wyatt to Earnest Driver. The extra point was blocked.

HAZARD HATS—The hats modeled by these Lee County home demonstration club members are not as crazy as they might look. The ladies shown above participated in a skit on home safety given at a recent workshop in Opelika, and the hats represented safety hazards around the home. For example, one hat is covered with labels from poisons often left within the reach of children. Another was made from cabbage leaves that might cause a person to slip, another from broken glass, etc. From left to right are Mesdames Lula Jordan, J. W. Lawler, M. W. Pope, Preston Whatley, Luther Hinson, Mark Prince, Willis Edwards, Assistant Home Agent Barbara McMillan, Lynch Whatley, Jesse George, and Wilma McCarthy. In the top picture displaying the hazard hats more clearly are, left to right, Mesdames Preston Whatley, Mark Prince, Willis Edwards, M. W. Pope, Jesse George, and Agent Barbara McMillan.

This issue of This Month in Rural Alabama is dedicated to the thousands of home demonstration club members in the state, to the 67 home agents and their assistants, and to the women of the state Extension staff who help rural homemakers carry out the task of improving home life.

National HD Week Coming Up
Homemakers Recognized For Good Work

By TUTT CAWTHORNE
Extension Editorial Assistant
Auburn University

IN this rapidly changing world, the role of the homemaker has not been left behind. And as evidence of the fact, take a look at what's doing with the 47,090 women in Alabama who belong to home demonstration clubs.

According to Mrs. Mary E. Coleman, state home demonstration agent with the Auburn University Extension Service, there are 1,681 home demonstration clubs in Alabama. Through these organizations and with the assistance of county home agents, the HD club woman is adding to her skill in all phases of homemaking.

Home demonstration work, carried on at local, county, and state levels, offers women the opportunity to broaden their interests and work toward a better life at home and in the community, says Mrs. Coleman.

Along with those activities which first come to mind in connection with HDC—such as food preparation, clothing, home management, and gardening—clubs over the state undertook various civic projects during the past year. These included health, youth work, civil defense, driver safety, and many more.

As a part of various health projects, educational programs were given at state, county, and local club meetings; contributions of clothing, books, and personal items were made to mental, tuberculosis, and veterans' hospitals; and hospital beds, wheel chairs, and other sick room equipment were purchased by local clubs for community use.

Working with youth, HD clubs emphasized health and safety, purchased playground equipment, and sponsored parties for young people. Other clubs held driver vision clinics, helped equip and maintain county buildings, and donated to scholarship funds.

But what about things like canning and sewing which used to be the main interest of HDC work? The record there is fine, too, according to Mrs. Coleman. For instance, 19,632 farm women canned and froze more than seven-and-a-half million quarts of fruits and vegetables and eight-and-a-half million pounds of meat in 1959.

As for sewing, more women than ever realize that their ability with the sewing machine can do much to stretch the family clothing dollar. Special sewing problems are the subjects of many club demonstrations, and many clubs hold revues each year in which each member models one of the dresses she has made. Last year 397 clubs over the state held clothing revues in which 1,751 dresses were modeled. Of this number, 729 garments were entered in county competitions.

In the field of home improvement, 6,578 women refinished furniture last year; 3,269 reupholstered furniture; over 14,000 made new curtains and draperies for their homes; and thousands more made other improvements.

One favorite method of helping women to acquire new techniques in these areas—furniture renovation, tailoring, handicrafts, and others that require special skills—is through workshops. These are conducted by the county home agents and Extension specialists of the Auburn Extension Service. Local club leaders are also selected to help guide the clubs' activities in certain areas of homemaking. And their demonstrations on varied subjects help widen homemakers' knowledge, interests, and abilities.

CROSS-STITCHED PICTURES—Mrs. Gladys Brooks of the Meridianville Home Demonstration Club in Madison County has many talents. Besides cross-stitching the pictures she is showing to Home Agent Oenone Cook (left), she has used her needlepoint talent in reupholstering her dining room chairs, furnished the rooms in her home with textile paintings, and completed numerous other tedious works of art that she learned to do at home demonstration club meetings. Mrs. Brooks is now interested in ceramics—a hobby that is catching on fast throughout the county in HD circles.

Wilcox County Home Demonstration Agent
(State HD Agents' Association President)

PLANNING a home demonstration program to reach the most homemakers can be a problem, especially where mothers with young children and working mothers are involved.

Therefore, to determine some of the facts needed in planning a more suitable and widespread program in Wilcox County, a survey was conducted to find out the age groups involved and the percentage of part- or full-time workers in the county.

The survey, conducted in 1956, showed that 15 percent of the homemakers were 30 years old or younger and 25 percent, 30 to 40 years of age. There were 36 percent working part- or full-time.

The county council planning group realized these facts could be used in adjusting the home demonstration program to reach more working homemakers as well as young homemakers who, for one reason or another, could not make the afternoon meetings. Thus, new or rescheduled clubs were brought into the picture.

By 1959 four HD clubs with an enrollment scheduled to meet during morning hours in order that young homemakers could be reached. These homemakers either had hired help during the mornings or their children were away at school, giving them a few hours in which to attend the meetings.

Clothing for the pre-school child and a sewing sequence were topics of demonstrations prepared for the morning clubs. The latter program consisted of making a garment in three steps and was given in three consecutive, monthly meetings. Other demonstrations include slip covers, colors in the home, draperies, kitchen planning, and landscaping. The morning meetings are very informal with the time being spent on the demonstrations.

In one community where the majority of the homemakers work during the day, a club was organized to meet at night. With an enrollment of 13, this club includes young homemakers as well as several older members who have experience in HD work.

The Wilcox County Home Demonstration Council feels that this adjustment of the county program has been effective in reaching more homemakers—and at a time when changing economy has demanded changes in the family's living habits.

Home Agents Hold Leadership Schools

HOME demonstration agents throughout the state are constantly studying new and better ways for the homemaker to improve living conditions in the home, stretch the family food dollar, and numerous other phases of family living.

Among these is the county-wide workshop on furniture including footstools or Ottomans held annually in Monroe County by Home Agent Ann Richardson. This year, Agent Richardson said 27 leaders attended the workshop where emphasis was on Ottomans.

Explaining the procedure followed in making an Ottoman Miss Richardson said, "you need seven, five-quart oil cans which may be found at any service station. Some of our leaders even used fruit juice cans for making smaller Ottomans. But the standard size Ottoman can be made with the oil cans.

"Wrap each can with old fabric and form a scalloped arrangement by placing one can in the center and the other six around it. Next, place the arrangement on heavy cardboard and draw and cut out a pattern—one for the top and one for the bottom. Then, make another pattern from newspaper to use later in cutting the lining and outside covering.

"Now you are ready to bind the cans together. Three long strips of strong cloth are needed for this step. Bind the cans firmly together by running each piece of cloth snugly over the top, down the side—not in the valley between the cans but over the outermost edge, underneath the cans, up the other side, and fasten securely to the other end on top.

"With the newspaper pattern cut two top pieces and pad for a cushion. Tack this to the cardboard. From two yards of finishing material, cut the top and bottom and a wide strip to go around the side. This piece should be wide enough to tuck underneath the Ottoman. Sew cording to the top cover and then sew the side piece to the top and the cording. Now slip the completed covering over the Ottoman, tuck, and tack or sew securely underneath the bottom. Covering the bottom is optional," concludes Agent Richardson.

Representatives from the workshop are giving the demonstration in 10 clubs throughout the county. Other leaders are being trained, and other schools will be held.

FANCY WORK—These ladies have worked closely with Home Agent Ann Richardson in Monroe County carrying out county-wide home demonstration projects. Here, they work on Ottomans made from oil cans, padding, and cloth. Left to right they are Mrs. B. L. Hughes, Mrs. James Watkins, Agent Richardson, and Mrs. Lawrence Ginwright.

MILLET AND SUDAN. Alabama tests have shown the superior yielding ability of Gahi-1 millet over other varieties. More leafy than common millet, this variety remains productive late in summer and supports milk production at a high level. And since it is a hybrid, only first generation seed should be planted. Sudan varieties have consistently yielded less than the best millet varieties, but of the available varieties, piper is the best.

MITE CONTROL. Control measures must be thorough in combating northern feather mites. Although this mite completes its life cycle on chickens, it travels readily from bird to bird and is on chicken house walls, equipment, and wild birds. Wild birds and rodents must be eliminated from houses for successful control. Dusting sulfur, malathion, Black Leaf-40, toxaphene, and Co-Ral are effective insecticides.

APPLE DISEASES. Control of bitter rot, flyspeck, sooty blotch, and other fruit rot apple diseases starts with sanitation during dormancy. Destruction of mummied fruit on trees and ground and pruning out blighted twigs, cankers, and all dead wood removes important sources of infection. Spraying with captan as the first cover spray and at 10 to 14-day intervals thereafter prevents fruit infection.

FIRE ANT BAIT. Use of baits to rid land of the mound-building, imported, fire ant shows much promise. Peanut butter containing one-eighth of one percent Kepone, a stomach poison, was the most effective of over 400 baits tested. This peanut butter bait was 100 percent effective in a 40-acre experimental area in 1959.

WATERMELON VARIETIES. Highest yielding varieties in 1959 watermelon trials at the Chilton Area Horticulture Substation were Charleston Grey and Blackstone. Charleston Grey produced 957 marketable melons per acre weighing 22,872 pounds; Blackstone yielded 892 marketable melons weighing 22,496 pounds. Charleston Grey is a long, grey melon and Blackstone a round, dark green or blue melon.

EGG ASSEMBLY COST. The cost of picking up eggs on routes averaged 19 cents per case in 16 Alabama pickup routes studied during 1959. Truck costs, including overhead, comprised 59 percent of total costs, and labor accounted for 41 percent.

RURAL DEVELOPMENT. Development programs underway in Chilton and Fayette counties are pointing the way for expansion of the Alabama Rural Development Program. Research information on family characteristics and labor resources, income and occupations, problem areas, and opportunities for adjustment is being used in the development programs.

WOOD HARVESTING. Volume of products cut per man-hour worked is an important factor in reducing cost of any woods operation. Studies at the Fayette Experiment Forest revealed that a two-man crew can cut 10 percent more posts or pulpwood per man-hour worked than can a three-man crew.

by the House of Rep- the so-called civil ntains five provisions. ovision empowers federal district judges to appoint voting referees to register negro voters in areas where it is believed they are prohibited from registering. If local officials refuse to recognize the voting certificates issued by the judges on the referee's recommendation, they will be punishable for contmpt of court. This provision goes further and permits "provisional" voting whereby a person can vote in a state, local or federal election even while his registration request is pending court action.

In addition, the House-approved bill make it a federal crime to interfere with court orders in school desegregation cases; provides for federal assistance to continue the education of servicemen's children in areas where local schools are closed by integration disputes; makes it a federal crime to flee across state lines to avoid persecution for bombing offenses or for threats to bomb; and requires local officials to preserve federal voting records for a two-year period and to open them up for inspection by federal authorities.

Measure Punitive

Although some have labeled the measure passed by the House of Representatives as moderate, a careful examination of its loosely worded provisions will indicate it is not only unnecesarily severe but punitive as well.

The House measure will be taken up in the Senate this week, and discussion of this subject by Southern senators is expected to continue at length.

People who fear censure seldom rise above criticism.

Truth is the hub around which the whel of life revolves.

People who look backward are usually traveling that way.

If you expect to find the key to success you must unlock the door when opportunity knocks.

If you are a self-made man, you probably succeeded through self-made opportunities.

Proof of your lack of foresight will show up in the after effects.

The man who can lose his money and retain his friends is a wonder.

If you are a hustler you will not be satisfied with the waiting for things that come to those who wait.

People who can do things well can afford to let others do the talking.

When a man asks your honest opinion its praise he is looking for.

Chilton's Positive Attitude --

CRUSADERS for progress can shout and cry all they please, but until the voice of the people becomes loud enough to proclaim progress--plus the need for it--progress is practically dormant.

It is very heartening to witness to the fact that Chilton County is enjoying a revolution of minds and positive thinking is becoming more apparent every day. The people are speaking optimistically about Chilton's progress. They are voicing their opinion that we are growing, progressing, and they show that they realize the need for further development and progress.

Progress is not just a word. . . it is the actions of the people working for something which they know they need and something which must inspire them to do better and think more openly.

For many years Chilton County has been swept by a tide of "backward" thinking which is now, finally turning into a sincere desire to forge ahead and improve our County and its people. If it were only in one corner in one category, we would not be so enthusiastic. It is definitely a trend however, and we are proud of our people and their improved attitude toward the matters which are a definite step toward the good future of Chilton County.

We are not afraid any more to come out for what we believe and "progress", which used to be a word for speeches is now becoming a force being used for the betterment of all and developed by every "John Doe" taking his share of the responsibility and shouldering his load enthusiastically and optimistically alongside his neighbor!

Progress is necessary and is good. . . it is not the booger some would have us believe and the people of Chilton County now have the bull by the horns!

Why Integration Will Not Work--

FORCED Integration, the social mixing of the races, will not work in the South now or anytime be--cause the South does not want it!

The answer to the Integration problem is "equal Segregation". By that we mean equal, but separate facilities for the white and Negro races.

This idea has been successfully pursued in Clanton by intelligent City and County officials and though there are many improvements yet to be made, we are making progress and with harmony and good feeling in every corner.

We are not proclaiming Clanton as a model city, but when it comes to the problems of "equal Segregation" our responsible parties of both races are pursuing the rights of others with common sense foremost in their minds and actions.

Some of our larger neighbors would do well to pattern after us, since progress thus far has proved to be satisfactory for all concerned.

The primary objective should be, 'the rights of the other fellow' and if followed intelligently along these lines "equal Segregation" will not only work. . . it will prove to the mongers, the violent elements and to all people for all time that we, in the South believe in equal rights as much as anyone, but we do not believe in "forced" anything!

THINGS We see and hear

by BOB

SPRING is here, with its birds and bees, And there's nothing as useless as Anti-Freeze! Unless it's a thirty dollar gas heat bill!

GRANDDADDY used to say: "A place for everything and everything in it's place," and he confidentaly pursued this theory in his daily living. This would indicate, possibly too orderly a lfe for some, but we personally subscribe to his theory and we have found, and proven ourselves if nobody else that it works. It gives an anchor to an otherwise confused way of life. We like things orderly, whether it be personal belongings, working methods or public discussion. Being "fussy" about the disorder of things is entirely different from creating a pattern of action to reach a goal. Some of us are to orderly, tis true, but many of us are too impulsive. Which is best for you is obviously for you to decide. Creating order is not only self-satisfying but is the first step toward accomplishing a task and once faced with a task, impulse is not much to be desired!

CLAUDE Blackwell was snake bit last Saturday afternoon. Not in the literal sense (it's a little early for vipers); what we mean is, his luck was running sour. He came out of his place of business to get into his car and it had a parking ticket on it. When he tried to crank it, the several mechanical gadgets would not get together and it wouldn't start. He then had to go back to his office and call the missus to get him out of his dilemna. He turned down one offer of 20 bucks for his heap, but he made it very clear, had the fellow bid a bit higher he would have been the proud owner of a stalled auto complete with all the extras including a traffic violation! Some days it just don't pay to get up, Claude!

ALL sorts of praise and pats-on-the-back are due the Junior Citizens Club of Clanton Elementary School (Mrs. L. C. Warr's room-for their active participation in the local drive now underway to help the Crippled Children of Chilton County. March 17 through April 17 is Crippled Children month and these boys and girls really empty their hearts to the helpless and render services beyond that which we adults are able to give. They are a priceless lot and you'll be hearing more about them and their enthusiastic approach to a problem in the weeks ahead. Go to it Citizens!

IT all started back before World War I when some scientists with the Department of Agriculture were experimenting with the cross-breeding of various shrubs and plants. One day they crossed a hyacinth with spreading taxus, and they got a creeping, obnoxious, evil sort of growth that now infests the whole land like Kudzu. What is it? Hyataxus, natcherly!

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS from The Bible

I will say unto the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress: my God, in Him will I trust.
—(Psalm 91:2)

All the frailties and misfortunes that mortal flesh is heir to may assail us, but still we will be unhurt and strong when our faith and our trust remain firm in the Lord. In the confident knowledge of His mercy and His love, we can gain peace of mind and soul.

More 'Crippled Children' Funds Spent Locally Than All Combined

The Chilton County Chapter For Crippled Children Offers Speech Therapy

MANY Chilton youngsters are in need of help through speech therapy as shown above, but their families cannot afford the expensive treatments. That's where the local Alabama Society for Crippled Children and Adults comes in. It furnishes the necessary equipment to give these children the necessary treatments to make them normal, or as near normal as possible so that they can grow and learn. When funds are exhausted (every year) Chilton youngsters are deprived of this much wanted and needed assistance. Give today to the Easter Seal Campaign and help a Chilton County youngster in his efforts to attain normal, happy living!

THE Alabama Society for Crippled Children, sponsoring the drive for funds now in effect in Chilton County, is the most generous charity organization to Chilton County of any or all of the other charitable organizations.

There are some 300 children in Chilton County who derive help each year from the Society and the marvelous fact is that the Society does not merely return a PERCENTAGE of the funds raised in this County, but actually gives as much as 10 to 20 times more than Chilton actually raises.

There is no question that the local Society, under the capable supervision of Mr. I. S. Levine, now in his 26th year of service to the organization in this County, needs and deserves the support of literally every family in Chilton County.

Quota Is $4,600

This year's quota of $4,600 is being eagerly approached by a record number of volunteers, including many youngsters and a fine start has been made. This does not eliminate the fact, however, that your help is urgently needed and we plead with you to make an effort to give. . . something. . . if it's only a quarter.

And Speaking of Quarters

This year's campaign, on the local level, is in the form of a "Tribute Campaign" in honor of Mr. I. S. Levine's 25 years of service to Crippled Children of Chilton County. It has been estimated that if every person in Chilton would contribute only one QUARTER, the quota would be reached with some to spare. The quarter is suggested because it represents one penny a year for every year Mr. Levine has given his services to this Community!

Containers Are Out

Containers, bearing the Easter Seal markings have been placed in stores throughout Clanton and as soon as arrangements can be made those containers or others like them will be distributed throughout the County.

No Drag Out Campaign

Officials and participants in this year's drive for funds assure us that the Crippled Children Campaign will run it's given dates: March 17th through April 17th and not a day longer. Containers will be gathered up on the 15th and 16th and will not be left a bit longer. The campaign will be held within its date boundaries, but that makes it all the more urgent that those who wish to give do so as soon as possible.

If you cannot locate a container in Clanton (we assure you they are in prominent places) you may turn in donations at Levine's Dry Goods Company, Chilton County News or mail them to P.O. Box 189, Clanton.

Time Is Important

Time is always short, and so are funds. The local Crippled Children folks realize that you are called on incessantly by one drive or another. We would like to press home this point, however; the closest-to-home charity anywhere is this Crippled Children donation and if you want to see what your money does, attend one of the Clinic's held each year here in Clanton and we guarantee you will question no further just how effective this organization is!

Your donation is for works to be done with a child's faith to back you up. . . what more could you ask for your money?

MEDICAL SOCIETY URGES PEOPLE TO SUPPORT LOCAL RED CROSS BLOOD PROGRAM

To: Citizens of Chilton County
From: Chilton County Medical Society

WHEREAS Chilton County is faced with the probability of losing the Red Cross Blood Program because of the complacency of the people toward the vital needs of Red Cross.

WHEREAS the goal of $5,000.00 to carry out the entire program of Red Cross is very small compared with the benefits derived therefrom, and

WHEREAS this complacency has caused us to accept the attitude that the Blood Program is here and that it will continue whether or not we lend our efforts in every way to see that the entire program is continued.

NOW THEREFORE, we the Chilton County Medical Society urge the people of Chilton County to realize the true need of the Red Cross Blood Program and its benefits to the sick and needy at a time when money, or time, or efforts, are not counted.

The Chilton County Medical Society goes on record as heartily endorsing the Red Cross Blood Program and with full knowledge that the citizens are repaid ten-fold for their efforts in life-saving blood, with many other benefits too numerous to mention.

Should we lose the Red Cross Blood Program, the same amount of blood as was used at the Chilton County Hospital last year would have cost the citizens of this County over $10,000.00 if bought through commercial blood banks approximately TWICE our entire Red Cross quota which is only $5,000.00.

Again we, the members of the Chilton County Medical Society, urge that every citizen and businessman in Chilton County, get behind this program that more lives may be saved and the County reap the many benefits offered through the Red Cross Blood Program.

HUMANE SOCIETY OUTLAWS 'COLORED' CHICKS RABBITS FOR EASTER 'NOVELTIES'

Dear Editor:

This year Eastertime will find Alabama rid of a thoughtless and cruel practice of years past: the sale or giveaway of baby chicks, baby ducks, and baby rabbits as living toys for children to torture to death. In a few weeks after Easter the great majority of these animals have died from neglect, starvation, or childish brutality.

Last summer, to Alabama's credit the Legislature passed the following law prohibiting the practice:

"It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to display sell, offer for sale, barter, or give away any baby rabbits, baby chicks, or ducklings as pets or novelties."

We trust this will serve as ample reminder, so that no one so inclined can plead ignorance of the law as extenuation. Violations should not be condoned. A few children may be disappointed, but it can hardly be argued that this law which outlaws commercialized cruelty to animals is a deprivation of good, clean fun.

Sincerely,
Mrs. David W. Crosland,
President Alabama Federation of Humane Societies

WHY RED CROSS IS IMPORTANT TO CHILTON

March 22, 3960
To: Chilton County News
From: James N. Sudduth

I have been asked to write a few words to the citizens of Chilton County with reference to the current drive for Funds for our Chilton County Red Cross Chapter.

In the minds of most Chilton Countians, perhaps the most important aspect of our local chapter is its participation in the Red Cross Blood Program. Most every day here at the hospital, we see the vital need for blood and how essential it is to the restoration of health in so many cases. Chilton County hospital is so very fortunate to be able to participate in the Red Cross Blood Program at such a nominal fee. The fees charged by the hospital is for the materials used in transfusions and the tests done on the blood and the recipient BEFORE the transfusion is started. Also there is a small charge made for the transportation of the blood from Birmingham to Clanton. These charges should not be construed as being charges for the blood, for the blood itself is FREE, thanks to our participation in the Red Cross Program. Our participation in the Red Cross Program which means that we must maintain a local Red Cross Chapter. We cannot maintain a local chapter without a financial support of our local citizens.

Surely no one who has received blood at this hospital needs to be told how vital this program is; surely these recipients will want to contribute and contribute generously to our local Red Cross Chapter.

In August of 1958, the citizens of Chilton County were told of their apathy to the Red Cross Program. When informed of the facts, they responded wonderfully and we were able to save our blood program. In the very near future, this same crisis will again face our local chapter. You did it before and I know you will do it again i.e. rise to meet this crisis. I call upon every health minded citizen to not only do his fair share but to help us raise the needed $5,000 in every way possible. Don't forget, our Blood Program depends on what YOU do about it.

Funeral services were held Sunday, March 13th from the Plantersville Methodist Church of which he was a member with the Rev. G. B. Golden, W. D. Holladay, and the pastor of the church jointly officiating. Interment followed in the Plantersville Christian Cemetery, Breslin Service directing.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Mary Lou Milling Sherrer; two sons, Onroe of Plantersville and Thomas of Selma, Ala; one daughter, Mrs. Louise McMillon of Selma, Ala.; one brother, C. D. Sherrer of Wilton, Ala.; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Maude Mitchell, Plantersville, Mrs. W. C. Porter, Selma and Mrs. Luther Osborne, Tuscaloosa; three grandchildren, Sandra and Ronnie Sherrer of Selma and Carl McMillon, Selma. Four brothers preceded Mr. Otto to the grove.

Nephews served as pallbearers.

The Methodist Church could not hold the sorrowing friends. Many had to set in cars outside during the services.

'This funeral has been said to have brought together more friends and relatives than any other in this community. There were many and indeed pretty flower arrangaments. Deepest sympathy is extended to the loved ones.

Killed In Accident

A tragic accident, taking the life of John Landon Stough, age 23, Friday night, March 25, 1960. The accident occured on the Jones Road of Highway 22, some 12 miles north of Selma, Ala. Landon was driving a truck which ran off the road and overturned, killing him instantly.

Landon was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stough of Maplesville. Landon was married to Miss Mary Juanita Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Carter, August 1958. He was a graduate of Maplesville High School and was employed by his father-in-law at a saw mill in Stanton. Landon was a hard working boy, and was spoken well of.

Funeral services were held at the Stanton Baptist Church, Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. with the Rev. Don Hill officiating. Burial in the Stanton cemetery, Breslin Service in charge.

Survivors include the widow, the parents and one sister, Mrs. Walter Bailey of Tuscaloosa. Our deepest sympathy goes to the family.

Death of Clifford Harville

The death of Clifford Harville, son of the late Mr. W. B. Harville and Mrs. Ruby Letcher Harville of Plantersville, took place on Monday, March 21, 1960 in Mobile, Ala. Clifford was born and reared in Plantersville and finished high school there, but moved to Mobile a number of years ago. His mother, Mrs. Ruby Letcher Harville is a patient in the Selma Baptist Hospital where she has been desperately ill for several months. One brother Lavon Harville lives in Selma.

MRS. Cora Wilson of Bessemer, Mrs. C. R. Givens and daughters, Trudy and Nancy of Bessemer, visited Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hathcock in Plantersville recently, and other relatives and friends in this community.

Mrs. McCullough Succumbs

Funeral services for Mrs. Birdie McCullough, 57, wife of G. W. McCullough of Route 2, Plantersville, Ala., were held Sunday, March 27, 1960, from Bethel Baptist Church, near Jones, Ala. Mrs. McCullough death occured Friday at 5:30 p.m., at the home of a daughter, Mrs. William Tuesdale, Selma. She had been in failing health for some time. Her entire life was spent in Autauga County, Ala.

Surviving are the husband, two sons and three daughters and eight grandchildren. W. L. Roy, a brother, of Prattville, four sisters, Mrs. Dennis Missildine, Billingsley, Mrs. Jessie L. Patterson, Clanton, Mrs. M. D. Carter, Prattville and Mrs. Ermie Duplrey, Waterbury, Va. We extend sympathy to the family.

Notice

Postmaster W. E. Davis of Selma, Ala., has invited any school group interested in touring the Post Office to call him and make reservations. We have a number of casses come down and see all the behind the scene work and we'd like to have more. Davis said a telephone call would be suitable to arrange such a visit.

Expresses Sympathy

The family of John Landon Stough wish to express their deep appreciation to the relatives and friends for the many, many kindnesses and deep sympathy shown them during their great sorrow.--Mrs. Mary Juanita Carter Stough, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stough and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Carter and family.

Mrs. Melvin Carter has been confined to the Selma Baptist Hospital, suffering with Arthritis of the Spine. She returned home during the recent death of her son, but has returned for treatments again.

Mrs. Dessie Lawrence, Mrs Dessie Lou Kennington, Mrs. Drudia Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Don Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Lenoir, Mrs. Florence Lawley and Mrs. Osie Lawley visited Mrs. Mary Hicks Sunday.

Charlie Gay was very proud last week when he killed a 20 lb. turkey.

Featured In Selma-Times

A complete page of the Selma-Times Journal together with pictures of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Gay appeared therein recently. Mr. and Mrs. Gay make their living at home, and proudly displayed all the canned and frozen products that line the shelves and deep freeze at their home. They are good livers and divide with all their neighbors. Their home is always open to their friends.

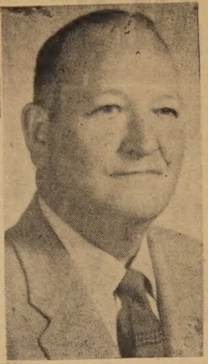
Leland Jones To Speak to Local Club



Leland Jones, Director of the State Planning and Industrial Development Board, will speak to the Study Club of Clanton on Friday, April 1, 1960. The subject of Jones's address is "Industry Looks at Alabama."

Jones, who took the helm of the State Development agency in January, 1959, under appointment by Governor John Patterson, is a veteran Chamber of Commerce worker. He has served as president and as secretary-manager of the Phenix City-Russell County Chamber of Commerce, and for many years was public relations director and advertising manager for a large grocery chain. A native of Phenix City, he is a longtime friend of Governor Patterson.

His Clanton speech will outline some of the recent industrial growth in Alabama, and will stress the importance of organization and planning on the local level for industrial promotion.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. L. C. Warr, Mrs. Omar Reynolds is in charge of the program for the Study Club.

Use Tractor To Run Milking Machines

The recent electroc power failure caused by the ice and snow in North Alabama made it necessary for some dairymen to milk their cows by hand.

A farm tractor may be pulled along the side of the milking barn wall near a window. Then a heavy duty hose can be used to connect the intake manifold and the suction line of the milking machine. The hose should be the length of the milking machine hose so that it won't collapse under pressure.

It may take a little time to find out the correct speed to run the tractor motor. Therefore, the engine should be started before the manifold and suction lines are connected. Also, the motors of some tractors may not operate but one milking unit at a time.

Ala. Corn Growers Can Increase Yields

Corn growers should use adapted hybrids and plenty of nitrogen to get good stands.

Farms are urged not to used crib corn seed from corn grown last year but to use a hybrid that has been tested by the Auburn Experiment Station.

Farmers must have good, regular stands properly spaced to make high yields. And rows should be spaced 38 to 4 inches apart. Plant the two-eared or prolific varieties so that the stalks will stand 18 to 24 inches apart in the row and the one-e-ared varieties so that the stalks will be 12 to 18 inches apart.

Plenty of nitrogen is necessary to have a good crop of corn. Use 250 pounds of 4-12-12 per acre before planting and side-dress with about 65 pounds of nitrogen 30 days after planting.

Jaycees Plan For Membership Drive

AT the midst of a most successful year, the Junior Chamber of Commerce plans to drive for an additional increase in their membership. With the addition of approximately fifteen new members since July 1, a new surge is underway to invite other young men of Clanton between the ages of 21 and 35 to join our organiza

Individuals are being and invited as guest of th to a Hamburger Supper Party to be held at th Club, Tuesday, March 29 our regular ladies night.

The girls repeated the Watchword, Star Ideals and Allegiance. A short business session was held. Members planned a pan cake supper in order to buy a water cooler. The girls worked on Forward Steps. Refreshments of cookies and Cokes were served.

Wednesday, March 23, was a very fine day for Joy Faircloth. She celebrated her 6th birthday, but I, felt so much larger and older.

Her little friends assembled on the spacious lawn and engaged in games, then went inside for quite games, with her sister, Dawn and Nancy Strickland directing.

Inflated pastel balloons decorated the dining room. The lovely white birthday cake in pastel colors centered the refreshment table. Colored cup cakes, mints and ice cream was served the guests.

Present to help Joy celebrate, Brad and Brenda Simmons, Cynthia, Anthony and Susan Vines, Jan Satterwhite, Trudy Burnette, Bridget Price, Mary Stricklin and Vicki Woodley. Several mothers were present to enjoy the occasion.

THE Sunday evening guests of the Milton Crowsons were Dr. John Sherril and son and Mr. Reuben Crowson of Birmingham.

MRS. N. C. Fulmer, who resides with her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Peterson and Mr. Peterson, has word that her great grandson, John Thomas Neighbors, student at Donelson High School, Nashville, Tenn., has received 3 high honors this year. He received a $500 scholarship from the Elks Lodge, top player of the year in footballe and was Civita Club Medalist.

Mrs. Clements Honored

Mrs. Lucile Clements, secretary of Jemisonian Chapter, 398 OES, was appointed Grand Representative to the Grand Chapter of New Mexico for a 3 year period. With the certificate was a badge. This bade is a smal lreplica of the New Mexico State Flag. The legend of the falg is: A brave warrior fell, mortally wounded. His lover ran to him and fell across his breast, which was covered with blood. In anguish, she raised her head to the hearers and with her four fingers, covered with blood, she crossed her breast leaving a perfect ZIA symbol. This sign was adopted by the Indians as a symbol of the sun. When Dr. Harry Mera designed the falg for New Mexico, he used the ZIA symbol in red blood on a banner of sunshine gold. A silver tomahawk pin is used with the badge.

Tacky Party and Supper

Members of the Adult group of Training Union of the Baptist Church met Tuesday night, March 22, for the Quarterly social. This was a tacky party A pot luck supper was spread at 7 o'clock. All enjoyed the meal, including meats, vegetables, pudding, cake, jello, pies with coffee.

SHOULTS

Mrs. Robert McAfee

We had an increase in our Sunday School attendance Sunday. We were glad to have Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Latham with us at Church Sunday. Mr. Latham taught our Adult Sunday School Class. Everyone enjoyed it very much. Our other visitors were Mrs. Houston Smith, June, Bubba and Annie Ruth, all from Birmingham. We always welcome visitors.

Our Sick List

Mrs. Eva Jane Bearden is home from the Selma Baptist Hospital. Miss Bearden is feeling some better. She would like for all praying people to pray for her.

Miss Joyce McAfee and Leon Mitchell went to Friendship Singing on Saturday night. They reported a good singing.

HD Club

The Shoults Home Demonstration Club met last Thursday for our March meeting. We met at the home of Mrs. George Shoults. Mrs. Birdie Latham read the devotional from II Corinthians 1:1-7. Prayer by Mrs. Robert McAfee. Hymn, "Rock of Ages" led by Mrs. Gladys Latham. Then the roll was called, answering with a piece of furniture in my house that needs fixing. The secretary read the minutes of the last meeting and gave the treasure rport.

Thought for the month: You can tell how big a person is by observing how much it takes to discourage him. Those present at the meeting were: Mrs. Vara Latham, Mrs. Rena McAfee, Mrs. Gladys Latham, Mrs. Birdie Latham, Mrs. Bessie Garner, Mrs. Willie Hathcock, Mrs. Ida Latham, Mrs. Willie Hathcock, Mrs. Harvey Grover, Mrs. Ettie Mae Shoults, also two new members, Mrs. Harvey Grover and Mrs. Birdie Latham, joined our Club.

Our president, Mrs. Vara Latham, gave us a very interesting demonstration on Finishing Furniture. We were sorry our leader, Mrs. Lane, could not be with us.

Trailer Burns Up

We are sorry Mrs. Dorothy Deavers trailor, which she was living in at her cafe, better known as Woody's Cafe, burned up last Thursday night. Mrs. Deavers and her two small girls and a friends small boy, was sleeping in the trailor at the time it caught fire. Employees at the Cafe saw the fire and screamed for help. They broke in the trailor just in time to save all who were sleeping there. The trailor and all that was in it was completely burned up.

Our Visitors

Mr. and Mrs Bert Sneed and children from Clanton visited Mr. and Mrs. Claud Hathcock Sunday Also visiting in Mrs. Hathcocks home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walker from Birmingham.

Mr. Sam and Oscar Shoults from Selma visited Mr. Sam Shoults home place here this week end. Mr. Sam Shoults spends most of the time at Stanton with his sister, Mrs. Ida Smitherman.

Mrs. Vivian Harris ond son, Winford of Montgomery visited Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Grover Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kay Latham visited their daughter and family in Thorsby last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Holbrook. On their way home they visited Mr. and Mrs. Cleave Latham.

Mr. Bobby McAfee from Jacksonville State College spent the AEA holidays at home with his parents.

Visitors in the Robert McAfee home over the week end were: Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Smith, Collette and Chris and Joyce from Selma, Mr .and Mrs. Curtis Smith and Gregg from Isabella, Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey McAfee and family from Selma, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie McAfeee from Plantersville, Mrs. Virgia Kelly from Montevallo, Mrs. Fannie Lawley, Mr. Bobby Mc--Afee from Jacksonville College.

Mrs. Ollie Shoults from Selma stayed this week end at her home in this community and visited her friends.

HAVE YOU MET EM?--THEY'RE FROM MAPLESVILLE

THESE girls have cheered the Maplesville Red Devils through both the football and the basketball seasons for 1959-1960. They are (standing) Martha Jo Mitchell, Alma Jean Walker, Linda Chambers; (kneeling) Jackie Edwards and Dorothy Chapman. A job well done. (NEWS PHOTO BY SCOTT)

ON GI INSURANCE —

Better To Borrow Than To Surrender VA Official Says

In financial emergencies, veterans who hold permanent GI life insurance are better off to borrow on their policies rather than cash them in to raise money, the Veterans Administration advises.

The GI policyholders may borrow up to 94 percent of the cash surrender value of their permanent plan policies, Neil R. Smart, Manager, VA Regional Office in Montgomery, pointed out. Only GI term insurance has no loan value.

Even if the policyholder borrows the limit permissible on his policy, the policy remains in effect, although the protector is reduced until the loan is repaid, Smart explained.

All protection ceases forever when the policy is surrendered for cash, Smart said, because once the GI policy is cancelled, it cannot be restored.

Annual interest on GI policy loans is computed on the unpaid balance, and should be paid on or before the due date, Smart emphasized. Should a veteran die before repaying the loan in full, the unpaid balance is deducted from the policy proceeds before the beneficiaries are paid.

A recent survey by a group of Federal agencies disclosed that hundreds of rural communities share the same problem as "depressed" urban areas. In each there was a surplus of labor for the jobs available.

AT ATHENS —

Jemison Grad Chosen As Outstanding

Athens--Charels Edwards, a native of Jemison, is one of two state winners in the "Outstanding Collegiate Youth" contest. Edwards is president of the Student Government Association at Athens College.

A senior at Athens College, Edwards is a member of the Circle K. Club, the Student Life Committee, and the Community Service Committee. He is a member of the First Methodist Church of Athens.

Edwards is married, and is the father of a two year-old daughter. He has been employed in the transportation department of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad since 1949, with the exception of two years in the U. S. Marine Corps.

He was elected to membership in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" this year. He was treasurer of his junior class at Athens, and has been an honor student.

Edwards is a graduate of Jemison High School.

BASHORE SEEKS CIRCUIT JUDGE NO. 2 POSITION

EXPERIENCE, KNOWING PEOPLE QUALIFIES HIM FOR JOB

Glen T. Bashore, prominent Clanton attorney, qualified on January 23 with the State Democratic Executive Committee as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the new Circuit Judge No. 2 for the 19th Judicial Circuit. Since that date Mr. Bashore has been conducting a vigorous campaign in Chilton, Autauga and Elmore Counties and is reportedly making considerable headway.

The 46-year old attorney is married, is the father of two children, and resides on Lay Dam Road in Clanton. Prior to attending the University of Alabama Law School, Mr. Bashore was in business in Montevallo, Thorsby and finally in Maplesville where he resided until entering Law School. Immediately after graduation he moved to Clanton and began the practice of law. He has enjoyed a very substantial practice and has gained an enviable reputation as a trial attorney. His experience includes practice in the trial courts of Alabama, as well as other states, the Court of Appeals of Alabama, the Supreme Court of Alabama, the United States District Courts, and the Supreme Court of the United States.

Besides his Bachelor of Laws degree, Mr. Bashore has a Bachelor of Science degree in accounting and has done graduate work in actuarial mathematics. He has had experience in accounting, auditing and actuarial work. His reputation for being a hard worker is well known by those which enjoy his acquaintance.

Presently, Mr. Bashore is a member of the Chilton County Bar Association, the 19th Judicial Circuit Bar Association, the Alabama State Bar Association, the American Bar Association, and is a past-president of the Alabama Plaintiff's Lawyers Association. He is a member of the Clanton Lions Club and is the current Zone Chairman for Chilton and Shelby Counties.

While a resident of Montevallo he was active in coaching high school athletics and acted as coach of the American Legion Junior Baseball team. In Maplesville he continued his interest in high school athletic activities.

Mr. Bashore's wide experience, both in the legal profession and in dealing with people, appears to be most favorable to him in his campaign for Circuit Judge No. 2.

A ready-prepared mixture containing lead arsenate, lime, sulphur, and zinc sulphate may be used to control the plum curculio, a small beetle which damages peaches, plums, and apples.

Mortgage Investments In Chilton

Mrs. Essie Mae Wall, of the Mims Realty Company, Clanton, Ala., having mortgage loans connections with Liberty National Life Insurance Company of Birmingham, has released some interesting figures relative to the mortgage investment in Chilton County of that Company.

According to Mrs. Wall, the Company invested the sum of $88,700 in 8 loans in Chilton County during 1959 and now has 50 loans for a total of $377,627 so invested.

She stated that this investment of funds was in line with the longstanding policy of Liberty National of making investments in those communities and areas from which it collects its premiums. These loans made by the Company in Chilton County were primarily for the purpose of assisting people to own their own homes and most of them were made available through the FHA loan plan.

Mrs. Wall was particular pleased to point out the unusual record achieved by Liberty National in making morgage funds available throughout the esntire State of Alabama. The Company has loans outstanding in every one of Alabama's 67 Counties and during the year of 1959, this Company increased its Alabama investments, by making new loans in 58 of the 67 Counties. Liberty had at the end of 1959 approximately $61 million invested in Alabama mortgages in addition to substantial sums outstanding in other types of investments.

Mrs. Wall is happy to advise that the policy of Liberty National of investing funds in Chilton County will be continued right on through the coming year. She suggested that any person seeking funds for the purpose of buying of building a home or in connection with the financing of a centrally located commercial property should feel free to call upon her for advice and information relative to the procedure.

Chilton Schools Will Run Full Term; On 1961 Money

FINANCIAL STATUS OF SCHOOLS IS NOT GOOD

FOR quite sometime there has been considerable discussion throughout the state as to whether or not public schools could continue operation for the full school term.

The Chilton County Board of Education has today completed the financial arrangements and our schools will be in operation for a full term.

This arrangement was made possible when the State Board of Education accepted Dr. Frank Stewarts recommendation not to change the school budget which was approved at the beginning of this fiscal year. This simply means that the schools in Chilton County ,as in many other county and city systems, will operate the last month or 18 days on next year's school money.

Your Board of Education and Superintendent are well aware of the problems such an arrangement will create, but we feel it our responsibility to arrange for a full term of school for boys and girls of our County.

We want the people of Chilton County to know that every effort will be made on our part to see that the boys and girls of Chilton County have every educational opportunity, but we also want to again caution our taxpayers to look carefully at the plan now underway to shift the responsibility of maintaining good schools back to the local people.

I have just read one of our daily newspapers which gives a bright financial picture for education. As your superintendent, I feel obligated to tell you that the financial outlook is not bright for schools. Instead, schools are today facing the greatest crisis since the depression. I question whether or not we could continue our public edcation if our economic conditions become more adverse.

Again let me state that the schools belong to the people and we honestly solicit your support and interest in every way.

Industry On The Move --

Fertilizer Plant Plans Expansion in Clanton

MR. O. H. Bowden, Secretary and General Manager of The Farmers Marketing and Exchange Association, Montgomery, Ala., has advised the Chilton County Chamber of Commerce that this firm plans extensive expansion of its facilities in Clanton.

Mr. Bowden said, "We do have in mind construction of a large modern seed cleaning plant with grain storage and holding bins in the very near future. Other facilities will be added from time to time."

Expresses Gratitude

The Chilton County Chamber of Commerce had contacted Mr. Bowden expressing gratitude of this community to the Farmers Marketing and Exchange Association for the outstanding contribution which this firm is makng toward the progress and development of Chilton County. The Chamber pledged its support and cooperation to Mr. Bowden and his associates, and invited them to consider the consolidation of their facilites by establishing the General Offices in Clanton.

The above advice from Mr. Bowden is indeed encouraging, and this community extends its warmest welcome to the Farmers Marketing and Exchange Association.

TELLS STUDY CLUB—

The "Competitive Sixties" Are Here Says Leland Jones

MR. Leland Jones, Director of the State Planning and Industrial Development Board spoke before the Study Club in Clanton on Friday, April 1, 1960. His topic "Industry Looks at Alabama" was very ably presented.

Calling the Sixties the "Competition Sixties", Mr. Jones stated that there are more than 13,000 different agencies and groups representing cities, states, counties in the U.S., competing to obtain new industry. As a result, Clanton and Alabama are in competition with all of these.

Jones explained the set--up of the State Planning and Industrial Development Board, which he heads.. This State Agency assists local communities in their planning for growth, and in their efforts to obtain new industries. Field representation of the Board serve all areas of the State.

He stated that last year, 1959 Alabama had 300 new industries on expansions announced with capitol investment of more than $100 million. These new plants and expansions will empoy 12,000 new workers in the State.

In closing, Mr. Jones said that, regardless of the promotion and other efforts of his agency, or other organizations working for new industry, the final site decison for any plant is made at the local leadership and community spirit of local people can be the deciding factors.

Propaganda For Peaches --

GLORIFYING the Chilton County peach has been an active sport around these parts for many moons. Basically, of course, the reason for this is that Chilton's economy depends largely on peach markets. If we don't tell folks about how good our peaches are, they might think others are just as good.

The once annual Peach Festival was based on this theory and has been a big help in advertising and publicizing the Chilton peach (both varieties).

Speculation for a Peach Festival for this year is to the effect that "if we're going to have one, let's have a good'un!" There is no doubt about the merit of this train of thought. A Peach Festival, aside from being enjoyable, also serves to let the world know just what Chilton County is noted for! If we fail to pursue this activity we are not getting the most from our peach production.

We are highly in favor of the Peach Festival for Chilton County. Some of the other activities we engage in could well afford some time for this worthy cause. The powers that be are considering, very carefully, just which road to take towards a Festival. We sincerely hope that they choose for the best interests for all the people of Chilton County!

THINGS We see and hear

by BOB

DON'T dare forget that William "Bill" Harrell is in concert at the Methodist Church here on Sunday, the 10th. Bill is a local talent and a fine fellow. He has a beautiful tenor boice that he has been training for some time. If you like good music, by a talented artist see and hear Bill Harrell this coming Sunday afternoon!

THE Junior Citizens let us in on one of their "special" meetings the other day and we came away impressed, to say the least. Our "Senior citizens" would do well, each and every one of them, to get a better look at what our tachers are doing with and for our younger folks in regards to good citizenship and responsible leadership in the community. They recited a piece of poetry to us that referred to "the people who lift and the people who lean. . ." which was borad in scope, yet simple to understand. And it socked home the idea of what makes a community and people progress, better understand one another and grow together. We're going to publish the poem in the near future, so watch for it and then sit back and take an accounting of your own attitude. All kinds of praise to teachers who still believe in good citizenship and our American way of life and try their best to get it over to our children... whom we are inclined to neglect on those simple truths!

DON'T put off until tomorrow making your contribution to the most worthy cause anywhere. . . Chilton's Crippled Children. The drive, now underway, ends the 17th of this month and though donations are pouring in from every corner, the quota is still a long way off. Do it now, it will reward you and will help some child who has faith in others to help him help himself'.

WHILE we're reminding folks: don't miss the annual Fat Stock Show by 4-H and FFA members which will be held at the Clanton Airort on Tuesday, Aril 19th. A full day of entertainment and competition is in store and the local Civitan Club is sponsoring a Barbecue to go along with the festivities. It'll be something like the old County Fair days. If you're of a mind to, come on out and see what our "Future Chilton Farmers" are accomplishing with the cooperation of the County Agent and advisors over the County!

THEY say 'names make the news'! If that is so, your CCN is just chock full of juicy news this week. The voters list is part of this issue. Check to see if your name is on it, and if not, see the folks up at the Courthouse and find out how come!

BRO. Dennis, our faithful and agreeable Insurance Agent, made the Torch Club this year. It's an annual honor awarded to an agent for outstanding sales accomplishment. Bro. Dennis and the missus leave next week for Washington, D.C., for a bit of fun and well deserved relaxation. He said they intended to fly, but the wife grounded the when two planes, on the route they would take, settled to earth rather abruptly. That's enough to make anyone willing to take his chances in the good old family auto. Be careful folks; hope you enjoy your trip.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

YOU ARE AS YOUNG AS YOUR FAITH!

An old proverb states that you are as young as you think you are. I believe it should say you are as young as your faith.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, on his seventy-fifth birthday, had this to say about youth. "Youth is not entirely a time of life—it is a state of mind. Nobody grows old by merely living a number of years, but by deserting his ideals.

"You are as young as your faith, as old as your doubts; as young as your self-confidence, as old as your fear; as young as your hope, as old as your despair.

"In the central place of every heart there is a recording chamber; so long as it receives the message of beauty, hope, cheer and courage, so long is that person young. When the wires are all down and the heart is covered with the snow of pessimism and the ice of cynicism, then, and only then, is a person old."

When I was growing up my mother said to me, "Oral, be young while you are young, for whatever you are in youth, you are as you grow older." She meant that preparation for growing older begins in youth.

In fact, the Bible says, "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth." If we remember God when we are young, He will be near us when we are older.

Since we live with our minds, actually, our eyes can see only what our minds see. Our ears hear what our minds hear. If we are young in mind and spirit and see and hear wonderful things in our minds, then that is what our eyes see and our ears hear. So we must be careful what we think and believe. We become what our believing is. Our being young in mind keeps ours bodies vigorous.

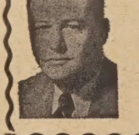
The Bible states that we are to become like little children. What is the secret of a child's strength? I believe that it is enthusiasm for life, a lively curiosity, a burning interest in things about it. I have noticed that some people as they grow older withdraw from life and see nothing.

The only way, then, that we can become as little children is through our minds! We must wake up and scarcely be able to wait for breakfast before going out into God's wonderful world to see what the day has in store for us. With that attitude we become like little children. But we must remember that the Bible teaches us to become childlike, not childish.

As we grow older, we must keep Christ in our hearts. We must believe in God. We must rejoice over our many blessings and let the morning sun shine in our faces and the angels sing in our souls. We must remember that age is a state of mind, a state of spirit, a state of faith in God.

We are as young as our faith.

Report from Washington



BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

The appropriation bill approved by the House of Representatives last week for the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare and for the Labor Department contained almost $184 million more than the amount requested by the President. The additions, which had been written into the bill by the Appropriations Committee, were primarily in the fields of aid to federally-impacted school districts hospital construction, water pollution control, and medical research.

As approved by the House on a vote of 360 to 10, the appropriation bill carries funds totaling $4.18 billion, of which $542 million is provided for the Department of Labor; $3.6 billion for the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare; and the balance divided among several related agencies. The total amount provided is $128 mililon more than the fiscal year 1960 appropriation.

Foreign Aid Cut

While the House of Representatives was increasing the appropriation for the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, the House Committee on Foreign Affairs was in the process of reducing the funds requested in the authorization legislation for the mutual security or foreign aid program. The President's request for $1.445 billion in economic aid was cut by the Foreign Affairs Committee by $135.5 million. An amendment I offered in the Committee accohnted for $75 million of the total reduction.

The authorization measure is scheduled for final Committee action this week, and House debate on the measure should follow shortly thereafter.

Plaza of the Americas

Recently I introduced a bill which, if enacted into law, will designate an area of Washington as the "Plaza of the Americas." The area to be designated encompasses wto blocks in the City of Washington on which are located the Pan American Union Building, the building which houses the secretarat of the Organzation of American States, and a number of statues of famous South Americans.

As President Eisenhower stated upon his recent return from South America, the people of the Western Hemisphere must be well informed about each other if enduring friendship is to be achieved. It is my hope that a Plaza of the Americas will leave an impression on the many young people and other tourists who visit Washington and perhaps awaken their interest in our Latin American neghbors and in the remarkable regional organization we have with them.

At the same time, and with no cost to our taxpayers, the Plaza would be a symbol of United States friendship and a fitting and durable demonstration of the esteem in which we hold our sister republics.

A subcommittee of the House District Committee gave the measure unanimous approval last Fridap. There is a possibility it will be scheduled for consideration in the House of Representatives on April 12th which already has been designated as aPn Amrican Day.

Visitors

We enjoyed a visit last week with Mrs. Dorothy Melton of Thorsby.

YOUR HEALTH

USE OF VITAMINS

Vitamin pills are not needed by normal persons who have an adequate diet. This statement was Nutrition of the American Medical Association. All the nutrients essential to maintain health in the normal individual are supplied by a proper diet, declared the Council.

And a proper diet is one that meets the recommended dietary allowances developed by the food and nutrition board of the National Research Council. Such a diet includes the basic seven groups which makes it possible for the average individual to make good daily food choices without the necessity of having a large store of technical nutrition information. A person, however, does need an appreciation of the benefits to be gained from wise food selection and an understanding of the simple principles of nutrition.

The basic seven includes leafy green and yellow vegetables, citrus fruits, potatoes milk and milk products, meat, poultry, fish or eggs, bread and cereals, and butter or fortified margarine. Meals for the day should be planned to include one of each of these groups. The council on foods and nutrition criticized some nutritional surveys which indicated that many people are not receiving sufficient varieties of foods to supply the necessary vitamins and therefore are suffering from vitamin deficiencies. The council does, agree, however, that there are some situations where vitamin supplementation is both necessary and desirable.

During periods of illness or when the mode of life is upset to the point that proper food is not available, then vitamins may be useful. And they may be of value to those individuals who through ignorance, poor eating habits, or emotional or physical illness do not eat an adequate diet. A properly selected died is the primary basis for good nutrition and good nutrition supplies the individual with all the vitamins he needs.

Can a free public library system in Chilton County help you as an individual, as a parent, as a teacher?

The business of education is a continuous one of daily and weekly endeavor and then year by year. You are your own best teacher as the lives of such self-taught persons as Abraham Lincoln, Andrew Carnegia, Henry Ford, and Thomas A. Edison personify. The use of books is one excellent way to maintain this continuance of your education. In reading you learn experiences of others and hence broaden your scope and perspective of general learning as well as general living.

When is the last time you have read a book for information concerning a project for a club or associational meeting? For a simple pleasure of a story? Reading is a habit--a habit in which the possibilities of self-development are unlimited. But the thing of reading makes imperative the presence of books, books found in a library a public library available to each and every person throughout Chilton County.

Chilton County has the opportunity now to become a part of a regional library system with access to many books already collected by the State Library Department. Such books compiled and consolidated into a library for Chilton County COULD be of benefit for you the individual, the parent, the teacher.

Do let us hear of your interest.

Poplar Springs HD Club Meet

Mrs. Bertha Stewart was hostess to the Poplar Springs Home Demonstration Club on Friday afternoon, April 1, with 15 present. The president, Mrs. Gladys Glenn, called the meeting to order with Mrs. Pearl Dennis giving the devotional and prayer by Mrs. Louse Price. The Old Rugged Cross was the hymn for the month and Mrs. Elsie Hand gave the story of how it was originated and then led in singing it.

Mrs. Stewart, the secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting and called the roll with everyone answering with their "pet peeve".

Several announcements were made and a report given on the clothes purchased for Sue in the Children's Home by Mrs. Hand and the committee.

The demonstration was given by Mrs. Stewart.

The hostess served delicious refreshments to Mrs. Mozelle Miller, Gladys Glenn, Viola Devaughn, Jessie Parrish, Louise Price, Myrtis Smith, Pearl Dennis, Decie Wells, Emma Batson, Elsie Hand, Trula Hill, Berner Geard and two visitors, Mrs. Betsie Suite and Mrs. Losie Hudson.

How To Farrow Big Litters of Strong Pigs

If the sow business is not good, the hog business is not good. Therefore, it is important to know how to farrow big litters of strong pigs.

About two weeks before breeding, vaccinate all gilts and sows with lepto-bacterin. Then when the gilts are about eight months old, breed each sow twice in order to get two extra pigs.

During the gestation period, put bred sows on good pasture. Pasture feeding will lower the feed cost on each pig raised.

Overfat sows could cause small litters, weak pigs, and poor milking sows. So, a bulky ration should be fed to the sows to keep them in thrifty condition.

The following cooperators have planted bicolor lespedeza for quail food. Frank Rich planted four, Leon Jones, Fourteen, W. J. Carter one.

Multiple Birth in Cows Occur In 2 Different Ways

Very few dairy calves are twins and even fewer triplets. But multiple births in cattle do happen in two different ways.

The more common way occurs when two or more eggs are released, fertilized, and developed separately. In this case the calves are not identical. Identical calves result when one egg is fertilized and then divides to form two or more emryos.

Holsteins have more multiple births than other dairy breeds, and multiple births occur more often in animals less than eiht years old.

Calf Production Cost High For '60 Farmer

The cost of producing beef calves will be higher this year.

Therefore, a farmer should know more about his cow herd. And the best way to know this is by keeping records.

It is also important to control disease through vaccination. Failure to vaccinate for blackleg and malignant edema may cause the producer to lose some of his calves. Vaccinate the calf before it starts to eat grass because waiting three months may be too late.

Safe Use of Pesticides On Alabama Farms

Pesticides are dangerous to have around the house if they are not properly labeled and stored. Four simple practices will insure safety for your children and pets.

Read the label on the container and carefully follow the instructions. Store pesticides in a place where children, pets, and irresponsible people can't get into them. Remember to keep them in their original, labeled containers. And, dispose of the empty container where it cannot harm humans, animals, or plants.

Doctor Says Edwards Can Play Baseball

by Wayne Atcheson

WARREN Edwards, who was critically injured in the Clanton-Columbiana football game last year, has been given the go ahead by his doctor to play baseball for the Clanton Tigers this year.

He missed the basketball season, but is happy to know that he can be on the Tigers roster this year.

Edwards At Shortstop

This season Warren will be playing shortstop, instead of second base, the position he played last two seasons. The reason for the shift is because he is the only man on the team that can play the position adequately.

Season Underway

The season got under way for the Tigers yesterday against West Blocton. Coach Don Finlayson started a promising line-up with Clay Carroll doing the pitching.

Wright Behind Plate

Harold Wright started behind the plate; and the remaining infield pictured Clarkie Hutchinson at first base; Kenneth Mims at Second; Buddy Vines or Doug Coe at third; and Warren Edwards at short.

Don oJnes was in left field, Elliott Monroe in center, and Mack Downing, who is out for his first time, in right feld.

AAUW TO MEET AT CCHS LIBRARY

The Chilton County Branch of the American Association of University Women will hold its next meeting on Thursday, April 7, 1960 in the Chitlon County High School Library. The topic will be Art in Writing, Photography, Music and Ceramics as a hobby or a business. The public is cordially invited to attend. The meeting will start at 7:30. Mrs. Harold Lewis as chairman of the Art Committee is in charge.

DANGER SIGNALS ON CANCER

A movie that might be more than important to you and you and you can be had free for the asking. It's entitled "Time and Two Women", and deals with the importance of discovering cancer before it is too late.

We often take the 'ostrich' attitude about matters such as these, and think by ignoring them we are warding them off, when actually, the old Proverb of "a stitch in time", was never so true as in the case of discovering cancer in the early stage.

The American Cancer Society is affording you the opportunity to learn through this film and others how to protect yourself against the peril that probably faces many local women today. The peril of breast and of utrine cancer.

So don't be an ostrich, face the possibilty and learn what to do about it before it is too late.

Know your seven danger signals. For further information about the films contact Mrs. Hugh Jones, educational director of the Cancer Society.

Miss Weaver weds Mr. Owe

The Rev. Dr. William Kiser Weaver of Sylacauga officiated at the marriage of his cousin, Miss Alice Weaver to Robert Fleming Owens at 4 p.m., March 13 at the First Baptist Church of Talladega.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Charels Dewey Weaver of Talladega and the Rev. and Mrs. Roswell Edward Owens of Andalusia, formerly of Clanton.

Bridal attendants were Mrs. Thomas P. DeWine of Tuscaloosa, cousin of the bride, matron of honor; Misses Barbara Wellbaum of Talladega, Sue Townsend of Tuscaloosa, Julia Granade of Greenville, Mrs. Bill E. Smith and Mrs. William H. Curtwright of Birmingham, bridesmaids and matrons; Beck Malone of Talladega and Ann Weaver Armstrong of Montgomery, cousins of the bride, junior maids; and Melanie Murphy of Birmingham, cousin of the bride, flower girl.

The bridegroom was accompanied by his father as best man.

Ushers were Larry Faulkner, Joe Daniel, James Harris, all of Birmingham; Gary Thompson or Selma, James Duke Heflin of Clanton, and Steve Thrasher of Florence. Jim Malone of Talladega, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of ivory opaline silk mist. The deeply curved decolletage was edged with sequin and pearl embroidered rose medallions which dipped to the front waistline. The sleeves were bracelet length, and garlands of lace encircled the bell-shaped skirt which extended into a chapel train.

Her tiered veil of silk illusion drifted from a jeweled crown, and she carried a cascade of stephanotis centered with white orchids,

Her senior attendants were identically attired in frocks of glowing pink silk and cotton, styled on princess lines with scoop necklines, cap sleeves, and shirred inset bands over the hiplines forming bows in back. Small matching hats with veils completed their attire, and they carried colonial bouquets of red roses.

The junior bridesmaids wore short full-skirted frocks of the same pink, fashioned with puff sleeves and butterfly bow sashes. Velvet ribbon formed their bandeaux, and their nosegays were of pink Briarcliff roses.

The flower girl carried a petite bouquet of pink sweetheart roses to match the satin bows at the waist of her white organdy dress. The ring bearer wore a white linen suit and carried a white satin pillow.

The bride's mother wore a mauve sheath of silk wiath hat of ribbon and flowers. The mother of the bridegroom was in a powder blue Chantilly lace blouson sheath with hat of matching petals. Both wore white orchids.

Music was presented by Mrs. C. F. Scarbrough of Cuthbert, Ga., soloist, and Mrs. Bill Hall of Fort Payne, organist. Vocal selections were "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee' by Charles Gounod and "Wedding Prayer" by Fern Glasgow Dunlap.

Candles were lighted by George R. Dodge of Talladega, and Randy Boyd of Atlanta, cousins of the bride.

A reception following the ceremony was held at the home of Mrs. George Wesson Ragsdale, aunt of the bride. Assisting were Mrs. W. K. Weaver, Sr., Mrs. W. C. Malone II, Mrs. Walter L. Harper, Mrs. Allen Dodge, Mrs. I. T. Weaver, Mrs. W. C. Malone III, Mrs. William K. Weaver, Jr., Mrs. Louis Armstrong, Mrs. D. A. Crowe, Mrs. Wayne Teague, Mrs. John M. Mount, and the Misses Alma Weaver, Nelda Chadwick, Barbara Tompkins, Jane Ellen Gaines, Laurella Owens and Martha Cox.

For the Florida wedding trip the bride chose a royal blue silk linen costume suit with navy and white accessories.

The newlyweds will make their home at 2018 Pamona Avenue. The bride is a member of the faculty of Mountain Brook Elementary School and the bridegroom is employed at the First National Bank of Birmingham.

NEWS OF —
SHOULTS

Bro. E. C. Hand, our pastor delivered us two very wonderful and heartwarming messages Sunday and Sunday night. Our attendance was very good, but should have been better. The Lord is blessing us here at Pleasant Grove with an increase in attendance and gave us two new members Sunday. We were glad to welcome into our church Sunday by letter, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Grover. They have recently moved back into our community.

Visitors at church Sunday were Mr. Ben Frith and little granddaughter from Medline community. We welcome visitors.

Spring Revival

We are going to have a week end Spring revival, beginning Friday night before the 2nd Sunday in April at Pleasant Grove Baptist Church. Our pastor, Bro. Hand, will be doing the preaching. He ask that everyone be very much in prayer for this revival.

WMS Mets Saturday

Our WMS will meet at the church for our regular monthly meeting next Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. Everyone come and bring someone with you.

Attends Stough Funeral

Those attending the funeral on Sunday afternoon of Landon Stough at Stanton were Mr. and Mrs. Dan Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Grover, Miss Joyce McAfee, Mrs. Curtis Smith, Mrs .Fannie Lawley, Mrs. Thelma Hathcock. Sympathy goes to his family.

Coming & Going

Mr. and Mrs. Dub Lathams visitors and dinner guests Sunday dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Carey White from Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Wallace from Maplesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Shoults from Centreville spent the day on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Shoults.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Grover and Mrs. Fannie Lawley were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Maddox Sunday.

Our Youth Revival is now in progress with Bro. Bill Harris of Howard College speaking each evening. Stanford Boswell is leading the singing and Miss Carolyn Howard is playing for us.

Gene Childers is visiting his mother, Mrs. Esther Cox and family this week from Florida.

Billy and Tommy Smith, sons of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Smith spent last week at rome during spring holidays at Montevallo where they are enrolled.

Mrs. Mildred Patterson is now in Maxwell Air Force Base Hospital, Ward 11. Let's remember her and all our other sick and shut ins in our prayers.

Mrs. Flossie Thornton has a new great grandbaby. Little Donna Lynn was born Friday night. Auther and Sandra Burk Jr. are the proud parents.

Clanton Baseball Training Begins

by Wayne Atcheson

The Clanton Tigers began their 1960 baseball training for the season on yesterday. The team had a respectible record last year which included nine wins against four losses.

Coach Don Finlayson has nine boys returing this spring and another good team is expected.

Top Candidates

Among the top candidates returning are Clay Carroll, who pitched a perfect game against Jemison last season. Carroll is also a top notch catcher.

Clarkie Hutchinson, who batted .286 last season will be back at first base. Tommy Shelton, who won two games against no losses last year, will be another pitcher for the Tigers this season.

Carroll, who won three games and lost one last season, and Shelton are the only returning pitchers.

John Will Wyatt Pitcher

Junior John Will Wyatt will be back at catcher and possibly could be shifted to another position along with catcher.

Elliot Monroe, who was the teams second highest hitter with a remarkable .414 average last season will be in center field.

Don Jones, who batted .280 last season will probably be in left field.

From Last Year's Squad

Others who are returning from last year's squad are David Cobb, outfielder; Kenneth Mims, second base; and Harold Wright, outfield and catcher.

Except for first base the infield will be an entirely new picture this year. Veterns Larry Culpepper and Johnny Cathy graduated and Flash Warren Edwards will be unable to play this season.

Kenneth Mims, who is a junior will probably be at second, but for short and third it's anybody's position.

New faces are expected to be out for the team and some may be possible starter's.

Six Games Scheduled

At the present time only six games are scheduled, but more will possibly be on tap for the Tigers. These six games include two with Robert E. Lee, two with Selma, and two with West Blocton, whom the Tigers didn't play at all last season.

Chilton's Biggest Beef Event In Motion For Next Tuesday

Chilton's Junior Cattlemen Busy Grooming And Training Animals For County Show, April 19th

Chilton County's most outstanding 4-H - FFA beef event is taking final shape. 1960 beef project members are to compete for beef show honors, $700.00 in cash premiums and prize ribbons and rosettes. The Junior Cattlemen are to present approximately 50 long-fed, top quality Angus and Hereford steers before official judges and spectators during the afternoon and evening of Tuesday, April 19th at the Clanton Airport.

In addition to actual animal competition, 4-H - FFA Clubbers will be competing in other beef "know - how" events. Competitive classes have been established in:

1. Judging team competition
2. Cattle showmanship
3. Grooming and cattle fitting.

The Grand Champion class is to be held over until the evening period to afford working people an opportunity to attend this peak-interest event. The Grand Champion judging is to begin at 7:30 P.M.

To further encourage public attendance at the 1960 Junior Cattlemen's beef event, the Clanton Civitans are to prepare Barberue with "all the trimmings" from 5:00 P.M. to 7:00 P.M.

See complete beef show program elsewhere in this issue of your Chilton County News.

Don't miss the opportunity to see Chilton's Champion farm boys and girls present champion beef animals at the Clanton Airport Tuesday, April 19th.

Chilton County 4-H and FFA beef cattle project members are busy completing fitting and training chores prior to entering fancy calves in Chilton County Junior Cattlemen's Show on April 19th. Approximately fifty hig-quality beef steers are to be entered in the county event.

The 1960 Chilton County Fat Stock Show is being sponsored by the Clanton Civitan Club. Civitans are busy making preparations to give this important livestock event a substantial "shot in the arm." Civitan eladers, working with Assistant County Agent and Vocational Agriaulture teachers, are planning to hold an evening barbecue at Clanton Airport prior to final judging of prize cattle and awards presentation.

A major portion of Chilton County's top junior Cattlemen animals will be moved from the Chilton County event to the Montgomery Fat Stock Show and Sale on April 20th-21st.

Rev. Fields New Associational Missionary

REV. M. G. Fields has been extended a call to be the Associational Missionary for the Chilton - Unity Baptist Association. His servires are to begin on April 15.

Rev. Fields was pastor of the Eastern Valley Baptist Churrh in the Bessemer Assohiation for the past four years. Prior to that he served the East Thomas Church in the Birmingham Association for five years. He has wide experience in pastorial opporthnities and also serving the capacity as an associational missionary. He is a good man, well qaulified to fill the place for which he has been chosen. He hopes to move into Chilton County in the very near future. He understands thoroughly the work of our denomination and will promote every phase of it from the local church to the southwide cause. He can be heard over Station WKLF beginning on Saturday, May 7, 8:15 A.M.

Band Concert To Be Here April 29th.

THE Concert Band of Chilton County High School will present the Annual Spring Concert Friday night, April 29, at the National Guard Armory.

Cemetery Cleaning And Homecoming

THERE will be a cemetery cleaning and a homecoming at Macedonia, Beat 14, this week end. On Saturday members and friends of the church will meet early for a cemetery cleaning. All are asked to bring their hoes and rakes.

On Sunday thee will be a homecoming at the church. Especially invited are the former pastors and the old members and friends of the church.

CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL DAY TO BE OBSERVED APRIL 23RD.

The United Daughters of the Confederacy and the Sons of Confederate Veterans are again celebrating Confederate Mmorial Day at Confederate Memorial Cemetery in Mountain Creek on Saturday, April 23 at 11:00 A.M.

Memorial Day was an important event during the time that the Old Soldiers' Home was active. Recently the old custom of public spaking and dinner on the ground has been revived. Again the general public is cordially invited to come and participate in this annual service which is attracting widespread interest and attention. Last year visitors from as far away as California and Maryland registered in the guest book. An Army Sergeant and his family en route to a tour of duty in Germany attended the observation to pay tribute to the Confederate Veterans buried in Mountain Creek.

Mr. Erle Pettus, prominent attorney and present Commander of Fighting Joe Wheeler Camp of Birmingham, who was the honor speaker last year is in charge of the program. He is presenting Attorney-General MacDonald Gallion as guest speaker.

The program at 11 will be followed by a basket lunch at noon.

Also taking part on the program will be Rev. Hal Bray, Jr. and Rev. L. D. Brookshire of Clanton. Scout Troop 232 with Scoutmasters Baker and Aycock and the Sharpshooters, Children of the Confederacy, will help direct traffic and serve as guides and assistant hosts.

Some work has been done toward restoring and landscaping the cemeteries. Much remains to be done. But complete restoration is assured as many civic and public organizations as well as state and county officials are cooperating on this much needed and patriotic project.

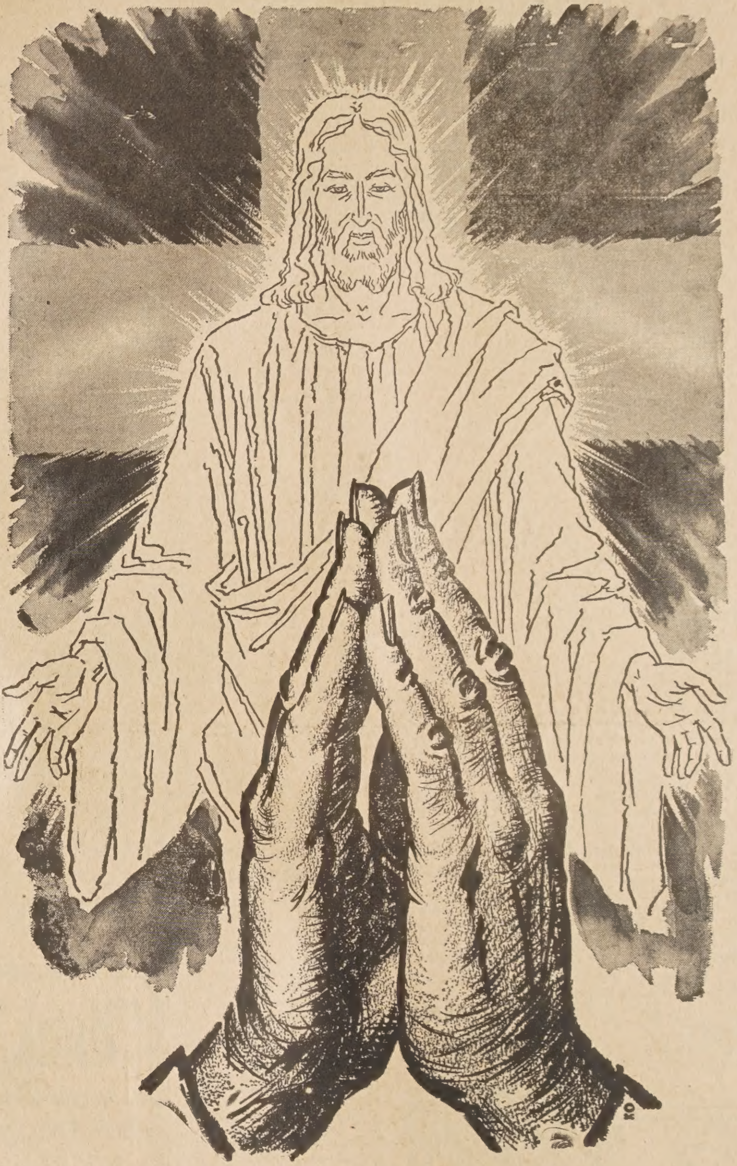
ATTEND CHURCH Easter Sunday



CHRIST THE LORD Is Risen Today

The Churches Of Chilton Welcome You

Come! Let Us Pray..

And very early in the morning, the first day of the week, they came unto the sepulchre at the rising of the sun.

And they said among themselves, Who shall roll us away the stone from the door of the sepulchre?

DARI-DELITE

May your Easter be a joyous one...

And when they looked, they saw the stone was rolled away: for it was very great.

And entering into the sepulchre, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, clothed in a long white garment; and they were affrighted.

And they went out quickly and fled from th esepulchre; for they trembled and were amazed; neither said they any thing to any man; for they were afraid.

Now when Jesus was risen early the first day of the week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalne, out of whom he had cast seven devils.

Afterwards he appeared unto the eleven as they sat at meat, and upbraided them with their unbelief and hardness of heart,, because they believed not them which had seen him after he was risen.

And he said unto them, Go ye into all the worlds, and preach the gospel to every creature.

Beautiful Spring --

"Silently, one by one, in the infinite meadows of Heaven blossomed the lovely stars, the for-get-me-nots of the Angels". Granted Longfellow was right, what is more beautiful than our own Chilton County in peach bloom season.

Right now, nothing could be more inspiring to the lover of beauty than the acres and acres, and row on row of peach blossoms. Truly, to the guest or visitor in our midst, he has not seen Chilton County, or the beauties thereof, if he hasn't seen our peach orchids in bloom.

A Tribute To The Almighty--,

THE First Baptist Church, in the final stages of an extensive building program, is to be commended for it's very successful leadership in community improvement and the active participation of a majority of its membership.

Church members who have participated in this most worthy project should feel very good about the success of their endeavor and the people of Chilton County congratulate them on a job well done.

There has been discussion both pro and con as to the appearance of the new structure with its imposing steeple, but as far as we, an untrained observer, can tell it is a magnificent tribute to God and Christianity and a fine example of the spirit of the people of Chilton County.

A Revival Of Faith--

THE Baptist Church and its fine new building, is only representative of many churches in this area, of all denominations, which are embarked in building programs. Chilton's churches are improving rapidly. This would indicate that a new look is being taken at religion in our communities. Perhaps in a few years to come we will see a great Revival of faith and perhaps even a crusade for the betterment of man. It's a possibility and deserves your close attention and unlimited support.

Better Living --

THE new housing units to be constructed will not materialize before they are needed. We are sure the Real Estate offices, the City and County offices, as is the newspaper office asked every day where lodging for workers and their families can be obtained.

. With the 80 new units for whites there should be ample housing to take care of the present need.

At the rate Clanton is growing we dare say it will not be too long before the "no vacancy" sign is posted.

Let's Face The Facts. . .
Then Change Them!

LOOK at your watch for just one minute! In the next 60-seconds. . . here's approximately what will happen on the nation's streets and highways: -

- 3 seconds after you start checking your watch there will be an accident involving two or more cars!
- In the next 18 seconds, there will be six more traffic accidents—with an undertermined number of persons suffering minor injuries such as cuts and bruises!
- At the 24-second mark, accident number eight will take place—with someone suffering serious injury that requires emergency medical attention and hospitalization!
- Seven more traffic accidents will take place in the next 21 seconds—an average of one every three seconds!
- At the 48-second mark, accident number sixteen will occur—again with someone suffering serious bodily injury!
- In the last 12 seconds of your one-minute check, four more traffic accidents will be recorded!

The total for one minute is approximately 20 traffic accidents! Over 2 seriously injured people!

MULTIPLY these figures by the minutes in an hour; hours in a day; and days in a year. . .

NOW ADD to these figures the number of people killed by traffic accidents—(over 4 an hour, every day, 365 days a year). The grand total for a year is: 10,200,000 traffic accidents; 1,400,000 people injured; 38,500 people killed!

Your Congressman

What Do You Know About Him?
What Does He Know About You?

YOUR spokesmen in Congress—YOUR representatives—are the two Senators from your state and the Representative from your Congrssional district. This is true regardless of whether the incumbent office holders represent the political party to which you belong or an opposing political party. Once Senators or Representatives have been elected they represent all the people of their state or their district no matter which party they are affiliated with.

Your spokesmen in the national government cannot do a good job representing you unless they know and understand your views and you, in turn understand their problems. They need and want the opinions of all their constituents—if they can get them—regardless of party affiliations.

WHAT TO WRITE ABOUT

IT must be remembered that a Congressman's first obligation is to his constituents, His big problem is to get reelected, and much of his time is taken up with satisfying the demands of those who have sent him to Washington. Their views are always given first place in his thoughts. Accurate and useful information sent to him by a voter in his district is always appreciated. He welcomes hearing from "back home" because it shows him the people know he is alive and are interested in what he is doing. Until we realize our representatives in Congress want and welcome our views and we take the trouble to communicate frequently, our relations in Washington, will not be what they should — or ought to be. Remember, you don't have to wait until you have a complaint to write your Senators and Representatives. They're human too, and a pat on the back is appreciatedby them as it is by you, and a slap in the face arouses their anger as readily as yours. Don't gripe—WRITE!

TEN TIPS ON WRITING YOUR CONGRESSMAN

1. Keep your letters as brief as possible.

2. Tell the essentials about yourself or your business.

3. Be forthright: If you're for something, say so. Don't beat around the bush.

4. Avoid emotion: Prove your case with facts and figures.

5. Be reasonable: Seek only possible things.

6. Speak for yourself: Use your own stationery and letter style.

7. Be courteous: Compliment him on a good speech, thank him for a good vote, and recognize his staff, too.

8. Request action: Your man is elected to do something.

9 Ask for an answer: You've told him where you stand. Ask him where he stands.

10. Don't stop with one letter. Keep your Congressman informed of your views on all important legisaltion.

DIARRHEA

Dire problems often cause diarrhea. Scientific persons speak of the stimulated hippocampal gyrus of the temporal lobe giving rise to anxiety, and how the median the lateral nuclei of the thalmus control the tonus of striated muscle. The simple fact is that emotions can cause an irritable bowel which in turn results in diarrhea.

The physiological processes, by which emotion-provoking situations or ideas stimulate certain nerve impulses which act on the bowels is complicated and diverse. An irritable bowel also called nervous stomach is one of the indicators of how life is going for the indiviual. Aggravation of symptoms can usually be connected with a specific event or change of circumstance, a connection so prompt and obvious that the patient readily accepts the relationship when it is pointed out to him.

Thus the irritable-bowel state differs from deeper neuroses in which the symptoms are caused by events of the past rather than the present. In men, irritable bowel is usually caused by anxieties associated with their wor. A disapproving boss, a quarrelsome fellow employee, a job that calls for output at an uncomfortably fast pace, or even a romotion adding to responsibility may cause irritable bowel Persons who have a tendency to take their work very seriously with a conscientious drive to do a perfect job, are more likely to suffer irritable bowel.

In women, the cause of this condition is mainly connected with their marriage. They are usually very feminine, dependent women who are not receiving either the affection or the firm direction that they need. Treatment usually consists of a program of diet, drugs and perhaps some mild psychotherapy.

by BOB

IF there is one thing we thoroughly enjoy it's a man with a powerful voice singing a church hymn. Woody Poole, singer during the revival last week at the Methodist Church here in Clanton did not have the best voice we've ever heard, and he would agree w'ere sure, but when it comes to a strong singing voice, he is tops. One night his special number was a personal interpretation of "The Ninety And Nine" and it was inspiring to say the least. It's wrong we know, but we envy a man with a voice like that who can put so much into and you can get so much out of a song! We're sure we speak for the entire church when we say we enjoyed having him very much. . . the younger set especially'.

SATURDAY at noon we observed Mr. L. E. Diefenderfer, (Mr. Dief to most of us) cleaning off the old Masonic Hall lot on which they are to build a new structure in the near future. Now we're not going to say Mr. Dief is not a man of action. His active support of various good causes disputes that statement anyhow. He usually is, however, a man of leisurely action and to see him out heaps of trash and it raining cats digging up stumps and burning big to boot. . . well, it's a little disturbing. Here he was about to win us over to the leisure, come what may, way of doing things and we find he's right out here with the worst of us who knock ourselves out (at times). Anyway, we'll venture one more thing. . .you can bet your best darned socks that if Mr. Dief was getting his hands dirty, it wasn't for Mr. Dief, it was for some worthy cause. This, he and the missus both, are widely noted and acclaimed for.

IT'S probably a selfish trait at that, but we always hate to pass up the opportunity to help someone either needing help or most assuredly asking for it. Partly, as we said, we figger if we were in the same shoes. we'd appreciate a bit of assistance. Wednesday night late (around midnight) we had occasion to be driving on Highway 190 between Jemison and Maplesville, when about seven miles out from Jemison an elderly gentleman was flagging for all he was worth, obviously for help! Well, he had his car lights on and facing us and we didn't see him until we were even with his auto. By that time it was too late to stop, without backing half a mile (whoa now, we weren't really going that fast) let's make that a half a block. Anyways, we didn't stop. . . partly because we were carrying valuable cargo. . .the mail and us! We couldn't forget the old fellow so we looked all along the way for the highway patrol (a scarce bunch of boys when you're not driving too fast. When we got to Jemison we looked for the town constables. . . none. When we reached Thorsby we thought surely we'd find them and report the gentleman's trouble. They were out scouting too! So we came on to Clanton and reported it to Cummings up at the City Hall and asked him to contact the Highway Patrol about the matter. We're just a little chicken and we weren't about to stick out neck out on that highway at that particular time of the evening. We surely hope the old gentleman got his help, but under the circumstances, we did all we could do! What we mean by all this is: we'll be in a party pickle if this gentleman comes along some night while we're stranded!

PEOPLE don't change some folks say, but their attitudes most assuredly do and you can be instrumental in changing a person's attitude. Since this is true, your responsibility is great. Make sure your influence creates a right attitude in everyone you meet!

THE all-out effort to obtain necessary funds for Chilton County Crippled Children through the Easter Seals Drive comes to a close the 17th of this month-Easter Sunday. The Crippled Children of Chilton County thank those who have made donations to their cause, those who are in the process of making donations and to those who intend to do so before the drive ends. We, personally would like to thank you too, and urge those who have not given as yet, to please consider the facts, and give accordingly. More children are helped in more ways by this one organization than any other in this County. In actuality, more money than this County puts into the organization is spent in this County for clinic and rehabilitation work. There are more than 300 crippled children in this County who need this assistance. These are only a few facts, but they are enough for us and we sincerely hope that you will think on these things before you say "no" to this most worthy of charities!

AND while we're on the subject; don't forget the Jaycee Aurtion for Crippled Children at the old Stokes (Hayes) Chevrolet Building come this Saturday. Much is in store besides the auctioning of goods and you'll be amply rewarded for your time and presence.

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

In an effort to prohibit any "influence peddling" by retired military officers, the House of Representatives last week passed legislation to make such activities a court-martial offense. The bill makes it unlawful for a retired officer to sell anything to the armed services for two years after his retirement. It is designed to prevent high ranking military officers from using their influence in obtaining government contracts for companies they become associated with upon their retirement.

Because of the addition of amendments during House debate, the measure is more stringent than it was when reported by the Armed Services Committee. The bill as passed by the House denies all retired pay for two years to any officer who violates the selling ban and also makes violations a court-martial offense. The original measure imposed only the penalty relating to denial of retirement pay.

Prison Term Proposed

Rep. F. Edward Herbert (D-La.), who was chairman of a subcommittee which conducted a two - month investigation of influence peddling in defense industries, made an effort to tighten the bill by prescribing specific criminal penalties for violations of the selling ban. Although he offered several amendments for this purpose, they were all ruled out by the presiding officer of the House on the grounds that they were not germane to the bill. Congressman Herbert contended that a military court martial would be "just an old class reunion" for a general or admiral. He said the penalties proposed under his amendment, including a $10,000 fine and a year's imprisonment upon conviction, were necessary in order to stop influence peddling.

Also defeated was a move to prevent high-ranking officers from being employed in any capacity by defense contractors within two years after retirement. In addition, a futile attempt was made to send the bill back to the Committee for further consideration.

There is uncertainty as to the number of retired officers who would be affected by the terms of the House bill. However, statistics indicate that almost 750 officers above the rank of colonel or navy captain have been employed upon their retirement by manufacturers of new weapons.

After passage on a voice vote, the House bill was referred to the Senate for consideration.

Spontaneous Fires Cause Great Property Damage

SPONTANEOUS ignition caused 76, 300 fires and 126,737,000 property destruction during the past three years, according to the National Fire Protection Association.

"Throw away oily and paint - soaked rags or keep them in airtight metal containers", advises Clanton Fire Chief, Houston Nivens, and "never hang oily or paint-splashed overalls in a closet".

A closet fire can burn undiscovered and spread through the walls and attic. Such fires are diffisult in complete destruction of the sult in complete distruction of the home or business.

nton Routs West Blocton In eason Opener 18 to 0

Wayne Atcheson

ton Tigers took advanhits and seven opponents outing West Blocton 18 Wednesday afternoon at Park.

oll-Wyatt Pitchers roll pitched the first six d allowed only four hits. yatt pitched the last innlanton.

Top Hitters

hitters for Clanton were right with two singles, e and a walk. Elliott ad two singles and was issued three walks.

Carroll, the winning pitcher, collected a single and a double in five trips to the plate.

Edwards Leads Off

Warren Edwards, who is thankful to be playing this season, was the lead-off hitter and lead off he did. Warren smashed the first pitch offered him in the first inning down the left field four line for a double.

Edwards went to third on a wild pitch and Elliott Monroe stole second. Another wild pitch and Edwards came home and the West Blocton catcher, on the play, committed an error which brought Monroe across.

Clarkie Hutchinson walked and Don Jones forced him at second on a ground ball to short. The second baseman trying to double up Jones on the play threw wild to first base and Jones took second.

Clay Carroll followed with a smash to the shortstop who made a bad throw to first and all hands were safe. Kenneth Mims then walked.

Buddy Vines bounced one to the third baseman who forced Carroll at third. Don Jones came in on the play and Clanton had scored three runs.

Wright and Downing Singles

Harold Wright singled Mims home and Vines went to third on the hit. A past ball brought Vines across and Mack Downing singled to drive Wright around. Edwards popped out to the third baseman to end the inning.

The Tigers still hadn't cooled off any and rallied for nine runs in the next inning.

9 Runs in Second

Elliott Monroe walked and was forced at second by Clarkie Hutchinson's grounder to third. Don Jones followed with a single as did Clay Carroll to right. Hutchinson came in and both Jones and Carroll advanced a base on an error by the right fielder.

Kenneth Mims sent a long fly to center field to sacrifice Jones home from third.

Carroll came home on a wild pitch. Then five straight walks: three errors, and two wild pitches brought in six runs. Clanton now increased its lead to 15 to 0 after two inning.

Clanton's other three runs came in the fifth and sixth innings. In the fifth Kenneth Mims singled and went all the way to third when the ball rolled through the right fielder's legs. Buddy Vines sacrificed him the remainder of the way.

Elliott Monroe led off the sixth inning with a single and stole second. Reserve Larry Glenn lined a single into right field and Monroe's sailed home. Then Clay Carroll delivered a double to left and Glenn raced home for the final run.

Blocton Handicapped

West Blocton played without their seniors which was only three, but the way the Tigers hit it apparently wouldn't have made any difference.

Louie Wade, collected two of the four West Blocton hits. Wade singled twice.

The losers used four pitchers throughout the game.

Finlayson Pleased

Coach Don Finlayson was very pleased with the opening performance and will be seeking their second victory tomorrow against Calera.

MISS GLENN - MR. HARRIS TO WED

MR. and Mrs. Osmond Glenn of Clanton, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Betty Jeanette, to Mr. William Charles Harris, son of Mrs. Orrie N. Harris, and the late Mr. Harris of Mobile.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Duke, of Clanton, and the late Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Glenn, also of Clanton.

Miss Glenn graduated from Chilton County High School and is now enrolled at the University of Alabama, where she is a member of the University of Alabama Student Nurse Association, and Alpha Lambda Delta honor society.

Mr Harris is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Walter Weatherford of Uriah, Ala., and the late Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Harris, also of Uriah.

Mr. Harris graduated from Murphy High School and attended the University of Alabama, where he received the B. A. degree. After serving in the United States Air Force, he returned to the University, where he earned the degree of Master of Arts, and is now pursuing further graduate study. He is also employed at Walker County Junior College.

The wedding will take place May 29, at Samaria Baptist Church, Clanton, Alabama.

NOTE OF THANKS

We wish to thank the people in Oak Grove and Providence communities and also Thompson's Chapel for their kindness and help during the illness of Lee Glass. May God bless each and every one of you. Also we wish to thank Dr. G. W. Everett for all he has done.

Nearly 1000 Attend Convention

CLANTON "WITNESSES" ATTEND MEETING

"No peace from God can come to a world walking in delinquency nd ungodliness. Those who predict such peace are in the same class as the ones in Jeremiah's day who foresaw peace for Jerusalem and who, according to the prophet, said 'Peace, peace, when there is no peace.' Also, about this corrupt world the apostle stated' when they shall say, Peace and safety, then sudden destruction cometh upon them, and they shall not escape'."

With these challenging words James W. Filson, district supervisor and Southeastern states representative of the Watch Tower Bible Society, opened the public talk climaxing three days of circuit convention of Jehovah Witnesses of east central Alabama Sunday in City Auditorium in Montgomery. Speaking on "Finding Peace in this Troubled World," he told an audience of 942 persons, "Peace, tranquility, public order and security will come only under the rule of God's kingdom. That heavenly government will end all wars, worries, and woe by destroying this wicked system of things at God's war called Armageddon. According to Jesus' prophecy at Matthew 24:34 such will come in the lifetime of the World War I generation which is now more than 40 years old.

Begins Special Activites

Mr. William E. Robinson, presiding minister, reported today that the Montgomery convention marks the beginning of special activites by Clanton Wtnesses for the next two months. "We have returned home with a more serious outlook on our ministry," he said, "wanting to do the divine will and live in peace as we continue to preach about God's Kingdom and its blessings for the earth."

He announced that a special talk will be given this Sunday at the Kingdom Hall in Lomax, on the subject "Universal Disarmament by the Kingdom of Heaven."

The following week, April 10, the annual observance of the Lord's evening meal will be celebrated by Jhovah's Witnesses and people of good will.

April 17 will begin a new series of eight Bible sermons explaining the hope of permanent peace in this generation. "All meetings at the Kingdom Hall are free and the public is cordially invited." Mr. Robinson said.

SAYS BENSON —

Chemicals In Our Foods, Modern Day Miracle

Our food supply in the United States is the safest, cleanest, and most wholesome in the world. The Department of Agriculture takes pride in the part it has played in making this true.

The Department considers that the safety of the Nation's food is its first responsibility in carrying out assgnments from the Congress. This principle gudes USDA research programs and regulatory and servce activities pertaining to foods and to the use of chemicals in food production and distributon.

Safe And Carefully Tested

The Department intends to continue and intensify its efforts to insure that American consumers get the foods they need and want, in adequate quantities at a reasonable price, and that these foods continue to meet the highest standards of nutritional quality and wholesomeness. It strongly endorses the safe use of carefully tested chemicals as required to maintain the excellence, variety, and economy of the foods we eat.

If Food Declines-Prices Rise

We cannot continue to produce adequate amounts of safe and wholesome foods without chemicals. Abandoning their use on farms and in the food industry would result in immediate decline in the quantity and overall quality of our food supply and cause a rapid rise in food prices paid by consumers.

Cooperates With Marketer

In every way possible, Department actions are aimed to assist growers, processors, and distributors in producing and marketing products that meet all the requirements of law regarding safety and wholesomeness. USDA is continuing today, as for many years past, to withhold approval of the use of chemicals that do not meet these requirements.

Consumers, as well as farmers and the food industry, have a vital stake in the safe use of chemicals in food production, and in the research and regulatory programs of our Federal and State governments that assure wholesome, high-quality foods in economical abundance. Only wide public understanding of these facts can provide the necessary basis for continued supply of good foods we can enjoy in safety.

Verbena FFA Studies Laying Out And Terrace Drainage

The Agriculture I Class of the Verbena Vocational Agriculture Department has taken up the methods on laying out and drainage of terraces. The Agriculture I Class had two days in the class room taking up the parts of the machine and learning the procedure. Field work was done out in the field with each boy actually laying out a terrace.

The Agriculture II Class has begun their shop program on making book cases. The third week has already been completed.

The Vocational Agriculture students are taking an active part in helping get the football field cleared off for the construation of a new gymnasium.

All FFA and Vocational Agriculture students are looking forward to the Chilton County Field Day to be held in Clanton.

EXPRESSES THANKS

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, sympathy and beautiful floral offerings received from our many friends, neighbors and relatives during the sad bereavement in the death of our motrer and grandmother, Mrs. Mollie T. Cox. Especially do we thank Rev. R. E. Wilkins, Spigener Funeral Home and West End Baptist church.--The Children. 15

Miss Ruth Hicks

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Gay Sr., were celebr-ting their 47th Anniversary Sunday, April 10, 1960 at their sons some in Clanton. Mr. and Mrs. Gay, Sr., furnished the turkey for this noon-day feast. Gathered to celebrate this event were: Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Gay and daughter, Maxine of Centreville, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Gay, Jr. and daughter, Annettee and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Gay, Sr. The actual date of the Gay's anniversary is Wednesday, April 13th., but the family could get-together better on April 14th. Afternoon visitors with this group were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Martin of Clanton.

Mr. Grady Herrod suffered some sort of an attack last Saturday afternoon in Plantersville. We're glad to report he is doing fine at this writing.

Sympathy is extended to the loved ones of Mrs. P. K. West of Lomax, Ala., who was laid to rest in the Stanton C [illegible]etery Sunday, April 10, 3 p.m.

Encouraging report from the bedside of Mrs. Ruby Harville. It is reported that she is doing nicely.

Mrs. McKey Passes

Very shocking news early Monday morning, April 4th was of the passing of Mrs. Henretta Eulene Levins McKey of Plantersville, Ala. Mrs. McKey had undergone surgery at the Selma Baptist Hospital and was thought that she was doing alright, but the died at 6 a.m., at the age of 39.

Surviving are the husband, Claude McKey, three sons, Billy N. U. S. Air Force, Frence Morrocco, Lowery and Jerel, both of Plantersville; two brothers, Goldman Levins, U. S. Air Force, New Mexico, and Joseph Levins, U. S. Air Force in Kansas.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist Church in Plantersville, at 3 p.m. Friday afternoon. Rev. G. B. Golden officiating.

Mrs. McKey was the daughter of the late Henry Levins and Omega Fulford Levins. Sympathy is extended to the loved ones.

Mrs. James C. Sewell Rites

Funeral services for Mrs. James C. Semell, age 39 of Tuscaloosa, Ala., was held April 8th, at the Alpine Baptist Church near Plantersville, Ala. Mrs. Sewell died in the hospital on Monday. Burial in the adjoining cemetery. Spigener-Brown officiating.

Survivors include her husband, a sister, Mrs. L. Z. Moore of Plantersville, three brothers, James Walker, Bill Walker and Hop Waker, all of Plantersville, Ala. We extend sympathy to the loved ones.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Hicks of Marion, Ala., visited their mother, Mrs. Mary Hicks Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Atchison of Randolph, Ala., visited their sister, Miss Taber Atchison recently.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Neal, Miss Judy and Mr. Bobby O'Neal spent Sunday with Mrs. Minnie Roebuck and Mr. and Mrs. Welch Roebuck.

A number from our community attended the Democratic Barbecue at the Veterans Hall in Clanton Friday night. Reports a nice time.

FHA News

Home Economics students at the Parrish High, Orrville, Plantersville and Carlowville last week were joined with others over the nation in observing National Future Home makers of America Week. Many special events in the homes, schools, churches and throughout the community in which the organizations are located. More than 15,000 FHA members in our State were joined with the half-million members over the nation in the annual celebration. The Dallas County High School Chapter president, Miss Jean Campbell, presented an 'Award Future Homemaker Degree' to Miss Ann McKee. This award being a pin. Ann is very proud of this award. She is the daughter of the late Cecil McKee and Mrs. Frances Terry McKee. Ann and her mother live together with Mrs. Fannie Terry at their home on Stanton Rt. 1.

Ann McKee was also honored as 1959-60 Homecoming Queen of the Dallas County High School. Congratulations Ann and we're proud of you.

Ann is a 10th grade student.

Easter Seal Campaign Ends This Week . . .

As the month long Easter Seal Campaign to help crippled children all over the State moves into the last week, volunteers are making that last push to reach their quotas. In many areas the campaign is being concentrated this week before Easter instead of prolonging the drive for a month.

Mr. I. S. Levine, Chilton County Chairman of the Alabama Society for Crippled Children and Adults, says that this Chapter is planning to round out the campaign this week-end and asks everyone to remember that Easter Seals fight all types of crippling conditions.

"We want to thank those people who have already given," Mr. Levine said," and we urge, those who haven't made a donation yet to do so this week."

Easter Seals fight crippling on many fronts. Since ninety per cent of all funds raised remains in Alabama a total war on crippling is carried out. Easter Seals provide therapy, hospitalization, treatment, transportation, public education, modern facilities and scholarships to help the handicapped children and adults of our state.

By cooperating with the two state agencies, Crippled Children's Service and Vocational Rehabilitation Service, the Alabama Society for Crippled Children and Adults stretches every dollar donated to the utmost.

In 1959 8,927 Alabamians were served directly with the help of $233,855 of Easter Seal funds.

Don't let this total fall in 1960. Give to Easter Seals!

Strawberry Bonus

Everyone loves the extra bonus of homemade strawberry jam and strawberry jelly served at mealtime. Basic, easy-to-follow recipes for sweet spreads such as these are available in a package of powdered fruit pectin. And for a different variation on the strawberry jelly theme, this minted version is sure to please:

MINTED STRAWBERRY JELLY

Yield: about 8 medium glasses (4 lbs. jelly)

- 3½ cups juice (about 2½ qts. ripe strawberries)
- 5 cups (2¼ lbs.) sugar
- 1 box Sure-Jell powdered fruit pectin
- ¾ to 1 teaspoon spearmint extract

First, prepare the juice. Crush thoroughly about 2½ quarts fully ripe strawberries. Place in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. Measure 3½ cups into a very large saucepan.

Then make the jelly. Measure sugar and set aside. Add powdered fruit pectin to juice in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add spearmint extract. Skim off foam with metal spoon, and pour quickly into glasses. Cover jelly at once with ⅛ inch hot paraffin.

CANCER CLINICS

The procedure for treatment at a clinic is first. The patient advises his doctor that he is unable to pay for required treatment. Second the doctor fills out an application for aid, such forms are available from the County Health Department. Third, the doctor, delivers or mails the form to the Department of Pension and Security, in the County where the patient resides. Fourth, if the claim is substantiatd the patients application is sent to the County Health Department where it is forworded to the State Health Department by the Cancer Control Division there. Sixth, if approved for treatment at one of the clinics, the patient is notified. He is told when and where to report. The doctor who made the referral is also notified.

There are six State-operated Cancer Clinics, two in Birmingham, two in Montgomery and two in Mobile.

Fight cancer with a check-up and a check.

A rubber dish scraper and a cold-water rinse are helpful in removing large food particles from dishes.

Lions Make Ready For '60 East-West Game

THE local Lions Club has already began laying plans for their Seventh consecutive High School Boys All-Star Baseball Game. They have named Johnny Vines, Raymond Hamilton, and Ott Miller as Co-Chairmen for this years game and set Sunday, May 15 as the date. Just as last year, there will be two-six-inning games; the first will be played by boys from visiting schools which will include Alex City, Columbiana, Vincent, Marbury, Talassee, Montevallo, West Blocton, Calera and Billingsley. The second game will feature the fifteen best boys from both teams-as selected by major league scouts-against the Chilton County High team. All proceeds from these games are for the benefit of Alabama Sight, Inc.

In this connection, the local Club sent Ott Miller to Birmingham last Sunday to attend the meeting of the Board of Directors of Alabama Sight and get first hand information on this year's plans for the BIG East-West Game which is always played in Birmingham. Lion Miller reports that Clanton was Clanton was recognized for having sponsored the best Little East - West Game outside the Birming--ham area last year; and that a challenge was given to any and all other cities in Alabama to try to out-do the Chilton Lions in 1960's games.

All Lions Clubs within this District have always been whole-hearted supporters of these games as well as all other efforts to help the blind and near-blind; but special mention goes to the Lions in the Maplesville and Trorsby-Jemison Clubs for the heup and support they give. That extra effort will be needed again IF we are to continue being the best in these games and not only from the Lions--from the sport-loving people as well.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

from The Bible

Knowing that Christ, being raised from the dead, dieth no more; death hath no more dominion over Him.—(Romans 6:9)

Jesus, our Redeemer, Saviour, Friend — ever present, always patient and understanding in loving kindness — walks and talks with us this very day as He did with the people who knew Him in ancient days, when we free ourselves of sin and in prayer seek His presence.

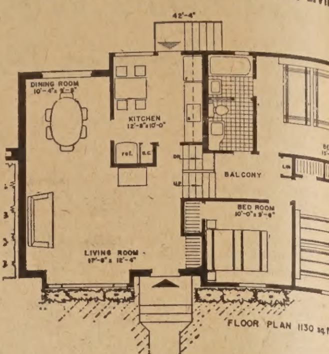
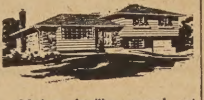
At four o'clock the guests departed saying it had been a most enjoyable day.

AN UNIQUE HOUSE FOR EXURBAN LIVI





Modern families, moved out from the city, cherish distant views and outdoor living. And they want homes that fit into Exurbia's entirely different way of life.

That's exactly what architect, Stanley H. Klein, A.I.A. achieved in this unique split-level modern house with a wide brimmed roof that fairly exults in space. It snuggles against a comfortable site, but hardly any grading is required where there is a natural slope down from left to right, and it looks out over far horizons and unites outdoors with indoors.

The solid wall that runs the 24 foot length of the living-dining room gives sense of spaciousness, while it protects from the glaring morning or evening sun. Thirty-two inch roof over-hangs help protect the other three sides of the house. The kitchen is adjacent to the dining room and faces the rear. Up six steps is the sleeping area, three bedrooms with a bath; down six steps is a beautiful twenty-five foot den wit lavatory and exit to the There is also a door to where there is a work storage corner.

vote and support in the forthcoming Democratic Primary for County Treasurer.

As much as I would like to see and talk with each of you personally, I realize that it's impossible, so I am using this medium as a personal appeal for your vote.

I am well qualified to be your County Treasurer, having graduated from Maplesville High School, going on to Massey-Draughon Business College in Montgomery to complete my education. I have had experience in bookkeeping and financing.

I am active in P-TA and Eastern Star work and a member of the Baptist Church at Stanton. I am the wife of a disabled veteran and mother of two children.

For the past six years my husband and I have operated a store and service station at Stanton.

If you see fit to elect me, I promise to be one of the best treasurers Chilton County has ever had: fulfilling the office efficently, honestly and conscientiously.

WITH EYE ON INDUSTRY —

Chilton C of C Retains Full-Time Sec.-Treas.; Proceeds In All-Out Effort For Inbustry

The Board of Directors for the Chilton County Chamber of Commerce held their monthly meeting Monday and appointed a committee to negotiate with a light industry seeking space for a building on the industrial site in South Clanton. The Chamber further authorized a letter to the City Council and the Mayor of Clanton urging the City of Clanton to maintain the access drive to the Alabama Furniture Manufacturing Company located South of Clanton. It came to the Chambers attention that heavy traffic to the Company's plant from the main road has kept the access road in bad repair and that is has been necessary for the industry in the past to hire machines and operators to maintain the road.

Assist County Manufacturers

The Chamber feels that every assistance possible should be rendered to the County Manufacturers in helping them to get their products from the factory to the consumer. The Chamber endorsed the annual fund drive by the Boy Scouts of America which the Chilton County Troops will begin soon. All businesses and citizens are urged to support the Boy Scouts in this undertaking.

Change Meeting Date

Previously the Board of Directors have been meeting on the first Monday of each and every month, but the meeting date has been changed to the second Monday of each and every month, and will meet at 12:00 noon on those days at the City Grill in Clanton.

Pitts, New "Work Horse"

Jon Will Patts has been retained as a full time secretary-treasurer to assist the chamber in its objectives.

Coosa River Development

The Chamber reviewed a resolution passed on March 24th. in which it had endorsed an appropriation by Congress for the further planning of the Millers Fery Multiple - pupose Dam on the Alabama-Coosa River the Millers Ferry multiple--purpose Dam which will be located on the River South of Montgomery is the first phase of a long project to make the Alabama - Coosa River navigable from Mobile to Rome Georgia, as it once was for small barges in the early development of this area. Copies of resolutions were sent to both Alabama senators in aWshington as well as the nine Alabama members in the House of Representatives. Replies from Senator Sparkman, Armistead Selden, George Huddleston and George Elliott state that they plan to attend a hearing by the House Committee on Public Works Appropriaion and testify before the Committee as to desirability of this project. They are seeking to have the Congress appropriate $200,000.00 in the 1961 Budget in order that further plans and blue prints for the project can be made.

CHEVY! YOU CAN'T BUY ANY CAR FOR LESS ...UNLESS IT'S A LOT LESS CAR!

Anyone who's looked around knows the majority of Chevrolet models—6's and V8's together—list for less than comparable models of other low-priced cars. But the price tag alone is only one of a whole raft of reasons a Chevy does better by your dollars.

Nothing near Chevy's size and price can match the Full Coil cushioning of its ride, or the fine, finished workmanship of its Body by Fisher. That even applies to some cars that cost a lot more. You're up in the higher price brackets before you find a car that moves as quietly as a Chevrolet or offers the inner space that Chevrolet does.

Or look at the extras Chevy gives you —at no extra cost—that others in its class can't offer at any price. Shock-cushioned steering. Safety Plate Glass in every window. Keyless locking of all doors. Crank-operated vent windows. Chevrolet offers the widest choice of power teams, too. Drive a Chevy just once. You'll have a tough time settling for anything less.

Soil Test May Soon Replace Spraying Peach Trees

Experiments indicate soil treatment may eventually replace tree spraying to control the plum curculio in peach orchards, the U. S. Department of Agricuture reported today.

Orchard tests, conducted by entomologist Oliver I. Snapp of USDA's Agricultural Research Service at Fort Valley, Ga., proved several insecticides capable of giving good control of the pest.

Aldrin, dieldrin, or heptachlor, was spread in the spring on the ground under trees at a rate of about 2 pounds per acre and mixed with the top layer of soil. The treatment controlled the curculio Conotrachelus nenuphar by killing the pest before it could emerge from the ground. Similar results were obtained with all three of these chemicals.

In one of the athah, aldrin granules were spread under Elberta peach trees in March of 1957. No insecticide was used on the trees during the '57, 58, or '59 season. Only 1.6 percent of the harvested peaches were infested in 1957, 2.9 percent in 1958, and .07 percent in 1959. It is possible some beetles may have migrated from outside the treated orchard.

In another orchard, 2 pounds of aldrin per acre incorporated in the soil prevented the development of adults from most of the larvae which, over a -year period, were placed on the soil under the spread of peach trees.

In a cooperative experiment with a Georgia peach grower, 64 pounds of 25 percent aldrin were mixed with each ton of 10--10-15 fertilizer and spread under several thousand trees in March 1958.

Each tree was treated with 2-1|3 pounds of the mixture, which amounted to 2 pounds of aldrin per acre. The material was broadcast by hand and disked into the ground. No wormy peaches were found when the orchard was harvested in 1958. In 1959 the owner found wormy fruit in only one small area. In contract, peaahes in a neighbor's untreated orchard were ruined by the plum curculio.

To remove a white spot caused by a wet glass from mahogany furniture, smear the spot with a thick coat of vaseline and allow it to stand a few days. When the vaseline is removed, the stain will have disappeared.

White, Lawrence Are Officers of New City Planning Board

THE new City Planning Board met Tuesday night with representative of the Alabama State Planning and Industrial Development Board. Horsley White was named Chairman and Harold Lawrence was named Secretary.

Purpose of the Board is to create new zoning limits when necessary because of growth and make surveys of schools, parks, etc., where city expansion is concerned. Planning for a bigger and better City will be their goal and their aim.

Other members of the Board are J. C. Burnett, Tom Burdette, Ed Mullins and Henry Wyatt. Mayor Hollis Jackson, L. E. Diefenderfer, and Lewis Culver represent the city officers and employees.

SOFTBALL —

Amoco Oilers Open Season April 30th

The Amoco Softball team of Clanton will open its season on Saturday night, April 30, with a double header with the State Champions of 1959 and a runner-up in the regional tournament last fall that was held in Miami, Florida, Pepsi Cola of Tuscaloosa.

Pepsi has one of the best pitchers in softball in Paul Morrison. He was voted the most valuable pitcher in the Regional Tournament last year.

The Amoco Oilers played last year under the sponsorship of Standard Oil of Clanton. Clanton will have pitching for them against Pepsi Don Merritt or Tex Kenyon and a local boy Carl Guin, that has a very good arm for fast league.

Clanton will play Consolidated Roofers of Anniston on Wednesday night, May 4th and will play Food Basket, one of the better teams in the State, and they also defeated the World Champions a game last year in Birmingham. This game will be played in Clanton on May 7th.

PROCLAMATION

STATE OF ALABAMA BY THE GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the great industrial growth of this State in recent years has resulted in national recognition as a cooperative effort on the part of all the people; and

Mt. Creek Scene Of Memorial Observance

CONFEDERATE Memorial Day will be observed at Mountain Creek at the Old Soldiers' Home which is now called Confederate Memorial Cemetery. At one time fourteen buildings and beautifully landscapped grounds were at this site. Now only two well-filled cemetery plots remain of the old Confederate Veterans and their wives who once lived here.

This institution was a self-sustaining world of its own. The able-bodied veterans did much of the work about the place. One was particularly interested in growing flowers, and so his job was to keep the yards in good condition. Traces of bulbs that bordered the walks and shrubbery that once grew luxuriantly can still be seen among the weeds and bushes. There was a dairy and vegetable garden that helped feed the old soldiers.

Home Adequately Staffed

Ths home was adequately staffed, however, having a residnt physician, dietition, nurses, cooks, maids, etc. There was even a bit of humor in the names given to some of the cottages by the men living there. One was called Crippled Creek, where the wheel chair patients stayed. Last Chance was the name given the cottage for terminal cases who really were having their "last chance".

Veteran Donates Land

The land for this home was given by Jefferson Manly Falkner, a resident of Mountain Creek and a Confederate Veteran himself. The state of Alabama and the United Daughters of the Confederacy contributed funds to this home. In 1939 the land was deeded to the State Conservation Department. Under the direction of the State Parks Division work has begun on the restoration of this site to a memorial cemetery.

Everyone Is Invited

Everyone is urged to come to the memorial services on April 23. The program begins at 11 a.m. The public is invited and required to bring a basket lunch. Although this observance is sponsored by the UDC and SCV, it is not necessary to belong to these organizations to be invited to this service.

After lunch movies made at the observance last year will be shown at the Mountain Creek Baptist Church.

LeFevres To Sing At Billingsley

THE Famous LeFevres ,the nation's most Versatile singers and musicians, will present a concert at the Billingsley High School Auditorium Thursday night, April 28.

The program is sponsored by the Billingsley Science Department and will begin at 8 p.m.

Members of the local science classes are selling advance tickets to the program. Tickets are also on sale at W. B. Headley's Grocery and by E. E. Stewart.

Former Patient Shot Resisting Officer

STATE Highway Patrolman Byron Prescott shot Conner Johnson near here Sunday. The Negro received a bullet wound in the neck, but according to reports it was not serious.

The former mental patient was reported to have wandered from his home and Officer Prescott had found him and was trying to get him in the patrol car to take him home.

Farmers are expected to plant 85.8 million acres of corn in the U. S. this year.

Chosen "Demo Woman of Year"

THE Chilton County Business and Professional Women met on Thursday night, April 14, at the Health Center Building.

We were delighted to have our president back with us after her absence due to her own illness and that of her mother.

The meeting was called to order and opened with the "Club Collect".

The minutes of the last two meetings were read and approved this was necessary due to the last meeting being a dinner party celebrating our First Anniversary as a Club in Chilton County.

Our guest for the meeting was Mrs. Mildred Burnett of Stanton, seeking the office of County Treasurer, she was welcomed by Mrs. Sallie G. Speaks, serving in the president's place for the evening.

Mrs. Sallie G. Speaks told the members that Miss Ruth Hicks, our president had been honored by being chosen ,'Alabama's Democratic Woman of the Yerr." This is the first time such an award has been made in the State. We of the BPW feel this is a great honor and very deserving award for Miss Hicks.

Our Club gave an Easter party for two classes at Clanton Grammar School, Mrs. Mullins and Mrs. Haywoods pupils, the members helping with the parties reported the children had a delightful time.

Mrs. Helen Atkinson reported on the Spring Convention which several members attended at Centreville, recently.

The Nominating Committee reported, and the new officers will be installed at the regular meeting on May 12, for the 1960 and 61 year.

Most of the club members plan to attend part of the Annual Convention in Montgomery which is to be April 29, 30, and May 1.

After business session, Mrs. H. B. Searcy presented the program, this was followed by a social period with refreshments in the Easter motif.

ATTORNEY GENERAL STATES THAT VOTERS MAY VOTE FOR ONE OR ALL ON BALLOT MAY 3

To All Probate Judges, Sheriffs, & Election Officials:

A number of requests have come to this office seeking advice as to whether or not voters may "single shot" the vote they cast May 3rd for State Delegate-at-Large and Presidential Elector to the National Democratic Convention.

In other words, there are 20 to be elected in the State Delegate-at-Large race from the entire field and the question is whether a voter will have his ballot counted if he votes for just one or more up to 20, or must he vote for the entire 20 places to have his vote count.

In the Presidential Elector race there are 11 to be elected and the same question arises.

In both instances the answer is that a single vote or more will count and the voter does not have to vote for the entire number of places to be filled.

See Title 17, Section 361, Code of Alabama 1940, as amended by Act No. 602, 1759 Regular session of the Legislature.

Very truly yours
MacDonald Gallion,
Attorney General

New Associational Missionary Now Resident Of Clanton

REV. and Mrs. M. G. Fields moved into Chilton County, Clanton, Alabama on Wednesday of this weeak just one and one-fourth blocks east of the West End Baptist Church. A number of churches have been very gracious to offer space to be used as an office for the Association Missionary. The offer was tentative from some who offered this courtesy while others offered space to be occupied immediately. As of now, we very graciously accept the offer of the West End Baptist Church for our missionary to occupy the office used by the pastor before his office was moved to the educational plant of his church. The home in which the missionary moved is on Augusta Street. The full address and telephone number will be announced later. We baptists of Chilton County are very fortunate to have this very fine man come to us and work with us in the advancement of the Kingdom of our Saviour.

Gore Elected To Membership In Beta Gamma

James W. Gore, UA, from Clanton, has been elected to member-ship in Beta Gamma Sigma, the highest scholarship honor a student in the School of Commerce and Business Administration can attain.

The purposes of Beta Sigma are to encourage and reward scholarship and accomplishment among students of collegiate schools of business, to promote the advancement of education in the art and science of business, and to foster integrity in the conduct of business operations.

Gore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Gore, is majoring in accounting.

On campus, he has served as vice-president of Alpha Kappa Psi, honorary accounting fraternity.

Gore's future plans include entering the field of public accounting. He has previously served in the U. S. Air Force.

Gore is married to the former Ull Davis of Clanton.

Origin Of The Bible

EZEKIAL

"NOW it came to pass in the thirtieth year, in the fourth month, in the fifth day of the month, as I was among the captives by the river of Chebar, that the heavens were opened, and I saw visions of God. In the fifth day of the month, which was the fifth year of king Jehoiachin's captivity, the word of the LORD came expressly unto Ezekial the priest, the son Buzi, in the land of the Chaldeans by the river Chebar; and the hand of the LORD was there upon him." (Ezek. 1:1-3) From these opening verses we learn that Ezekial's service as a prophet inspired of God started over in Babylon and in the fifth year of the first captivity, which fifth year would be 613 B.C. As one of priestly rank and of some standing in the Jewish commonwealth, he was among those carried captive by Nebuchadnezzar in 618 B. C. (2 Ki. 24:11-16) From the above-quoted verses it also appears that Ezekiel was thirty years of age when called to the prophetical service. He continued as prophet until at least the twenty-seventh year of the first captivity, which would extend his service over a period of twenty-two years, from 613-591 B. C. (29:17) Moved by the same spirit of God by which he spoke, he recorded his prophecies in the book that bears his name.

Prophecies and Visions

Ezekiel's prophecies and visions are for the most part arranged chronologically, and at the same time follow in general a topical arrangement of subject matter. This doubly logical order came about naturally due to the timelines of his various visions. Up until the tenth month of the ninth year of the first captivity the central point around which Ezekiel's prophecies revolved was the complete fall and desolation of Jerusalem, with only brief references to a restoration. This is the tenor of the first twenty-four chapters. Then it was that Nebuchadnezzazr laid seige to Jerusalem. (Ezek. 24:1, 2; 2 Ki. 25:1) During the siege and while Ezekiel's forecasts fillment, the prophet turned atten- of destruction were undergoing fultion principally to pronouncing woes upon foreign nations. (25:1-32:32) But with the arrival of news that Jerusalem had fallen the glorious note of restoration sounds predominantly throughout the remainder of the book. All the prophecies, whether of Israeal's fall and restoration or of the impending doom of heathen nations, highlight one theme: Jehovah's vindication. More than sixty times crops out the majjestic determination: "They (or ye) shall know that I am Jehovah."

Trust In Egypt For Deliverance

The captive Jews in Babylon prior to Jerusalem's fall continued to trust in Egypt for deliverance from Babylonish captivity. Among them were false pophets who proclaimed an early release and peace, and the captives would not believe Ezekiel's predictions of Jerusalem's fall, just as Jeremiah's similar warnings over in Jerusalem itself went unheeded. Nevertheless, Ezekiel was commissioned to prophesy, whether the rebellious captives would hear or forbear. But if they will not hear, what's the use? Because, when the things prophesied come to pass, then they "shall know that there hath been a prophet among them".

Jehovah's Chariot

The first three chapters relate the glorious vision of Jehovah's chariot-like organization, attended by the four cherubim and from the throne of which comes a voice commissioning and instructing Ezekiel as prophet and as watchman unto the house of Israeal. He is to hear the word of prophecy from Jehovah's mouth, and then give Israel warning from the Almighty, whether they hear or forbear to hear.

390 Days On Left-40 On Right

First by lying 390 days on his left side and 40 days on his right side before a tile on which Jerusalem is portrayed, and by his low-quality food during that 390-day period, he figuratively foretells the siege of the once holy city and the famine that will ragage it. The climax and end of the siege is foreshadowed by the hair and beard of the prophet as having been cut off and divided into three parts, one of which is burned, another part is hacked with a knife, and the third is scattered in the wind; thus Jerusalem's inhabitants are pictured falling by famine and pestilence, by sword, and by scattering among the heathen nations. These judgments come by reason of Israel's gross idolatries, and neither gold nor silver can deliver the religionists. By visions Ezekiels is transported to Jerusalem, where he sees varied and flagrant practices of demon-worship at the temple. Then a man in linen apparel with a writer's inkhorn marks in the forehead those few that sigh and cry for all these abominations and following him go six men with slaughter weapons, slaying all those not marked. Again, the man in linen is seen receiving fiery coals from the had of a cherub who attends Jehovah's chariot and scattering them over the wicked city. Ezekiel's visionary trip to Jerusalem to give him the low-down on her oppressive princes ends with a promise of restoration and cleansing for Israel. --4:1-11:25.

Israel Going Into Captivity

Ezekiel enacts another motion picture signifying Israel's going into captivity. He brings all his belongings out by day and through a hole in the wall goes out by twilight. Explanation of the picture only brings jeers from the captive Jews; they say the vision is yet many days off, far off, Jehovah promises it will come very soon; the lying prophets of peace and the false prophetesses are reproved; hypocritical idolaters are rebuked and answered according to their insincere hearts; though such righteous men as Noah, Daniel, Job were in Jerusalm, they would not deliver the city. but only themselves. The vie branch unfit for any work is used to typify Zion's rejection; God's care and love for Jerusalem is shown by the figure of a helpless, cast-off infant that was taken in and reared to beautiful womanhood, and the city's apostasy is shown by that woman's adulteries with foreigners. At the hands of her lover-nation Jerusalem shall fall; she is worse than her sisters Sodom and Samaria; her course of rebelling against Nebuchadnezzar and turning to Egypt is symbolized by a vine-like cedar which turned to one of two eagles; after which Jehovah gives a symbol of the restoration of his Theocratic Government--12:1-17:24.

Illustrates Responsibility

Next Jehovah in proof of his own equal justice illustrates each individual's responsibility at the judgment time; each soul lives or dies by its own actions. Israel's princes, like lion cubs, will not save the nation from overthrow by Babylon by turning to Egypt for help. A review of Israel's national history proves it to be one of rebellions against Jehovah; but on many occasions he wrought salvation for them for His own great name's sake; finally he will purge the nation and restore the faithful remnant to his holy mountain. When the sword of destruction comes, Nebuchadnezzar will point it against Jerusalem ahead of Rabbath of the Ammonites; this overturning will continue till the coming of one with right to rule. So Jehovah shows up the abominations done by the princes, priests and people. Under the figures of two sisters, Aholah and Aholiabah, the filthy evils of the tentribe kingdom of Israel and of the kingdom of Judah are shown, and their fall at the hands if their one-time lovers, the Assyrians and Babylonians, is pictured. (18:1-23:49) The twenty-fourth chapter announces the start of the siege of Jerusalem and shows its sure fall. Ezekiel's wife dies, and the prophet is forbidden to mourn; thus his course was a sign that the stunned captives would not mourn the fall of the Lord's temple.

Chapters 25 - 32

Chapter 25 to 32, delivered while Ezekiel was awaiting news of Jerusalem's being smitten with destruction, contain prophecies against several heathen nations, which adverse judgments were to be executed by Babylon. Those mentioned are as follows: Ammon, Moab, Edom, Philistia, Tyrus, Zidon, and Egypt and her helpers. Specially lengthy are the messages against Tyre and Egypt. The four verses of Ezekiel 29:17-20 are away out of their chronological order, being uttered sixteen years and three months later than their context. But they logically belong with this proclamation of desolation against Egypt. After being besieged thirteen years by Nebuchadnezzar, the City of Tyre was successfully evacuated by sea by the Tyrians, and the Babylonians monarch took no appreciable spoil. Egypt was to be his compensation.

Ezekiel's Duties as Watchman

Chapter 33 reviews Ezekiel's duties as watchman. Verse twenty-one (according to the Syriac Version, and An American Translation, Moffatt, and Rotherham, margin) tells of an escapee from Jerusalem coming to Ezekiel in Babylon with a report of the city's fall, bringing the news in the tenth month of the eleventh year, which means about five months after the city's fall. The prophet had been told to expect this messenger. (24:26) Upon hearing of the fall of the city, Ezekiel immediately stated that the entire land would be utterly desolated (which had already happened, in the seventh month, but news of which would not arrive in Babylon for many days). The thirty-fourth chapter reproves false shepherds and then beautifully portrays Jehovah God as the Great Shepherd who will gather his flock and make with them a covenant of peace and shower upon them bounteous blessings. He will do so by his undersheperd, "my servant David."

A Judgment Messages

After pronouncing a judgment message against Mount Seir, the prophet comforts Israel with God-given promises of blessing and Israel's restoration to Palestine, stipulating that the primary motive in it all is the vindication of God's name, which had been so profaned among the heathen. The vision of the resurrection of the valleyful of dry bones corroborates the promises of the restoration of a faithful remnant; two sticks' becoming one heralds forth the coming oneness of the restored Israel of God under the greater David. (35:1-37:28) The two succeeding chapters tell of God's malicious assault on restored, peaceful Israel and the complete and final defeat of that wicked tool of Satan, and the activities of the remnant of Israel after the battle.

Last Nine Chapters

The last nine chapters of the book relate to Ezekiel's vision of Jehovah's temple at Jerusalem. It comes to the prophet over twelve years after his last previous prophecy (32:1, 17; 40:1), and, except for 29:17-20, is his last. It tells the measurements of the temple; the priests' chambers and the altar are described, and the uses of the former and the ordinances of the latter; the coming of Jehovah riding his chariot of judgment to the temple is described at chapter 43; ordinances governing the priests and princes are given; the apportioning of land for the sanctuary, the priests and Levites, and the city and the princes, is described; the vision of the stream of waters fountaining forth from the temple and ever deepening as it flows eastward and then south to the Salt sea, and the waters' healing and nourishing qualities, is recorded; and the book closes with matters concerning inheritances and the land borders of the twelve tribes, and concerning the city Jehovah-Shammah.--48:35, margin.

MRS. BURNETT WRITES TO VOTERS

I would like to take this opportunity to ask each of you for your vote and support in the forthcoming Democratic Primary for County Treasurer.

As much as I would like to see and talk with each of you personally, I realize that it's impossible, so I am using this medium as a personal appeal for your vote.

I am well qualified to be your County Treasurer, having graduated from Maplesville High School, going on to Massey-Draughon Business College in Montgomery to complete my education. I have had experience in bookkeeping and financing.

I am active in P-TA and Eastern Star work and a member of the Baptist Church at Stanton. I am the wife of a disabled veteran and mother of two children.

For the past six years my husband and I have opearted a store and service station at Stanton.

If you see fit to elect me, I promise to me one of the best treasurers Chilton County has ever had: fulfilling the office efficiently, honestly and conscientiously.

TOMORROW is always better than today--it has more possibilities.

THE fellow who said "favors you get for nothing are usually worth only that much" is a cynic. Love for his fellowman, he does not understand.

INTOLERANT minds are like concrete--all mixed up and firmly set.

FINDING a soft job is the hardest work some people do.

WHEN a thing must be done--now is the very best time.

Even the people who say everything happens for the best have a hard time believing it.

IT'S much better to be late down here than to be early up there--so drive carefully and live.

WHAT an understanding world this would be if others could only see us as we see ourselves.

Cancer Control Month --

THE month of April is Cancer Control Month in Chilton County. Doctors have stated that amazing progress is being made in man's fight against this top killer, but funds are necessary in such a king-sized job. Cancer is subdued, but far from being licked and we won't stamp it out by ignoring it. Though the drives for money keep you digging into your jeans, there is hardly a one of us who wouldn't give all the material things we possess to avoid the tragedy of Cancer and all its sufferings.

Rev. L. D. Brookshire is chairman of this drive this year and he and his volunteers request your assistance within the time set aside for the drive so that the quota can be reached by the end of the month. Remember: Cancer control begins with you; and that slogan they use about "A checkup, and a check" is very true!

It Is Spring --

THE observing of Easter and all it means to the Christian world is supporting evidence that Spring and all its wonders is finally with us after a hard bout with old man Winter. The colder months always seem to lengthen our bad feelings and prolongs our aches and pains while new, bright Spring cures all manners of ills and differences.

Spring will bring out a smile from one who is grouchy or may bring together two persons who have been at 'outs' with one another all year long. It can make the sick well and the old feel younger. When it comes to the younger, they nearly burst with new found energy and magnificent dreams of things to come during the wonderful warm, summer months ahead.

Yessir, Spring is here and it seems like a long time in coming. . . and needless to say, we, among a million or so others, welcome it with open arms and sunburned faces!

The Teasing Peaches --

CHILTON'S basic commodity: the luscious peach, is as fickle as a female and as hard to understand as same, but they, like the little lady are necessary in our economy and way of life. We have been discussing the crops with many and some seem to think that Chilton is in line for a so-called 'bumper' crop this year. A couple of cold snaps have scared a few off, but primarily Chilton's peaches are b(l)ooming!

Over the year's we have experienced both bumper crops and next to nothing crops and it still seems to be a toss-up among some parties which is best. There is no doubt that a large crop offers the most possibilities for our County and its people providing we handle it with intelligence and prepare ahead of time for the Heaven sent blessing of a full crop. We should be thankful for a full crop--it offers much to our economy!

THINGS We see and hear

by BOB

WE know a lot of eggs that are wasting away today because somebody forgot where they hid them last Sunday!

THE Auction for Crippled Children held last Saturday in Clanton by the local Jaycees was a success in more ways than one.

ATTACK was made on us this week concerning just who worked at clearing away the debris on the lot for the new Masonic Lodge and who didn't. Well(we're not too concerned about who didn't work, but it was made clear to us that Mr. W. W. Wingard, Mr. Woody Rockett and Mr. Russell Lewis did their fair share although some waited until it quit raining. Anyway, Mr. Dief, being himself, says those fellows really worked and somebody said Mr. Lewis could sure swing a mean ax. It was right amusing at the mess they were really in, although they probably won't agree with us that it was very amusing. The big trees on the lot were cut down and a party said they would buy them for their mop handle factory located north of Clanton. When they got them cut to specification for mop factories the manufacturer found so much metal (nails, bullets, etc.) in the wood that he said he couldn't afford to buy that many new saw blades and therefore couldn't use the wood. So then, the city said they would haul it off if it was cut down into five foot lengths. This they did, but they couldn't handle those huge stumps. Then, after the County road machinery and the national guard was called out (possibly the rescue squad) they finally got the place smoothed off (they had to burn the trunks) and it looks pretty nice now. Quite a task, but when Mother Nature put those trees there she must have intended them to stay. Trees, are formidable, to say the least, as the afore mentioned gentlemen will testify we're sure. The building they're sweating over is pictured in this week's News. . . take a look at it and see if you don't think it's worthy of their efforts, too!

THE present political campaign being waged is one of the cleanest ever to be held in Chilton County. Absolutely no name-calling or mud-slinging has been made public and we hear only humorous anecdotes by the various candidates.

such as:

One fellow walked out through the plowed field southwest of Clanton and came upon the farmer fixing his tractor. The candidate kept his distance, not wanting to get any grease on him, but the situation eventually called for his assisting the fellow in his dirty job. Finally, secure in the belief that he had 'earned' at least one vote he reminded the gentleman that he was running for the Board of Revenue & Control of Chilton County and that his support would be appreciated. The fellow turned to him and calmly said: "I'd sure like to do that, but I don't live in Chilton County, I live in Autagua County!"

Or how about the one who got blisters on their 'foots' from doing so much 'canvassing'!

"I was in a group of ten people who said they were going to vote. . ." and we figgered sure he was going to say "for me!" He continued however with: "for Big Jim Folson next time!" Well now, what that's got to do with this campaign we don't know, but it's interesting anyhow'.

One fellow said, "I've given out so many cards that if I get half as many votes as folks have promised, I'll have more than what's voting! Look out here, now.

Local Industry To Be Honored By 'Industry Days'

WILLIAM H. Thomas, local chairman of Alabama Industry Day for the Jaycees, announce that plans are being made to recognize local industry during the week of April 25-30. Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

Members of the Alabama Congressional Delegation, along with officials of the Warrior-Tombigbee Development Association and the Coosa-Alabama River Improvement Association, last week urged the House and Senate Appropriations Committee to approve funds for the Jackson Lock and Dam, the Holt Lock and Dam, and the Millers' Ferry Multiple Purpose Lock and Dam.

Millers' Ferry Project

In our appearances before the committees, we asked that $200,000 be approved for the continuation of the planning and designing of the proposed Millers' Ferry Multiple Purpose Lock and Dam which will be located on the Alabama River near Camden. Funds totaling $249,000 have been expended in previous years for planning and designing purposes and pre-authorization studies of this important installation. This phase of the project is now 38 per cent complete and, if the requested $200,000 is appropriated this year, 70 per cent of tre planning can be finished. The construction of the Millers' Ferry Lock and Dam is a vital step in the full development of the great Coosa-Alabama Waterway, and every effort is being made to obtain the necessary funds to continue the advance planning phase of this project.

Holt Lock and Dam

We also asked the House and Senate committees to appropriate $4,409,000 to complete construction of the new Jackson Lock and Dam which is located on the Warrior - Tombigbee's lower reaches. At the same time, we strongly urged approval of a budget item of $378,000 for advance planning of the Holt Lock and Dam and requested an additional $200,000 which the Corps of Engineers has indicated could be used to begin actual construction of the Holt project.

The Holt Lock and Dam will be built just north of Tuscaloosa and will replace four existing low-lift installations that are now obsolete. This proposed lock and dam is the final major link in the immediate program to replace outmoded navigation structures on the Warrior-Tombigbee Waterway.

Pan American Day

As chairman of the Subcommittee on Inter-American Affairs, it was my privilege last week to conduct for the second time the annual Pan American Day observance in the House of Representatives. At that time, a resolution I had introduced to extend the greetings of the House of Representatives to the representative bodies of each of the 20 other American Republics on the occasion of Pan American Day was adopted. This observance marked the 70th anniversary of the Organization of American States.

The House also passed last week my bill which designates as the "Plaza of the Americas" that portion of the District of Columbia in which are located the buildings of the Organization of American States and the statues of the South American heroes, Simon Bolivar and Jose Artigas. This gesture of goodwill should further strengthen the bonds of friendship between the United States and our Latin American neighbors.

Chilton County Needs Library Facilities

"Chambers County has a vital interest in Library development", reports O. D. Alsobrook, Probate Judge.

Judge Alsobrook was recently interviewed by the Chilton County Library Committee, who were observing the progress the people of Chambers County have made in developing and proviting for a local Library service.

Judge Alsobrook stated that Chambers County, in addition to School Libraries boast six community libraries. In five of those communities West Point Manufacturing Company has operations, and the Company, in recognition of the communities' needs, generously supports five community libraries for the population. In the County seat, Lafayette, the Pilot Club sponsors and operate a public library which is located in the Chambers County Office Building. The space for this library as well as the utilities are provided by the County Government. The Pilot Club supported by other Civic Organizations retains a full time librarian to operate the Library. The books for the most part are donated by individuals and civic organizations.

The schools of Chambers County last year received a grant for $5,000 from the County government for school libraries. "While a Community Library Program is not a vital function of County Government," reports Alsobrook, "we feel that it is certainly one of the most rewarding. Many of our citizens have taken a keen interest in a Countywide Library Program and next year provided there is available money in the County funds, we hope to become associated in a Regional Library System under the State's Library Program and plan to provide book mobile service to our citizens."

Citizens all over Chilton County are becoming enthused over the prospects of our County having a Library System which would afford book mobile service to all areas of the County. They are conscious of the fact that a person's education continues even after he quits or finishes school, and that adult self-education is vital to the continued progress and modern development of all our county's resources and potential. People are Chilton's County greatest asset and a well read and informed citizenry is the keystone in a vigorous Democracy.

Last week the Parent-Teacher's Association of the Clanton Elementary School passed a resolution and sent it to the Chilton County Board of Revenue and Control endorsing a Regional Library Program in Chilton County and urging that space be provided for the County Library in the new Courthouse.

Other organizations all over the County are preparing similar resolutions supporting the project.

Citizens who feel that a Library Program for Chilton County is desirable are urged to prepare such a resolution and present it to their respective organizations for consideration at their next meeting.

CCHS P-TA Adopts Resolution For A Regional Library

The following resolution was adopted by the Parent-Teachers' Association of Chilton County High School at the regular meeting on April 12, 1960:

WHEREAS, Chilton County has an opportunity to become part of the Coosa Valley Regional Library System to the great benefit of the people of this County; and

WHEREAS, counties participating in this program under the Regional Library Act and Program under the State of Alabama must provide space for the storage of books, as well as, annual funds to be matched by State funds; and

WHEREAS, this body believes that the benefits which would be received by our County would be well worth the funds spent and that a good public Library System would add to and aid the personal development of our individual citizens encourage adult self-education, and aid the County schools as a vital supplement to their limited facilities.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Chilton County High School Parent-Teacher's Association does endorse and urge the annual appropriation of funds by the Chilton County Board of Revenue and Control for this County's participation in the Coosa Valley Regional Library System, with our sister counties, Shelby and St. Clair. And, further that space be provided in the new Courthouse building for the proper shelving and housing of said books and County Library Supplies. Further, it is directed that a copy of this resolution be sent by our secretary, to the Chilton County Board of Revenue and Control for their consideration.

This 12th day of April, 1960.
Marguerite P. Thornton,
Secretary.

Along Alabama's Highways--

Roosters 'Build' Bridge In Early Alabama

What do you do when you come to a body of water too deep to wade, too swift to swim and too wide to use a foot log?

For a passel of people in West Alabama the problem was handled in one of the most unique manners in the history of highway and bridge building.

It all took place a little more than 40 years ago. It all started when a man by the name of Frank I. Derby came out with a peculiar suggestion.

"Let's sell some roosters, make some money and bridge the Bigbee," he said.

Links Sumter & Marengo

This plan was more than just building a bridge. This was a chance to link the East and the West in Sumter and Marengo Counties. The Dixie - Overland Highway was pushing across the continent and several alternate routes had been suggested for crossing Alabama.

Many persons in the area were working to find some means for insuring that this East-West link would traverse the central area of the state.

But here was a man, Frank Derby, one of the outstanding promoters of the 20th century, proposing one of the most unique sales and promotional ventures ever attempted.

Sell Roosters-Build Bridge

Sell roosters; make money; bridge the Bigbee. Such a scheme had never been heard of.

Folks in the area had heard of cake sales to help the schools; they had heard of pretty girl pageants and ugly man contest for Halloween carnivals; they had even heard of the Irish Sweetpstakes which went for something or other. But nobody in the world had ever heard of trying to sell roosters to build a bridge to span the Tombigbee River or any other river for that matter.

Let's Tell The World

They had never reckoned with Frank Derby. He said, "Men' we can get worldwide publicity on this. We'll get roosters from throughout the world. Let's tell the world ministers at Versailles, France about this. Let's get the President of the United States, the Governor of Alabama, movie stars, congressional representatives and just about everybody in on this."

Then it did not take long for Derby, a man who had staged bull fights in hotel lobbies and once held a bull sale in downtown Birmingham that netted $73,000 for the Red Cross, to get the publicity needed for the venture.

Newspapers Write

Newspapers coast to coast, in England and on the continent picked up the story about the Alabamians who were selling roosters to build a bridge. The dateline "Demopolis, Alabama" circled the globe as newspapers wrote and rewrote and followed the day to day doing of the Demopolis sale.

Persons throughout the world were asked to donate roosters and to pay the $10 fee per entry. All of the proceeds from the aution were to go to the bridge building funds.

Roosters & Best Wishes

In a short while Derby and the other numerous promoters had contacted President Woodrow Wilson, Premier Clemenceau of France, Premier Orlando of Italy and Prime Minister Lloyd-George of England. These world renowned statesmen sent roosters to Demopolis and best wishes for bridge building. Newspapers of the day kept running stories concerning the roosters travel.

Roosters Land In America

When the rooster-bearing ship landed in America, President Wilson sent a Marine Guard of Honor to meet the roosters and bring them to Washington. The Alabama Delegation consisting of about 30 persons went to Washington and personally received the president's rooster and those sent by the foreign dignitaries.

Sale Day Draws Near

As the day for the big sale drew near in Demopolis, preparations reached a fevered pitch. Now under construction was a huge amphitheater which was to seat 10,000 persons. It was being built in the park in Demopolis. One of the largest barbecues ever planned was now being prepared. It brought in near $32,000 from ticket sales.

The roosters were arriving in Demopolis from throughout the world. Two of the Hollywood movie favorites of the day, Fatty Arbuckle and Mary Pickford, sent roosters.

Benson Sends Rooster On Plane

Admiral Benson not only sent a rooster but sent it in the most unique and memorable fashion of the day. The rooster was dispatched to Demopolis by hydraplane and was then dropped by parachute to the amazement and delight of the more than 40,000 persons who had swelled into the town for the event.

The sale was scheduled for August 14, 1919, but the roosters sent was so took an extra day to g

IOR OF PUTNAM ERS IS CANDIDATE DELEGATE AT LARGE

In organizing and directing the Putnam Letter Committee, James E .Simpson, of Birmingham, rendered an outstanding and patriotic public service to our State and our South.

Through the efforts of Mr. Simpson's committee, the famous letter of Mr. Carleton Putnam to President Eisenhower, which so forcefully and clearly presented the South's viewpoint on racial problems, was published as an advertisement in many elading newspapers of the East and Midwest.

Some 6,000 letters were recived by Mr. Simpson from citizens in areas where the Putnam letter ad appeared. Since more than 95 per cent of these letters voiced agreement with Mr. Putnam's view, it can be assumed that the letter enlightened many on the grave problems confronting the South.

Mr. Simpson is a candidate in the May 3rd primary for delegate from the State at large to the Democratic National Convention. It is to be hoped that citizens of Alabama will remember Mr. Simpson's unselfish service to all who cherish our way of life by giving him a vote of appreciation and the opportunity again to serve the South.

NEWS OF—

OAK GROVE

Pastor, Rev. J. C. Payne.

We had a good attendance for Sunday School and Training Union last Sunday, but let's try to make it even better next Sunday.

We had visitors from various places for our Sunday morning service and give them a hardy welcome to come back again often.

We were indeed happy to have visitors from Rocky Mount and Mars Hill Sunday night. We also invite them back just anytime.

If you're not going to church some where else we give you a special welcome at Oak Grove.

Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lilly visited Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Holly Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Cora Ellison of Coleman, Texas was called to be with her brother, Mr. Hardy Martin of Calera who is critically ill. Mrs. Ellison is the mother of Mrs. Lester Northcutt, and attended church at Oak Grove Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Glass had as their Sunday dinner guests Rev. and Mrs. George Staton and children, Mrs. James W. Staton and Edsel Reid were their supper guests.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Holly, Jr., and Mrs. Cook visited Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Holly, Sr. Wednesday. They left their daughter, Linda Jean, to visit her grandparents a few days. On Monday, the Holly's visited his sister, Mrs. Reed in Eclectic, Ala.

Mrs. Ruth Dennis of Montgomery was the week end guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Cobb.

Mr. Lee Glass wishes to thank everyone who helped him in any way during his long stay in the hospital. He said he realized that it was through the prayers of the Christian people and the Lord's will for him to pull through. He wants everyone who helped in any way to know he greatly appreciated it.

Spring Revival

It's not too early to begin thinking about our Spring Revival, that is to start the 2nd Sunday in May. We are hoping to have our parsonage completed by that time, so that the pastor and visiting evangelist can be with us full time.

Work is still progressing on the parsonage. Anyone who would like to help it would be greatly appreciated.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Littleton (Mae Cobb) who are the proud parents of a baby girl, named Jacque Lynn.

Our deepest sympathy goes out to the Cobb family in the tragic death of their son and grandson, little Milton Cobb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rasco Cobb of Calera and the grandson of Mrs. Eunice Cobb of this community, who accidentally hung himself while playing in the back yard of his home Friday afternoon.

Don't forget church Sunday and attend. Bring a visitor.

A sponge kept in a small quantity of water close by the ironing board will enable one to dampen clothes as they become too dry when ironing.

SAFETY CLUB HAS REGULAR MEETING

The Safety Club of Mrs. Sexton's Sixth Grade room met on April 18, 1960. The meeting was called to order by the Vice President, Robert Presley. The Secretary, Nan Adkins, called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting.

Old and new business was called for. There was none.

The treasurer, Rhonda Powell, gave her report. Collections were 17c. Total collections were $10.08.

Richard Maddox gave the devotion and led the group in the pledge to the flag.

The program was about safety. The ones on the program were:

Girls: Elizabeth Langston, Linda Mims, and Rhonda Powell; Boys: Robert Presley, Thermon Scott and Ray Brown. It was a tie.

The meeting was adjourned.

County Road Progress --

6 Miles Paved and Bridge Going Up In Southern Part of Chilton

Chilton County is scheduled for an additional six miles of paved roads and the building of a bridge as a part of the expanded road building program of Governor John Patterson.

Highway Director Sam Englehardt said today work would soon get underway on the grading, drainage, paving and building of the bridge on 6.091 miles of road from Midway to Elmore County Line with a spur to Mountain Creek. The entire project will cost about $170,000 and is a part of the largest highway construction program in the history of Alabama.

Also part of this program is the building of a bridge culvert which is to get underway immediately on the road from Clanton northwesterly toward Thorsby. This project is expected to cost about $7,900.

The building of these projects is part of the regular Farm to Market program whereby unimproved roads and bridges are being replaced and improved to higher standards to serve the local people.

The regular program provided by law and the Special Aid program as granted by the Governor and the Highway Director will be the means for the construction of 1,000 miles of county roads and bridges within the state during each year of the present administration. Chilton County will construct its proportionate share.

This is the first administration that has entered into an agreement with every county covering the granting of special funds for road and bridge construction on the county road system.

JOB INJURIES

Statistics sometimes seem staggering. For instance, the result of work injuries last year is approximately 168 million mandays of disability. This is equivalent to a year's full-time employment for about 540,000 workers.

Job injuries last year disabled 1,970,000 American workers, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U. S. Department of Labor. And 13,800 of these injuries resulted in death. Some 84,200 injuries resulted in some degree of permanent physical impairment ranging from the amputation or partial loss of use of a finger or toe to complete inability to engage in any future gainful employment.

The remaining 1,872,000 injuries each disabled a worker for one full day or more after injury but resulted in no permanent ill - effects. With all these unhappy figures, the total of fatal injuries, while 4 per cent higher than the 1858 figure, was lower than any other year on record. As employment increased last year, so there was an increase in the injury rate. This injury rate often increases when there is an influx of new workers and when experienced workers are shifted to new processes and activities.

The 1959 injury rate of workers was about the same as in 1954 and 1956, but was below other earlier years and 32 per cent below the wartime peak. The principal increase in injuries last year was in manufacturing, where a 17 per cent rise in the injjury rate came with increased employment and hours of work. Contract construction showed an injury increase of 11 per cent. Only coal mining showed a decrease in injuries, due to lower employment, and in this field injuries and deaths last year were the lowest for any year on record.

Crop Loans For 1960 Remains At 3½ Percent

The interest rate charged producers on 1960-crop price-support loans will continue at 3½ per cent per year on all loan repayments received by the regular nonrecourse loan maturity dates, the Department of Agriculture has announced.

Mr. Eddie Owen, Chairman, Chilton Agricultural Stablization and Conservation Committee, points out that this rate applies to nonrecourse loans and to that part of a recourse loan which is repaid by the regular maturity date. Application of the 3½ percent rate to recourse loans if repaid during the regular loan period is designed primarily to encourage early repayment of these loans.

On recourse loans, which were authorized by recent legislation limiting nonrecourse price support to $50,000, the rate will be 6 per cent per year on the portion of these loans not repaid by the regular maturity date.

Recourse Loans With Interest

Recourse loans must be repaid with interest, but they do not have to be repaid until a full year after the last date for obtaining loans for each of the commodities. The regular nonrecourse loans can be satisfied by forfeiture of the collaterial securing the loan, and interest is charged only on the principal repaid.

Nonrecourse Price Support

Under the law, nonrecourse price support is limited to $50,000 on those commodities determined to be in surplus supply. However, any person may obtain unlimited nonrecourse support if he reduces his 1960 production but the excess amount advance must be repaid in full with interest. Crops determined to be in surplus under this provision of law include wheat, barley, grain sorghums, upland long staple cotton, seed, flaxweed, soybeans, nuts, tobacco, corn and

MISS MESSER TO BE JUNE BRIDE

Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Price of Clanton, Ala., announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Messer, to Jerome Wathers, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Wathers of Millport, Ala.

The wedding will be an event of June eleventh at eight p.m. in the Poplar Springs Baptist Church.

MISS GREEN--MR. EASTERLING VOWS

Miss Mary Lou Green and Richard Easterling exchanged marriage vows on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, April 13, in the home of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Green on Lay Dam Road.

The grooms parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Easterling of Clanton.

The couples vows were repeated to Dr. J. Gilbert Hutchinson, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Clanton. The double ring ceremony took place before an improvised alter with a background of Southern Smilax, entwined with white gladioli and mums. There wre two seven branched candelabra holding white burning tapers. On either side of the alter was a tall basket of white gladioli and mums, which made a beautiful setting for the wedding in the living room.

Miss Green chose for her only attendant, her sister, Mrs. W. E. Petty, as matron of honor. She wore a blue lace dress and a white hat. For her bouquet she carried a spray of white carnations.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown of white embroidered tulle over taffeta with five tiered ruffles in the back was of waltz length. A bandeau of two medallions and seed pearls held in place her veil of illusion. She carried a white orchid showered with stephanotis and white ribbon streamers.

Johnny Cathey served the groom as best man. The candles were lighted by, Jimmy Green, brother of the bride.

During the wedding soft nuptial preludes were played by Mrs. Billy Gene Wyatt on the organ.

Mrs. Green chose for her daughters wedding a pink lace dress, wearing a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Easterling's dress was of blue lace and she also wore a corsage of white carnations.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held in the home. The guests were greeted by Mrs. Crit Jones. Mrs. Gulma T. Hilyer presided over the brides book, from a table holding a miniature bride and groom and a bud vase containing a single iris.

The guests were invited out on the pation where refreshments were served. The brides table was covered with a linen cut work tablecloth. The silver candlebra holding white burning candles gave a soft glow. The three tiered wedding cake beautifully decorated in pink and pale green with wedding bells graced the table.

After the traditional cutting of the wedding cake by the bride and groom, it was served by Mrs. Crit Jones. Lime punch, candy mints and nuts were served by Mrs. Fred Thompson and Miss Sara Easterling, sister of the groom.

Others assisting were: Mrs. Mrs. Thomas Marcus, Mrs. Hugh Branch, Mrs. J. D. Robbins, and Mrs. Horace Cole.

For a wedding trip the couple visited points of interest in Florida. The bride was attired in a vari-colored polshed cotton dress with a rust duster and white hat and accessories to match and a white orchid corsage for traveling.

STUDY CLUB URGES ADVANCEMENT OF LIBRARY FACILITIES

Clanton, Alabama
April 19, 1960

The Chilton County News
Clanton, Alabama

Dear Editor:

The members of the Study Club would like to go on record as urging the Chilton County Board of Revenue to do whatever is necessary to provide a Library for Chilton County through athe Library Services Act. The Study Club would like to call attention to the necessity of immediate action since there is a time limt for federal monies from Federal sources.

We would also request that the library be included in the plans for the new County Courthouse. This would make it more available to all citizens of Chilton County.

We sincerely feel that the need of a library in Chilton County is of the utmost importance to the children and adults of Chilton County. The need is great.

Sincerely yours,
The Study Club of Clanton
Mrs. Harold Lawrence, President

CCHS PARENT - TEACHERS PRAISE SUPT. LECROY

The Chilton County High School P-TA met on Tuesday, April 12, at 2:45 in the Agriculture Building. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. R. C. Williams. The minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Maurice Thornton. There was a note of thanks from Mrs. Yeager for the flowers we sent to her during her stay in the hospital.

The Executive Board made the following recommendations to be presented to the P-TA. They were (1) That a letter of appreciation be sent to Mr. Lecroy for all he has done for the schools during the crisis; (2) To send a resolution to the papers stating the P-TA's request for a library in Chilton County and for space to be made available in the new courthouse. These recommendations were adopted.

The Nominating Committee made the following report for officers for the year 1960-61:

President, Mrs. Lewis Headley; Vice-Pres., Mrs. Robert Powers; Secretary, Mrs. Charles Moore; Treasurer, Mrs. T. C. Davis.

They were unanimously adopted by the club.

After the business, Mrs. Cleo Cox gave an inspiring devotional. The speaker for the meeting was Mr. W. A. Lecroy. Supt. of Education. He spoke on the school situation and the new building program. It was a most informative talk.

The next meeting of the P-TA will be at night on May 10. This will be the last meeting of the year. We are looking forward to a large attendance.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT IS A GREAT SUCCESS

The Spring Concert of the CCHS Junior and Senior High Glee Club Concert was held in the Gymn on Friday afternoon, April 15. It was a success. A large crowd attended this performance.

The program consisted of Patriotic, Classical, Sacred, Folk, Spiritual, Novelty and Popular numbers.

We appreciate what Mrs. Lyle A. Rae, director, is doing for our boys and girls. She is very capable and we do appreciate her untiring efforts working with the pupils.

The Senior High Chorus consisted of 128 members. There were 95 girls and 45 boys enrolled. The Junior High Chorus consisted of 174 members. There were 144 girls and 30 boys enrolled.

Accompanists for this program were Misses Miriam Golden, Sandra Se:rcy and Katie Don Thompson.

MRS. MUNCHER HOSTESS TO CLUB

Mrs. Richard Muncher was hostess to her Garden Club when it met last Tuesday, April 12.

Mrs. Charles Wade, III, president, presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Orus Bennett gave the annual treasurers report.

The highlight of the meeting was a contest, on hat making, seeing who could make the prettiest and the most original hat from fresh flowers.

The judges were: Mrs. Thomas Hayes, Mrs. A. C. Rogers and Mrs. Lee Smith, honorary member. Mrs. Charles Wade III won 1st place for the prettiest and Mrs. Sam Patterson's hat was chosen most original.

For refreshments the hostess served cake, ice cream and nuts to the members present.

MRS. BURNETTE HOSTESS TO CIRCLE

Mrs. Gaines Burnette was hostess to her Circle on Tuesday, Ap-April 12, when they met with her at her home on Cargile Creek, for a spend-the-day and a covered dish dinner.

Mrs. Ervin Dailey opened the meeting with prayer. The usual business was presided over by Mrs. Hoyt Taylor, chairman. It was voted to buy a life membership in WSCS for a member. A complete report on plans for the coming bazaar was given by Mrs. R. C. Williams. The Circle voted to change the meeting to the first Tuesday in each month, instead of the second Tuesday.

The devotional was given by Mrs. Ervin Dailey, reading the 26th chapter of Matt. Mrs. G. T. Murphree and Mrs. R. C. Williams gave parts on the program about Lent and Easter.

There were 16 members with Mrs. Kimbrough who enjoyed the day together.

WEDDING COUPLE COMPLIMENTED

Miss Mary Lou Green and Richard Easterling whose marriage was an event of April 13, were feted at a dinner party on Tuesday evening following the rehearsal of the wedding plans, when the grooms parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Easterling, were hosts at Bob's Drive In in the private dining room at a dinner.

Camelias were used in decorating the room. Those enjoying this courtesy were: the bride-elect and groom-to-be, Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Green, Mrs. W. E. Petty of Miami, Fla., Dr. J. Gilbert Hutchinson, Johnny Cathey and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Gene Wyatt.

TEACHERS SORORITY HONORS MISS BARTON, 2ND.

The Alpha Delta Kappa teachers sorority of Alabama elected Miss Elizabeth B. Barton, a teacher in Chilton County High School, as a member of the state executive board during their annual meeting in Mobile on April 2. Miss Barton will serve as Sergeant-at-Arms of the board for the next two years.

Miss Barton has served her profession in several positions of honor and responsibilitty during the past ten years. In 1954-58, she was a member of the executive board of the Alabama Council of Teachers of English. She was president of the Council in 1957-58. Her most outstanding honor was the appointment to the chairmanship of a new committee, Utilization of Teacher Time, of the National Council of Teachers of English. The appointment was made by Dr. J. N. Hook, the National Executive Secretary of the Council for a period of three years. This is the first time that a woman of the South has been chosen for chairmanship of a committee of the Council.

CCHS BETA CLUB BANQUET, 22ND.

The Beta Club of CCHS will have a banquet at the City Grill on Friday night, April 22 at 7 p.m.

The president, Claire Reese Mullins, will MC the program. The chairman of various committees are as follows:

Program, Miriam Golden.
Decorations, Lynn Williams.
Tickets, Lynn Easterling.
Favors, Scarlet Ray.
Publicity, Sharon Hubert

MRS. REID HAS EGG HUNT FOR HER STUDENTS

Mrs. Bill Reid, who teaches 4th grade at the Elementary school in Thorsby had her Easter egg hunt on her mothers lawn, Mrs. W. C. Golden, in Clanton on Friday, the 15th. Each child brought his lunch and their teacher provided cold drinks.

After the egg hunt and lunch the children played games out on the lawn. It was a very enjoyable day for the youngsters.

Mrs. Reid was assisted by her husband and Mrs. Frank Porter in transorting the children to and from the party.

Farmers use 22 billion kilowatt hours of electricity each year.

SENIOR PLAY—

"GRANDMAS BEST YEARS" TO BE PRESENTED AT ISABELLA

The Senior Class of Isabella High School will present their play Friday night, April 22, at 7:30 p.m. It is a three act comedy entitled, "Grandma's Best Years."

The play is about Gram's coming from the country to visit her daughter who lives in the city. Mrs. Abbott, who is Gram's daughter, is trying desperately to get into high society.

The day Gram's arrives, Mrs. Abbott is bringing 3 society people to visit her for the week end. Mrs. Abbott is hoping that Edwin Carlson will propose to Joyce, her 22-year-old daughter and that Miss Quelch will enroll Marion, the 15-year-old daughter in her exclusive school for girls. Joyce doesn't want to marry Edwin, and Marion doesn't want to attend the school. To see how they conquer this problem be sure to see the play. The admission is 35 and 50 cents.

The characters are the following: Mrs. Abbott, the mother, LaNelle Rawlinson; Sadie, the maid, Evelyn Green; Joyce, the 22-year - old daughter, Nancy Daniel; Marion, the 15-year-old daughter, Annie Joyce Smith; Dottie Morgan, Marion's chum, Mary Elizabeth Sexton; Willie Abbott, the 13-year-old son, Frank Hayes; Shorty, Wllie's side-kick, Leonard Coggins; Jim Meyerson, Joyce's beau, Harold Gilliland; Gram, Mrs. Abbott's mother, Charlotte Edwards; Patch, a well known crook, Roy Donovan; Mable, his wife, Charlotte Traywick; Bubbles, their daughter, Betty Sue Williams; Mrs. Carlson, an effusive society matron, Audrey Ann Latham; Miss Quelch, a spinster, Charlene Cummings; Edwin Carlson, Mrs. Carlson's son about 25 years old, William Edwards; Cousin Oscar, Mrs. Abbott's cousin, James Higgens.

This play is presented by Special arrangement with the Heuer Publishing Company.

POPLAR SPRINGS

Rev. Victor Davis, pastor

Remember service on Wednesday night at 7 o'clock. All auxiliaries meet.

We had a big crowd and a wonderful singing on Sunday at our annual Easter singing. Stanford Boswell did a good job as chairman.

Rev. and Mrs. Davis visited Mrs. Mildred Patterson in Maxwell Field Hospital on Sunday. They reported she seemed to be feeling very well.

We are happy to learn at this time that Mrs. W. C. Moore is much better. Let's continue to remember him and others in our prayers.

The Gaines Glenn family visited relatives in Ozark over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mueller visited Mrs. J. M. Cox over the week end.

Billy Smith spent the week end at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Smith. Bill goes to Montevallo College.

Carolyn Hill visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hill over the week end from Jacksonville College. Dorothy Hill came on Sunday night from Birmingham where she is in Nurses training.

Mrs. Flossie Thorton visited her sister, Mrs. W. N. Nobles who is seriously ill in Anniston, Ala., last week. She and Mr. Nobles are in the Nursing home there.

Pensions And Security News

Beginning last month, and continuing as cases are reviewed and aplications received, the Chilton County Department of Pensions and Security is putting into effect revised policies with regard to ownership of real property, Miss Joyce Clements, Director, said today. She explained that some of the changes are more liberal than before and some may cause cases to be closed or payments reduced.

Old age pensioners may still own a homestead up to $2,500 net value (assessed value minus legal encumbrances), but they are now expected to attempt to get income from this property if at all possible. Also, if the homestead includes more than 160 acres of land, the pensioner or applicant is expected to attempt to sell any acreage over that amount.

Another policy revision explained by Miss Clements has to do with the $1,000 reserve permitted old age pensioners. "They are still allowed this amount of reserve, but are expected to try to sell any real property owned (individually or jointly) other than the homestead," she said. "Any amount received that $1,000 limit must be considered in determining the pensioner's need for aid." Reserve includes such items as cash, savings, bonds, an automobile, etc.

The Director said the Department could not approve for a pension any person unwilling to meet the new requirements regarding use and sale of real property.

For other categories (the blind, totally and permanently disabled, and dependent children) the amount of real property owned has been changed. Formerly the limit was $800 on all real property owned, now the homstead may be worth as much as $1,000 (assessed value minus legal encumbrances) and the recipient may have as much as $5 0 in reserve. No such reserve was permitted in the past.

Again, however, the recipient is expected to try to get income from his home (as was formerly true), to try to sell any land included in the homestead in excess of 160 acres, and to try to sell the property other than the homestead. Amounts received from such sale that would bring his reserve over $500 must be considered in determining the person's need for aid.

Miss Clements also said that a life interest in property was not considered on the same basis as ownership, because there was seldom an opportunity to sell a life [illegible]

Demonstration Days At Suburban Gas Co.

RESIDENTS of Chilton County and the surrounding area will have an opportunity to discover the many new ways in which LP Gas can bring "Living Pleasure" to homes in town and on the farm during a series of special events planned by the Suburban Gas Co. of Clanton.

The first in the programs planned for "Demonstration Days" will be held Friday and Saturday, April 29th and 30th when an open house will be held at the Suburban Gas Co. store and 1960 merchandise will be on display.

This program will be highlighted by actual demonstrations of the various LP Gas appliances which are available with emphasis on the newest and most modern features of each appliance. Special exhibits have also been arranged in the local store to show residents how LP Gas can serve in many ways in the kitchen, laundry, bathrooms and throughout the house. These exhibits will be open daily.

Johnny Vines also revealed that there will be special demonstrations of how LP Gas can be used efficiently and economically in many ways on the farm. "Demonstration Days" which will be held from April 1st thru June 30th is part of a nationwide program sponsored by the National LP Gas Council to demonstrate the varied uses of LP Gas.

Vines stated, "We want residents of our area to know how LP Gas-short for liquified petroleum gas (sometimes called propane or butane or bottled or tank gas) can serve the people of our community. We expect to emphasize that it is a safe, economical and dependable fuel that can be used everywhere."

$6.00 Return for every $1.00 spent on nitrogen.

Last year, JULIAN STRINGER of Section, Alabama, sidedressed with nitrogen fertilizer and increased his corn yield from 10 to 65 bushels per acre. That's 55 bushels more from every acre. With nitrogen, he also increased his seed cotton yield 641 pounds an acre, from 1,420 to 2,061 pounds. Mr. Stringer sidedressed 400 pounds of USS Ammonium Sulfate on each acre. He figures his yield increases returned about $6 for every dollar he spent on nitrogen. As you'd imagine, Mr. Stringer is well pleased with the results he got from USS Ammonium Sulfate. He likes the way it handles, too. It's granular, so it's easy to apply. It won't cake up and clog his spreader. USS Ammonium Sulfate guarantees him 21% nitrogen and 24% sulfur. And it's leach resistant. If you want bigger yields, follow the recommendations from your soil test. Be sure your crops get enough lime and mixed fertilizer. USS Ammonium Sulfate is your best buy in nitrogen. Ask your dealer for it now, in bag or bulk.

BETTER SPEECH CLUB MAKES TOUR OF MOUND STATE PARK

SUMMARIZE TRIP IN POETRY

'Twas a glorious morning, yes,
April fifteen,
When we treked to a park to see what could be seen.

We traveled post haste to far-away
Hale,
A trip, our club, to make, would not fail.

There was fun in each car, as we hastened along,
Some were playing a game,
others singing a song.

Along the highway, as we traveled over,
Were streaks and bunches of pretty red clover.

And out in the woodland were patches of white,
For full opened dogwood made a wonderful sight.

At last we reached renowned Mound State Park,
Each one as happy as spring-time lark.

We paid our fees at the entrance door,
And observed the displays there before

We were ushered into a burial pit
Where all was dark, not a candle was lit.

'Twas there our hostess showed partly by screen,
What we'd been hoping could really be seen;

How these peace-loving Indians had worked and toiled,
As they lived from the crops of alluvial soil.

How they struggled for years in building each mound.
How their wonderful works of art were found.

How they used some time
for sport and play,
Yet were busily engaged day after day.

In building their temples and carrying on trade,
For much pottery and articles of bone were made.

Well, we can't put it all down in black and white,
But our visit there was a pure delight.

We ate our lunch in a cool, shady glen Down where the Warrior makes a big bend.

Each time that all our cars would stop,
We'd hasten to buy from the souvernir shop.

One of the points that interested us all
Was the climb we made up
Mound B, tall

But we hastened away, for after all,
We wouldn't miss the trip to Smith Hall,

For there we saw the coal mine tree,
The Kodiac bear, and cougars, three.

And there the bones of the dinausauer stood
Oh, yes, we learned everything we could.

There's much we won't put in this rhyme, you see,
But, from this you can tell what a thrill it would be

To make a trip at some future time,
Then get in a group and compose a rhyme.

Temple Assembly Kicks Off 7-Week Loyalty Campaign

THE Temple Assembly of God will kick off a seven-week Sunday School Loyalty Campaign on Sunday, April 24. The drive, part of a national program, is aimed to increase attendance and loyalty at the local church.

Directing the campaign will be the pastor, the Rev. Nelson E. White, assisted by Mr. E. V. Mims, general superintendent of the Sunday School. Throughout the drive various subthemes will emphasize the general theme, "I Belong".

Sunday is featured as Loyalty Day. It will be followed on May 1 by Family Day. On Family Day every complete family will be honored. The largest family present will be awarded a delicious cake.

At the climax of the drive, on June 5, members of the Sunday School who have been loyal throughout the campaign will be given special recognition and a lovely prize.

Last year 117 members of the Temple Sunday School had perfect attendance records during the campaign. Currently the church has 185 members enrolled in its Sunday School. An average attendance goal of 175 has been set for the campaign.

There were 191 present in Sunday School on Easter Sunday.

Local Merchants Display Industry Days

ALABAMA Industry Days is an annual week-long celebration which began as a salute to private industry in 1950. It has grown in popularity until hundreds of Alabama communities every year join in the celebration and avail themselves of its benefits. No Alabama town is too small or no city too large to participate in the event which always begins on the last Monday in April. The program is promoted statewide under the leadership of the Alabama Junior Chamber of Commerce, Alabama Press Association, Alabama Broadcasters Association, University of Alabama and Associated Industries of Alabama

The 1960 Theme

"What Alabama makes, makes Alabama" is the theme for the 1960 Alabama Industry Days. The Clanton Junior Chamber of Commerce has obtained prominent business men of Clanton to speak to civic clubs this week on the subject "What Industry Means to Alabama." Also, displays pertaining to Alabama Industry Days have been set up at the following business places in Clanton; Peoples Savings Bank by Newport Business Forms; Chicago Sales Company by Dan River Mills; Dinky Dine by Bol Sewell (special display Saturday morning- Rockett Hardware, by Rocket-Powers Woodworks.

of the couple are Mr.
John William Hamilton, Jr., of Mountain Brook and Mr. and Mrs. James Bruce Fort of Verbena, Ala.

The bride's attendants were: Mary Burfoot Phillips, maid of honor, of Richmond, Va. Frances Fort, sister of the groom of Verbena, Gaye Parker of Mountain Brook. Their dresses were of daffodil yellow silk, bouffant skirts, crushed cummerbunds, split bateau necklines and were tea length. They larried colonial bouquets of yellow and cream roses. The Junior attendans were Kathleen Fell and Margaretta Fell of Rirhmond, Va., cousins of th bride. They were attired in white orgasdy and lace floor length dresses, yellow cummerbunds, sashes, yellow and cream roses bouquets with matching headdresses.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of ivory peau de soi, bodice of re-embroidered alencon lace, Sabrina neckline appliques of re-embroidered alencon lace on long skirt and cathedral train, with long sleeves pointed over her hands. Her fingertip veil of illusion from a cap of lace fastened with seed pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses centered with a gardenia.

James Bruce Fort, served his son as best man. Ushers were: Guy H. Caffer, cousin of the groom, John William Hamilton, III, brides brother, Lawrence Phillips and Ira Holt.

The groom's mothers' dress was of cafe av lait lace.

The reception was at Vestavia County Club. The color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the decorations and refreshments. The cake tables were covered with lace tablecloths.

Mrs. James A. Pfaffman of Savannah, Ga., and Mrs. Hale Cullon alternating at the brides book.

The bride chose for her traveling dress a navy silk linen sheath, soft bow at the neck, white collar and cuffs, with navy and white accessories.

After a wedding trip to the Gulf Coast, the couple will live in Birmingham, Alabama.

ED PEPPER

has sound program to cut
Your Phone—Gas—Light Bills

★ BRING SEGREGATION BACK IN BUSES, AND TRAINS

Ed Pepper is a life-long Segregationist and a fearless spokesman for our Southern way of life. He believes that there is more than one way to skin a cat. Ed Pepper will put pressure on the pocket-books of the public transportation companies, and make them obey our laws requiring Segregation.

★ HALT USE OF OFFICE AS STEPPING STONE

When elected, Ed Pepper will stay on the job full time. He will not spend his time running for higher office. Ed Pepper will use the Presidency of the Commission to serve the needs and interests of the people of Alabama and not as a mere political stepping stone to the Governor's chair.

★ END ADVERTISING PAYOFFS TO DAILY PRESS

The utility monopolies in Alabama spend millions of dollars every year for newspaper advertising. They pass this expense on to you in the form of higher monthly phone, gas, and light bills. Most of this advertising is not necessary. The utility corporations just use these ads as legalized bribes to the daily press in exchange for slanted news stories and editorials. Ed Pepper will end these advertising payoffs to the daily press. He will require the utilities to pass the savings on to you in lower rates.

★ FORCE PHONE COMPANY TO REFUND YOUR MONEY

The telephone company is holding back over 35 million dollars that belong to you. They are drawing interest on this money all the time, and using it like it was their own. Ed Pepper is going to force the telephone company to refund this 35 million dollars that they have withheld from you so long, and to pay you interest on every single penny.

★ ABOLISH PHONY BOOKKEEPING PRACTICES

The utilities in Alabama are playing shell games with the people's money. They use dummy corporations, rigged figures, and phony bookkeeping systems to try to hide the exorbitant profits they are making. Ed Pepper intends to abolish these phony bookkeeping practices and require the utilities to report their real income.

★ STRENGTHEN TVA

Having been born and raised in North Alabama, Ed Pepper has always been a staunch supporter of T.V.A. He has seen what T.V.A. rates have meant to our state. T.V.A. rates bring in new industry, new payrolls, and increased prosperity for all the people. You can count on Ed Pepper to support and strengthen T.V.A. in Alabama, and to work to get T.V.A. rates for everybody.

★ CUT UTILITY RATES TO FAIR LEVEL

Everybody in Alabama knows that phone, gas, and light bills are too high. Ed Pepper has pried open the records showing that these rates can be cut. When elected, Ed Pepper will call public hearings and cut utility rates to a level that is fair to the people who pay the bills. A vote for Ed Pepper is a vote to cut your utility bills.

★ REDUCE LONG DISTANCE PHONE RATES

It costs $1.15 to call Phenix City from Montgomery, but only $ .70 to call across the river to Columbus, Georgia — $1.40 to call Mobile, but only $ .90 to call Pensacola, Florida. The shocking truth is that rates on all long distance calls are much higher to places inside Alabama than places outside Alabama. Why is this? Simply because the Alabama Public Service Commission fixes the higher rates on calls inside Alabama, while a federal agency fixes the cheaper rates on interstate calls. There is no way to justify such outrageous long distance rates, which rob the people of Alabama of millions of dollars every year. Ed Pepper is going to cut long distance rates in this state when he is elected.

★ LOWER CHARGES & IMPROVE SERVICE TO FARMERS

The farmers of Alabama are not being treated right by the utility corporations. Farmers have to pay more for utility service than their city cousins. Farmers have to pay such high "deposits" to get new service that they can't afford to pay for it after they get it. And even then, new rural service is slow and hard to get. Ed Pepper believes that farmers ought not to have to pay any more for phone, gas, and electric service than city folks. Ed Pepper will require the utilities to reduce charges for rural service to a fair level, speed up new rural service, and improve all rural service. Ed Pepper will get lights, phones, and gas service in every farm home, at a price folks can afford to pay.

★ PUT NICKEL SLOT BACK ON PAY PHONES

The nickel phone call — like a good nickel cigar — is a thing of the past. But Ed Pepper intends to bring it back. There is no reason anybody ought to pay more than a nickel to make a local telephone call.

★ STATE-ELECTED JUDGE TO HEAR RATE CASES

The Circuit Judge of Montgomery County now has the power to approve rate increases in the other 66 counties of Alabama. This Judge decides all rate cases — even though the cases involve rate increases in your county. When elected, Ed Pepper will work to change the law so that the Judge who hears rate cases will be elected in a state race by all the voters, and not just by the voters of Montgomery County.

★ LIMIT UTILITIES TO FAIR PROFIT

The records show that during the last 14 years the utilities have soaked the people of Alabama for exorbitant and unfair profits. Ed Pepper will protect your interest by giving you the benefit of these accumulated profits and surpluses.

★ RUN UTILITY LOBBYISTS OUT OF MONTGOMERY

The utility crowd fills up all the Montgomery hotel rooms with paid lobbyists and hired political errand boys every time the Legislature meets. This powerful utility lobby has always fought against the people's interest in Montgomery. The money the utilities spend for lobbying comes out of your pocket, and causes your phone, gas, and light bills to be higher. Ed Pepper will stop this and pass the savings on to you.

★ STOP UTILITY CROWD FROM BUYING POLITICAL INFLUENCE

It's supposed to be against the law for utility corporations to buy political influence. But everybody knows that they do it — and get by with it. They cover up by spending money for "advertising" and "public relations," and by paying padded lawyers bills. Ed Pepper will stop this and pass the savings on to you.

Your Privilege And Your Duty --

INDICATIONS are that the vote on next Tuesday will be a very light one and especially if the weather is clear and suitable for working in the fields.

This, we know, must be done, but is is also our duty to go to the polls and vote our convictions on who is to conduct our business as leaders in our County government for the next term.

There is a field of worthy candidates making their bid for the office and it behooves us to cast a vote at the polls that will indicate the choice of the people and not just those few who could leave their business or crops long enough to cast our vote.

It is your privilege and it is mine to vote in this free Democracy. Do not make light of our freedom by mocking it with a sloppy attitude towards our duty to ourselves and our county.

Means Something To Chilton --

Chilton County is fast-growing and becoming more conscious and educated to the facts of what good industry can do for a community and a county.

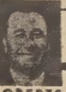
WE in Chilton County and Alabama are right in the middle of the observing of Industry Days (April 25 through 30th) and for the first time in the history of our County, "Industry Days" has a personal. . . purely local. . . meaning.

More persons, individually and collectively, have more interest in the growth of Chilton County than ever before and the period to come for the next ten years will be one of outstanding growth and economic progress for our County which has for so long a time been wholly dependent on agriculture and some of its uncertainties.

Industry too, has its uncertainties, but it has been proved time and again that a healthy and stable economy is where industry works hand in hand and side by side with agriculture and the other facets of our everyday living.

Yessir, we salute industry. . . that which is now and which is to be in the next decade for our county and state and people!

ABUNDANT LIFE



by ORAL ROBERTS

YOU HAVE EVERYTHING TO LIVE FOR

This is the greatest age in which to be alive since the dawn of creation. Almost overnight our world has taken on a whole new dimension. Outer space has been invaded . . . landing on the moon is a scientific prediction based on fact . . . new frontiers are being opened every day in the fields of science, medicine and industry.

We are tapping God's resoures in an unlimited supply. We are discovering a new world —a world in which the goodness of God is more than abundant.

His goodness can become a Presence in your own personal life. And that in itself produces a miracle. It changes you, thrills you, inspires you, makes you acutely aware that there is a God. And when that Presence is gone, you begin to stop living, for man lives for his fellowship with God. He was created for this purpose.

I was born into a home where Jesus was regarded as the family's best Friend. He was not someone outside the family, nor someone who was far off in Heaven. We were taught that he was right there in the home. So the name of Jesus came to mean something special to us children.

But although Christ was in the home, I had never accepted Him as my personal Saviour; even while I was in my teens I left home, still without God. A few months later I was carried back to my parents. I had become afflicted with tuberculosis and was on the verge of death.

And so at 17 I reached a point in my life where my health was gone, and I had absolutely nothing to live for.

I told my father, "Papa, I'm at the end of my rope."

Then I did the only thing a person can do who feels he has nothing to live for—I sought the Presence of Jesus Christ. I found it exactly where I had left it—there in the home around me. I had been like a man dying from thirst while a clear, sparkling stream of water was near him all the time. I found that all I had to do was just say, "Jesus, here I am. Come into my heart."

Suddenly I had something to live for. I didn't want to die. Life took on new meaning and shortly afterward I found health and healing from tuberculosis.

I really feel that no one has the right to write over his body or his soul: "No hope, I have nothing to live for!" Instead, he should triumphantly declare, "I have everything to live for through Christ."

Jesus can be found in the house of God, in miracles of faith or wherever you need Him. You can find Him wherever you are, this very minute. And when you find Him, you will find you have everything to live for.

Words of Wisdom

YOUR HEALTH

PSYCHOSOMATIC DISEASE

Imagined sickness causes almost as much absenteeism as actual sickness, according to a recent survey among large industries. Some individuals are more susceptible to to psychosomatic diseases and more prone to sick absenteeism than others. Probably this is due to the fact their pain and stress thresholds are lower than for the average.

When a person is prone to stress and nervousness, generally he is prone to digestive troubles and sick absenteeism. Excessive worry resulting from difficulties on the job, at home, or in the community, frequently prompts absence from work. There are emotional problems associated with insecurity, anxiety, fear and discontent that have significance to the worker, and he feels sick in spirit if not in body.

Most physicians recognize that disease is one result of the behavior reaction of the whole man, body and mind, to stimuli within his enviroment. It is known that strong emotion can affect the body organs and cause gastrointestinal upsets, peptic ulcers, migraine, colitis, high blood pressure, heart disturbances and neurosis. The survey on absenteeism indicates that work attendance is related to how much a person likes his work.

Those who show a low absentee rate feel that the company recognizes good work, while this attitude does not generally apply to employees with a high absence rate. The survey report indicates that in many instances the cure for abnormal sickness absenteeism may within the province of the supervisory personnel and that they should consider sick leave as involving a moral issue. Malingering sometimes calls for medical and psychiatric care.

FROM MY FRONT PORCH

"I Watch the World Go By"

by CARL HELM

And now the books we read are going to smell, too — but good!

Just some of the books, that is. A lot of them, mostly fiction, will continue to smell to high heaven because of the unsavory characters and situations they portray.

But there will be a cook book whose pages will exude the aroma of baking bread; a book on gardening which will give the reader the fragrance of blooming flowers and new-mown lawns; a book of "do it yourself" carpentry hints which will waft the heady smell of sawdust and pine wood; from a Western will come the tang of saddle leather.

Or so the enterprising publisher of new paper-backs says. He's going to impregnate the pages with synthetic fragrances — and why shouldn't it be a success? The recently introduced "smell-o-vision" movie is! I experienced it in Chicago not long ago, and marvelled at the ingenuity which gave the audience a sequence of delightful fragrances tied to the scenes of the picture, each one dissipated before the next one arrived.

It seems to be a logical step in an interesting trend that seeks appeal to all our senses in association with a product. The Studebaker people helped start it when they named their smart and trim compact "the Lark" — a lilting and joyous sound of a name which so completely ties in with the lively spirit and bright look of the car. It is an appropriate name indeed, a happy one.

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

By a vote of 288-95 the House of Representatives last week approved the Senate amendments to the so-called civil rights bill and sent the measure on to President Eisenhower for his approval or disapproval. It is a foregone conclusion, however, that he will sign the bill.

This action ended months of maneuvering and debate in both the House and Senate. Although amendments adopted in the two houses of Congress have made the legislation somewhat less vicious than originally intended by its proponents, the measure is still destructive of constitutional principals and personal liberty.

Mutual Security Approved

Also approved last week was a measure authorizing appropriations of $1,318,400,000 for the nonmilitary portion of the mutual security programs for fiscal 1961. This amount constitutes approximately 10 per cent less than had been requested by Presdent Eisenhower.

Although there were no additional reductions on the floor of the House, the Committee on Foreign Affairs had trimmed $136,500,000 from the bill prior to reporting it. An amendment I offered in the Foreign Affairs Committee accounted for $75 million or more than 55 per cent of the total cut.

Authorization measures such as this one place limitations on expenditures. The funds to implement an authorization must be approved in a later bill, and there is every indication this program will be cut deeper when the mutual security appropriation bill reaches the floor of the House for debate and vote.

Further Reductions

In addition to the reduction in the mutual security authorization a further cut was made in the request of the Eisenhower Administration for funds for the 1961 fiscal year. An appropriation of $8,182,067,000 was approved by the House for the operation of 17 independent federal agencies and the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization. This amount is $234,829,600 less than requested by the President.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

from The Bible

For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord — (Romans 6:23)

Even in the full vigor of mortal life, a sinful man may be as one dead, for his soul and his conscience, all beauty and kindness are dying within him. But the magnificent promise is that through Christ Jesus the Savior, he still may be redeemed.

The Lutheran Lades Aid, an organization made up of not only Lutheran women, but women of various faiths, is an organization which we believe, is the most active one of its kind in the entire community. Besides members, it also has good friends who attend its meetings regularly and even entertain at its regular monthly meeting.

In March the group was entertained in Clanton, Ala., by Mrs Earl Diefenderfer, a member, at her lovely home on 6th Ave.

The April meeting was also held in Clanton, at which time Mrs. N. S. Lisenby entertained at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Gordon Robertson out on the Selma road.

The lovely home was decorated with beautiful spring flowers of all colors and kinds. About 19 ladies enjoyed this courtesy. Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Lisenby and Mrs. Robertson assisted by Mrs. Diefenderfer.

The June meeting will also be held in Clanton at the home of Mrs. Flem Higgins, who will entertain for her mother, Mrs. Mamie Smith another member. This organization is truly an example of real Christian fellowship.

Services next Sunday afternoon at the usual hour. At this time the service of Holy Communion will be observed and Rev. Paul Hamsher of Faith Church, Birmingham, will be the pastor. You are invited to attend.

On last Tuesday, April 19th, Mrs. N. C. Petersen, Miss Alma Lefstead and Miss Naemi Turnquist attended a Conference of the Alabama Church Women of the United Lutheran Church held at Trinity Lutheran Church Anniston, Ala. A nice delegation was represented from each one of the Alabama churches and a very successful meeting was held.

Re - Elect George D. Smith Tax Collector Of Chilton Co.

THE spirit of friendship and cooperation which you have extended to me has made my first term as your Tax Collector a very real pleasure. I sincerely believe that no one has ever been more warmly received as a public official or as a candidate for re-election, than I.

In return for the faith and trust which you have placed in me, I have tried to operate my office in an efficient manner. My books have been audited each year by the State Department of Examiners of Public Accounts, and I have never received an unsatisfactory report. I have cooperated with the other county officials when asked to do so, and my record of dealing with the people of this county speaks for itself.

I regret that I have been unable to see each of you and personally solicit your vote; however I feel that my official duties must not be neglected.

If I am re-elected, I shall continue to work for your interest and for the betterment of Chilton County.

Your vote and influence will be greatly appreciated.

LYNN WILLIAMS IS "SWEET SIXTEEN"

Miss Lynn Williams was honored Saturday evening when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Wililam entertained about seventy - five members of the high school set at the Veteran's Club, commemorating Lynn's sixteenth birthday which was April 20th.

Lynn greeted her guests wearing a lovely printed chiffon dress with green velvet belt. The Club was attractive with arrangements of pink azaleas and other spring flowers. The entrance hall was lovely with hand-made decorations entwined with ivy from the ceiling of the main club room, hung many of the same novel decorations in pink, sparkling with glitter among the pastel lights. In the center of the room, hung a large pink glitter ball tied with an enormous satin bow T unique feature was a large sign over the mantle, inscribed, "Happy Birthday, Lynn."

The refreshment table was covered with a linen damask cloth silver candelabra at each end holding tall pink tapers, and centered with a crystal punch bowl surrounded with pink Azaleas and fern. Little party cakes embossed with tiny Azaleas, frosty punch and toasted nuts, was enjoyed by all Dainty white napkins with "Happy Birthday, Lynn", in gold, added to the attractiveness of the party table.

Lynn was thrilled with her many lovely gifts and the large number of guests who enjoyed this delightful courtesy, all wish more Happy Birthday

Mr and Mrs. Willi sisted in entertaining Mrs. Clifford Jones, Jimmie Bell and Faye ter of the honoree.

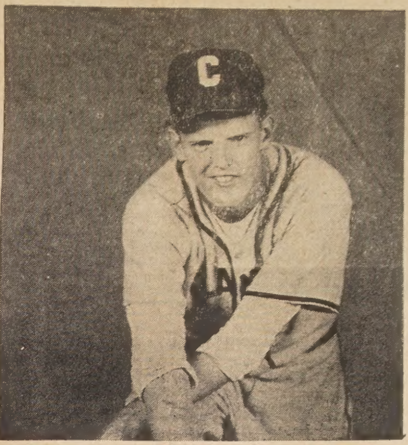
Carroll Does It Again; Pitches No-Hitter Against Jemison

by Wayne Atcheson

What is Clay Carroll going to do next The future only knows and it seems that the sky is the limit.



Another No-Hitter

Carroll, who is 6'1" and 170 pounds, pitched another no-hitter against Jemison on Thursday, the 21st.

Perfect Last Year

May 7 of last year Carroll did not allow a single Jemison batter to reach first base. It was a perfect game, which Clanton won 10 to 0.

But this year Carroll walked three and three errors were committed which ruin the perfect game. But who's going to argue over a no-hitter, no matter how it's pitched.

County Championships

Both of the no-hitters were for the county championship.

1st. Inning

In the first inning two singles by Elliott Monroe and Don Jones accredited for the first run.

2nd Inning

In the next frame John Will Wyatt tripled and came home when Dick Northcutt, Jemison's hurler, threw the ball over the third baseman's head attempting to nab Wyatt off base.

Third--3 Runs

The Tigers scored three runs in the third on singles by Clarkie Hutchinson and Buddy Vines.

Three Jemison errors helped get the runs also.

2 More In Fifth

Leading 5 to 0 going into the fifth Clay Carroll lead off with a single. John Will Wyatt also singled and Doug Coe doubled making the final score 7 to 0.

The only ball hit out of the infield by Jemison was by Gene Sorroll, in the sixth inning. Sorrell flew out to centerfield.

Northcutt Loser

Dick Northcutt went the route for the losers.

Fourth Straight

It was the fourth straight win for Clanton and Carroll has got all four vctory's.

Jem'son Loaded Bases

Three Jemison batters loaded the bases in the second inning on three errors. But John Will Wyatt and Buddy Vines tagged Donnie Guy out between third and home plate.

Carroll struck out one batter and another grounded out to put out the fire.

TIGERS MAKE UNDEFEATED TRIP TO WEST BLOCTON

by Wayne Atcheson

The CCHS baseball squad won their fifth game this season and remained undefeated by tripping West Blocton 8 to 3 last Friday.

Wyatt The Pitcher

Hilliard Wyatt, a ninth grader, pitched seven hit balls for Clanton.

Carroll and Monroe Hitters

Wyatt was backed up by a 8 hit attack wth Clay Carroll the leader with two singles and a triple. Carroll batted four runs in also.

Elliott Monroe had a fine day at the plate with a double and a triple and one RBI.

The Tigers tallied their eight runs in the first four innings.

1st Frame

In the first Elliott Monroe tripled and came in on Clay Carroll's single.

2nd One More

John Will Wyatt singled in the second and scored on an error and two ground balls.

3 In Third

Clanton ralled for t[illegible] runs the next inning. Monroe was hit by a pitched ball and Clarkie Hutchinson got a free pass to first. Carrall tripled driving in two runs.

Then he came home on an error and an infield out.

3 More In Fourth

Hilliard Wyatt led off in the fourth with a single. Monroe doubled and back to back singles by Hutchinson and Carroll made the sixth, seventh, and eighth Tiger runs.

Blocton Scores 3

The losers scored their first run in the fourth on a single by Louie Wade, a walk, a stolen base, and an infield out.

They rallied for two more runs in the fifth on a single, a triple by Wayne Calahan and another single by Jerry Ingram.

Ended Series

The game ended the two game season. Clanton won the first this season. Clanton won the firs. game 10 to 0.

★ FAITHFUL SERVICE — 14 Years of faithful service to all the people of Alabama.

★ NATURAL GAS — He ordered Alabama Gas Company to refund to you $2½ million.

★ TELEPHONES — He ordered Southern Bell Telephone Company to refund to you $25 million and reduce rates by $3 million. He has continually fought in court against rate increases and now is fighting your battle for this refund.

★ ELECTRICITY — He has maintained low power rates for Alabama. No privately owned power company within 2,000 miles has rates as cheap as in Alabama.

STATE OF ALABAMA
CHILTON COUNTY:

I, J. C. White, Judge of Probate, in and for said County and State, hereby certify that the foregoing list is true and correct copy of the supplemental list of qualifed voters according to the records in the Office of the Judge of Probate and to the best of my knowledge. This the 21st day of April, 1960.

J. C. WHITE,
JUDGE OF PROBATE

April Is Cancer Control Month

By an act of Congress, as we know, April is Cancer Control Month, and everyone is invited to be generous in this Nationwide Effort to Control this disease.

In this Crusade every citizen has a chance to share personally in Our City Wide Gigantic Battle to eliminate Cancer as the second greatest killer of mankind; to help in the research that many lead to the finding of a prevention of cancer; to the development of methods of early diagnosis and the humane effort to have lives.

It would be tragic indeed if thousands were to die because of funds that might have saved their lives, were not available.

Fight Cancer with a Check and a Check-up!

Latham Makes Dean's List At Georgia Tech

Tracy Wesley Latham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Latham of Lawley, Route One has made the dean's list at Georgia Tech where he is a co-op student in electrical engineering. To be named on this list, he had to maintain a high scholastic average of at least 3.0 out of a possible 4.0. He has also been initiated in the Phi Eta Sigma honorary society.

Tracy graduated at Maplesville High School in 1958 where he was valedictorian of his class. He is a faithful worker in the Church of Christ. His leadership ability and his studious efforts are exemplified in his good scholastic record.

arney T. Adams Writes to Voters

MAY I take this opportunity to urge you go to the polls and vote for me as a member the Board of Revenue and Control, in the mocratic Primaries May 3. Although I would e to meet and talk to each of you personal- this is quite impossible, so please consider s as my personal appeal to you.

I have had many years of experience serv- on various boards and committees, some of hich were City, County and State. Realizing e importance of full cooperation and harmoni- s relations with the county governing body, pledge that I will attend meetings and work th the other board members and elected of- cials.

I know all of the elected officials, also the es seeking office from the Fourth District. hey are all my personal friends. I am also rsonally acquainted with state officials in ontgomery, who our board would be working th in obtaining state funds for the benefit d progress of Chilton County.

In my campaign I made the statement that, elected, I would personally make frequent cks in our county road conditions and the gress of improvements. That I intend to do. m 100% for black top roads. If your road scheduled for black topping, I will not hold the deal one hour. If elected I will get be- d the projects and try to get them complet- t the earliest possible date.

If a situation came up that required my sence I would be available immediately. I personally interested in maintaining high dards and the continued growth and prog- of Chilton County.

It is my desire to serve as a member of Board of Revenue and Control. This I can only if you, the good people of District 3 t me.

I thank you, in advance, for your support vote on May 3rd.

The People's Friend,
Barney T. Adams

HI VANCE'S —

"USED YARN LOT" BEGINS IN NEXT WEEK'S NEWS

Henry Vance, veteran colhmnist for The Birmingham News for forty years will pay Chilton County News a visit next week and H will be in the paper each week thereafter with his scintillating wit and his wholesome humor. The former creator of The Coal Bin, who still does a feature story each Sunday for his paper in Birmingham has a feature for us, entitled: "Hi Vance's Used Yarn Lot."

In this spot we have awarded to Hi to fill he recounts all of the best stories he has heard from celebrities for the past forty years. He works on the theory that nothing is new, that he still hears humor on TV., that he heard many years ago. "And besides," says Hi, "new crop of persons have come along and the material will likely be new to them."

He starts out with Irving Cobb, does a bit from the late Will Rogers; and the late Mark Twain and W. C. (Bill) Fields even creep into the picture. Some of the stuff may be a refresher course for you oldsters, but you'll enjoy laughing with Hi again. They're not making any new humor anyhow. The factories have all closed down and the immortal Joe Miller is still the best reference for jokes.

Follow Hi through the mystic maze. He saunters slowly, and wouldn't even run to a fire if it was his own house a-burning.

The Lazarus Davis Family Reunion

THE descendents of Lazarus and Sophronia Wiggins Davis are holding their ninth annual reunion this Sunday, May 1, 1960 at the Alpine Baptist Church. This church is located some three miles west of Highway 82 between Maplesville and Billingsley. All relatives and friends are urged to attend.

April is the month to prune spring flowering plants such as spirea, flowering quince weigela, azalea, bottle brush and primrose jasmine. First, prune out all dead and diseased wood. And don't prune late spring flowering plants until they have bloomed.

Judge White Writes on New Courthouse and Jail Bond Issue

Dear Friends and Citizens of Chilton County:

The Courthouse election results on February 16th were encouraging to your Board of Revenue and Control. It made us feel glad to know that you had voted such a majority vote in favor of our county building a new courthouse.

The Board now has plans in the making to carry out your wishes to the best of our ability to build you a new courthouse and jail that each of you will be proud of for many years to come.

Now, naturally there must be plans worked out for the financing of this expensive project. There are two accepted plans of financing projects of this kind. One plan is for a county to issue General Obligation Bonds which would be backed by the full faith and credit of the county, which requires an election and an approval of a majority of the people. The other plan, a county may at any time (without an election) issue Revenue Warrants which are payable solely and only from the proceeds received from the 2½ mill road and bridge tax. These warrants are a draft on the treasurer to pay from this fund if monies are available. The Revenue Warant Plan usually is more expensive as they nearly always carry a higher rate of interest. By the best legal and financial advice possible to obtain, we have been advised that if you see fit to approve in an election, "General Obligation Bonds", it will save our county many thousands of dollars in interest, since "General Obligation Bonds" carry on an average, a lower rate of interest.

Therefore, we are urging each of you to go out to the polls on next Tuesday, May the 3rd and vote yes on the new courthouse and jail bonds that are being offered for your approval. We feel that this will be in keeping with your desire to help us do the very best job possible in building the kind of courthouse and jail you want and thereby help your Board save from $30,000 to $35,000 of your tax money in the form of interest.

We would like to further emphasize that by approving the above suggested plan of financing that it will in no wise change the Board's new courthouse and jail from the before stated plan of financing the "Building, Road and Bridge Fund". Furthermore, the "General Obligation Bond Plan" will in no way affect your present taxes.

Again, may we thank each of you for your fine support and urge a continuation of your support in helping us do the right thing for you and our county.

Your friend,
J. C. White, Chairman
Chilton County Board of Revenue and Control

Suburban Gas Company Holds Anniversary Affairs

THE Suburban Gas Co. of Clanton is celebrating their 9th anniversary with an open house on Friday and Saturday, April 29th and 30th. Refreshments will be served all day both days including ham and biscuits and soda pop and a new treat--rosin cooked potatoes.

Johnny Vines, manager and Clyde Mims, sales-engineer invite all Chilton Countians to come in and leisurely look around at the new 1960 merchandist that will be on display. A "matchless" CP automatic Caloric gas range will be given away FREE Saturday at 4 p.m. You do not have to be present to win--just register at your convenience either day.

Herb Gable, Caloric range factory representative will be on hand both days to demonstrate his product. He especially wants to call attention to the new built in Caloric equipment with catching oven, burners, hood, and sink in a variety of colors. Mrs. Lena Rush, Suburban Gas Co. home economist will be cooking on Caloric ranges both days also.

Mrs. Lucille Martin, RCA Whirlpool Home Economist and Hoke Harrell, RCA-Whirlpool merchandise. Guess the weight of the pig in the freezer and win a free pig while you are visiting in the store. Also, a freezer full of frozen food will be given away with every freezer sold during the open house days only.

Bruce Barze, now with the Montgomery office of Suburban, will be on hand both days. Candler Watking and Winston Godding, representing Birmingham Stove Works will be preparing a special treat for those in attendance--rosin cooked potatoes. "Buddy" Coleman representing Perma-Glass water heaters and Fedders central air conditioning will be on hand to answer any questions concerning his products.

Kyle Plott and Leonard DeVaughn will both be present to answer any question that you might have concerning installation or adjustment of gas equipment. Remember, "If It Burns Gas, Suburban Gas Co. Sells and Services It."

Howard's 50th Anniversary

In celebration of their fiftieth wedding anniversary Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Howard were honored on Sunday afternoon, April 17, with their children, Mr. and Mrs. Excell Howard, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Howard, and Mr. and Mrs. Ormond Howard as hosts, entertain-

The home was beautifully deco-ing in the home of the former at rated, emphasizinz the golden wedding motif, with Bridal Wreath, Easter Lillies, golden mums, gladioli, and Lady Banksiae Roses.

Mrs. Excell Howard met the guests at the door. The receiving line was composed of the honored couple and their three sons, Excell, John Latimer, and Ormond. Another son, Capt. E. G. Howard was unable to attend.

Featured on a table near the entrance hall was an Easter Lily and the guest register kept by a granddaughter, Miss Carolyn Howard.

Mrs. John L. Howard and Mrs. Ormond Howard invited the guests into the dining room. The table was covered with gold satin overlaid with an imported cut - work linen and lace cloth caught up at the corners with gold wedding bells tied with white satin ribbons. Centering the table was a seven-branch, brass epergne candlelabra holding gold mums, rosebuds, fern and burning white tapers. The center of interest was the beautiful, five-tiered wedding cake embossed with white frosting shaped into Valley Lillies and wedding bells tied with tiny bows of maline and satin and topped with the golden numerals 50.

Serving the cake was Mrs. A. W. Jones of Auburn, Ala. Serving punch from a crystal punch bowl was Mrs. Beatrice Bryan of Clanton. Others assisting were Mrs. J. W. Howard and Misses Anna Bell and Edna Howard. Also assisting were the grandchildren, Misses Linda, Martha Jo, Dianne and SuEllen Howard and Wendell Howard.

For this happy occasion Mrs. Howard was attired in a dress of light blue embroidered linen with a portrait collar., She wore a corsage of yellow roses and a necklace of pearls with matching earrings.

Two hundred guests called between the appointed hours of three and five o'clock.

YOUR VOTE FOR - -

T. E. Blackman, for Board of Revenue District Four, will be for better Government. For funds to be distributed on a mileage bases for each District, which will give District Four 42% of the road funds of the county.

To take our hospital out of politics, by selecting the best man possible, regardless of political affiliation from each beat forming a self perpetualing committee.

This permanant committee will select and maintain the Board of Directors, to Govern the politics of the hospital. No one may serve on the committee, or the Board of Directors who stands to gain financially from the operation of the hospital.

For strict Economy. For positive business system of county government.

For: weeding out all dead wood, and inefficiency.

For putting all county employees under the merit system.

For retention of the affairs of the county, for and by the people through duly elected officials.

If you blieve in these important issues, and want something done about them, go to the polls and vote for --

T. E. Blackman

To All Electors of Chilton County

SINCE this week finishes the plea for votes through the newspapers I would like to thank all who have been helping so much by assuring me of their able help now and at the polls. I am proud of the reception I have received wherever I go. It is gratifying to know you have the confidence of the people and I will always cherish the confidence shown in me, and execute it cautiously.

If elected, I would like to give the time, where necessary, when I am called upon. I will be available at all times for any service that is within my jurisdiction.

My campaign has been clean and one that has brought me closer to many and close to newly made friends. I want everyone to know this, is a grand feeling.

My last appeal through the papers--will be simple. I honestly ask your support on my merits. I will work hard to make you a Commissioner from the Fourth District like you want--an honest, efficient man.

My sincere wish is that you go to the polls Tuesday, and vote, and vote for me.

Sincerely Yours,

J. M. (Jim) Dunlap

ELEMENTARY P-TA MET APRIL 15

The Clanton Elementary Parents and Teachers Association held their April meeting on Tuesday afternoon, April 5, in the lunch room with Mrs. T. C. Davis, president, presiding.

The devotional was given by Mrs. Hand's first grade room in a very impressive manner.

The Junior Citizen's Club gave a report of their trip to Tuscaloosa when they attended the convention there last month. Jack Moore introduced members of the Club from Mrs. Warr's room, who told of the different aspects of the meeting.

A resolution was sent to Montgomery whereas the P-TA of Clanton Elementary School is vitally interested in obtaining a library for the citizens of Chilton County. This resolution was passed on by the PTA and approved. Also passed by PTA was that play ground fund be used to equip a baseball diamond on the school ground.

Mr. Winford Lecroy, supt. of education, gave a report that Chilton County schools would have a nine months term this year.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Dave Norman who gave a very interesting program on recreation activities.

SCIENCE CLUB HAS REGULAR MEETING

The Science Club of Mrs. Franres Hubert's room was called to order by vice-president, Susan Mitchell, Friday, April 22, 1960. Treasurer, Gary Williams, gave his report. Secretary, Peggy Thompson, read the minutes of the last meeting. Corrections and additions were made.

Old and new business was discussed. We sang the Star Spangled Banner.

Program Chairman, Alex Jackson, presented the following program. Claude Blackwell, Jr., gave the devotion. John Will Jones led in prayer.

The following had questions on science: Elaine Grant, Lorine Jones, Nancy Williams, Rebecca Gwathney, John Will Jones, Brenda Jackson, Ralph Burkhalter, Peggy Thompson and Gene Martin.

The meeting adjoruned until Friday, April 29, 1960 .

Mary John Fields,

Nelson Member Of Phi Kappa Phi

Auburn University student Billy S. Nelson of Clanton is a new member of the national scholastic honor society of Phi Kappa Phi.

Members of Phi Kappa Phi are chosen on the basis of academic excellence, leadership, and promise of success in their chosen profession. At Auburn, they come from the upper five per cent of the students in each school of the University. Election to Phi Kanpa Phi is the highest academic honor which a student in a technical school or a Land-Grant university can receive.

CLANTON STUDY CLUB MEETS

Mrs. L. G. Nichols was hostess to her Club on Friday, April 15 at 3:15 o'clock.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Claire Norris, who presided over the business session. After the business Mr. Herman Lecroy introduced Dr. David Huntley, who is head of the Art Dept. of Alabama College. He gave a most interesting program.

In the social hour the hostess graciously served members of the Club and guests delightful refreshments. Included in her guests were her mother, Mrs. J. M. Suther and sister, Mrs. G. L. Melton of Selma, Ala.

COFFEE HONORING THE RODGERS

The Houston Nivenses entertained with a coffee Saturday morning from 10 to 12, in honor of their little granddaughter, Miss Karen Ann Rodgers, and her parents Connel and Nanette, of Lake Alfred, Fla.

Seasonal flowers were used throughout the house. Mrs. Ralph Johnston, aunt of the honorees presided at the silver coffee service. She was assisted in serving by Mrs. W. A. Blalock, maternal grandmother of Mrs. Rodgers, Mrs. Eunice Hagin, and Mrs. Elsie Sexton.

The many friends who called joined with the proud grandparents in welcoming their little granddoughter on her first visit to Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers and Karen Ann returned to their home in Lake Alfred Monday after a happy Easter week end with their family and old friends.

MRS. BURNETT WRITES TO VOTERS

I would like to take this opportunity to ask each of you for your vote and support in the forthcoming Democratic Primary for County Treasurer.

As much as I would like to see and talk with each of you personally, I realize that it's impossible, so I am using this medium as a personal appeal for your vote.

I am well qualified to be your County Treasurer, having graduated from Maplesville High School, going on to Massey-Draughon Business College in Montgomery to complete my education. have had experience in bookkeeping and financing.

I am active in P-TA and Eastern Star work and a member of the Baptist Church at Stanton. I am the wife of a disabled veteran and mother of two children.

For the past six years my husband and I have operated a store and servire station at Stanton.

If you see fit to elect me, I promise to be one of the best treasurers Chilton County has ever had: fulfilling the office efficiently, honestly and consaientiously.

REPORTS TO HIS FELLOW CITIZENS OF ALABAMA

Herewith I submit some of the highlights of my record as your servant and U. S. Senator. This record I respectfully ask you to approve May 3 by your vote for my re-nomination as your junior senator from Alabama. I humbly thank you for all you have done for me in the past, and sincerely pledge you my best efforts in the future.

I HAVE WORKED AND VOTED AGAINST:

All anti-Southern legislation such as so-called civil rights bills and anti-filibustering proposals. I am opposed to the U. S. Supreme Court school integration decision, and I am sponsor of an amendment to nullify the decision and to restore full control of schools to State and local authorities. I have always worked for the preservation of Southern customs and traditions.

Senator Russell of Georgia said: "One of the most effective Senators in defense of the South's position on so-called civil rights is the junior Senator from Alabama, John Sparkman."

I HAVE SPONSORED AND SUPPORTED:

Agriculture

1. Farm housing.
2. Farm research.
3. Sensible surplus disposal.
4. Crop insurance.
5. Soil conservation.
6. Farm parity and price supports.
7. Loans to farmers at low interest rates.
8. Agricultural extension service.
9. Farm tenant purchase program.
10. Farm-to-market roads.

Electricity

11. Low cost electric power, public and private.
12. Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA)
13. Rural electrification (REA)
14. Rural Telephone Law (Co-author).

Housing

15. Practically all housing legislation of past decade (author or co-author).
16. Adequate housing for all groups, including low income.
17. Private housing and home repair under FHA and VA programs.
18. First law in U. S. history for effective farm housing program (author).
19. GI housing law for veterans (author).
20. Special housing for paralyzed or wheel chair veterans (author).
21. Housing for colleges and schools (author).

Small Business

22. All small business legislation since 1950 (author or co-author).
23. Government small business loans with low interest rates (author).
24. Small business tax adjustment and tax relief (author).
15. Relief from Southern freight rate discrimination thereby making it possible for many thousands of new industries to locate in Alabama.
26. Stronger Fair Trade practice laws.
27. Anti monopoly laws to protect small business.
28. Law establishing Small Business Administration with authority to make loans to individual businesses and towns; also authority to help small business obtain government contracts (author).

Labor

29. Unemployment compensation.
30. Collective bargaining.
31. Minimum wage law.
32. Fair and workable labor laws.
33. Railroad retirement legislation.
34. Strengthening mediation and conciliation of labor disputes.
35. Labor reform to protect workers from racketeers.

Veterans

36. Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Act to protect insurance, property rights and other rights of servicemen and their dependents (author).
37. Increased pay and terminal pay for enlisted men.
38. Veteran's education law, by which over 50,000 Alabama veterans have received schooling.
39. Original G. I. Bill of Rights, and was co-author of bill to extend law.
40. Laws under which 45,000 Alabama veterans have bought homes (author).
41. Adequate medical care for disabled veterans and dependents of veterans.

Social Security

42. Pensions for elderly citizens.
43. Pensions for the blind and disabled.
44. Payments to dependent children.
45. Extending social security to more people.
46. Law extending social security to all Alabama teachers, and city and county employees (author).
47. Improved hospital and medical care for aged sick.

Health

48. Maternal and child health service.
49. Nurse training.
50. Hill-Burton Hospital Construction Program under which 49 Alabama general hospitals have been built through State, local and Federal cooperation.
51. Research and control of tuberculosis, heart disease, cancer and other deadly diseases.
52. Adequate public health services and Federal, State and private medical cooperation.
53. Opposition to socialized medicine and disruption of traditional doctor-patient relationship.

Schools

54. "Peace-time" soldiers to be included under G. I. Bill.
55. Loans for college housing.
56. Federal support for school construction and teacher salary without Federal control.
57. Adequate appropriations for School Lunch Program.

61. Maximum use of United Nations. (Was U. S. delegate to U. N.)
62. Marshall Plan; aid to Western Europe and other anti-Communist countries; North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and other mutual trade pacts.
63. Expanded trade between nations to build friendly relations and to provide markets for products of farm and factory.
64. A vigorous, bi-partisan foreign policy.

National Defense

65. Stepped-up programs of missile, missile defense, and space development programs.
66. Maintaining National Guard at full strength.
67. Preservation of Alabama military installations, such as Redstone Arsenal and National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Huntsville; Fort McClellan and Ordnance Depot, Anniston; Brookley Field, Mobile; Craig Air Force Base, Selma Maxwell Field and Gunter Air Force Base, Montgomery; and Fort Rucker.
68. Competitive bidding on defense contracts.
69. Airport development for national saftey.
70. Unified and strengthened armed forces.
71. Defense against Communist infiltration and subversive activities.

Waterways

72. Alabama has potentially best waterway system of any State in Union. I have consistently supported full development of this great asset, including Warrior-Tombigbee and Ports of Mobile and Birmingham; Alabama-Coosa, including Miller's Ferry and developments near Gadsden; Chattahoochee-Appalachicola Choctawhatchie-Pea River system; and Tennessee River. I favor a canal to connect the Warrior-Tombigbee with the Tennessee.

Tigers Come Back To Nip Calera 6 to 5

by Wayne Atcheson

Going into the bottom half of the fifth inning behind 5 to 4, the Clanton Tigers rallieed for two runs and ripped Calera 6 to 5 here Friday afternoon.

It was Clanton's second victory in as many outings. Clay Carroll also won his second game of the season and in so doing struck out twelve batters and walked only two.

The Tigers collected six hits off losing pitcher, Phil Findley. Don Jones and Kenneth Mims were the leading batmen with two singles apiece.

Hutchinson Tripled

Clarkie Hutchinson blast a triple in the third inning and Clay Carroll singled for the sixth Tiger hit.

William Askins hit two singles for Calera, Calera got only four hits.

Clanton Scores In 2nd Inning

Clanton scored first in the affair with two runs in the second inning.

Don Jones lead off with a single and was forced out at second on Kenneth Mims ground ball. Mims stole second and Harold Wright Walked. Clay Carroll singled and the bases were loaded.

Buddy Vines waked to force in and Kenneth Mims grounded to the shortstop who errored on the play.

Calera Tied Game Up

Calera tied the game up in the next inning on a single by William Askins and a single by Bill Cost that rolled through Elliott Monroe's legs in centerfield. Cost went to third on the error. Carroll trying to pick a man off first threw over Clarkie Hutchinson's head and the second run was scored.

Clanton Scores Again

Then came Clanton's turn again in the same inning. Hutchinson led off with a triple and came in on a pass ball. Don Jones reached first base on the pitchers error, stole second and came around on Kenneth Mims single.

Calera took the lead 5 to 4 in the fifth on a single, a walk, an error, and a double by Larry Gay.

But the Tigers rallied for two runs in the same inning to nip their opponents 6 to 5.

Sparkman Supports Coal Research For Alabama

SCHEDULED SENATE ACTIVITIES are studied by Senator John Sparkman (right) in an attempt to predict the probable time of action on the coal research bill, which has already passed the House. He is pictured here with Stephen F. Dunn (left), president, National Coal Association, and Robert E. Howe, director, Labor's Non-Partisan League. The Alabama senator, who emphasized that tons of recoverable coal reserves, his state has more than 32 billion is one of the leading supporters of the coal resarch bill on Capitol Hill.

Sparkman, Hill Seek Remedy To Stop $14 Per Bale Cotton Loss

A threatened loss to Alabama cotton farmers of $14 per bale on the 1961 crop has prompted Senators Lister Hill and John Sparkman to join in a plan for legislative remedy.

According to the Alabama Senators, existing law would allow Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson to drop cotton price supports to 70 per cent of parity in 1961. Reports reaching the Senators indicate that farmers cannot take such a parity cut.

A Cut In Profits

Pointing out that the $34 drop would eliminate or cut sharply into profits per bale, Hill and Sparkman plan to introduce this stopgap cotton legislation because they "believe that under Eisenhower-Nixon-Benson anti-family farm policies no long range comprehensive legislation can be enacted this year."

The Hill-Sparkman cotton bill, companion legislation to that introduced in the House by Representative Bob Jones (D., Ala.), would place a floor of 75 per cent of parity on the 1961 crop and delay until 1962 a change from 7|8 middling grade as the standard for the cotton price support base.

Bill Would Stop Cut

"Frankly, our bill would strip Agriculture Secretary Benson of authority to cut parity and allotments for the 1961 cotton crop," Hill, a member of the Senate Agriculture Appropriations Committee said.

"Under Benson's policies price supports have fallen since 1955 from 90 percent of parity to 75 percent for 1960 Choice A cotton," Sparkman, Chairman of the Policy Subcommittee of Economic Committee, said er drift toward lower pr lead us into another like the Republican dep the early '30's."

Another Way of Looking at the Slogan

"What Alabama Makes, MAKES ALABAMA"

THE TRUTH of that fine 30-year old slogan is proven daily. Usually it is taken to mean that the manufacture of goods made in Alabama and sold in Alabama or elsewhere helps increase the prosperity of all the people in Alabama, whatever their occupation. The more goods that are made in Alabama the more jobs there are not only in manufacturing, but in related activities. The more business there is in Alabama the greater the benefit to schools and other public agencies that operate on tax revenues. For example, Alabama Power Company alone pays each year nearly 8-1/2 million dollars taxes in Alabama. It also pays 15 million dollars federal income taxes.

SEVERAL THINGS ARE NEEDED to cause the things made in Alabama to "make" Alabama. Those things include the state's natural resources — mineral, forest and otherwise — abundant supplies of fresh, pure water, ample transportation facilities, and other physical things.

BUT THESE THINGS ALONE are not sufficient to "make" Alabama.

NATURAL RESOURCES ARE OF LITTLE VALUE until somebody does something to convert them into products of higher value.

THIS TAKES PEOPLE — people with the imagination to plan the converting, people with skills to do the converting.

But even this is not enough to "make" Alabama.

THERE MUST BE AN ATTITUDE — an attitude of welcome to the planners who would utilize Alabama's resources and who would employ Alabama's people in the plants they might establish.

ALL OF THESE NEEDS — people, physical resources, attitudes — apply to individual communities as well as to the whole state.

BUT THERE ARE STILL TWO MORE INGREDIENTS necessary to "make Alabama". They are initiative and persistence in telling the planners who often are elsewhere of the many advantages of a location in Alabama.

This many Alabama chambers of commerce, transportation companies, industrial development committees and other organizations are doing. Alabama Power Company, through its industrial development department, cooperates with all of them so that Alabama may continue to make more things which will continue to help "make" Alabama.

And in doing so it keeps in mind that development within Alabama by Alabamians is of equal importance as development by others.

We repeat our belief that "The Last Half of the Twentieth Century Belongs to the South" and that Alabama will benefit proportionately.

Southern Bell Pays $6,500,00 Luxury Tax

Southern Bell customers in Alabama paid more than $6,500,000 in Luxury Federal Excise Taxes on telephone service in 1959.

"The average payment per customer amounted to nearly $14.00", said Mr. W. R. Waters, Southern Bell Manager here.

"The tax amounts to 10 per cent on both local and long distance telephone service and is added to customer's telephone bill each month", he said. "Congress last year voted to let the tax on local telephone service expire at the end of June, 1960 but took no action on the long distance levy".

"The Federal Excise Tax on telephone service was originally enacted many years ago as an emergency measure and was to be temporary", Waters said. "However, it is still in effect and telephone service is the only household utility so taxed. For this purpose, it is included right along with luxury items such as jewelry, furs, liquor and club dues."

"Telephone customers consider the tax inequitable and unfair because it applies to one segment—telephone users—and want the whole tax to be dropped," Mr. Waters said.

The repeal of the tax would benefit all telephone customers as the 59 telephone companies in Alabama merely collect it and turn it over to the U. S. Government.

Elected Secretary Associational Missions

GEORGE E. RICKER

George E. Ricker of Montgomery has been elected secretary of the Department of Rural and Associational Missions of the Alabama Baptist State Executive Board.

Dr. A. Hamilton Reid, executive secretary of the state board, announced that Ricker would assume his new position on May 1.

Ricker, 34, now serving as associate in the Alabama Baptist state Training Union department, is a native of Jackson County, Ala. He is a graduate of Howard College and has his Master of Religious Education from the Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, Texas.

Ricker has served as pastor of Alabama Baptist churches in Scottsboro, Flackler, and Decatur. In 1955, he began work with the state Training Union department. He has worked in every Baptist Church in Alabama.

Ricker's duties include working with the rural Baptist churches in Alabama, and the 66 missionaries in 76 Baptist associations in the state.

The new secretary is married to the former Iva Nelle Hurt of Bridgeport, Ala. They have two sons.

Keep Records For Social Security Purposes

"Farm operator and other self-employed persons under social security in the Chilton County area of Alabama should keep records of their farming and business operations," says Cecil L. Simpson, Manager of the Birmingham District Social Security Office.

Simpson points out that these records, which do not have to be elaborate, are necessary to enable the self-employed person to file a correct report of his earnings for social serurty purposes at the end of the year. "Social Security payments are based on earnings. If the self-employed person does not keep the proper records he cannot file a true report of his earnings. That can greatly affect his social security payments when the time comes to claim them. It could mean no payments at all," Simpson says.

The number of sows in the Corn Belt that wil lfarrow this spring is down 13 percent from this period last year.

CHEVROLET
OVER BACK-COUNTRY ROADS AT 45 WITH A SKY-HIGH LOAD OF TIMBER
Chevy middleweight shows the big rigs how it's done!
That's a 6303 medium-duty Chevrolet powered by a 283-cu.-in. V8. But there's sure nothing medium-duty about the load. Mr. J. E. Blankinship, Arkansas logging contractor, says both of his torsion-spring 6303's "move along at 40 to 50 miles per hour with 55,000 pounds gross weight and maintain a 5-trip-a-day schedule with no trouble at all." Figure the money you save when you've got a medium-duty truck that can cover 30,000 back-country miles a year with a high-tonnage load!
We've never seen anything like the amount of praise truck owners are heaping on Chevy's new torsion spring suspension. Owners like the fact the truck handles a whole lot easier, can move faster off the road without beating the driver to death and shaking loose all the sheet metal. They like the idea of extra thousands of miles before trade-in! . . . Drive a '60 Chevy just once. It's a whole new experience.
Chevy middleweight averages 200 miles of back roads a day dogging timber out of the woods and delivering it to the mill at Crossett, Arkansas.

NINE times out of ten it's the woman of the house who determines what meat is served at mealtime. Although she's a queen of a lady, when it comes time for a trip to the meat counter she changes roles as swiftly and effectively as Matt Dillon of TV fame.

Many a pork chop and steak have been done in during her search for that particular cut of meat which brings rewarding words of praise from her family and friends around the dinner table.

Like our Dodge City hero, she's a tough customer to fool with inferior products, and its almost impossible to bribe her with low prices and low quality meat cuts.

It is well for livestock producers to remember that even though her appearance is quite refined, she can deal you a deadly blow at the meat counter. If she can find a better product—something tastier or something more in line with her demands, yours is left to die a slow death from loss of appearance and loss of what little quality it may have had. Often she changes her mind about the kind of steak or chop she prefers. And when she voices her objections loud and strong something must be done. This keeps the entire livestock and meat industry upset trying to pamper her and keep her happy.

For example, she complained bitterly about the excess fat on pork cuts. Because of this producers and packers are working overtime remodeling the hog and making pork cuts more attractive.

And because she wants high quality lean and less fat, cattle feeding is also undergoing a change. She likes her beef from fat calves weighing 500 to 600 pounds or from 800- to 1,000-pound cattle grading high Good to medium Choice.

It takes a thinking livestock producer to go up against Mrs. Consumer. It means that attention must be given to a sound breeding and selection program, one that will produce livestock of good quality with a lot of muscle.

Mrs. Average Homemaker—A smile like this is what puts profits in the pockets of producers, processors, packers, and other meat industry folks. Such a smile indicates acceptance of the producer's product. NOTE: Type of product—a high quality, lean cut of beef.

It also means that more thought must be given to a feeding program—one that manufactures nutritious meat to just the right degree of finish, attracts attention at the meat counter, and promises appetite satisfaction at the dinner table. There's plenty of proof that she'll take this kind of product home on every shopping trip.

The showdown is at the meat counter. If you're producing slaughter livestock for a part of your income, you'd better give some serious thought to what you're up against or you could get shot right out of the shopping basket.

If you're in need of ammunition in the form of good research information to help you in your livestock program, check with your county agent.

STOP ROACHES

American, oriental, and dusky-brown roaches. To control existing infestations apply one of the following chemicals directly to the infested area: five percent DDT, two and one-half percent chlordane, or one-half percent dieldrin spray; or 10 percent DDT, five percent chlordane, or one percent dieldrin dust; or one of the phosphates recommended for the control of German roaches.

For resistant roaches—principally the German—malathion, diazinon, and ronnel (korlan) are on the recommended list. Malathion should be used at the rate of a three percent spray or a five percent dust; diazinon as a one percent spray or two percent dust; and ronnel as a two percent spray. Ronnel and malathion are less hazardous to use than is diazinon; however, when precautions listed on the label are adhered to, diazinon is considered safe to use and does a very effective job.

For details in the proper use of these pesticides, contact your county agent.

THE WAY I SEE IT

Once these local committees were organized, their first step was to take an inventory of the resources of their county—the people, along with the land, minerals, and other physical resources. With such an inventory, the committee was able to give careful and intelligent consideration to means by which these resources might be used most productively.

The pilot programs in Chilton and Fayette counties have been very successful. In fact, the state rural development committee has recently approved the expansion of the Chilton Pilot Program to an area program involving Autauga, Bibb, Coosa, and Elmore Counties. Many problems which are not limited by county boundaries can now be attacked through such an area approach.

One of the strong features of the rural development program is that it involves such a wide range of organizations—all working toward the solution of common problems. And the way I see it, such cooperation can and undoubtedly will contribute much to the improvement of rural communities throughout the state by helping to utilize more efficiently all of the available human and physical resources.

NEW POULTRY DISEASE. Avian vibrionic hepatitis is a new contagious disease in chickens. Mortality is low, but the disease results in a large number of culls and great loss in egg production. The disease is spread from one chick to another on a farm through the feed, but the method by which the disease is spread from farm to farm is not definitely known. The best treatment is high level Furazolidone for seven to ten days.

LAY-BY WEED CONTROL. During 1959, two experiments were done on lay-by weed control in cotton using herbicides after the last cultivation. The test fields were irrigated with overhead sprinklers immediately after applying the chemical weed killers. Excellent weed control was obtained with several materials. Considering cost, yield, and weed control, one pound per acre of diuron (Karmex DL or Karmex) broadcast in middles at the last cultivation is suggested for those who wish to try it in 1960.

PLANTING MUMS. From mid-May to mid-June is the most favorable time to set out plants of garden chrysanthemums. Small plants obtained from rooted cuttings have been superior to plants from stolons in Auburn tests. Plants from stolons often move diseases and have a higher mortality rate. While most varieties grow well, correct fertilization, spraying, pinching, and watering are necessary for best results. Flowering dates vary from those usually listed in catalogues.

FERTILIZER PROFIT. Whether or not extra fertilizer will be profitable depends on several factors. Among these are the response of the crop to additional fertilizer, value of the increased production, and cost of the extra fertilizer. Suppose that a farmer usually applies 60 pounds of nitrogen per acre to corn. If experiments and experience of neighbors indicate that an additional 30 pounds would increase yield by 11 bushels, it would be profitable to apply the extra 30 pounds of nitrogen. Value of 11 bushels of corn at $1.30 per bushel would be $14.30. Thirty pounds of nitrogen from ammonium nitrate would cost $3.60, and all other costs would be about the same.

BOLLWORM CONTROL. Bollworms have become a greater problem in Alabama cotton during recent years. Infestations usually reached a peak in late June and again in late July, but outbreaks may occur at any time during fruiting. Control of bollworms is almost impossible after the larvae become half grown. It is essential that infestations are determined at least once a week and insecticides applied when worms are small and feeding in terminal buds. DDT, endrin, or sevin have controlled bollworms in Alabama studies. But in most cases, bollworm infestations do not build up when toxaphene or strobane are used for control.

FRUIT QUALITY. Good production and marketing practices can help greatly to improve quality and increase prices of market fruit. Proper pruning, spraying, fertilizing, culture, and thinning are essential to good size and grade. Harvesting only at prime maturity helps to obtain maximum solids, content, color, and flavor. Careful handling prevents bruising, and correct grading and packaging are essential to a high quality pack. Prompt movement to market or refrigeration if movement is delayed helps maintain freshness.

Extension Dairy Specialist

Auburn University

DAIRYING, like other agriculture fields, is becoming highly specialized.

No longer than 25 years ago milking machines were few among dairymen, and the farmer who had one was the envy of his neighbor. Today, however, the number of grade-A dairymen who milk by hand number less than 25, and many producers of milk for manufacturing purposes now have milking machines. Ten years ago bulk tanks were an oddity, yet today seven out of ten grade-A dairymen use bulk tanks and three out of ten have pipeline milking systems.

Herd size is increasing, also. In 1959, the average herd size on the Dairy Herd Improvement Association test program in Alabama was 71 cows while in 1955 the average size herd was 56 cows.

During the last 20 years the average investment on Alabama dairy farms has increased more than 300 percent, yet there has been a decrease in the producer's margin of profit. This, in turn, has put a premium on management and production per cow. Also, there are 361 fewer dairymen in the state today than in 1955. Most of these dairymen were forced out because they operated under management conditions that would not support high production per cow.

A study of the 1959 DHIA records shows the importance of high production per cow in relation to net return. A total of 273 herds involving over 19,000 cows was tested with 203 herds completing a full test year. The bar chart on this page gives a breakdown of herds by average production per cow; feed costs per cow; estimated other costs; estimated labor costs; and net profit, after deducting all costs.

JONES

Thirteen herds on the DHIA test averaged less than 5,000 pounds of milk per cow. In these herds the income from sale of milk fell $32 short of paying all production costs. Six herds averaged 11,653 pounds of milk per cow and showed a net return of $208 per cow after paying all costs.

Owners of the 13 low production herds needed over $10 per 100 pounds of milk to make the same return per cow as the herds with high production per cow, and they needed an increase of $1 per 100 pounds of milk just to do as well as the average dairyman in 1959.

The one sure way to build high production per cow is to make the right management decisions. Such decisions involve breeding, feeding, culling, and everyday herd management. Experience shows that most people, when given the necessary information, can make the right decision most of the time. To a dairyman, however, necessary information includes complete and accurate production and feed records on each cow in the herd. Still, only one out of six Alabama grade-A dairymen and one out of 50 manufacturing milk producers are enrolled in some type of supervised record-keeping program on their dairy units.

Dairymen have both DHIA and WADAM (weigh-a-day-a-month) testing programs available to furnish the necessary information to make intelligent management decisions. Among the decisions that records help a dairyman make are: which cows should be culled; how much grain each cow needs; which heifers should be kept for replacements; when cows should be bred and when they should be dried up; and what hay crops, silage, or pasture mixtures make the most milk. Too, records show what the breeding programs are doing towards building inheritance for higher production.

No dairyman would agree to let his milk hauler guess how much milk is in his bulk tank or guess at his butterfat test. He wants an accurate weight and butterfat test run by a competent tester, yet without production records on each cow in his herd he is merely guessing on each cow. As a result many cows that should wind up in hamburger are still on the milking line because the dairyman has no way of knowing they are costing him money every day they walk into the milking barn.

Carroll Hurls 2-Hitter Against Selma Team

by Wayne A'-heson

Clay Carroll, Chilton County High School's pitching sensation, hurled a brillant two-hitter against the Selma Rams here, Tuesday, April 19.

Fanned Fourteen

While fanning fourteen batters, Carroll gave us a double to Butch Duke and a scratch single just over first base to Jimmy Bedgood in the third frame.

Duke connected on a slow curve ball and Bedgood swinging late on a fast ball, hit the ball just over first base.

Carroll struck out two men in every inning except the first, in which, no one struck out.

He struck out the side in the second and fifth rounds.

Tiger Hitting Attack

The Tigers hitting attack was almost up with the pitching. The first four mán up for Clanton singled.

Kenneth Mims and Elliott Monroe hit back to back singles and Clarkie Hutchinson layed a perfect bunt down the third base line to load the bases.

Jones Sigles Two Across

Don Jones then singled to drive in Mims and Monroe and the Tigers led 2 to 0 after the first inning.

Selma Scores

The Rams got their only run in the second after two men were out. Bruce Moore walked and stole second. Then Butch Duke sliced a slow curve ball over Elliott Monroes head in centerfield for a double to account for the run.

Hutchinson & Carroll Connect

After one out in the third Clarkie Hutchinson doubled to centerfield and Clay Carroll tripled in left centerfield, bringing in Hutchinson.

Buddy Vines then beat out a high chopper that went about thirty feet from the place that scored and the fourth and final Tiger run.

Third Straight

It was Clanton's third victory in three games and the outlook in becoming brighter as the Tigers go along.

Vermont Boys And Girls Enjoy Rally

Friday of last week was a busy day for Vermont School. Early in the morning the fourth, fifth and sixth grades left for the 4-H Club Rally in Clanton, with their teacher, Mr. Roy Hornsby. They arrived back at the school about 1:30 p.m. A tired, but happy group.

It was pre - school day and Easter egg hunt for the pre-school boys and girls and the first, second and third grade. The morning was spent with regular classes, songs and helping the pre-school children learn ways of school. The third grade pupils were appointed to help with the little people. They did a fine job of helping.

The afternoon was spent playing games and hunting eggs. Prizes were won by Bonny Brasher, Roger Brazer and Mark Brazer.

Today's Extension Program To Affect State's Future

WHAT the Auburn Extension Service is doing today will affect every Alabamian for years to come.

This division of Auburn University has set itself to the job of studying ways to better serve the state's entire economy by improving its work in agriculture, home economics, and rural youth. Higher farm income is a primary target. On it hinges better living and greater prosperity for all of Alabama.

Farm Income Can Be Doubled

Although Extension has not yet set a state farm income goal, Director E. T. York, Jr., said he is confident that the 1959 farm gross of $550 million—itself a record—can be vastly improved, even doubled within this decade. More widespread use of practices which research and farmer experience have proved to be best is the key to higher production and profits.

Extension's Place

Extension's job is to keep farmers abreast of these best practices through its county agents. Along with this, home agents help women with all kinds of better homemaking. And 4-H Club boys and girls are trained in a wide assortment of skills and in citizenship.

Extension's ambitious plan to further bolster its services has already started. It started "at home." In Dr. York's words, "We are looking first at our own organization. Several changes that will increase our efficiency have been made. More are to come as a result of our self-study plans.

Self-Study Effort

"The self-study effort is in recognition of the tremendous changes which have taken place in agriculture throughout the state and nation in recent years," said Dr. York. "The study includes a very careful analysis of these changing conditions in an effort to identify opportunities for further growth and development of our agriculture.

"The study also recognizes the marked change within the home and in youth activities and should guide us in reorienting our program in order that we can better serve all of the people of the state through our home demonstration and 4-H work, as well as through our agricultural programs."

Dr. Fred Robertson, assistant director and chairman of the self-study effort, pointed out that various administrative services in the state office have been consolidated in a management service section, with Earle Williams in charge.

As a further result of this study, Extension projects have been consolidated and reduced in number from some 40 to only eight. This will simplify budgeting and fiscal procedures and facilitate program planning and coordination of subject matter activities.

Subject Matter Specialists Organized

"Another major change involves the organization of our agricultural subject matter specialists staff into four groups for the purpose of program planning and coordination," said Dr. York. "The groups consist of animal sciences, plant sciences, social sciences, and physical sciences.

"Special attention is being given to programs of professional improvement for Extension workers," continued Dr. York. "All phases of agriculture and home economics are constantly becoming more complex. Since Extension's basic mission is education, it is obvious that we must have better trained personnel to interpret this more complex technology and teach it to others. Furthermore, we need to improve our teaching techniques and our means of communicating ideas to others."

Further Study Is Part of Plan

Comprehensive programs of pre-service, induction, in-service, and graduate training are being developed for Extension workers. A newly developed policy for professional improvement and study leave should do much to encourage and make possible such effort.

Already, Extension's plans and changes have attracted attention elsewhere. The other day an official of the Federal Extension Service wrote Dr. York:

"You are to be commended for the constructive work you have done in this area. Your policy sets a new high water mark in terms of employee relations as well as in terms of permitting you to move forward in directing the type of training necessary to upgrade Extension work in Alabama.

"I know of no other state having a policy so forward looking as the one you in Alabama have developed. Congratulations to you, your staff, and to Auburn University."

A prominent agricultural leader in a neighboring state commented:

"I wish to congratulate you on the future thinking and planning in which you are engaged in the organization of your Agricultural Extension Service for its great responsibilities. As I view your plans, you are making one of the most fundamental steps toward coordination and effective use of specialists' time of any I have observed. During my many years of Extension service I've thought this was one of its biggest problems and it's good to see you bring together an organization for solving it."

Time To Pick County Dairy Princesses

Time is slipping away in the selection of county dairy princesses who will compete for the state honor June 30.

All counties are eligible to enter one contestant in the state contest through the office of the county home demonstration agent. And those counties intending to enter should notify the American Dairy Association of Alabama by June 1, 1960. The address is 2216 Wynnton Road, P. O. Box 5221, Columbus, Georgia.

County contests must be completed and the entry forms received in the office of the American Dairy Association of Alabama on or before Monday, June 15. See your local home agent for entry blanks and rules and regulations.

Livestock Marketing

Livestock marketing prospects, made clearer by recent reports, look good for the current year.

There were higher numbers of all classes of meat animals on January 1 than a year earlier. The cattle number jumped 4.9 million to a record 101.5 million; the sheep number rose two percent to 33.6 million—the highest in 12 years; and an inventory of hogs topped last year's number by three percent—the largest since 1952.

Cattle slaughter, also higher than last year, will probably continue that way through 1960. A sharp increase is unlikely, however, as buildup in herds will continue. Prospects indicate only a small increase in meat production this year. Gain probably will be less than population increase, so a slight drop in consumption per person is expected. The use of pork is likely to be four pounds off last year's 68-pound rate. The per capita consumption of beef and veal probably will be up a couple of pounds from the 81.5 pounds in 1959, but not much change is in sight for lamb and mutton.

Capital Returns Plummet Downward

The rate of return on productive capital in agriculture has shown a general decline since 1950-51. This resulted in a 20-year low of 3.2 percent in returns on owned capital in 1959. The return rate on all agricultural production capital—both owned and borrowed—was also at a 20-year low of 3.5 percent.

Land-wise a strange phenomenon has occurred. Returns on market values of farmland have been below the interest rate on farm mortgage loans in four of the last five years. Rate of return on original cost of most farm real estate currently owned would, of course, be substantially higher.

Non-Foods Pad Many Food Bills

If you're puzzled about the size of your food bills, chances are they include many items which really aren't foods at all.

For example, the average customers in a group of retail grocery stores in the Midwest spent 15 cents of each food dollar for non-food items, according to a study by a wholesale grocery company in that area. There has been a big increase in the number and kinds of non-food items offered for sale in retail grocery stores in recent years.

Consumer Prices Stable—Farmers Take Less

Consumer price levels have been fairly stable since April of 1958 primarily because of the sharp decline in prices of farm products. Within the general stability level there have been several changes in prices—the most important of which are the sharp decline in those of farm products and the off-setting increases in durable goods and services. Food prices were down three percent during the period while non-food prices were up 3.6 percent.

Sharp Decline In Farm Machine Sales

Demand for tractors, implements, and other types of farm equipment took a nose-dive in late February, according to the Wall Street Journal.

Prices of used farm machinery are off, and retail sales of new machinery are down sharply from a year ago, the downward trend accelerating in recent weeks. Declines averaging around 50 percent in sales of farm machines this year were reported by over two-thirds of the nearly 40 farm machinery dealers checked. And although the declines averaged 50 percent, they ranged as high as 80 percent.

Equipment men blame the 1959 drop in rural income as a main factor in the slow sales picture. Farm equipment is usually a reliable guide to rural buyers of automobiles, appliances, and a host of other items.

Farm Brain Twister

In this age of experts and specialists, research often solves long-standing problems, but sometimes it raises new questions such as which is most economical, forage or feed grains.

There are statistics on both sides of the fence. Forages have a cost advantage over grains, but despite this, historical statistics show that grains are an increasing part of our total feed supply. Grains have benefited more than forages from recent labor-saving innovations and they are more easily stored, marketed, and transported.

However, in regions where high-quality forages can be grown at low cost, studies showed dairymen can use forages and get milk from their cows with less feeding of concentrates. In one such study, cows fed concentrates at the lowest rate produced milk with the lowest feed cost. Also, there is a greater lag in adoption of improved management practices for forages.

Grains or forages still is an unanswered question, but the competition between the two may be closer than is frequently supposed.

The 1960 Cooperative Outlook

The farmer who owns his own processing facilities, marketing organization, feed mills, fertilizer plants, petroleum distribution and develops brands, constructively advertises, and who can tie in his financing of production through his own shop is far better equipped to meet the competitive situation of the future than the individual who must divide the proceeds of his production—paying others for these services. This is no reflection upon competition but simply appraising the economics involved.

In 1960 we are seeing a further trend toward specific production to meet the demands of a more selective market, a further shortening of the route between the farm and the retail store, and a further screening of producers as to their qualifications before accepting them on marketing contracts.

A Tractor May Run Milking Machine

THE recent electric power failure caused by the ice and snow in North Alabama made it necessary for some dairymen to milk their cows by hand.

Auburn Extension Engineer J. T. Gaillard offers a suggestion to avoid future failures. He says the farm tractor may be pulled along the side of the milking barn wall near a window. Then a heavy duty hose can be used to connect the intake manifold and the suction line of the milking machine. The hose should be the length of the milking machine hose so that it won't collapse under pressure.

It may take a little time to find out the correct speed to run the tractor motor. Therefore, the engine should be started before the manifold and suction lines are connected. Also, the motors of some tractors may not operate but one milking unit at a time, adds Gaillard.

A Gun of Nylon and Glass?

YOUR future gun may not be made of metal. Not too long ago nylon gunstocks and receivers were developed. And now I learn that "test" shotgun barrels have been made of glass and are reportedly stronger than those of steel.

Canned Sunshine

Feed your hunting dog a can of inexpensive sardines occasionally. Sardines are rich in vitamin D—canned sunshine, and they will give your dog's coat a beautiful gloss.

Stale Fish? Phew!

Like stale fish? You do if you throw them under a hot boat seat or keep them on a stringer in water after they have died.

To hold that fresh "bankside flavor," which is probably the main reason folks rave about how good fish taste when cooked on the bank, keep your fish as fresh as possible.

You can do this several ways. A boat fish well or a clothespin snap stringer will help to keep fish alive for short periods. Some anglers drop their fish in a tow sack tied to the boat. But, if possible, put your catch on ice before they die!

I often take along a small portable icebox filled with cracked ice in which to throw my fish when I catch them. This way they keep well in hot weather and when cleaned have that special bankside flavor.

A Tip For Freezing Fish

Quick freeze bream and fillets of fish in polyethylene bags containing 32-degree water. To make the ice water, let the ice melt—don't add tap water! Fish frozen in this manner won't dry out.

They Melt In Your Mouth

Now that the fish-fry season is with us again, don't forget the hushpuppies. Here's a good recipe: 2 cups corn meal, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 whole egg, 6 tablespoons chopped onion, 1 cup buttermilk, and 1 fist-size chunk of grated cheddar cheese. Mix all ingredients, add chopped onion, then milk and egg. Drop by spoonfuls into deep, hot fat where fish are cooking. When done they will float. Put on brown paper to drain.

"Camp" Wisely

Camping is a good way to enjoy an inexpensive vacation. The main item is the tent. So pick your tent on the ease of pitching, roominess, and comfort. For instance, I prefer the marquee or umbrella tent over many other types because it takes less time for pitching. The wedge or the pup tent just doesn't have the space for movement or for standing.

Screened windows and door flaps give ventilation and keep out most insects.

Well Now—

I remember one horrible camping trip. I awoke in the middle of the night and saw in the campfire glow two mosquitoes as big as turkeys sitting on the foot of my bedroll. One said to the other, "Should we eat him here or take him down into the swamp?" The other answered, "No! If we take him there, one of the big ones will get him!"

I escaped, but I never go into the woods, winter or summer, without a mosquito repellent.

"I get a greal deal of satisfaction from helping others enjoy their talents." These words seem to tell the story of how Mrs. Jesse L. Bolen's home demonstration project grew into the elaborate ceramics shop she has today.

Miss Lucile Burson, Clarke County home demonstration agent, offers this as just one way that Alabama women, both rural and urban, are being assisted by home demonstration work. "This being the month in which National Home Demonstration Week is observed, it's fitting that we see how club work helps its members lead fuller, more rewarding lives," says Miss Burson. "And here is the perfect example of how the seed of an idea was planted in club work and now has grown to involve over thirty women—in the club and out."

Similar projects are being carried out every day in HDC work over Alabama.

Here's how the ceramic movement started for Mrs. Bolen. Jackson Club members knew that Mrs. Bolen had a flair for several crafts. So when the time came to choose a club craft chairman, she was selected. At first Mrs. Bolen interested the members in china painting—a project that is still being carried on. Two years ago she branched out into ceramics, and club members have made this project a permanent fixture.

When Mrs. Bolen started as crafts chairman, she used her home as a classroom. But with the growth of her classes, she needed more space. She moved her equipment into a building behind her house, fitted the new classroom with plenty of shelves, and found herself in business.

As you enter the workshop and see all the art specimens on tables, you get the idea that you're in a china shop. But as you move carefully through the shop, you suddenly become aware of the smell of clay, paint, and warming kilns, thus realizing you're in a small factory. It's hard to imagine that all the intricate beauty of a vase can be accomplished in that one building—even after seeing the vase in all its stages before completion.

This work is being done, not by professionals, but by average club women just like those in your club. However, all of the members of Mrs. Bolen's classes are not club members. In fact, one student, Miss Maude Neal, comes all the way from Lower Peachtree, about 50 miles away. In all, about 30 students attend the two classes in ceramics and china painting. And all of them are gaining knowledge from what started as one club member's project.

A recent survey by a group of Federal agencies disclosed that hundreds of rural communities share the same problem as "depressed" urban areas. In each there was a surplus of labor for the jobs available.

National HD Week Ends

Home Agents And Homemakers Continue Work On Year's Objectives

"TODAY'S Home Builds Tomorrow's World" is the theme of Alabama's home demonstration agents and members. And during this month home agents throughout the state will continue to fulfill objectives observed during their nationally celebrated week, May 1 through 7.

Recapping recent activities, State Home Demonstration Agent Mary Jim Coleman says that agents' objectives are to acquaint and interpret to more people the total Extension program and to emphasize its contribution to home and family living; to give special recognition to volunteer leaders, whose part in planning and carrying out the program has made possible the magnitude of home demonstration work; to concentrate on specific problems and audiences to help families as they adjust to changing social and economic conditions; and to help homemakers know and use research findings related to the home and family.

MRS. COLEMAN

Special effort to reach the young homemaker is receiving particular attention this year, points out the Auburn University leader. To meet the changing conditions of family living, home agents are conducting surveys to find out the number of young homemakers contributing to the family income by working, the particular time of day these homemakers could attend home demonstration club meetings, the age of children involved (in school and out), and many other details that will aid them in setting up appropriate club meetings for this group's benefit.

Mrs. Coleman says that special demonstrations by experienced homemakers in HD work are already being conducted in new "young homemakers' clubs." Other demonstrations will follow as soon as surveys are completed and new clubs are organized at times when working homemakers and mothers of young children can meet.

Numerous bulletins, study sheets, and practical tips are available to the homemaker who attends monthly home demonstration club meetings. Transfer of skill in the many phases of family living is passed on to the homemaker through expert teaching and method demonstrations by the local home agent and state specialists.

You have only to join one of the existing clubs or help start one in your community to have access to the vast storeroom of information gathered and compiled by your home demonstration agent, adds the state agent. Join one now and make your home of today help build tomorrow's world.

Represented State In Washington At National 4-H Club Conference

FOUR outstanding Alabama young people recently represented the state at the 30th National 4-H Club Conference in Washington, D. C.

The week-long event is held each year to help develop leadership ability in America's youth and to give them the opportunity to study the nation's capitol and our national government, say Hanchey Logue and Ann Barr, state 4-H Club leaders. Delegates to the conference are selected on the basis of their 4-H Club work. Chosen to represent Alabama this year were Walter Williams, Lee County; Larry Wheeler, Shelby; Nancy Long, Mobile; and Betsy Stone, Madison.

Walter Williams, 17-year-old Lee County delegate, has been an active 4-H'er for seven years. A senior at Smith's Station High School, he plans to go to college to study medicine. Walter is busy this year with dairying, beef cattle, hogs, pasture improvement, and other projects. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Williams of Phenix City Rt. 1.

Nancy Long of Grand Bay in Mobile County, reports that her work in the 4-H Club has helped her decide to study home economics in college. The 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everette Long has done outstanding work in all of her projects—clothing, recreation and rural arts, frozen foods, child care, home management, and more. Nancy is a senior at Mobile County High School this year and is president of the Mobile County 4-H Council.

Larry Wheeler
Shelby County

Betsy Stone, 17-year-old 4-H'er from New Market, has been active in club work for nine years. Her activities have included award-winning work in food and clothing projects, and she has held several offices in both her local club and on the county council. She is president of the Madison County Council this year. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Stone, Betsy is a senior at Buckhorn High School.

Busy with his duties as president of the Shelby County 4-H Council this year, Larry Wheeler still has time for his beef cattle, safety, and home improvement projects. The 17-year-old Columbiana youth has been active in 4-H work for six years and plans to put what he has learned to good use; he hopes to have a beef cattle farm of his own one day. Larry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Wheeler.

Safe Use Of Pesticides On Alabama Farms Urged

PESTICIDES are dangerous to have around the house if they are not properly labeled and stored. Four simple practices will insure safety for your children and pets, says Extension Service Entomologist Jerry Ruffin.

Read the label on the container and carefully follow the instructions. Store pesticides in a place where children, pets, and irresponsible people can't get into them. Remember to keep them in their original, labeled containers. And, adds Ruffin, dispose of the empty container where it cannot harm humans, animals, or plants.

In The Dairy World

June Dairy Month is just a cat's whisker away, and Extension home agents are busy making preparations for county dairy princess contests.

And come June 30 some lucky young lady will be chosen to represent the state's dairy industry. She'll make numerous trips and talks throughout the state telling the dairy story and promoting dairy products to the general public. And she'll need your help.

A Chicken Hot Dog?

A hot dog with no pork, beef, or veal has been developed. It's made from chicken.

And it has yet to be named. "Chicken dog" and "hot chicken" don't quite fill the bill; however, there's more to it than just meat. The ingredients include—besides chicken—poultry seasoning, dried skim milk, soya, and fat.

In processing, the meat is cut into particles the size of a grain of sand by a blade that whirls 5,000 times a minute. Then the remaining ingredients are mixed in.

There's A Difference

In Russia nearly 100 million people work on farms to feed a population of 209 million. But only eight million farmers in the United States produce more than enough for nearly 180 million people.

Water Systems Month

May is "Water Systems Month." And according to Extension Engineer Bill Cox, water system promotion campaigns will be on throughout the state.

He says that the best figures they have show only about 52 percent of the farms in Alabama with running water under pressure. Efficient farm production in these times (especially with any type of livestock) and a reasonable standard of living are impossible without a water system.

If you need help on this project, see your county agent.

Smart Hogs Can Be Fooled

Sometimes a sow brings more pigs than she has table settings for, and the owner transfers them to another sow with a smaller litter and extra accommodations, says Extension Hogman G. B. Phillips. The proposed foster mother usually will not accept them.

Remember that a sow recognizes her own pigs by smell—not by sight, he says. And the problem is to make the visiting pigs smell the same as the sow's own pigs. So, dub a little dairy cow udder ointment or vanilla extract on all the pigs and the sow's nose. The strange odor will keep mama sow from smelling the outsiders, and she will happily adopt them.

Doves Need Feeding Areas

Several folks report good results with browntop millet for fall dove feeding grounds. You might want to try a few acres for a dove field this year. Check with your county agent on the source of seed and directions for planting.

Smith Re-Elected Tax Collector In First Voting

IN the Democratic Primary Tuesday Mrs. Mildred Burnett and W. O. "Ott" Miller were thrown into a run-off on May 31, as was Acie Mims and Reedie Hilyer.

Sherman Motley in District Three lacked only 27 votes of receiving as many votes as his opponents combined. Whether or not there will be a run-off in this election is doubtful.

From the three counties comprising the 19th Judicial Circuit Joseph J. Mullins received 5,698 votes in the race for Circuit Judge to 4,144 for Newby and 2,092 for Glen Bashore.

In the race for Membership in the Board of Revenue and Control from District Four the vote was Hilyer 829 votes, Mims 692, Dunlap 454, and Blackmon 290.

In the race for County Treasurer Mildred Burnett received 1802 votes ,Ott Miller 1622 votes and Jack Meek 645 votes.

The total vote in the race for Tax Collector was the largest vote cast. It was 4108, which was a very light vote, there being more than 12,000 voters in the county.

Of the total vote in the Tax Collector race George Smith received 3321 and Newon Popwell received 8.7.

Thorsby Youth Wins Top Honors In Statewide Jaycee Road-E-O

A LOCAL Thorsby youth took top honors last Saturday in the State-wide Junior Chamber of Commerce teenage driver Road-E-O, held in Birmingham.

Joe M Mims, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Mims of Thorsby, out dro c 31 other contestants to take first place. Each of the 21 contestans was a local winner in their hometown Road-E-O. Joe was awarded a $500.00 college scholarship by the Pure Oil Co., a Silver Trophy from the Alabama Trucking Assn., and a plaque by the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce.

A Montgomery youth, Jerry Becknell, placed 2nd to win a $250. Savings Bond. It was presented by Liberty National Ins. Company.

Third place was won by Harland Brantley of Atmore who received a $100 Savings Bond.

Both received a trophy and a plaque.

They received their aways at a special awards banquet held at the Redmont Hotel, following the Road-E-O. Guest speaker was David Barksdale, National Director of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Road-E-O was held at Green Springs Reserve Armory and consisted of three tests. A driver written test, a road test to reveal driving habits and a special skill test.

Mims will receive an expense paid trip to Washington, D. C., on August 8th through 11th, to compete in the Naional Junior Chamber Teenage Driving Road-E-O Here he will have the opportunity to win one of the three educational scholarships of $2000, $1500, and $1000. While in Washington, the teenagers will be properly chaperoned, tours and entertainment will be arranged. The top scorers will be announced at a special awards banquet held at the Statler Hotel

The National Driving Road-E-O will consist of a Battery of Six Examinations. Included will be Psycho Physical Machine test, (test time and depth perception), written examinations, a skill test, a road check, and a personal interview.

Patrolman Billy Lawrence, who was our local Road-E-O chairman, will make the trip with Jo to Washington. He will act as chaperon.

Local Lions Prepare For Annual East - West Match

THE Clanton Lions Club is moving forward with plans for the annual East - West Boys boseball game for Sunday, May 15, 1960. Coaches from Alex City, Columbiana, Montevallo and other high schools in this district have been contacted and ar now deciding which of the boys from their individual teams they will recommend for players here.

Lions Proud of Record

The local Lions are proud of the record they made last year when they promoted the best of seven "try-out" games; and the appreciation of the Club is being extended to the sports-loving public in our area. Without the support of all he public, this event could not be a success.

Proceeds Go to Ala. Sight

As most everyone knows, of course, all the proceeds from all the East-West games are for the benefit of Alabama Sight, Inc. This most worthy organization continues performing services for those that are a little (at least) less forunate than YOU.

Tickets are on sale for $1.00 each and the same ticket is good for the BIG game in Birmingham on June 3.

Amoco Oilers Play Tammell's Saturday

THE Amoco Oilers of Clanton will play a doubleheader in Clanton again Saturday night May 7th, first game beginning at 7:30. The Oilers will again be playing one of the best teams in the State when they take on Trammell's from Birmingham. This is formerly the Baggett Team and last year they played under the sponsorship of Food Basket winning the Metro Tournament in Birmingham then went on to play in Regional Tournament in Miami, Fla., and lost out in the quarter finals to a Miami team.

They also defeated the World Champions, Clearwater, Fla., in a game last year 1 to 0 in Birmingham behind the pitching of Billy Tucker, the boy that will be pitching one of the games against Clanton Saturday night at the City Ball Park.

Clanton played the State Champions, Pepsi Cola last Saturday night in a doubleheader. Clanton lost the first game to the bottlers by the winning pitcher for Pepsi and a score of 2 to 1. Paul Morrison "Tex" Kinyon the losing pitcher for the Oilers.

Book Service Now Available To Chilton

THERE is available to Chilton County bookmobile library service which would render service to all communties in Chilton County as well as Clanton. This service in available at a very small cost to our county. At the same time Chilton County can join with Shelby County and St. Clair County in their Coosa Region Library Service and have arcess to their books. This would gife Chilton County and opportunity $30,000 worth of reading material.

Now is a wonderful time for Chilton County to take advantage of such an opportunity since we are in the process of building a new courthouse which could easily provide housing space for a central library from which a bookmobile could run throughout the county to afford library facilities for all.

You are urged to talk to your Board of Revenue members or candidates to be elected as soon as possible.

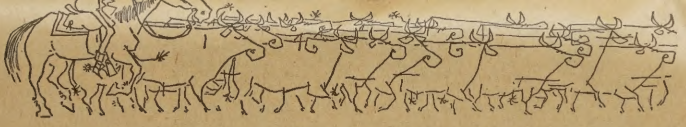
Yesterday And Today

Specialist's Views on Changing Marketing Systems



SINCE granddad's day, the livestock marketing system has changed many times. And many other changes are likely in the future.

But, let's turn the calendar back one hundred years. Then, cattle were driven on foot to terminal markets located near railroad centers or large metropolitan cities. (Have you watched "Rawhide" lately?) Having reached their destination the cattle were either slaughtered and consumed locally or shipped to other slaughter points. In either event, very little meat could be stored for future delivery.

In other areas, meat supply was dependent upon local production. For example, when local butchers found a few animals, they slaughtered them and peddled the meat until it was exhausted. Then, there was the old story—"sorry, no meat today." Few of us remember those good old days, but I'll bet our grandmothers would. I wonder which system of marketing they would prefer—yesterday's or today's?

RUSSELL

Market System Affects Supply

Under such a marketing system as our grandfathers had, the seasonal pattern of production would greatly influence the amount and kind of meat on your table. You wouldn't be able to eat much meat this time of the year because there wouldn't be much in the store. But in October and November you would probably have more meat than you could eat. Imagine how prices would vary over the year, too.

Starting in the 1920's, the livestock marketing system began to decentralize. With the development of improved refrigerated rail cars, trucks, highways, and market news, packers began to move from metropolitan areas into those of livestock production. Chicago vividly illustrates the changes. For years, this northern city was considered the livestock trading center of the nation. It offered a vast terminal market for receiving and holding livestock plus packing plants to slaughter the livestock. Today, however, not one of the so-called, "big four" packers has slaughtering facilities in operation in Chicago. The last of these plants closed early in 1959.

Why Slaughter Plants Move

Why have these packers moved their slaughtering plants out of Chicago and other similiar cities? Largely because of two economic factors—wage rates and transportation costs.

First, wage rates were and still are higher in larger cities than in rural production areas. Second, freight rates are so devised that it's cheaper to transport carcasses rather than live animals. And third, locating in areas of livestock production tends to reduce the variability of daily livestock receipts at packing plants. All these factors added up to a move for the packers.

As decentralization continued, other changes were brought on the marketing system. Terminal markets and cooperative shipping associations declined in importance while auction markets and direct-to-packer sales increased. This is a typical example of the fate which awaits marketing firms that do not adjust their operations to a changing system.

Changes in the retail segment of our marketing system have been rather fantastic, too. These changes have been most important in creating other changes throughout the marketing system. At this point, the consumers—represented by the homemakers of America—make their presence felt throughout the system.

Today, chain and other super stores are the last link in the marketing system. These firms are closely in touch with the individual—the consumer—to which all production and marketing is directed. And the consumer, by her voice at the cash register, accepts or rejects new products and new services offered by retailers. The retailer, in the case of meat, passes this acceptance or rejection back to the packer through his purchases from the packer. The packer, in turn, must reflect these changing consumer desires to producers. At each step, the medium for expressing desires is a universal language—dollars.

Present and Future

As consumers we have given our approval to present-day merchandising programs. As producers, we must shape our products to consumer desires.

Emphasis in today's merchandising programs of retailers is geared to large-volume, small-margin operations. Retailers strive to please the consumer because this is where they make their money. In turn, they buy those products from their suppliers that make them money. This means that retailers give packers orders for livestock of specific grade and weight ranges. The packer is then faced with the problem of securing the kind of livestock he may sell and make money, too. Producers are kept aware of this situation by the prices paid for livestock.

Certainly, the future holds more changes and more opportunities. Retail merchandising programs will continue to have an important impact on the entire marketing system. And retailers will continue to try to please the consumer.

Direct-to-packer sales will likely increase as packers endeavor to meet the demands of retailers for specific kinds and qualities of livestock. These types of purchases may also improve the packer's competitive position by adding additional control over costs within their plants—a desirable objective for a sound competitive marketing system.

These and other changes have important implications for producers. Producers will want to be sure their product is the kind and quality consumers are demanding. And assembly agencies should adjust their operations to meet the needs of this changing market.

COCKROACHES—just plain roaches with their characteristic "roachy" odor—are the most unwelcome insect pests among the homemaker's unwanted household invaders.

Although they cause no concrete damage as do many household pests, they are the most objectionable of them all. Roaches are annoying and a menace to our health. Their filthy habits result in the contamination and destruction of vast quantities of food. And although roaches are not generally considered to be carriers of diseases, because they prefer to inhabit such areas as municipal sewers, outdoor privies, city dumps, and other sources of filth, they are potential carriers of disease organisms associated with these unsanitary conditions. Roaches have been known to carry organisms that cause dysentery, tuberculosis, and other diseases of man. And roaches collected in South Texas in 1955 were found to be infected with poliomyelitis virus.

There are some 55 species of roaches in the United States. However, only five or six species are commonly found in areas of human habitation. In this area only five species are considered important household pests. These are the American, oriental, dusky-brown, brown-banded, and German.

The largest of this group is the American. Areas frequented by this group include basements, cellars, garages, and meat packing plants. The oriental is also a large roach. These dark brown to shiny black pests prefer to live in moist, warm areas such as feed rooms, basements, and furnace rooms. They are particularly attracted to sewers and often spend the day in the sewer line and the night as guests in our homes.

The dusky- or smoky-brown roach is almost as large as the American, but it does not have the orange markings. It is sometimes found in houses but is more often considered an outbuilding inhabiter. It is common in barns and greenhouses in this area.

The brown-banded roach is much smaller than the types we have discussed so far. You can identify this one by the light yellow bands across the back. And he differs in habits from the others in that he will readily infest any area of the house.

The German roach or the waterbug, as it is commonly called, is the most abundant variety in this area. This insect is relatively small and has two dark stripes on the back part of the thorax (middle portion of the insect). They are found around motors of washing machines, refrigerators, televisions, and in areas where moisture is available.

Now that we have briefly identified these pests, let's discuss their resistance to various chemicals and some of the modern insecticides that presently control them.

In 1957, due to complaints of resistant or uncontrollable roaches by pest control operators and homemakers, research was started at Auburn to determine their degree of resistance to insecticides. Two to six-day old roaches were exposed to surfaces treated with various insecticides. These experiments showed that roach resistance was present in many areas of the state. For example, a strain of roaches from Fairhope was 1,382 times as resistant to dieldrin and 750 times as resistant to chlordane as was a susceptible laboratory strain. Roaches from several other areas also exhibited high degrees of resistance. However, all were killed by the organiphosphate, diazinon.

In most areas of the state roaches other than the German roach can be controlled with chlorinated hydrocarbons. These are DDT, chlordane, and dieldrin. A barrier of 10 percent chlordane or one percent dieldrin dust along the foundation walls of buildings is effective in preventing the entrance of the Rural Development. Rural Development is a program we all will be hearing a lot about in the months and years ahead.

Started only three years ago, it has already gained national prominence. President Eisenhower's agricultural message to Congress this year contained five principal points, one of which called for an expanded rural development program. Both political parties in Congress are sponsoring legislation this year to support such an effort.

What is rural development? What can it mean to Alabama?

The National Rural Development Program has grown out of the need to assist low income rural areas to adjust to the very rapid agricultural and economic changes which have occurred in recent years.

Fifty-six percent of the nation's farms sell only nine percent of the farm products. And here in Alabama 66 percent of the farms sell only 16 percent of the produce. A recent report by the Committee for Economic Development states that 71 percent of Alabama farmers could be classified as low income, having too little land and too few other productive resources to earn more than a subsistent level of living, if that.

As a result of this situation, many Alabama farmers have, in recent years, either had to leave the farm and get jobs in town or take a part-time job to supplement their farm income. Many rural communities have become almost deserted due to this exodus of farm people to the city.

The rural development program has three basic goals:

1. To attract and expand industry and widen the range of jobs in an area with many small, low production farms.
2. To help families having the desire and ability to stay in farming gain the necessary land, tools, and skills to enable them to derive a satisfactory income from farming.
3. To help younger rural people obtain adequate education and, especially, improved job skills.

National Committee. Started some three years ago on an informal basis, President Eisenhower recently established a cabinet level committee for rural development to guide the program nationally. This committee is made up of the under secretaries of the departments of Agriculture, Interior, Commerce, and Health, Education, and Welfare along with the administrator of the Small Business Administration and a member of the Council of Economic Advisors.

The Alabama Rural Development Committee is made up of the heads or representatives of some 21 agricultural, educational, business, industrial and welfare agencies. This committee has the responsibility for guiding the program within the state.

Pilot Program. Two years ago, Fayette and Chilton counties were designated as pilot counties. Committees of leading citizens came together to organize and develop programs for their respective counties with assistance from representatives of the various agencies of the state committee.

Benny Atkinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Atkinson and a member of the Clanton FFA, won showmanship and best fitted animal at the County Fat Stock Show.

Benny enrolled in Vocational Agriculture when he was in the 9th grade, and according to J. Reed Thompson, local Vocational Agriculture teacher, he indicated he was interested in livestock. Benny secured a registered hereford hoping to get started in the beef cattle business. Due to circumstances beyond his control, he had to sell his heifer. He then decided to secure a beef steer for fattening and to show.

Benny spends his time working for farmers and making servic calls with the local veterinarian.

Benny not only loves livestock he is also a good speaker. He wo 2nd place in the FFA speaking contest and with this training he wen on to win the 4-H speaking contest.

Why A Mother's Day --

SOME may say a Mother's Day is useless. Some contend that it's a waste of time and all a bunch of sentimental nonsense. But these folks never had the everlasting privilege of knowing the affection and complete self-sacrifice of a good mother.

A mother to some is the one who washes and hangs out the clothes; who tends the young'uns and who cooks the food. One who makes the beds, patches up wounded bodies and souls and keeps the house in order. She's the one who mops the floors, listens to everyone's problems and tries to help solve them and the only one in the house who is willing to go around half the day in her housecoat because she hasn't had time to dress decently yet.

To most of us that's mom alright, but she's more, much more than just a housekeeper and baby sitter.

Mother is a soft, warm, gentle creature who can love an off-spring wholly and completely when nobody else in the world cares a whit. She brought you into the world and there is no bond in any realm to compare with that between a mother and her child.

Being a woman does not necessarily make a mother. Heaven-sent qualities of patience, tenderness, kindness, understanding, forgiveness and complete devotion are a mother's make-up and she is without a doubt God's most wonderful creation.

That's why there should be a Mother's Day . . .in fact there should be several. . . one for every time she sacrificed herself and her wishes for your selfish desires!

What's Your Reason? --

MILLIONS of column inches of valuable space are contributed by American newspapers every year in the never-ending battle to halt the bloddy carnage taking place on our highways. It seems incredible that drivers continue to act as they do behind the wheel of an automoble despite the avalanch of grim facts and warnings.

But it is a matter of record; record that is slightly over 50 years old yet already stands as one of the more sordid indictments against our society.

A recent report by The Travelers Insurance Companies states that since the advent of the automobile, more than 62,000,000 men, women and children have been killed or injured on our highways. More Americans have died on our highways than in all the wars this country has fought.

The cause of this slaughter screams for attention. More than 85 percent of all fatal accidents last year was blamed on human error!

More than 85 percent of the 37,600 deaths occurred because somebody behind the wheel had shrugged off the countless highway safety news stories and editorials this newspaper and hundreds of others like it across the country printed during the year. "It can't happen to me," he thought.

Perhaps he didn't consciously think that. Maybe the fact that it could happen to him didn't get past his subcounscious. Perhaps it never did happen to him. Perhaps he was the survivors in a horrible crash that maimedand killed those he loved most.

Inattention is the overwhelming factor with figures in 85 percent of our death crashes. A lapse of attention to the road ahead, a heavy foot on the gas pedal, an unnecessary gamble to save a few seconds that cost an eternity--these are the ways in which the human behind the wheel failed. The supreme penalty was the result for those who erred once too often.

Although 3,000,000 copies of the report by The Travelers Insurance Companies describing the sordid record on our highways last year are being distributed in this country, chances are that you will not see one. If you do, however, read it closely. Your error behind the wheel could be included in the statistical columns next year.

It is safe to predict that you as a driver will be exposed to countless news stories in this newspaper during the coming months describing what happened because the human behind the wheel made a mistake. Read them carefully. They could help you avoid that same mistake.

THINGS We see and hear

by BOB

LUNCHED Sunday (by invitation mind you) with two of the finest folks in Chilton County, Mr. and Mrs. Carson Boockholdt down around Enterprise and Bethsalem communities. Also found out through casual conversation that cousin Nelma Jo Boockholdt is to be married in the very near future to a "farm grown" young'un like herself from up around Culkman, Alabama. This possibly is a family secret, but it ain't anymore, so from now on if they don't want it spread to the seven winds they'd better not let us in on it. And since we're among the last to know about it, let us be among those who extend hearty congratulations to the couple. We don't know "Buddy", but we do know Nelma Jo so he must be O.K. You'll be getting the full details about the event in future issues of the News so keep posted!

HAD a fellow tell us the other day that in one particular political race, he knew three of the candidates and he was going to vote for the fourth man in the race. This doesn't speak too well of the first three, in his opinion, nor the fourth for that matter. Voting's done now, however, so we'll see if there were any other folks who felt the same way as he. His seemed to be a case of knowing the candidates too well, rather than not at all!

WE'RE going to get some fresh onions off of Grandaddy Yeargan if we have to do when the moon is high! Doggonit, we don't have a garden. . . mainly because we don't know anything about raising one. But we're gonna have fresh onions, one way or aother! Better oil up that old shootin' iron Grandaddy. Now that's fair warnin' so we won't feel so bad when we get out there and get those good ole onions. . .unless of course he uses number two shot! Ouch!

TALKING with a fellow the other afternoon about voting, not voting, etc. but we hadn't mentioned buying any! Our young son who was listening (but not too good) spoke up loud and clear and said m"y daddy said he is going to buy a boat pretty soon". Well, the since the conversation had been fellow wasn't hard of hearing, but confined to VOTES we felt a necessity to clarify the fact that one was VOTE and the other was BOAT and that we hadn't even been considering buying either! Sometimes that youngster gets us in some awful situations to explain out of. . . and we're innocent!

YOUNG fellow got up Sunday morning in Church and spoke his mind very effectively about why he thought pledges should be made to the church for the benefit of Christ's work here on earth. The thing that made it so inspiring was that the little fellow (Shorty Walker's boy) is small for his age and must be every bit of six years old. We just wish some of the "unconcerned" could have witnessed the event. It certainly wouldn't have hurt 'em and it probably would have softened them considerably toward the work of THEIR church!

YOU know getting hooked at being a "fevered fisherman" is probably harder than getting hooked into marital bliss, because the average fisherman we know puts more effort and time into his chosen sport and activity than he does. When it comes to "forsaking all others. ." he is tops at keeping that "vow" and his love and compassion for his tackle box and its contents borders on the sublimely ridiculous. Anyway, we have a number of citizens "hooked" and the only thing we see wrong with it, is that the poor fish that's hooked the hardest is at the wrong end of the fly rod!

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

from The Bible

For Thou, Lord, wilt bless the righteous; with favor wilt Thou compass him as with a shield.—(Psalm 5:12)

Those who love God and obey Him, who worship and glorify Him in all their thoughts and acts, are overflowingly filled with His love and His guidance; they know abundant joy and strength beyong all mortal compare—because the Almighty is with and within them.

50 YEARS OF HUMOR

Sayings have a way of repeating themselves, persons also as the years roll by. In mind at the moment is a story I heard Irv Cobb tell, way back in 1916. Later he incorporated it in a magazine story. At least a dozen times since, I have heard it ont he air-waves or seen it published in a magazine with always a dfferent by-line specifying the orignatoar. Just recently I heard t used on the Ernie Ford show on television, and Damon Runyan was given credit for starting it off on that occasion.

It's so good that it will likely bear repeating through the centuries. In Mr. Cobb's home town of Paduch, Kentucky, there was a Dr. Jones who spent a life-time ministering to the wants of his towns-people and seldom getting any pay for it. People in that section of Kentucky were very poor, Cobb explained, but the old doctor spent the years bringing babies into the world, repairing human beings and in a large measure taking a "Thank You", for his services. Old age finally caught up with him and he died. People who had received his services free and those who still owed him money, wanted to do something honoring him, but had no money.

Finally at a meeting in a borrowed hall, they discussed their problem, and how the town would be eternally grateful to the absent doctor, and a short time thereafter building where the good doctor had had his office. There a little sign told of the location. They took this sign, pole and all carried it out to the cemetery. Once there, they took the impromptu monument and drove the stake into the ground at the head of heir benefactor's gravt. It read:

"Dr. Will Jones, Office Upstairs."

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

A bill designed to stimulate home ownership and housing construction was passed by the House of Representatives last week on a vote of 214 to 163.

This measure, which was introduced by Rep. Albert Rains of Alabama, authorizes the Federal National Mortgage Association (FNMA) to purchase at face value up to one billion dollars of government-backed home mortgages insured or guaranteed by the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration. Such mortgages are usually bought at a discount by FNMA in the open market.

Recent figures indicate that the annual rate of housng construction is running at about 20 per cent below a year ago. The new authorization for FNMA's special assistance program, that is provided for in the House-approved legislation, is expected to bring about the construction of 70,000 to 80,000 additional dwelling units of low or moderate cost.

In order to prevent any builders from receiving a lion's share of the new funds, the measure directs FNMA to establish regulations to assure an equitable distribution of commitments.

Although the bill retains the present mortgage limit of $13,500, it authorizes FNMA to increase that ceiling by an additional $1,000 in areas where the cost of building is unusually high.

The House-approved bill has been referred to the Senate for consideration. Even though a similar measure was enacted into law in 1958, some predict that President Eisenhower will veto the bill this year.

Alabamian In Korea

With the crisis in the Korean government being in the forefront of the news during the past week, it is interesting to note that a native of our own Sixth Congressional District is mentioned prominently in the reports emanating from that country. He is the United States Ambassador to Korea, Walter P. McConaughy.

Born in Montevallo, Ambassador McVonaughy was graduated from Birmingham Southern College and later did graduate work at Duke University. He jonied the U. S. State Department's Foreign Service in 1930 and since that time has compiled an impressive record in the diplomatic service.

In the earlier years of his career, Ambassador McConaughy served in Mexico, Japan, Pieping, Bolivia, and Rio de Janeiro. After his graduation from the National War College in 1947, he served as the Consular General in Shanghai and received a State Department award for his work there during the Chinese Civil War. Following service as consular general in Hong Kong and then a Director of Chinese Affairs for the Department of State, he was appointed U. S. Ambassador to Burma in 1957.

Ambassador McConaughy received his present appointment in the fall of 1959 and has been in Korea since December of last year.

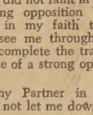
ABUNDANT LIFE



by ORAL ROBERTS

CHRIST WANTS TO BE OUR PARTNER

Christ wants to be our Partner. When we take Him "on board," things begin to change!

Once Jesus came upon Simon Peter, the fisherman, while he was mending and washing his fishing nets. The Lord challenged him to "launch out into the deep."

But Peter protested. "Master," he said, "we have toiled all the night, and have taken nothing."

Jesus said to him: "Yes, you have failed. But let me go with you this time, as your Partner."

Things changed for Peter immediately when Christ came on board. Jesus told him to cast his net into the sea once again. Peter showed faith and did as his new Partner had commanded. As a result, the net came up with a record catch of fish!

If you are not succeeding today . . . if your life is meaningless, it is because you have not taken Christ "on board."

I believe this is the taproot for much of the trouble in the world today. People just don't have Christ "on board."

When we take Christ as our Partner, we know He will help us handle any situation.

Not long ago a Wall Street financier was involved in a huge business deal—millions of dollars were at stake. He was opposed by a powerful group.

"I asked God to help," he related. "I discussed the whole deal with my wife, and she reminded me that Christ was our Partner. I put my trust in God to see me through and to overcome my enemies in this financial transaction.

"Because I did not faint in the face of strong opposition but held steady in my faith that God would see me through, I was able to complete the transaction in spite of a strong opposition.

"Christ, my Partner in all dealings, did not let me down!"

Yes, Christ as our Partner will see us through any problem that faces us. But we have to trust Him completely.

How do you get Christ to become your Partner? You don't gain His services merely by turning over a new leaf, merely by joining a church or by taking communion. You must invite Christ into your heart. And as you accept Him and believe, He comes into your heart as your Saviour and Partner.

Christ wants to be your Partner. All you have to do is ask Him to come in and help you along life's way!

FOR EDUCATIONAL IMPROVEMENTS —

Board of Education "Going Slo On Tax Spending; Here's Why

It has been the policy of the board of education to keep you, the citizens of Chilton County, informed on education's problems. The board feels that it is time again to discuss with you a problem with which we are now confronted.

As you recall, the revenue from the one-cent sales tax is to be used for the building, equipping and maintaining of schools. We are anxious to get started on some of the badly needed jobs but one of the major problems slowing us up is the failure of the one-cent sales tax to produce revenues as had been anticipated and estimated by the State Department of Revenue in Montgomry. For example, on January 20 the board of education received a letter from the State Department of Revenue in Montgomery giving a break down on sales tax collections in Chilton County for the period beginning in 1955 and ending in December 1959.

Based upon those estimates the Chilton County Board of Education should receive from the one-cent sales tax $269,380.33. This would be a monthly average of $17,448.36. Your Board of Education issued school warrants against this revenue with an obligation of approximately $12,300 per month to retire the bonder indebtedness.

In recent days the board of education received a letter from Thornton, Mohr and Farish who handled the bond issue. In the letter it was stated that for the month of March 1960 Chilton County's sales tax produced $9,780.35 as compared to the February collection of $10,111.41. The reduction in the March collection was most disturbing to the board of education, to our fiscal agent and to the State Department of Revenue in Montgomery since the three-cent sales tax for March produced $44,007.22 as compared to the February collection of $40,797.17.

It was pointed out to the board of education that the county's share reported to the state should have been more nearly one-third of the state's share. It was also pointed out that the difference or gap should have been narrowed rather than widened.

Your board of education was also advised by the fiscal agent, Thornton, Mohr and Farish, to go slow on letting major contracts for school buildings where this money is obligated until this matter can be cleared up by the State Sales Tax Department in Montgomery.

In view of the facts which you have been given, the board of education is going slow since it must always protect the go reputation of Chilton

NATIONAL HOSPITAL WEEK TO BE OBSERVED HERE

STATE OF ALABAMA

PROCLAMATION
By The Governor

WHEREAS, May 8-14, 1960, will be observed throughout the United States as National Hospital Week, and the theme for this year's observance is "The Hospital--Many Hands and Many Skills;" and

WHEREAS, in Alabama there are approximately 150 hospitals of all types employing thousands of persons from the most highly trained and skilled to those performing more routine tasks; and

WHEREAS, it now requires more than two employees per patient for a hospital to render the skilled care needed in today's modern general hospital, where on the average only 20 percent of the floor space is devoted to beds, with the remainder being used for the important services so necessary in restoring to health the sick and injured; and

WHEREAS, a hospital's many hands and many skills are available every hour of the day and every day of the year and hospitals are forced by community demands to keep pace with ever-continuing advances in medical science and to provide the hands and skills to make the advances available to those needing them; and

WHEREAS, a hospital deals in service and its service is care of the sick and injured, and for that reason it cannot standardize to the extent that industry standardizes; nor can it increase this service itrenders by automation because machines cannot take the place of skilled human hands in care of the patient; and

WHEREAS, the hospitals of Alabama are striving to meet the challenge and demand for the highest quality care to be given and supported by graduate professional nurses, practical nurses, nurse aides and orderlies, laboratory technologists and technicians; medical records librarians; pharmachists; x-ray technologists; therapists, engineers, laundry workers, housekeepers and maintenance men; dietitians, cooks and helpers, and the administrative team.

NOW, THEREFORE, I. John Patterson, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby proclaim May 8-14, 1960 as

NATIONAL HOSPITAL WEEK

and urge all citizens to observe the occasion in a fitting manner and to pay tribute to our hospitals and their workers, many of them unsung, for their part in making ours a healthier and better State.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, done at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery, on this the 19th day of April, 1960.

Spicer-Dodson Vows Said

Miss Margaret Ann Spicer became the bride of William Herbert Dodson in a double ring ceremony at 7 p.m. Friday at West End Baptist Church, Dr. J. Gilbert Hutchinson officiating. An improvised alter of Southern Smilax centered with a tall basket of white mixed flowers of glads, mums and stattice with fern and a large bow of white satin ribbon. There were identical baskets of the same flowers on either side of the arch of greenery andone in back. A palm was placed on each end of the alter. The elegant beauty of the over-all motif was reflected by the illuminated white tapers in the tall candlebrum.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Hagood Spicer of Clanton and Dr. and Mrs. William A. Dodson in Gulfport, Miss.

The center pews of the sanctuary were marked with large bows of white satin ribbon for members of the couples families and other relatives.

Nuptial preludes and traditional wedding marches were played by Mrs. Billy Gene Wyatt, organist, who accompanied Randall Veazey, as he sang, "Walk Hand in Hand" and "Because". As a feervent benediction, Mr. Veazey sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride chose for matron of honor, and only attendane, Mrs. B. L. Thorne of Jasper. She wore a Waltz-length aqua organza frock, made with shirred bodice and decollete neckline and cap sleeves. Her matching banda ufeatured a circular veil. She carried yellow roses.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her princess gown was designed with Chantilly lace, bodice and dome-shaped skirt of panels of satin and lace. The gown was designed with decollette neckline and long fitted sleeves. Her illusion finger-tipped veil was attached to a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of French carnations centered with a white orchid.

Dr. Lloyd C. Warr served his cousin as best man. Ushers were Edward Ruff of Quitman, Miss., Dr. William Patterson of Fort Mitchell, Fred Cushing of Mobile, and Robert Spicer of Demopolis, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Spicer chose for he daughter's wedding a green lace dress with matching hat and accessories and a corsage of two small cymbidium orchids.

The grooms mother wore a beige lace dress with matching hat. Her corsage was a purple orchid.

The brides parents were hosts at a reception in the church parlors immediately following the wedding.

The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. L. C. Warr, aunt of the groom. In the receiving line were Mrs. Spicer, Mrs. Dodson, the bride and groom and matron of honor, Mrs. Thorne.

The brides table was kept by Miss Ann Ford of Mobile from a table marked with a low bowl of white daises.

Wedding flowers of white with greenry were placed at vantage points in the parlors.

The triple-tiered white wedding cake was decorated with wedding bells accented with yellow and green and topped with a miniature bride and groom. The bride's table was covered with a white satin cloth overlaid with white net, and draped at each corner of the table with wedding bells. On the table a five branched silver candlebra held white burning tapers.

On the punch table was a large crystal bowl and yellow and green mints with a crystal bowl of nuts. This table was covered with a white linen cloth with yellow rosebuds for decorations.

After traditional cutting of the wedding cake it was served by old Smyer of Clanton.

Mrs. W. A. Lecroy and Mrs. Har-

Mrs. W. A. Willis presided at the punch bowl. Others assisting were Mrs. Robert Spicer of Demopolis, Miss Martha King of Atmore and Miss Caroline Dickinson of Clanton.

Miss Matildo Phillips of Tampa, Fla., played soft music on the piano during the reception.

For traveling the bride wore a suit of bone colored checked cotton with matching accessories and green hat. She wore an orchid from her corsage.

After a wedding trip to the Coast the coupel will live in Birmingham, Ala., where Mr. Dodson is a student at the Medical College of Alabama.

Local Training School Attends Council Meeting

The Student Council of Chilton County Training School sent four delegates to the annual meeting of the Alabama Association of Student Councils. The delegates motored to Lakeside High School in Decatur, Ala., April 23, 1960. They were: Dorothy Williams, President; Doro Speigner, Secretary and Mary Bell Bolding. The group was accompanied by the Principal, J. S. Parker and advisor, Mrs. Addline Parker.

The delegates and sponsor of the CCTS express sincere thanks to the principal who furnished the transportation for the group.

The Bethsalem Home Demonstration Club met April 14 in the home of Mrs. L. A. Wright with Mrs. Lane and nine members present. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. E. I. Pierce, firs the president, Mrs. J. O. McGee. vice-president in the absence of Mrs. M. Q. Yargan and Mrs. L G. Greene gave the devotional and prayer. Mrs. Lane read the story of the hymn. "Thine is the Glory" the group then sang the hymn, "The Old Rugged Cross".

Mrs. J. C. Boockholdt gave the demonstration "Understanding Ourselves". We collected our pennies for friendship. We received information on "Partlow School", the Nursing Home, the dress revue and the county trip.

The group enjoyed games and refreshments before being dismissed with the Club Creed. We will meet with Mrs. A. J. Wilkins in May.

Board of Revenue Praises Local CD Rescue Squad for Public Service

A Resolution

WHEREAS, the Chilton County Board of Revenue and Control, in meeting assembled on this the 28th day of March, 1960, adopted the following resolution by a unanimous vote by the Chairman and members of said Chilton County Board of Revenue and Control.

WHEREAS, The purpose of the Chilton County Civil Defense Rescue Squad, a voluntary organization consisting of eighty members, is to aid and assist people in time of need. Their action in the past have relieved suffering in our county, and throughout various counties in our great State of Alabama.

WHEREAS, The Chilton County Board of Revenue and Control, in appreciation of the very fine and useful activities of this dedicated group of outstanding Chilton County citizens adopt the following resolution.

BE IT RESOLVED: That we commend you, and express our sinrerest gratitude for your assistance to the people of DeKalb County in their time of distress as a result of their recent disaster in that area. This mission was beyond your call of duty and we are grateful to you for this fine spirit of assisting distressed people.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That the Chilton County Board of Revenue and Control, in further appreciation, will cooperate with the Chilton County Civil Defense Rescue Squad in the future as we have in the past, to make our good county a better and safer place to live and enjoy.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That a copy of this resolution be mailed to Mr. Burton Mullins, Civil Defense Director and Mr. Alvin Ellison, President of the Civil Defense Rescue Squad, and that said resolution be published in the newspaper of Chilton County, Alabama.

fficials Seek Suspect In Boat agedy on Lake Jordan

Jordan boating tragedy aimed two lives earlier resulted today in the charges by the Alabama nt of Conservation against sons for unlawful rental tion of a boat on public w.

nder Alabama's Water ts were filed in Elmore ourt early today against ick, operator of Black- shing Camp; Montgom- nny Perdue, renter of the Floyd Haney, operator 1-foot vessel with seven persons aboard when it capsized.

Myrick is charged with violation of Water Safety Regulation No. 9, which prohibits a boat to be rented and used without the required life jackets on board.

Perdue and Haney are also charged with violation of Regulation No. 9 by the operation of a vessel without proper safety equipment and for overloading.

The charges were filed by Conservation Officers after a thorough investigation of the last Tuesday capsize-drowning incident.

Drowned in the water mishap were Robert Haney, 18, and his 16-year-old wife, Betty, both of Montgomery.

According to Myrick, Perdue signed for rental of the homemade vessel indicating that only three persons would be aboard. Instead, seven persons entered the boat powered with a 12-HP motor without life jackets, and headed for the vicinity of Jones' Corner across the lake, a point about four miles away.

Perdue said after discovering a leak in the boat the party, then a mile from the destination, headed for shore, but was swamped by the wave of a passing boat and capsized.

A passenger, Miss Linda Ogles, reportedly swam ashore for help and directed rescuers to four other members clinging to the over turned boat.

Young Haney's bodys was recovered later in the day. Conservation Department officials, along with other searchers, continued to press an around-the-clock search for the other body which ended with discovery about noon yesterday.

Conservation Department Director William C. Younger said a preliminary investigation had failed to reveal the identity of the boat operator that reportedly caused the wake.

"We're anxous to learn the identity of this person," Younger stated, adding, "If anyone can make a positive indentification, and would swear a warrant, the Department will press charges."

Under Alabama's Water Safety Act of 1959, boat operators are to reduce the hazard of swamping.

Younger, along with Water Safety Chief Tom Shackleford who personally conducted the investigation, stated "It is clear that the tragedy would never have occurred if he safety laws had been observed."

After passage of the law in November, 1959, the State Legislature allowed until March 10, 1960, for boatment to properly register boats. required to reduce speed when crossing the path of another boat.

"Until recently we have issued only warnihg citations to violators," Younger said, "but I feel that the people have had ample time to comply with the law. Violations in the future will bring apprehension and prosecution."

Adding a final note, Younger said, "In comparsion with other states, Alabama possesses one of anywhere, and the Department intend to enforce it for the preserva- the finest water safety programs tion of safe boating."

Conviction of each violation carries a penalty of a fine of from $10.00 to $100.000 plus cost.

BARDOT AGAIN!

BRIGITTE Bardot, who has been called a little bit of everything is again making an appearance at the Clanton Drive-In Theatre in the form of "A Woman Like Satan". We don't know the plot, but is speaks pretty much for itself. Showing dates are Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, May 15, 16 and 17.

Helen Mims Writes; "A Visit We Made"

To Mound State Park, we were on our way
That beautiful, wonderful,
April day.

We jumped in the cars. What, fun we would share,
As we traveled along, no time to spare!

Some were singing, some telling jokes,
Till we stopped at a station to get some Cokes.

Then back in the cars, on our way again.
It seemed that our journey would never end.

Going along, that sun,
how it shone!
We had smiles galore, but not one small groan.

Then finally we reached great Mound State Park, Where we saw the Mound - villian mark.

We were amazed, as we entered the door,
At the ancient items of history galore.

We looked the things over and then very soon,
We were escorted to a different room.

Where, first of all, we saw
Indian bones,
Then we saw how they used tools made of stones.

We also saw how erect they stood,
How they hunted their food near the lake in the wood.

At lunch all had fun, in a shady glen
At the place where the Warrior makes a bend.

Pictures were taken, sodvenirs were bought
For mothers and fathers, with some nice thought.

But alas we could not stay
there all day,
We must visit Smith Hall, too, on our way.

So after climbing the mounds up and down,
We headed there fast, right down through the town.
Inside there we saw a dinosaur foot
And some animals with fur black as soot.

We looked at the beautifully colored rock
Til it was time to ride
'round the block.

To see other sights on that campus fair,
The Gorgas home, other buildings there.

We all got settled and headed for home;;
But a trip like that, we'll never bemoan.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to our many friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy shown during the illness and death of our father and husband, Ed Wagoner. We especially wish to thank Dr. Hutchinson and Rev. Kimbrough for their kind words, also the ladies for the abundance of food.--The Wagoner family. 18-1tp

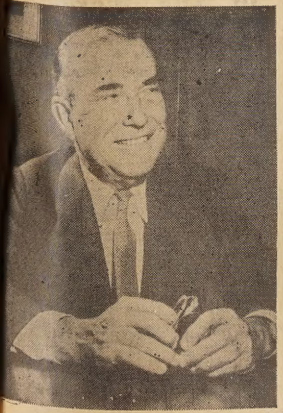
A Leading Banker
Speaks About Better-than-ever
U.S. Savings Bonds



"THE American Bankers Association has once again pledged vigorous support of the U.S. Savings Bonds program as an essential part of good Federal debt management. The encouragement of thrift, in all forms, is to the direct advantage of every financial institution and of the nation. America needs more savings, more thrifty families.

"The nation's bankers have long appreciated the value of the Bond program, and have given it consistent support. We approve the new, more liberal terms which apply to both new Bonds and old. We will continue to help our country, our customers and our communities by promoting and selling U.S. Savings Bonds—now better than ever.

"We bankers value our customers' faith in our financial judgment and, therefore, exercise extreme care in giving advice. But we need never hesitate to advise our customers to buy and hold U.S. Savings Bonds."

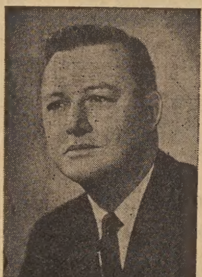
To The People Of The Sixth District:



To each of you I want to express heartfelt appreciation for the confidence you have shown by re-nominating me without opposition to a fifth term as your congressman.

As we enter into a new decade -- one which will present great challenges, as well as opportunities, to our district, our state, and our nation-- my sincere intention will remain, as it has been in past years, to render faithful and efficient service in your interest.

As your representative in Congress, I shall continue to invite your suggestions on all public matters, large and small. My offices, both in Tuscaloosa and in Washington, have been and shall remain open to serve you throughout the year.

When Congress adjourns, I plan to visit each of the counties in our district. I look forward to the opportunity of personally seeing as many of you as possible a that time.

Gratefully yours,

SITES CHOSEN FOR 128-UNIT HOUSING PROJECT

FINAL approval of sites for two new low-rent Housing projects for Clanton was completed this week by action of the City Council, local Clanton Housing Authority, and the Public Housing Administration Atlanta Regional office. The Negro project will be located on a tract of approximately 13 acres, known as the J. Lee Smith property, situated just north of the Clanton Colored Elementary School. Forty-eight units will be built on this site, ranging from one to five bed-room sizes, all one story, single and duplex units.

Site For White Units

The site for the white project will be located on what is known as the Watt Willis property, located just north of the Quick Freeze plant in North Clanton and will be approximaely 18 acres in size.

80 White Units

Eighty units will be built on this site, also ranging from one to five bed-room sizes, one story, single and duplex units.

Utility improvements at both sites will consist of instaling water, sewer and gas lines, storm sewers, paving of all streets complete with curb and gutter, on all the streets on which the units will be built.

Latest Material & Design

Construction will be masonry and latest design and materials will be used which will be an attractive in appearance and durable in upkeep.

Contracts To Be Let

It is hoped that plans will be completed and contracts let by November of this year, construction to be completed by fall of 1961.

This program is administered by a local Board of five Commissioners through their Executive--Drector, William E. Reid, to provide decent, safe sanitary low-rent housing to families of low-income.

Financing By Bond Issue

Financing will be handled by a bond issue, which will be underwritten by the Federal Government. As the project progresses, releases will be made through the local papers and radio.

Parrish Shoots Young Girl, Then Takes Own Life With Pistol

CLIFTON Parrish killed Mrs. Sue Langston late Monday night and then turned the gun on himself and committed suicide. Parrish who was 48 years old had been a member of the Clanton Police Department for several years. He was working the night shift at the time of his death.

The tragedy occured south of Clanton about two and a half miles, just in front of the new home built by Reymnd Hamilton. After fatally injuring the woman Parrish drove up the highway toward Clanton about three hundred yards before stopping his car and then killing himself. An eye witness, Mavis Hinds, of Alexander City said that Mrs. Langston had asked Parrish to stop following her and the two were walking back to get in their automobile when she was shot. She was 26 years old.

Mavis Hinds walked to the Cloverleaf Motel and called for help. Martins ambulance answered the call.

FOR SERVICE —

Miss Jones Honored By Southern Bell

MISS Frances Jones, Chief Operator for Southern Bell at Clanton, was recently honored for her long and royal service to the Company. Miss Jones attended a dinner at the Whitley Hotel in Montgomery, the company's district headquarters for this area, where she and eight other employees were presented service pins.

Miss Jones began work with the telephone organization on March 16, 1935 in the traffic department at Wetumpka, Alabama. After spending the early part of her career in Wetumpka, she transferred to Montgomery in April, 1939. In October, 1949 Miss Jones was promoted to Evening Chief Operator at Clanton and in August, 1951 she was promoted to Chief Operator, which position she still holds.

In recognition of her long and loyal service to the Company and to subscribers, Miss Jones received a gold pin containing five stars, one for each five-year period of her service.

East-West Game At City Park Sunday, 15th.

LIONS Clubs of Clanton, Maplesville, and Thorsby - Jemison cordially invite everyone to attend the Seventh Annual Boy's East-West Baseball Game which will be played in Clanton City Park next Sunday afternoon beginning at 2:15 P.M. The first game of the double header will feature visiting players from East & West with tentative line-ups as follows:

For the East -- From Alex City, John Storey, Glenn Gilbert, Gerald Queen, and Joe Bob Mitchell, the son of the old time Auburn halfback & pitcher; from Columbiana, Joel Lovett, Earl Tyus--formerly of Clanton, & Jimmy Blalock; from Jemison, Donnie Guy, Dick Northcutt and Gene Sorrell; from Thompson High of Siluria, Jerry Busby, Billy Joe Braswell, and Skipper Ward; from Marbury, Donald Hand; From Vincent, Gillard Green and Gary Garrett.

West Squad

For the West Squad from Billinghley comes James Rhodes and Clark Billingsley; from Calera, Phil Findley, Bobby Parks, Larry Gay, and Bobby Godfrey; from Indian Springs we will have Kenny Goldstein; from Montevallo, Danny Thornton, George Underwood, Larry Pickett, and Reauben Hayes -- all these boys are familiar to local sports fans; from West Blocton we have Kenneth Broadhead, Louie Wade, Ken Reach; from Verbena there will be Earl Girffin and Kenneth Scarbrough.

15 To Be Picked

Big league scouts will chose the 15 best from both these squads and they will play the strong Chilton County High aggregation which features the strong arm pitching of Clay Carroll, and some hefty stick work by Elliott Monroe, John Will Wyatt and Clarkie Hutchinson along with the slick fielding of Warren Edwards and company. CCHS is undefeated as of now and will give a good account Sunday.

Just as always, the price of admission is $1.00 and the same ticket will get you in the Birmingham game. All profits go to Alabama sight.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

from The Bible

Who can have compassion on the ignorant, and on them that are out of the way; for that he himself also is compassed with infirmity— (Hebrews 5:2)

Which of us, being human, is without fault, or weakness, or error? When we have found the road to everlasting peace and content through goodness, should we not point the way to the wandering and the lost? There, we should say daily, but for the Grace of God, go I.

A study compiled by The Travelers Insurance Companies shows that speed was responsible for 12,980 traffic deaths in 1960 -- more than 43 percent of the total.

FOUR ESCAPEES BACK 'HOME'

THE four convcts who escaped the Chilton County Jail last Saturday night have been caught at Grove Hill, Ala., and returned here.

The men were identified as Horace Minor, Harold Watts, Charles Knight and William Boswell.

'Father - Son' Meeting Of Babe Ruthers

THURSDAY, May 12 at 7:30 p.m. the Babe Ruth League will hold a father-son meeting at the City Hall in Clanton. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss plans for this year so any boy 13 to 15 years old interested in playing the game should be at this meeting. . and bring Dad along, too!

May Proclaimed As Water System Month

How much water does a family need?

Fifty gallons per adult per day is the average. This will take care of laundry, kitchen, bath, and toilet for one adult. If there are babies under two years of age in the family, 100 gallons per baby per day will fill the need.

And since May has been proclaimed Water Systems Month, the wise homemaker would do well to check out the water system in her home. There are many added needs for water in the home of today, and your water system should take care of these in a modern, convenient way. If it doesn't see your county or home agent for new plans and information.

Bobby Wins Two In Row

BOBBY O'Neal, 14, of Stanton can feel mighty proud of himself. This is the second year that he has won a Birmingham News - Post-Herald prize calf award. He won Chilton County Grand Champion with his 1050 pound Angus this year which gave him this award.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl O'Neal of Stanton. He has been showing in county and state shows for 4 years.

For 15 years, The Birmingham News - Post-Herald and Stations WAPI and WAPI-TV have been awarding these prizes. The number of awards now totals 313, representing an investment of $31,300 in young Alabama farm boys and girls. The purpose of the awards is to stimulate interest in cattle raisisg throughout Alabama.

This year's Birmingham Show was one of the largest ever with 25 counties represented. The cattle were very high quality, too. With a total of 28' fat calves, they rated 11 prime, 168 choice, and 104 good. They sold for a total of $77,236.36.

All winning youngsters, with their families and advisors, will come to Birmingham this summer for a big barbecue party put on by the Birmingham News - Post-Herald - WAPI. They will hear talks by business and agricultural leaders, see wonderful entertainment, and get their calf prize at the party.

NEWS OF — SHILOH

Rev. A. V. Bice, pastor

We enjoyed the message last Sunday brought by Rev. O. L. Deavers, and invite him to preach again for us when he can.

Our pastor urges everyone to attend church next Sunday with their mother. There is no better place for toggtherness and let's honor her on this Mother's day by attending church services with her.

The date set for our Vacation Bible School is Monday, May 23. The time and workers will be announced later. Make your plans to attend.

Work will begin on the church soon. Some changes will be made on the front of the building. We hope to complete this work and get new pews this summer. Make your contributions and pledges as soon as you can. Any help will be greatly appreciated.

Our Visiting

Mrs. E. G. Mullins and Hazel, Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Patterson and Kenneth visited Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Devaughn and Nancy in Birmingham last Sunday. The occasion was a birthday dinner honoring Nancy on her fourth birthday.

Miss Kathleen Kendrick was hostess to a party last Saturday night at her home honoring her sister, Olive of Thorsby on her 18th birthday. At the close of the party refreshments were served to 27 guests who departed wishing Olive many more happy birthdays.

Mr. and Mrs. Cary Mullins and family were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Bice and children of Prattville.

Spend-the-day guests of Mrs. Earthie Carter Friday were Mrs. Charlie Stroud and Mrs. Nellie Hathcock of Bethslehem.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Owen were dinner guests of the C. L. Owen family of Maplesville last Sunday.

Sunday dinner guests of the L. T. Kendrick family were Harold and Kenneth Mullins, James and Junior Dobbs and William T. Carter.

Rev. and Mrs. J. I. Bice were guest of the Rev. O. L. Deavers family Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kendrick and family visted Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chandler of Bessemer last Sunday.

Week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Culp were the Hollis Williams family of Selma, the Carl Culp family of Montgomery, Mrs. Bobby Durbin and son, Mr. and Mrs. James Maddox and Mrs. Keith, Rickey and Randy Waston of Birmingham, Mrs. Clyde Foshee and Leroy and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Mims ann Brenda of Clanton.

Miss Carol Smith of Birmingham visited Miss Helen Carter over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Dobbs of Prattville visited relatives here on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Owens attended the William's family reunion at the Veteran's Club Sunday.

Mrs. William Hill of Highland spent Tuesday with Mrs. Billy Carter.

nton Baseballers Remain defeated In Seven Games

Wayne Atcheson

lton County High School main undefeated through seven games this seas-arroll's brilliant six-hitter ee on April 26 gave the eir sixth victory.

lowing Thursday, Clanton district championship over le 6 to 3.

The game with Lee was a big one for the Tigers.

Mims Hits Home Run

Kenneth Mims hit the first pitch for a home run. A double by Clarkie Hutchinson and single by Clay Carroll and Buddy Vines gave Clanton a 3 to 0 lead after one inning.

Two more singels in the fourth by Vines and Warren Edwards, and two sacrifices netted the score at 4 to 0.

Wyatt Hit 2 Home Runs

John Will Wyatt, who hit a home run against Lee last year, hit a two run homer in the sixth to add insurance to the lead.

Lee scored in the fourth on Jim Crysel's single and Reese Carr's double.

The Generals scored their second and final run in the next inning on a single and an error on the left fielder.

The final score read the Tigers 6 ,and the Generals 2.

Clanton's First Double Play

Carrol got himself into two jams during the game. Lee threatened in the third with two straight singles, but the Tigers first double play of the season put the fire out.

The Generals loaded them up in the sixth but Carroll ogt out of trouble by forcing a Lee man to pop up to the first sacker.

Clanton - Autaugaville

The following Thursday Clanton played Autaugaville for the district crown and won 6 to 3.

Keith Mims, making his first appearance as a pitcher, was given credit for the victory.

Mims relieved Carroll in the fourth.

Game Rained Out

The Tigers were scheduled to play Lee last Thursday but was rained out. Rain prohibited the game Friday also.

Clanton played Selma yesterday and will play the Montgomery County Champions (Lee or Lanier) today or tomorrow.

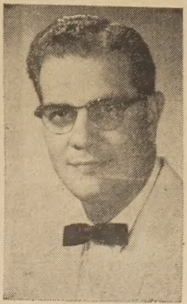
New Director For Plant Food Institute



Dr. R. L. Beacher

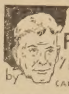
Dr. Robert L. Beacher, well - known soil scientist, today was named Southern Regional Director of the National Plant Food Institute, with headquarters at Atlanta, Ga.

Formerly Southwestern Regional Director for the Institute, Dr. Beacher's region has been expanded to cover 12 states as follows: Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, ,Texas, and Virginia. He succeeds Dr. Samuel L. Tisdale, now with the Sulphur Institute.

Dr. Beacher was a Professor of Agronomy at the University of Arkansas before joining the Institute staff in 1957.

Cars that ran away -- with no driver behind the wheel -- killed 30 people in the United States last year, according to a report released by The Travelers Insurance Companies.

Sunday afternoon Clanton will play the East-West All Stars at the City Park.



FROM MY FRONT PORCH

'I Watch the World Go By'

by CARL HELM

The somewhat alarming word is out that derby hats are coming back!

They've been gone from the American scene for so long that two generations have grown up without ever seeing one in, or on, person.

Derbies seem to have originated in England, and the English — who call them "bowlers" for reasons of their own — clung to them through a couple of wars and a depression, through air raids and bombs.

A hardy breed, the English, who pride themselves that nothing — well, practically nothing — fazes them. In London, at least, they wear striped pants and pearl-gray spats, as well as derbies, in their daily rounds. But, then, they also carry tightly rolled umbrellas at even the hint of a shower, and sport canes for a stroll in the sun.

In our land, however, not even the hardiest dude or dandy has been bold enough to appear in public wearing a derby for a long, long time. They show up once in a while in musical plays of stage or screen, on song and dance men, just as they survived for years on the vaudeville boards. Western movies often depict derbied characters who are up to no good, but a hero in a "hard hat" is almost unknown.

The word that derbies are coming back comes out of New York — where else? Quite a few already have appeared on the streets there without causing a riot. And if derbies come, can spats be far behind?

Studies by The Travelers Insurance Companies show that driver error caused 85 percent of the highway accidents in 1959.

TO THE VOTERS:

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the voters of iDstrict 3 of Chilton County, Alabama for the splendid vote and support you gave me in the May 3rd primary.

I want to advise you that in making my original campaign for member of the Board of Revenue and Control I promised you, the voters that if I were in a run-off with my opponent Mr. Motley, that I would give you the privilege of voting a second time on May 31st and at this time I seek your continued support and ask that anything that you can do for me would be greatly appreciated.

Thanking you again for the splendid vote and encouragement you gave me I am your candidate for member of the Board of Revenue and Control in the May 31st primary, signed

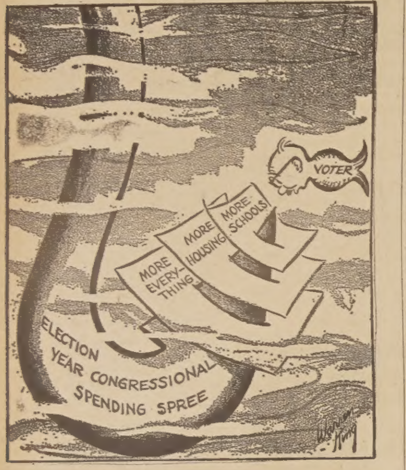
SUCKER BAIT



Fishing for Votes --

ON the banks of the Potomac these sunny days members of Congress are cutting up the bait they will use in fishing for votes later in the season.

Many of them, apparently, feel the best way to entice voters is with big spending programs that include something for everybody. And to education, postal and civil service pay increases, aid to depressed areas, aid to housing, health insurance for people over 65, benefits for post-Korea veterans—these are the programs with which the legislators hope to pull in the votes.

Expensive bait it is, too. These are no one-shot projects that can be paid for and done with. These are continuing programs that will add billions of dollars to American tax bills, not just next year, but every year afterward.

Many Congressmen seem to think that the voters will forget—as they have done before—that these programs must be paid for in taxes and that the people who pay taxes are the same ones who vote.

It's an odd situation when fishermen expect the fish to pay for the bait.

A Federal Case? --

Robberies took place last night in Waukeegan, Montgomery, Santa Rosa, Portland. There were muggings in Helena, Richmond, Phoenix and Indianapolis. Assaults, thefts and murders occurred in hundreds of other places.

Obviously crime is a nationwide problem. Since local efforts haven't stopped it, maybe Congress should step in and set up a Federal program to take care of the situation.

This reasoning makes the same kind of sense as that behind the controversial Forand bill. In hundreds of places across the United States there are indigent old people who need medical care. Despite public and private efforts at state and local levels, the problem exists. Therefore, say the Forand bill supporters, the federal government should step in.

We say this problem, like crime, is one for the local communities to handle. They may never solve it completely, but they'll come a whole lot closer than an expensive, bureaucratic, red tape ensnarled effort by the federal government.

THINGS We see and hear

by BOB

SOME folks must not ever make mistakes We base this conclusion on the fact that they always think we're such fools when we make one!

THERE is no guarantee that copy left at one newspaper will be published in another. It isn't that we newspaper people are bad to one another, it's just that we have a hard time handling the volume of copy which we ourselves receive without trying to keep up with our competitor's copy also. This week we received copy from Mrs. M. .W. Mims concerning the Mt. Carmel HD Club meetings of January ond February of this year. Mrs. Mims likely thinks that we didn't publish her news release on purpose, but we didn't even receive it until now, three months later. Unless we get copy into our hands, please don't expect us to print it. We do not leave your news out purposely, but when it is left to chance, chances are good that it will not appear in print. Much obliged for your cooperation.

AND speaking of mistakes, up there a ways, somebody made one last week and we haven't found the culprit yet! The article headed "Thanks From The Kiwanis Club" which ran in last week's news should have read "Thanks From The Civitans". It was an honest mistake made by somebody, but we can't find anyone who will admit it. Grady Popwell and the gang blame it on us, but we already get blamed for every mistake we ourselves make and we're sure not going to confess to those we had nothing to do with. Somebody turned in a false alarm to us and if it wasn't a mistake all we can say is the Clanton Kiwanis Club has the best darned publicity man we've ever seen! Anyway, officially the' credit should go to the Civitans who did a marvelous job of the project and also did a fine community service. You'll find the corrected "advertisement" below:

Thanks From Civitan Club

THE Clanton Civitan Club wishes to thank one and all for their help in promoting the Livestock Show recently. It was deeply appreciated by the members.

Those who contributed, but were not listed last week were Clanton Motors, Ray's TV, Speaks & Burnett, Dixie Super Store, Chilco Quick Freeze, Clanton Dairy Queen, William Thomas Tire Co., Barber Pure Milk Co., Bank of Maplesville, Graham Lumber Co., Farm Bureau Ins., Stokes Chevrolet Co., Tom's Toasted Peanuts, Maplesville Miling Co., Higginbotham Dairy, Millard Reynolds, Williams Oil Co., Pepsi Cola Bottling Co., Frosty Morn furnished the prizes for the heavy beef show and Barber Milk Co., the 4-H Judging team.

WE have never seen a more industrious bunch of gentlemen than those who are pitching in and putting together the new and altogether modern Masonic Temple here in Clanton. You don't hear much from those masons, but they always told us that the fellow who said the least got the most work done. When they dumped all those concrete blocks up there we thought someone had overshot the order, but they've gotten them all in place in one way or another and the building is taking on shape mighty fast. We can't congratulate them for a good job until they're finished, but if effort and hard work means as much in that undertaking as it does in most other endeavors they are going to have a fine structure, one which Clanton and Chilton County can be proud of.

AS usually happens, the upcoming primary election is going to be a battle royal between parties rather than between candidates. Nothing in particular wrong with this except they either ought to change the name of the proceedings or they should not allow mixed flag colors in a Democratic Primary. If you don't know who the Democratic candidates are in the May 31st primary, we suggest you watch your newspaper and determine before you go to the polls and cast your vote. In our opinion, it's important that you know!

ANYBODY sees a tomcat roaming around don't throw a shoe at him, he's mine! Let me know will ya. . . he's every bit of five weeks old!

50 YEARS OF HUMOR

A group of us used to have a fiction writer's club in Birmingham. Members of the group had all sold stories to the magazines, the organization springing up at the instigation of Octavus Roy Cohen at the time he was fashioning his famed stories for the Saturday evening Post. He had made a success of writng and pluggng and he insisted that any one could do the same if he kept at it long enough and had a little wise counsel on the side.

He named the outfit "The Loafers". We worked on some of the stories he was writing for the Post, and we, in turn had potential yarns up for discussion and approval. From time to time some well known author from another part of America would drop in on us from Denver. He said, among other things: "Can't understand it, the same story I used to write and sell to Blue Book for fifty dollars. I am now selling to Red Book for a thousand dollars". Roy replied: "Not the same story at all, Coop. It seems like that to you, but without knowing it, your writing has improved twenty fold as the years rolled on."

Mr. Cohn brought up the greatest short short ever written. Cooper said that so far as he was concerned it went like this: "Man seated in a desolate park, tossed a magazine aside. I don't believe in ghosts, he said to a bench neighbor. 'You don't?' replied the other, vanishing."

Cohen always voted for "Algy met a bear. The bar was bulgy. The bulge was Algy."

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

The Democratic liberal bloc won a substantial victory last week when the Area Redevelopment Act was passed in spite of lengthy delaying tactics by a coalition of Southern Democrats and Republicans in the House of Representatives.

The bill, which authorizes government loans totaling $251 million for depressed areas, passed the House by a margin of only 17 votes. It was later passed by the Senate on a 45 to 32 vote and sent to the White House There it faces a possible veto.

Originally designed to alleviate an expected economic depression which never materialized, the measure had remained in the Rules Committee since last year: Liberal supporters of the bill finally employed an unusual parliamentary procedure to bypass the Rules Committee and bring the legislation to the House for consideration. Other parliamentary devices were used by the House for consideration. Other parliamentary devices were used by the opposing forces in an unsuccessful effort to prevent passage of the bill.

Eligibility Criteria

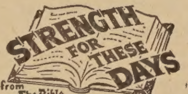
The criteria for designaton of depressed areas was criticized strongly during debate on the bill. It was pointed out that when the measure was first reported by the commttee about a year ago, 32 major industrial areas would have qualified for assistance. New figures indicates, however, that 44 industrial areas will qualify now, despite the fact that almost all the major industrial areas in the United States shown an increase in employment over that of a year ago.

It was also argued that, under the criteria of the bill, entire states could be declared depressed areas for industrial redevelopment purposes. Because of their heavy industrial concentration, states in the Northeast would be most likely to fall in this caegory.

One of the principal reasons that a majority of Southern Democrats voted against the measure was the belief that under the legislation federal funds might be used to prevent or curb the movement of industry to the South.

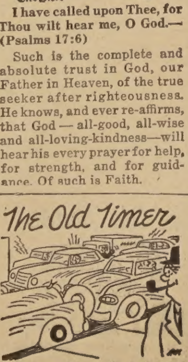
Defense Funds

With only three negative votes, House members also approved last week a Defense Department Appropriations Bill that provides funds totaling $39.3 billion for fiscal year 1961. This appropriaton is $104 million more than the amount approved for the current year and is $3 million over the budget request. Most of the extra funds are for missiles, planes, submarines satellites, and modernization programs of the Army. However, the bill directs that military travel and civilian payrolls be decreased and that efforts be made to stop wasteful spending in procurement.



I have called upon Thee, for Thou wilt hear me, O God.— (Psalms 17:6)

Such is the complete and absolute trust in God, our Father in Heaven, of the true seeker after righteousness. He knows, and ever re-affirms, that God — all-good, all-wise and all-loving-kindness—will hear his every prayer for help, for strength, and for guidance. Of such is Faith.



"One thing that keeps America on the move is the lack of parking space."

Power for Peace Is Theme Armed Forces Week

Our local Armed Forces Day will be Saturday, May 21, 1960. Further information will appear in next week's edition on our program for the Clanton area. Meanwhile it is desired to announce to the public some information as to the purposes of the celebration of Armed Forces Week which is culminated by celebration of the Armed Forces Day which is the last day of Armed Forces Week. Nationwide observance of Armed Forces Week is May 14 thru May 21.

Each year during the past decade, the active and reserve components of our Armed Forces have joined with civil authorities and community leaders to give our citizens and people of other countries an opportunity to become better acquinted with the military aspects of our national strength. This opportunity is offered on Armed Forces Day. It is America's hope and purpose to work continually toward peaceful adjustment of international differences, and it is fitting that Armed Forces Day again emphasize the fact that our strength is dedicated to keeping the peace.

It is one of the tragic ironies of history that the United States, with it's vast potential for contributing direct, far-reaching benefits to the present and the future, must divert so much of it's national wealth and energy to the implements and implications of war.

How long this situation will pertain no one can predict with certainty. It is sensible to assume that it will endure until faith, honor, and integrity are added to the lexicons of nations other than those that comprise the free world.

Therefore we Americans believe in this year celebration of Armed Forces Week, that we have a most appropriate slogan: it is "Power for Peace". Every effort is going to be exerted within limits imposed for security reasons, to inform the public about work military and civilian organizations are doing for our national defense to make us a "Power for Peace". More information will appear in this paper next week about our local celebration, and we believe we have an interesting and informative program set up for Clanton and Chilton County.

IMPORTANCE OF WATER

A camel can go for long periods without drinking water, and some studies inciate these beasts of burden of the desert have gone 60 days without a drink. In the same desert areas, a man without water could die on the second day. Scientists studying the camel kept one animal in the direct summer sun in the oasis Beni Abbes in the Sahara Desert of southern Algeria for 17 days. During this time, the animal placidly ate dry dates and hay, seemingly unconcerned that it had no water to drink. Even though it lost 37 pounds by dehydration, the camel recovered without any ill effects when given its fill of water. One explanation is that the camel loses water at a low rate.

Another partial explanation is that the camel's temperature increases during the hot day, and this accumulation of body heat can be dissipated during the cooler part of the night. The camel's ability to store heat permits a marked reduction in his requrement for water, which man requires for evaporative cooling purposes. Humans have been known to live as long as eleven days without water. Since water is essential to the metabolism of food, death occurs more quickly if a regular diet is taken with no water.

Approximately two-thirds of the body weight is water, with the plasma of the blood at least 90 percent water and the cortex of he brain 85 per cent water. Water is the nearest thing there is to a universal solvent, for it will dissolve more materials than any other pure liquid. Life processes depent on water in cells and in all body fluids.

To have 10 per cent too little water in the body is a serious condition, and to lack 20pearcent usually means death. Thirst is one of the instinctive promptings to self preservation.

When purchasing nuts, remember that the ones in vacuum packed cans maintain a fresher flavor longer that those packaged in cellophane.

Know Your Local Hospit

"The patient's recovery in the hospital today is aided by many and many skills that never emerge from behind the scenes".

While the patient is well aware of the care of nurses, docto technicians who come to the bedside, there are many others nev by him who also contribute to his recovery.

For each hospital patient, food is cooked to meet his special complete records of his care and progress are kept up to date are processed to high hospital standards; laboratory tests are x-rays films developed by skilled workers; supplies are kept i ness, and equipment maintained in constant order. All of these t performed by people whom the patient rarely sees.

It is important for the community to understand that payro for personnel account for the major part of the total hospit and they increase as services are increased. Also, while aut can and does cut personnel costs in industry, it cannot do s hospital to any great extent. Hospitals use machines whereve ble, but most hospital services must still be performed by peo tient care cannot be standardized, but must be adjusted to each needs.

Chilton County Hospital is joining with other hospitals through country in obeserving National Hospital Week, May 8-15. Thi theme - 'The Hospital-Many Hands and Many Skills', emphas role of hospital personnel in the patient's recovery.

Included in the week's activities will be an "Open House" fe a tour of the hospital. Open House will be on Sunday afternoo 15th from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. Everyone is invited to come out an a good look at your hospital.

A COUPLE OF NEW POLICIE

OVER the years new policies are necessa due to the progress of a business in the com munity.

In the past the News has always given subscriber the benefit of the doubt when tim to re-new a subscription came around and ofte times would send the paper several month after the subscription had expired. Most the time, in fact, 90 percent of the time the su scriber was very appreciative that we sent t paper on to him until he could get by the offi and catch up.

Since we have had our representatives M Apperson and Mrs. McAfee out in the vario communities it has been brought to our atten tion that some of our subscribers are takin advantage of this "grace period" and extendi it as far as the paper will allow it.

We most assuredly want every subscrib we have and twice as many new ones, but cannot continue to send the paper for nothi Our circulation is based on PAID subscripti and we cannot afford to send the paper and be able to count it in the paid up lot.

The New Policy --

Thirty days fram the time our repres tative contacts you or we contact you throu the mail your paper will be discontinued unle it is brought to date.....As we said, too ma folks are obviously taking advantage of c faith in them and using it as a free ride.....Thi days is the new extension period. Please serve it.

It has also been the policy of the News some time now, to send "Adv." copies of paper to advertisers. Some of these are o extended also and the new policy which is taking effect will be: "Adv." copies will sent to all businesses which advertise on more times during any month. Those wh not advertise at least once every four w will not receive the paper regularly unless subscribe, but will receive the issue in w their advertisement appears. This polic necessary to keep out mailing list complete up to date.

The News is not establishing these po to be "nasty", we merely cannot operate w out a system and this is to be that system.

We are always anxious to help any ton Countian, be you an individual or a ness concern. If our services can help yo some way, let us know. We are know "Your Alert Community Newspaper" and are determined to live up to that title, whic think is most gratifying.

holds more magic than of the Prom, with a lot ghter, excitement, beautinge of sadness, with ly memories.

end of the spacious room rellas formed of ivy and vari colored carnations, accented the theme, "April Showers".

The stage represented a woodland, with a boy and girl statue overlooking the scene.

The honored guests and their dates were received by the juniors as they entered through a beautiful arch, created of pink and blue carnations entwined with ivy.

As John Hall Smith, vice-president of the Senior class, with his date, Miss Martha Jo Willis, walked through the arch, Mss Linda Gail Burnette, vice-president of the Junior class, presented Miss Willis with a bouquet of red roses and Miss Burnette with Franklin Johnson, president of the Junior class, introduced the seniors and their dates, as they led out for the dance.

A basket of pink and blue carnations was used to decorate one end of the linen covered refreshment table. A crystal punch bowl, ornamented at the base with fern and scattered snaps, was on the other end. White candles in crystal holders completed the decorations.

White candles in crystal holders were used on small tables for groups. Nuts, mints, small iced cakes and punch was served.

To complete the evening of delightful entertainment, there was the orchestra from Thompson High School, Siluria to furnish the dance music.

SHOULTS

Mrs. Robt. McAfee — Phone 62397

Pastor, Rev. E. C. Hand

We sure did enjoy the wonderful sermon Bro. Hand brought us on Sunday from Acts 9:36-43. Subject, A Good Woman.

Sunday night he preached from Joshua 1st Chapter. Subject Be Strong and of good Courage. The Lord tells us not to forsake the assembling of ourselves together. So please come to church. The Harvest is white and the labors are few. We as Christians should serve God out of a heart of love and not of a sense of duty. We live above the law, that is in the realm of grace, and not by the law. If we act out of a sense of duty we limit our efforts, but when we serve because we love there are no limits to what we will do for those in our affection.

Please don't forget our homecoming at Pleasant Grove No. Two the 5th Sunday in May. We urge all former pastors to be present. All singers are invited.

Mr. Harvey Grover will lead our prayer service next Sunday night. Everyone come on out, it starts at 7 o'clock. Btu follows.

Vacation Bible School

Vacation Bible School will begin the 6th of June and continue on through the 10. We want every child in the community to attend this school. Mrs. Marjorie Smith will be the principal. Rev. E. C. Hawaiian Dessert For Spring

"Sweeter than springtime" might well describe the jellied pineapple dessert, shown here. The delicately sweet flavor and light texture of this eye-catching dessert makes it especially welcome with Spring in the air.

This golden beauty is simple to make—and simply wonderful to taste. Lemon-flavored carbonated beverage (the calorie-free variety), cinnamon and cloves give the dessert jelly its tantalizingly different flavor. Sucaryl, the non-calorie sweetener, is responsible for its delicious, natural-tasting sweetness, and at the same time holds calories down to a minimum. Just with the help of this sweetener, calories have been whittled to a mere 39 calories per serving (less than half the count when sweetened in the usual way).

Spiced Pineapple Jelly
(A Low-Calorie Dessert)

3 tablespoons (or envelopes) unflavored gelatin
1 tablespoon Sucaryl solution
1¾ cups pineapple juice
1 stick cinnamon
4 whole cloves
1¾ cups lemon-flavored, non-caloric carbonated beverage

Soften gelatin in Sucaryl and ½ cup of the pineapple juice. Heat remaining juice with spices. Remove spices and add juice to softened gelatin, stirring to dissolve. Add carbonated beverage; pour into a 3-cup mold and chill until firm.

Makes 8 servings. Each serving contains 39 Calories; 3.5 grams protein; 0 fat; 7 grams carbohydrate. If made with sugar, each serving would contain 87 Calories.

JR. - SR. PROM GREAT SUCCESS

The annual Junior and Senior Prom of the Chilton County High School was held at the Armory on Friday night May 6.

The setting was a big Southern Mansion and the theme was "An Old South Ball", at the entrance was an arch of greenery and roses. The mansion was decorated with roses and ivy.

The announcer for the program was James Harris. Miss Miriam Golden sang the theme song, Summertime, accompanied by Mrs. Lyle Rae. Martha Sudduth did a ballet by a recording. A comic skit on the Old South was presented by Mrs. Harold Lawrence and Mr Watson Yeager. Another interesting feature of the party was the fish pond.

The Seniors led out in the dance. The couples were called out by the announcer. One of the most attractive places around the old mansion was the swing which was decorated in greenry and red roses.

Pictures were made of the couples at the swing. Each table was centered with an individual candle circled wth greenry, holding a single red rose.

On the serving table were two punch bowls and in the center of the table was an arrangement of blue and white, Sr. class colors, consisting of white snap dragons and blue iris.

Refreshments of punch, cookies and nuts were served by the 10th grade girls.

Mr. Willie Brown made the mansion which was decorated by Mrs Russell P. Shelton and Mrs. George Tucker. Those helping with the refreshments were: Mrs. James Wade, Mrs. Leroy Martin, Mrs. W. C. Golden and Mrs. Marcus Polk, Jr.

Most of the faculty and many of the parents were spectators. Around 400 people attended this affair.

Cemetery Cleaning

The date set for working on the cemetery and church grounds is Thursday, May 19. Unless rain gets crops too wet to work before that date. If so, don't go fishing, but come and do this work while it is to wet to farm.

We are looking forward to seeing you at our homecoming and singing May 29th.

Overgrazed Pastures Mean Hungry Cows

The most serious pasture problem in Alabama is overgrazing.

Cattlement shoulid take a look at their management practices to see why their pastures are overgrazed.

Cows should not graze on a newly established pasture until upright grasses are from four to six inches high and creeping grasses have a well formed sod. Also, don't put too many cows on the pasture. One cow to the acre is a good number to work toward, but in most cases it is wise to allow more.

Soil fertility is another key to overgrazed pastures. And if high yields are aexpected from pasture plants, annual fertilizers are necessary. Too, keep weeds down because they will take up the plant food.

STUDY CLUB HAS ENJOYABLE MEET ON "ALABAMA"

The Study Club met on Friday, May 6, 1960, with Mrs. L. H. Bodden as hostess. Specimen roses and other spring flowers gave a lovely setting for the meeting.

Reading of the Collect opened a half hour business session presided over by Mrs. Harc . Lawrence president.

The Club gave an annual donation of $5.00 each to recent drives of Cancer, Heart and Crippled Children of Chilton County.

This marks the class of another year of adhievements. Mrs. Lawrence graciously thanked her executive board, committees and all members for their loyalty and support so generously accorded her as president for the past two years.

Climaxing a season of programs on "Alabama" that have been most interesting and have pushed out over boundaries of knowledge of our great state, have been topics on "History, Fine Arts, Education, Industrial Education and the closing program". "Alabama a Scenie Playground". Mrs. Grady Heflin in charge. She introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Frank Haynes, Informative Specialist of the State Department of Conservation. Mr. Haynes is a source of information on Alabama as his title suggests. He gave out booklets for all on "Know Your Trees' Fish and Wild Life of Alabama", also other interesting information. He spoke briefly on how the state rates in minerals, industries, waterways forestry and many other.

If one is in quest of architecture or hostoric interest, you will be disappointed. If you have leisure the states, 67 counties will unfold themselves in whatever riches they possess. Mr. Haynes planted a keen desire in he listeners to see and know our state better.

The hostess served 16 members and a large number of guests a delicious salad plate.

FROM MY FRONT PORCH

'I Watch the World Go By'

by CARL HELM

I've stood stiff at Attention, heart swelling, spine tingling, on foreign battlefields as our band played The Star Spangled Banner and The Flag was run up the staff.

There we had fought and many had died; Old Glory at the top of the mast, proudly flying, ever meant much more to us than just another parade formation. Our National Anthem, therefore, has kept its hold deep in the heart of me and every veteran — even though its words are hard to remember and its music is all but un-singable except for trained voices.

Even so, lately I've been invariably thrilling to the more and more frequent renditions of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and, I believe, with good reason. Most inspiring of all, perhaps, is the fine recording made by the great Mormon Tabernacle Choir of some 300 voices.

Once again, as in younger days, my heart has swelled, my spine tingled: I had all but forgotten the sensation. I've been moved to my depths by that powerful, stirring music that any band can play, any voice can sing.

Listen to its memorable words: they have such meaning for us today when atheistic Communism boasts to destroy us and all democracies: "As He died to make men holy, let us live to make men free — Our God is marching on!"

"Glory — Glory Hallelujah!" Every American — man, woman, child — can sing that great chorus. Every grade school, every high school, every hometown band in the land, can play it. Let's all of us sing it — and mean it!

What burdens do women carry up and down the stairs most? A survey showed that most trips involved carrying laundry, cleaning equipment, or young children.

CLANTON ELEMENTARY PTA MET MAY 3RD.

The Parent-Teachers Association met in the lunch room of the school on Tuesday, May 3rd at 2:45 o'clock.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. T. C. Davis. Various reports were given. Rev. Hal Bray, pastor of the Presbyterian church gave the devotional.

A gift from the P-TA was presented to Mrs. T. C. Davis out-going president, by Mrs. Elizabeth Thigpen.

New officers for the coming year were installed by Mrs. Charles Moore, using the candlelight service. They are as follows: president, Mrs. Douglas Barton; vice-president, Mrs. Kinyon Vinson; Secretary, Mrs. Elliot Thigpen; Treasurer, Mrs. Clint Carlisle; Program Mrs. Morgan Reynolds; Membership, Mrs. Francis Speaks. Mrs. Barton was presented the gavel at this time and made a speech.

AAUW MET WITH MRS. JOE WELLS

The Chilton County Branch of the American Association of University Women held its last meeting on Thursday, May 5, 1960 at the home of Mrs. Joe H. Wells.

A delicious covered dish was served out of doors by all the members attending the meeting.

A most interesting talk was given by Mis Joyce Clements, Director of the Department of Pensions and Securities, on the topic: AAUW looks at Social Security; Its Meaning for you and your family.

This report was most informative and helpful to all those who had the privilege of listening to this instructive speaker.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

"GOD HAS BEEN HERE ALL THE TIME!"

During World War II a boy from one of the churches in my town was stationed in England. He was a gunner in one of the large bombers and completed fifty bombing missions over Germany.

During a lull in the bombing and fighting, a chaplain from the air base decided to take a ride with this boy's crew. They got in the plane and soon they were out over the English Channel.

The flight was uneventful until they started over the mainland of Europe. Suddenly the air was filled with antiaircraft shells and it looked as if their plane could not possibly escape being blown out of the sky.

It was the chaplain's job to encourage the boys. He took the microphone of the intercom and said, "Boys, be of good cheer, for God is with us."

From the rear gunner's position came the cynical reply, "He might be up there in front, Chaplain, but he shore ain't back here."

About the time the gunner finished his sentence, a shell came bolting through the fuselage near him. But by some unexplainable miracle it failed to explode as it came hurtling through.

When the terror-stricken young man recovered his wits he called back to the chaplain, "Correction, please! I didn't know it, but God has been here all the time."

In a few minutes the was able to set the cri plane down safely withou juries or loss of life.

Many times God is all ar us but we do not reco Him. Often we feel we a alone and forsaken, tha one cares or is concerned a us, but if we would just around, we would discover God had been there all the

The Bible tells us that notices when a little spa falls to the ground. He i observing and ever-loving He is by your side.

There is a promise in Bible that means a great to me. It is, "I will never l thee nor forsake thee." means that God will be me all the time; that I never have to worry abo thing, because He will me and meet my needs.

Candidate For

CIRCUIT JUDGE NO. 2

19th Judicial Circuit, Chilton, Autauga Elmore

Thanks you from the bottom of his heart for the splendid vote you gave him in the May 3 Primary, and the many kind words you spoke in his behalf.

Out of 11,916 votes cast in the Circuit, he lacked only 564 having a clear majority. Lets go after them.

Your vote, kind words, and continued support will give him an overwhelming victory on May 31.

Thank you.

Soon, land is sighted. The navigotor reports the ship sailing up the Irish coast, enters the harbor at Dublin, Ireland. Trees buildings and Blarney Castle are seen. The choir sings "Comin' Thru' the Rye". Irish lads and lassies in costumes come aboard and dance as a welcome to the visitors. A group of Scottish Highlanders sing and play. As the natives leave the ship, Shirley Glass sings, "When Irish Eyes are Smiling". The choir sings, "Auld Lang Syne."

Leaping Ireland ,the ship Good will approaches the British Isles, enters the Thames river, anchors in the bay. Victoria Tower and Big Ben can be seen.

Anchors are lowered and the gang plank goes down. Queen Elizabeth and Prince Phillip and the Royal party come aboard and welcome the American visitors. The choir sings, "God Save the Queen". A group dances, Shirley Glass sings, "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms". The Queen bids the group, God Speed, the choir, sings, "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes".

The gang plan and anchor are raised, the ship leaves England, as the choir sings, "A Captains Ship".

The navigators reports: Ship now entering Danish waters, sir, approaching the famous Mermaid Statue in Copenhagen Bay. The statue illustrates a fairy story by Hans Christian Anderson. Up thea gang plank comes. Danish girls and boys in colorful costumes; princes, princesses, fairies and even frogs in bright green, all follow Hans C. Anderson himself to welcome the visitors.

Leaving Denmark, the ship sails to Amsterdam, Holland, a land of tulips, windmills and wooden shoes. The pianist plays „Tip Toe Through the Tulips" as Dutch boys and girls in costume perform.

The ship is guided to Cairo, Egypt. Scenery, palms, pyramids and the Sphinex. Three Africian princes welcome the visitors, a witch Doctor Dance entertains them.

Anchors Aweigh, my boy, our destination is the land of beautiful senoritar, South America. Scenes, Sugar Loaf Mountain and the Statue of Christ. Girls in colorful dresses and shawls, boys in Spanish suits and hats, sing, "Bonita" and dance. Brenda Smith, as Bonita, sings, La Iucaracha. The captain praises the people and the land.

"OPERATION PETTICOAT"

ONE of the most entertaining movies of the year, when it comes to light comedy, is "Operation Petticoat" showing at Clanton Drive-In Theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, May 22, 23 and 24. It stars Tony Curtis and Cary Grant along with a bevy of long-stemmed American beauties which you will no doubt enjoy. The title is not deceiving!

How to Build A Pond, Stock it and Maintain It

Of the 350 Chilton County farm ponds, only a few supply adequate fishing; that is they don't yield enough fish to attract paying customers. Lack of fertilizer and poor management result in poor fishing and few cash customers.

Tiny animals and plants called plankton are the key to successful fish production. Plankton serve as food for water insects and other organisms. Bluegills and strawberry bream feed on these, and bass feed on small fish. The greater the production of plankton, therefore, the greater the production of fish. By applying the proper amounts of fertilizer at regular intervals, you increase the number of pounds of fish per acre; though not necessarily the size of fish in your pond. This is where good management becomes necessary. Good management practices are:

1. Don't begin fishing in a newly stocked pond too early.
2. Return small un-injured bass less than ½ pound in size.
3. Do not use live bait, such as gold fish.
4. Keep edges and banks clean - also free of shaded areas. This will result in keeping down mosquitoes.
5. Limit number of bass and bream per day's catch. A fertilized pond will usually produce 4-9 pounds of bream to one pound of bass. A good catch is 3 to 5 bass and 15 to 20 bream. (This is a must).
three applications of fertilizer
6. Beginning in early spring apply at two-week intervals. Eight to ten applications per year are necessary. Use 100 pounds of 8-8-2 per surface acre af water at each application.
7. Apply fertilizer only in shallow water - less than six feet deep
8. When your pond is ready to fish, let it be known that fishing permite are availabel at reasonable rates. Fishermen do not mind paying if fishing is good.

A fifteen acre pond near Mt. Creek, Ala., formerly the Barney Parson pond, will be opened to the public Saturday, May 7th at 4:00 A.M. This pond was stocked three years ago and has received 34-½ tons of fertilized at recommended tinervals. No fishing has been permitted as of this date.

Free barbecue will be served all day on opening dates - May 7th and 8th. There will be not limit on catches on these dates will be enforced.

Directing signs will be placed at Marbury and at Joe's Filling Station on Highway 45, just off Highway 31, South of Verbena, Ala.

Films Available On Forest Fires

A new series of color-sound motion picture films -- all 16 mm. is being made available free on-loan to Chilton teachers for the fall and winter term, it was stated in Clanton Saturday by W. L. Shaddix, a former teacher of Dallas County, who represents the Free Film Distribution Service financed by the Southern States Forest fire Commission, Birmingham 5. Full details of the valuable movies which also includes auto safety and science, can be obtained by writing the Birmingham headquarters of the Commission is located near Five Points - 1912 - 13th Ave. S. Mrs. Grace Laughmiller there, has been Education Secretary of the Commission since 1942.

One of the movies was filmed in south Alabama, and financed by a well-known foundation that cooperates in the juvenile opproach to canservation.

The work, originally financed by the late Mrs. Major Tutwiler of Birmingham, was begun before the states had voted funds for extensive fire warden systems. At that time Chilton was suffering from awful woods fires in different sections, and appeals were made by the Commission workers here to g"rab a brush and run" when and wherever a fire was seen in any forests.

THORSBY 1ST. BAPTIST

The pastor and his wife leave on Thursday morning for Miami, Fla., in order that they may attend both the WMU and Southern Baptist Convention. In route they will have the privilege of visiting sons, Bobby and Douglas who live in St. Petersburg. Their plans are now to return to the church field on Saturday, May 21. During the absence of the pastor from the pulpit Rev George Pratt of Birmingham, Ala., will bring the message next Sunday morning. Brother Pratt is one of our finest ministers and will be heard sympathetically by the congregation. On Sunday night our congregation will have the privilege to hearing Mr. George Harris Hudson from Mountain Creek. Mr. Hudson is competing in the Training Union Better Speakers Tournament. He won the district tournament and is now preparing to compete in the state tournament. We hope that he will move on and compete in the Southwide meeting at Ridgecrest. The title of his message is, "Separation of Church and State." Adults and youth as well will be greatly benefited by hearing this fine young man Sunday night.

Vacation Bible School

Vacation Bible School in our church will begin on May 30 and will continue through June 3. Preparation Day, May 26. We are looking forward to having a very fine school this year.

Spring Revival

Spring Revival, June 5 through June 12. Rev. Curtis James, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Vardaman, Miss., will be the visiting evangelist.

Bascom Venable Reports For His Club

The Science Club of Mrs. Hubert's fifth grade met Friday May 6, 1960. Claude Blackwell called the meeting to order. Larry Bodden, secretary, read the minltes of the last meeting which were approved as read. The treasurer, Rebecca Gwathney gave her report.

Mary John Fields, program chairman, took charge of the meeting and asked Connie Smitherman to give the devotional after which Alex Jackson led in prayer. After the pledge of allegiance the class sang America.

The Program Chairman held a question and answer game with the following pupils: Shirley Payton, Larry Bodden, Claude Blackwell, Connie Smitherman, Ralph Burkhalter, Randall Smith and Harold Dumas.

Pretty flowers furnished by some of the pupils added much beauty to the room for the meeting.

The president adjourned the meeting until Friday, May 13th.

Although making up less than 14 percent of the driving population, drivers under age 25 were involved in nearly 29 percent of all fatal accidents in the United States during 1959.

Rev. Fields Writes On Many Activities In Chilton - Unity

It is very heartening to see the churches responding to the mission cause of this Association. Reports reveal that the Sunday Schools and Training Unions are growing in numbers. There is a tremendous increasing interest in the Woman's Missionary Societies, and the Brotherhood and Royal Ambassadors' work throughout Chilton County. It appears that all of the 53 Baptist churches, and the Lomax Baptist Mission, have planned their Vacation Bible Schools. Also most of these churches have planned their summer revivals to be conducted sometime in June, July or August.

It is encouraging to know that so many members of the churches and communities are interested in the Baptist program which is conducted by the Missionary each Saturday on WKLF (radio) at 8:15 A.M. Write or call if announcement of the services at any of the churches is desired.

The Mount Carmel No. 1 Baptist Church has invited us to conduct the services and bring the messages Sunday at the morning and evening hour.

We have been invited to assist in the dedication service of the Northside Baptist Church building and pastorium Sunday at 2 p.m. Rev. Hyman Atcheson is the pastor. Open house will be observed following the dedication service. Everyone is invited.

My wife and I will not attend the Southern Baptist Convention, which convenes in Miami, May 16-20. Many of the pastors will attend this Convention. It is hoped that every church will make it possible for the pastor to attend this meeting in Florida next week.

The deacons of all the churches are urged to look forward to attending the Deacon's Retreat at Shocco Springs June 10-12. The theme: Promoting Christ Through Deaconship.

Armed Forces Day, Saturday Will See Armory Open House

AS DOES COUNTY — Mayor And Council Proclaim AF Day

AT a recent meeting of the City Council of the City of Clanton, Alabama, the Mayor and the City Council of the City of Clanton adopted a resolution designating May 21, 1960 as Armed Forces Day, it was announced by Mayor J. Hollis Jackson today.

The resolution so adopted is as follows:

A RESOLUTION

That, WHEREAS, during the past decade the active and reserve components of our Armed Forces have joined with Civil authorities and community leaders to give our citzens and the people of other countries an opportunity to become better acquainted with the military aspects of our national strength. This opportunity is offered on Armed Forces Day.

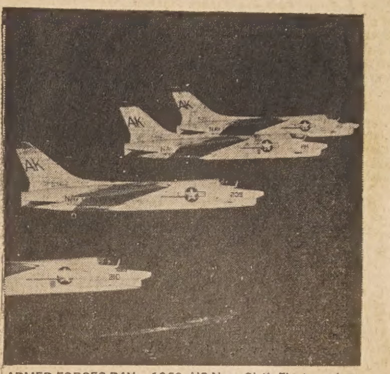
It is America's hope and purpose to work continuously toward peaceful adjustment of international differences, and it is fitting that Armed Forces Day emphasize the fact that our strength is dedicated to keep the peace.

It is the responsibility of all citizens in all walks of life to enlist the co-operaton of Civil authorities, military personnel, and community leaders to demonstrate to the world that we stand as a formidable power for peace.

BE IT THEREFORE RFSOLVED by the Mayor and City Council of the City of Clanton, Alabama, in meeting assembled that Saturday, May 21, 1960, be and the same is hereby proclaimed as Armed Forces Day for 1960, and that the citizens of the City of Clanton are hereby urged to utilize this occasion most effectively, that we are ambassadors of good will, helping to create a climate of international understanding throughout the world.

Read, adopted, and approved.
Hollis Jackson, Mayor
City of Clanton.

To Fly Over Clanton Saturday At 8 Minutes Until 2 P.M.



ARMED FORCES DAY—1960. US Navy Sixth Fleet carriers in the Mediterranean Force for Peace. After completing their mission, four F8U "Crusader" jet aircraft approach the USS FORRESTAL prior to landing.

"Open House" At Armory

Our Chilton County observance of Armed Forces Day will be in the form of "Open House" at the Clanton Army National Guard Armory, on Saturday, May 21, 1960, and will last all day through the cooperation and courtesy of local National Guard officials. The public is invited and are most welcome. There will be on display various weapons and implements of war as is used by a modern Army Infantry Company, and members of the local Guard will be on hand to conduct tours, explain something about the uses, and to answer questions insofar as security will permit.

High Officials On Hand

Representatives of our Navy, Air Force, Coast Guard and Marines and recruiters will be on hand. Officials and representatives of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans will be on hand to help with the observance and to answer questions. Representatives of The American Red Cross, Selective Service, and all Civic Clubs (Lions, Rotary, Civitan, etc) have been and are invited to participate. All these organzations are very helpful in our national defense.

Another organization which we are most proud of is our Civil Defense Emergency Rescue Squad, a worthy and most active part of our community. Men of the Rescue Squad have promised to be present with some of their equipment provided they do not receive a call to rescue some good fisherman, or swimmer from the water, or other emergency work which they are constantlly called on to perform; and of course the latter would have to have priority.

"Flyover" of T-33 Jets

There has been scheduled a "flyover" of T-33 jet airplanes for various observances over Alabama and this flight is set to arrive over Clanton at 1352 hours 21 May 1960 (Military terms) or 8 minutes before 2 o'clock P.M. on May 21. There will be four planes in this flight and they will fly as low as safety for everybody will permit, and will give the public a chance to observe something of the speed of modern aircraft.

All Forces Observed

It is desired to emphasize that this observance is not of Air Force, Army, Navy, Coast Guard, or Marines Day, but rather the observance of the 11th annual Armed Forcse Day since the consolidation of all these days into one single observance Day. There will be various spot announcements concerning our local Armed Forces Day over radio station WKLF, as well as both local newspapers. Everybody is invited to attend on Saturday May 21, 1960 at our local Armory, all day. It is believed you will find your attendance will be informative and interesting as well.

Little League "Kicks Off" Season

"PLAY Ball" will be the coy on (Thursday) at 5 p.m., at the Little League City Park.

The first game will be between Jaycees and Lions. The second game will be Civitan Vs. Kiwanis.

During the past week Mr. Don Finlayson has been teaching the coaches and umpire the official rules of Little League.

Because of the interest and cooperation of all the people we feel that this year will be a successful season for Little League. See you at the ball game!

Rural Youth Sunday To Be Observed, 22nd

RURAL Youth Sunday will be Sunday, May 22nd. Chilton Coun- observed throughout the Nation on yt 4-H'ers will take part in this program under the leadership of the second vice-presidents of the Home Demonstration Clubs and the local ministers.

Youth Sunday Set Aside

This Sunday has been set aside by Church organizationns throughout the Nation to emphasize the meaning of Christianity in rural life. Rural Youth Sunday occurs the fifth Sunday after Easter and at this time special emphasis is placed on prayer for God's blessing upon the fruits of the earth.

Rural Sundey 15 Yrs. Old

Extension Service organizations have observed Rural Sunday for the past fifteen years and we join our heads, hearts, hands and health together with the rural youth throughout the Nation in another celebration. The power of prayer will certainly be felt as youth, men and women meet in large numbers to pray for guidance and for strength to carry out the will of God during these critical days.

4-H'ers To Prrticipate

Four-H Club members should participate in Rural Youth Sunday because it (1) will give 4-H'ers a better understanding of inevitable relationship of people of the soil have with God, (2) provides 4-H'ers an opportunity to participate in a service which develops the heart, (3) acquaints Club members with other character building agencies, (4) emphasizes and recognizes the spirtual value and character building qualities of 4-H Club work, (5) develops a deeper appreciation of the opportunities of rural ilfe, and (6) gives Club members an opportunity to cooperate with other community groups.

These six reasons why 4-H'ers should participate are the reasons we insist that every Home Demonstration Club member and 4-H'er offer your assistance to your Church in its celebration of this special Youth Sunday.

Clanton Lions Hold Light Bulb Sale

CLANTON Lions Club will hold a light bulb sale Friday night, May 20, between the hours of 7 and 9 p.m. Someone will call at your home in Clanton.

EMPLOY 100--

New Industry In Maplesville

PUBLIC announcement was made at a luncheon Tuesday at the Green Roof Cafe at Maplesville of a new industry manufacturing cardboard cartons. It will be a subsiderary of the Gulf States Paper Company, of Tuscaloosa, and will employ approximately 100 people to start. Work began last week on the old Stremming property.

Wthin a year, it was stated, the mill will employ up to 200 to 300 employees and will bring a payroll to the Western section of the county runnin into five figures.

The raw material for the cartons will be produced at the Company's plant at Demopolis, it was reported, and shipped to the Maplesville plant.

The new E-Z Pak Co., which will make a complete line of folding paper cartons, has acquired the buildings of a defunct veneer mill in Maplesville. Production there is scheduled to start early next week.

Will Employ Chiltonians

Presdent Warner estmates 150 people will eventually be employed in the operation of the new company. As many of these people as possible will be Chilton and surrounding county residents.

Everett-Operation Mgr.

Charles L. Everett, a native of Waco, Texas, will be operations manager of the new mill. He gained extensive experience in this phase of the industry in the Mid West before joining Gulf States Paper last year.

E-Z Pak Products

E-Z Pak products will be packages for foods such as ice cream, frozen foods, and bakery products, and a variety of non-food items requiring high-quality box and flexible packaging which will use both Tuscaloosa and Demopolis products. This will provide product diversification for Gulf States Paper.

Good Location

The Maplesville site was chosen primarily because of the availability of rail facilities between Tuscaloosa, Demopolis and Maplesville. Company officials also credited the friendly business climate of Chilton County with influencng the new company to locate there.

Gulf States Paper pioneered the paper industry in Alabama when it opened its Tuscaloosa mill in 1929. The Demopolis operation began in 1957, and both mills have expanded from their original office. Gulf States remains the state's only home-owned paper company.

Pilot Forest

For a number of years the paper industry has made itself felt in Chilton County as a market for pulpwood. Gulf States established a Pilot Forest between Maplesville and Clanton as a guide for forest management on small land holdings. Now, with a new company backed by its parent's three-quarters of a century experience, Chilton County is placed on the paper industry map.

Piano Recital At Mt. Pleasant School

Better Speech Club Visits Mound State Park; Writes Poem

On April fifteen, a bright summer day,
The Better Speech Club was up and away.

We left that morn at twenty passed eight.
And at ten-fifteen we passed through the gate.

Along the way that bright sunny morn.
We played lively games;
no one was forlorn.

We were talking, too, but,
no, not loud,
Or, of our conduct, we'd not be proud.

At ten o'clock sharp, we'd reached Sixty-nine,
And down that highway
the scenery was fine.

At last we began seeing signe and clues,
And, in reaching the building,
we paid our dues.

Our eyes were filled with joy supreme Observing each pastoral fact and scene.

And eralizing, too, that that ancient race
Had been actively engaged at this very place.

At last we were escorted into a pit
Where we all stood up.
No one could sit.

As we focused our gaze on the bones below
Reserved for our people today to know.

That that ancient race were worshippers, too.
For their burial items, gave us that clue.

Then we went to the lovely picnic ground,
Where seats in a shady dell were found.

Of course some souvenirs
we bought,
And the big Black Warrior
our attention caught.

Our visit to Mound State
Park being passed,
We hurried to great
Smith Hall at last.

Where the Hodges meteorite was showing.
And our interest, as well as our checks, were glowing.

At great Smith Hall
many rocks we saw,
Yes, jewels and diamonds without a flaw.

There were limestone,
marble, iron, and coal,
And other metals, as well as gold.

There were also many stuffed animals there,
A diamond back rattler, and a Kodiac bear.

Some walrus tusks, and a caribou,
And many stuffed birds,
but no kangroo.

Now we were ready to head for home,
For this was enough in one day to roam.

We joyously into each car did climb,
And began at once to compose a rhyme.

Shirley Tucker,
Member of Better Speech Club.

POLITICAL MASQUERADE

Alabama now recognizes the so-called Independent Presidential Electors for what they really are. Their talk about States Rights and protection of the Southern way of life had ome of us fooled, for awhile. But heir clever masquerade as Democats has fizzled. Now they are known be really back-door Republicans ose secret purpose is to become abama Democratic Electors, THEN LT the Democratic Party and thus p elect Hatchet-Man Dick Nixon president of the U. S.!

nvestigation now shows these solled "Independent Republicans" representatives of the big corations, banks and Wall Street, and plantation owners. Have you yet rd them say one word in support such Democratic legislation as ial Security, old age benefits, n parity, veterans pensions, small ness, TVA, REA, Rural Teleses, building more hospitals?

Are they and their Republican backers really interested in Alabama's welfare and your family security? NO, they are interested in private utilities, big business and high interest rates! They fight the Democratic Party and the Democratic social welfare programs. They orate about segregation when all Southerners agree about segregation . . . and it is not an issue, at all!

When you are sick, you go to a doctor. If you need legal help, you go to a lawyer. If you want honest government, fair taxes, modern social welfare and prosperity for the people — you do not vote for economic Royalists but for the Democratic Party — the party of the people!

Vote May 31 for these Loyalist Democratic Candidates for Presidential Electors — they will help to keep Tricky Dick Nixon out of the White House. They will help elect a Democrat for president.

Compliments may tickle a man's ego, but it takes criticism to really correct his faults.

Be sure you're right--then look twice at the size of the other fellow before you tell him he's wrong.

People who follow hunches, seldom know where they're going.

The fellow who insists that every man has his price is usually willing to sell out cheap.

The average man has no sense of humor if the joke is on him.

People who fly too high, usually find it pretty rough landing.

Some people seem to have no business except to find fault with others.

People do pretty good as fas as income goes--no matter which way you turn, it goes.

Growing Pains --

WE'RE having growing pains around Clanton and we like it! What with the new highway just East of our City soon to be completed, the big new housing project in North Clanton, the new high school just south of town, all we need is that big new project West of the City to make things hereabout perfect.

Work, we understand, will start on the new half-million dollar courthouse within the next few months--and that is right in the heart of town. Which gives us a pretty good overall coverage of the city as far as new projects are concerned.

This is not taking into consideration the private businesses and homes that are being constructed almost daily. Which gives us quite a satisfaction-Clanton is steadily progressing.

Why Vote For A Loyalist Ticket?

WE will not editorialize, we will just give you a few of many, many good reasons you should vote for the Democratic Electors on May 31st.

First, States Rights is not the question--we are all for States Rights.

Segregation is not the issue--we are all for segregation.

The so-call States Rights ticket would help Dick Nixon if they walk out or vote for a third Party which could not possibly be elected.

Our only chance is to stick with the Party and name the best man possible.

Money was alloted for the Coosa River Development pro'ect until Eisenhower was elected--since that time we have not received a dime.

The present administration is the first to ever order Federal troops to occupy Southern Soil.

It will help beat Richard Nixon -- a member of the N.A.A.C.P.

It will help get the Republicans out of the White House.

It will get rid of the Nixon-Benson Farm Program which has the net farm income the lowest since the 1930's when Hoover was President.

It will assure the continuation of the REA and the TVA, and low cost elctricity to the people.

It will assure our Alabama Congregational Delegation of retaining their seniority and position in Con--gress.

Armed Forces Day 21st

WHILE the purpose of Armed Forces Day is to give our citizens and the people of other countries an opportunity to become better acquinted with the military aspects of our national strength, we wish also to focus attention on the spiritual aspecss of the observance; and so we are including the following prayer for Armed Forces Day taken from The Armed Forces Chaplains Board.

"Our Father Who art in Heaven, we hallow thy blessed and holy name and give thee thanks for an abundance of Thy tender mercy and loving care. We are humbly grateful for the good lane which our forefathers under the guidance of thy divine providence, have bequeathed to us, and for a nation under God which people of all races, creeds, and cultures have found within these borders.

From the far- flung corners of our great land we bring together the threads of our unity; from our farms and factories, our hamelts and great cities, our science laboartories and classrooms, our homes and our churches, our local, state, and federal governments and our military forces. We bind them together into our national strength and dedicate this power for peace, that the spirit of brotherhood might prevail in the hearts and minds of all mankind.

Bless, we pray, the Armed Forces of our land which we, a peace --loving people, have established to stand guard on the frontiers of our freedoms. Bless the men and women who have dedicated their lives to the arduous task of protecting our land and keeping the peace and who, when peaceful means fail, sacrifice their lives in service to their country.

May we ever be mindful that weapons and munitions do not constitute the true strength of our Armed Forces, but that it comes from men and women who are courageous, loyal and trustworthy, and who seek first the Kingdom of dedicated to a mission--men and God and his righteousness, and who love freedom more than they love life.

Help us, oh God, to remain a strong and free people, capable of resisting and overcoming any force which would destroy the dignity of man and deny him his inlienable rights. May we, in cooperation with all peace loving people around the world, dedicate our strength to this end. Amen.

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

In the House last week action was completed on the mutual security authorization bill; funds for fiscal year 1961 were voted for the Agriculture Department; a bill was approved to increase retirement pay for certain officers and enlisted men; and a measure was passed that authorizes two years' appropriations for highway construction.

Shortly after the House approved a four-billion dollar authorization for the mutual security program, the bill was also passed by the Senate and referred to the President. The maximum ceiling set by this measure for the foreign aid program is $89 million below that requested by the President, and actual funds that will be appropriated in a separate bill will doubtlessly be considerably less.

The measure contains a provision which bans any aid to the Cuban government of Fidel Castro.

Farm Funds Voted

For the Department of Agriculture, the House approved and sent to the Senate a bill containing funds of almost four billion dollars for the next fiscal year which begins on July 1. This amount is $197 million below that requested by the President for financing the Department and its farm programs.

A section that would have prohibited post-sale cotton reclassing was stricken from the bill by a vote of 116 to 67. Members of the House also turned down a provision that would have required officers of the Commodity Credit Corporation to be chosen from outside the Agriculture Department.

Funds of $27 million for marketing services were eliminated from the measure on a technicality but are expected to be restored by the Senate. This amount was designated to finance such activities as the grain, seed, and poultry inspection programs.

Plaza of the Americas

President Eisenhower signed into law last Friday a measure I introduced early in April designating as the "Plaza of the Americas" that portion of the District of Columbia in which are located the buildings of the Organzation of Amercan States, as well as the statutes of several Latin American heroes. It is hoped that this gesture of goodwill will further strengthen the bonds of friendship between the United States and our neighbors to the South.

The "Plaza of the Americas" will be formally designated as such during a ceremony scheduled for June 4th.

50 YEARS OF HUMOR

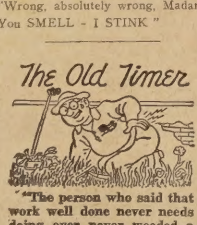
This story supposedly belonged to Alexander Woolcott, inspiration for the play, "The Man Who Came To Dinner." Still it happened to me in Lakeland, Fla., many years ago when I was holding down the chair of journalism at Southern College there, and it may well have started the ball to bouncing.

I remember that somebody spoke to my Missus at that time about my new job, and she remarked: "Whereever Henry is he'll be holding down a chair somewhere--you can bet on that" !

But to get along: Dr. Llewellen Jamieson was on our faculty at Southern--a PhD., and a man who likely knew more English than Oliver Cromwell. That's what he taught. And it pained the Doctor excrutiatingly to hear a grammatical error.

My boss, President Ludd W. Spivey, sent me along one evening to accompany Dr. Jamieson to a great gathering of women where he would give the man address. My job was to see that the speaker was liberally quoted in the newspapers. He was a man who could never have been made a Knight of the Bath--not even a Saturday Knight. He hated soap and water but loved a tie and tails. Two women were seated to his right at the speaker's table. One sniffed thrice and to her companion in an audible whisper said: "This fellow swells!"

Dr. Jamieson was up like a rifle shot, tremendously grieved over a grammatical error, and bent on correction. Pointing an accusing finger at the offender, he blurted: "Wrong, absolutely wrong, Madam. You SMELL - I STINK "



"The person who said that work well done never needs doing over never weeded a garden."

Series Of Articles —

Your Doctor Your Health And Medical Advances

AS human beings, we nearly always hesitate to print anything concerning doctors, dentists, chiropractors, etc. because as a group they are about as uncooperative as any we know. We don't know whether it's because they are busier than others or whether their work weighs heavier on their minds or what; but the fact remains that most of them apparently refuse to do business with or even recognize the needs (such as information) of the newspaper. Of course, we realize this train of thought, although very true, is of a selfish nature and we therefore have to overcome the temptation of ignoring pleas for free publicity and free advertising.

We have before us a series of articles concerning your doctor, your medical expenses and the advances modern medicine has made in the past fifty years or so and we think, regardless of personal feelings, our readers should absorb these articles and digest them as they see fit. . . whether they agree or disagree with the information. We have read it over and found it very interesting and we offer it to our readers as a public service in the interest of better relations between doctor and patient and between the public and the medical profession.--THE EDITORS

(1st In A Weekly Series)

(This is the first of a series of articles which discuss the nature of tomorrow's challenges to the medical profession and how these challenges affect today's patient. They will relate impressions of what American medicine is trying to do of the standards and problems that are engagng the attention of doctors and health workers everywhere. The articles are being printed in the public interest and also in the hope that they will contribute to better relationships between doctors and patents.)

Health Most Discussed Subject

Perhaps no subject is more widely discussed in conversation, newspaper and magazine articles, books, pamphlets, radio programs and television, than health. It is used as an advertising appeal to go somewhere for advantageous climate, to do something or use something for better health, to cease doing something, to buy a product or a service, to eat or refrain from eating things--in short, to do or not to do.

Out of all the exhortation it is difficult sometimes for even the trained scientist to separate the legitimate from the spurious, the sensible from the ridiculous, the essential from the superfluous.

One thing is certain: health does not fall like the gentle rain from heaven--not in our complex civilization of speeding motors, invisible viruses and other germs, and disordered body chemistry. When to these ingredients you add poor food, poor housing, dul land degrading occupations, you arrive at a recipe for disease and poor health that is universal.

People Can Be Thankful

But from an over-all health standpoint, the American people can be thankful.

Perhaps even the loudest complainers might be a little happier if they read the words of Dr. Peter Commanduras, the Secretary General of the Medical International Co-operation, MEDICO, a national group of American physicians who organized themselves in February 1958.

Doctor Commanduras states that "over half of the word--over one billion people--from the moment they are born until the yide have no access to medical care at all."

Contrast this with the United States where this ratio of physician to population is 1:700. Perhaps the most impressive statement of Doctor Commanduras is the following: "More than three-fourths of the people of the world, with the exception of Western Europe, the North American continent, and Australia, are born in poverty and misery, eke out an evistence during the greater part of their lifetime in semi-starvation and semi-pollution, and if not crippled, blinded, or deformed during infancy and adolescence by diseases long since preventable, die prematurely from illness which are curable in other more fortunate parts of the world."

All this points up one important fact: you, as a patient, are lucky to have your American doctor, though you may sometimes grumble about his failings.

Doctors, individually, and as a group, are forever trying to deliver the best medical care possible. Jealousies, distrusts, and hatreds, sometimes leveled at the doctor, can never play a part in alleviating disease, preserving life, or postponing death.

Since a human element is involved, it is impossible to define an ideal medcal profession which, today, is made up of more than 243,000 physicians. There can never be an ideal profession, as such. To paraphrase what one physician said years ago: "Doctors should not be classed as a heavenly host of angels. They are neither angels nor devils. They are human beings, with human needs, aspirations, appetites, and fears."

A Doctor's Role in Your Life

Despite the disturbing antagonisms often hurled at them, today's doctors are pretty important guys. They cannot be replaced by priess, ministers, nor all the clinics that science can provide. There is a confidence between them and their patients which has been known to accomplish miracles.

If you cut yourself, if something starts biting your insides, if your kids break out in spots, whom do you holler for? Your congressman? The president of your bank? The secretary of defense? Not on your tintype. You send for the man with the little black satchel.

People who really know a doctor come to know, too, that his life is not easy. They know he doesn't live off the fat of the land-most big league ball players, Hollywood actors, and salesmen of securities make more money than he does--they know he doesn't spend all his time acquiring a tan on golf courses; that he is not swimming in champagne every night in the week, and that he is not living the life of Reilly while "the masses wallow in pain and poverty."

Prominent Democrats Say 'Support the Party

Walk-Out Was Mistake Says Albert Stapp

YOU'RE EITHER A DEMOCRAT OR A REPUBLICAN

Albert Stapp, longtime Birmingham businessman and Pickens County farmer - rancher, former state commander of American Legion in Alabama and twice president of Alabama Service Station Assn., who was a candidate for governor in 1950 and who was one of the delegates-at-large to the Philadelphia convention and one of the leaders of the States' Rights Party revolt against the National Democratic Party presidential candidates, declared:

"In 1948 I was a walk-out delegate-at-large from Alabama at the Democratic National Convention in Philadelphia. Living up to the platform on which I was elected, my action at that convention was based solely on what I conscientiously believed to be in the best interest of my native state, and the South, under the conditions then existing.

"Today, the people of Alabama are again confronted with a serious and indeed a critical problem. The enemies of the South are continuing and intensifying their vindictive vendetta aganist us.

"The issue now is: Shall we choose presidential electors pledged to cast Alabama's electrol votes for the nominee of the Democratic Party and keep fighting within the party for justice for the South and our way of life; or shall we choose electors who, by their own majority of vote in secret cause, made plain their willingness to deliver Alabama's electoral votes to the Nixon Republicans and to deny Alabama Democrats the opportunity in the November general election to say whether they wish their votes to be cast for the Democratic presidential candidate?

"My experience in 1948, when considered along with the ominous developments which have since taken place, convinces me that the loyal Democrats now running for presidential electors would best serve the South and more clearly represent the views of thinking Alabamians than would those seeking election on the so-called independent slate.

"We have to face the fact that the revolt of 1948, in which I participated, proved to be a mistake and an utterly futile thing. We need to face the further fact that a similar revolt in 1960 would be a fiasco, without the slightest chance of success, and therefore a tragic mistake.

"We have seen the Republican Party, arch foe of the South, send federal troops with fixed bayonets into the Southern city of Little Rock in a vicious and unconstitutional attempt to conquer our people and subject them to an unthinkable integration program sponsored by the Republican Party. We have seen the Republican Party conceive, introduce and enact into law the punitive so-called civil rights acts of 1957 and 1960--the first federal force legislation imposed on the South since Reconstruction. We also have seen, and applauded, the gallant efforts of our Southern Democratic senators, including Alabama's Lister Hill and John Sparkman, who led the resistance to these infamous anti-South measures and succeeded in removing many of their most vicious Republican - sponsored provisions. These modifying amendments were obtained by our determined Southern senatorial team without the aid of and over the bitter opposition of every Republican member of the United States Senate.

"In the light of what has transpired, I cannot in good conscience, as a Southern Democrat, participate in another splinter party movement or in any other movement which would aid our Republican enemies. I have had enough. I believe the only way to vote with and for the South in the May 31 primary is to support the genuine Alabama Democrats who seek elector posts, and to uphold the hands of our Southern senators and congressmen who are fighting in the front line in Washington to resist Republican force legislation and save us from a second Reconstruction.

"The next Presdent will be either the nominee of the Los Angeles Democratic Convention or the nominee of the Chicago Republican Convention. Alabama votes, in order to be counted, must be cast for one of these national tickets. I am entirely certain that Alabama's best interest lies in electing aylol Democratic presidential electors who will support the Democratic nominee, repel another splinter movement or a bolt to the Republican Party, and stand behind our Southern Democratic team in Congress whose members are fighting grimly and over-time to protect and preserve our cherished Southern way of life. For myself, I no longer want any part in may move-ment which will directly or indirectly reward the Republican perpetrators of the Little Rock outrage or otherwise benefit the Republican Party, whose general now is dispatching civil rights snoopers into for the avowed purpose of ling our local election aff

FOSTER ASKS " ARE YOU FOR"

(Statement by John S prominent Birmingham and former State Comm the Amergican Legion--TH TORS.)

During the first primary called free elector slate pr that its candidates would port Humphrey if he we nated by the Democratic Humphrey is no longer a c for President. It looks a contest for the nomination rowed down to four men Johnson, Kennedy, Steven Symington. The people ar ed to have the so-called f tor slate give the same inf about these four candida this slate gave about H during the first primary. each of the candidates on called free elector slate to the following questions:

1. Would Lyndon Joh acceptable to you as the D ic nominee for President
2. Would Kennedy be a to you as the Democratic for President?
3. Would Stevenson be abel to you as the Democ inee for President?
4. Would Symington b able to you as the D nominee for President?

If the candidates on called free elector slate say that any of these Kennedy, Stevenson and ton--will satisfy them, t fair to assume from the that none of these candi satisfy them.

Chilton County News
Clanton, Alabama
Dear Editor,

I missed seeing friends and relatives in Clanton this Spring. We do enjoy the Chilton County News. So very much.

I am recovering from an illness and visited my son, Ross, wife and two daughters the past week end.

Ross attended grade school in Clanton. He came to Texas 25 years ago. He finished with Bachelor and Master's degrees in Mechanical Engineering from Texas A. M.

Enclosed is a clipping. Please print it in your paper. Notify me if there are any charges.

Sincerely,
George Tippett

HOLLOWELL HEADS FIRM'S DALLAS OFFICE

Robert G. Hollowell has been promoted to manager of the Dallas office of Tippett and Gee, Consulting Engineers. The Dallas office is a division of Tippett and Gee doing engineering and design work.

Hollowell, his wife Margaret and their daughter Marta have completed their move to Dallas.

Hollowell has been associaten with Tippett and Gee for five years and is a registered mechanical engineer. He raduated from A&M in 1951 and is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Tippett and Gee have two suites of offices in Abilene located in the C&T building and the Garrison building, one office in Dallas at Suite 214, Meadows Building, and one office in Garland.

Ross Tippett and Louis Gee began their partnership in 1954. They now have 21 permanent employees including eight registered engineers, five engineering technicians who have had engineering training and experience, five draftsmen and three secretaries.

Tippett and Gee's engineering services encompass an area from the Canadian borde rto the tip of South American and frim Arizona to the East Coast; however, the main interests lie in a six state area including Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

In 1959 the cost of projects on which they were the engineers exceeded $12,000,000.

Work includes industrial work such as refineries, gasoline plants, paper mills, power stations and water treatment and disposal plants. Tippett and Gee also has a commercial engineering design department in which they do work for several architectural firms.

One of their major clients is General Dynamics Corp.

Afternoon Tea Marks Golden Wedding Anniversary

A tea was held the past Sunday, May 11, from 3 to 5 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Walker on the Birmingham highway, to celebrate the couple's golden wedding anniversary. The hosts were their daughter, Mrs. Perry Feruson, of Mobile, and their two sons, Merritt Walker of Stanton, Ala. and Great Falls, Montana, and Cecil Walker, of Great Falls. Mrs. Ferguson was present in person, and was assisted in the amenities by Mrs. Merritt Walker. The two sons and Mrs. Cecil Walker were unable to come from Montana for the occasion.

Of the six grandchildren, three attended the annivesary celebration.

Accompanying Mrs. Ferguson from Mobile were her husband and two sons, Ronald and Clifford. Linda Walker a granddaughter, came from Stanton, where she and her mother, Mrs. Merritt Walker, are awaiting the close of school before leaving for Montana to spend the summer months on the family ranch.

Members of the original wedding party joining Mr. and Mrs. Walker on their anniversary were her brother, Tom Mitchell of Tuscaloosa, and a cousin, Mrs. Reese Johnson, of Selma. More than one hundred relatives and friends signed the guest book during the afternoon hours.

Yellow iris, roses and chrysanthemums predominated in the cut - flowers decorating the living and dining rooms for the tea. Twin golden wedding bells, tied with white satin ribbons, hung from the archway between. The embossed tiered cake and the party squares on the table also were in the goldin motif. Punch, nuts and mints were served with cake. Yellow tapers burning in branched candelabra flanked the anniversary cake used as the table's centerpiece.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Alvia Turner of Selma, and punch was poured by Mrs. Waymond Vineyard, of Birmingham. Both are sisters of Mrs. Walker. Favors were given out by the three grandchildren and a niece, Feggy Vineyard. Mrs. Mary Scott kept the guest book and Mrs. Wylie Walker, also of Selma, had charge of the gift display.

Mrs. Walker, the former Evie Mitchell, and Mr. Walker were married fifty years ago at Mt. Carmel Baptist Church in Chilton County, where both were born, near Stanton, Ala. Most of their life, to date, has been spent in that section. They moved to the Selma vicinity eight years ago, when Mr. Walker became bridge supervisor for Dallas County.

A MESSAGE FROM REEDIE L. HILYER

May I again express my thanks to the voters of District Four for the good vote received by me May 3rd. And I also wish to thank you for your continued support and encouragement. I honestly seek the advice, vote, and support of everyone, including those who could not vote for me in the First Primary.

Now, it has been a pleasure for me to serve on your County Board of Revenue. In asking you to re-elect me for another term, I do so, with the intention to continue to work in harmony with your Probate Judge and the other associate members of your Board of Revenue. And, too, I shall continue to seek the advice and counsel of the people whom I serve. Your advice and counsel has aided me greatly in my work as a member of the Board and with your permission I shall continue to seek your advice and help.

Many times issues have come before the Board when I thought the Board should not make the final decision, even though the Board has the authority to do so. In such instances, we have submitted it to a vote of the people. The question of building a courthouse was submitted to a vote of the people. The question of a site for the new courthouse was submitted to a vote of the people. The question about the bonds to build the courthouse was submitted to a vote of the people, and in every instance the decision was final and abided by.

I shall continue to advocate this type of County Government. It has proven successful in the past and will be my continued policy in the future.

The people of Chilton County believe in government of the people for the people and by the people, and I am in agreement completely.

I honestly seek the vote and support of the people May 31, 1960.

Respectfully,
Reedie L. Hilyer
(Pd. Pol. Adv. by Reedie L. Hilyer)

Carroll pitches 2-0 Win over Lanier

by Wayne Atcheson

With two outs in the seventh inning, Clay Carroll hadn't yielded Lanier a single hit.

Bob Sterningberg was the batter and the count was three balls and two strikes.

Carroll reared back and threw and the call was a ball, but could have easily been a strike. It was a very close pitch.

A Single Over Second

A single over second by a Selma man ruined the dream game.

Charles Bedgood walked and Carroll struck out Bill Boyd to end the game.

Up until the last inning only two Lanier batters had reached base.

First Batter Walks

Carroll walked the first batter, but he was thrown out at second trying to steal. This play really sparked the Tigers.

Clanton scored their first run in the first inning on four walks and a sacrifice.

Then in the sixth none other than Clay Carroll lifted one over the centerfield fence for a home run.

When the game which was played Friday was over Clanton had won 2 to 0.

Carroll Gives Up 1 Hit

Carroll had struck out 12, walked four, and given up one hit.

In the meantime Clanton had gotten only three hits. They were singles by Warren Edwards and Harold Wright and Carrolls homer.

This game was the quarter finals in the third district. Last Tuesday's game was the semi finals.

The two winners in the semifinals will play for the third district crown.

The winner goes to the state play off.

by Wayne Atcheson

Kieth Mims, a sophmore starting his first game of the season on the mound, pitched Clanton over Selma 7 to 5 on May 11.

Mims gave up eight hits, three walks, and struck out three. It was his second victory against no losses for the season.

It also was the Tigers ninth straight victory.

Hutchinson Scores in 1st

After two outs in the first inning Clarkie Hutchinson walked, stole second, and came in on Clay Carrills single. Selma rallied for three runs also in the first go around.

Selma Leads 3 to 1

Bruce Moore reached first via error and Jimmy Bedgood singled. Both boys stile base and Travis Smitherman drove them in with a double. Bill Jones singled Smitherman home and Selma toc the lead 3 to 1.

Selma scored again in the third on two errors and a stolen base.

The Tigers tied the affair up in the next inning with three runs.

Clay Carroll was hit by a pitched ball and back to back singles by Harold Wright and Warren Edwards drove in Carroll.

Wright & Edwards Scores

Two Selma errors then sent Wright and Edwards across the plate.

Clanton took the lead for good in the sixth on four hits.

Begin at the Southwest Corner of the Northwest Fourth of Section 16, Township 21 North, Range 12 East and run thence East along The Quarter line nine chains and fifty links to the point of beginning being a point on the East Right-of-Way Line of the Randolph-Maplesville paved public road where said East Right-of-Way Line intersects the South Line of said Northwest Fourth. From said point of beginning run thence North 18 degrees and 30 minutes West along the East Right-of-Way Line of the said Maplesville - Randolph Paved Road for a distance of seven chains and ninety-six links; thence run North 15 degrees and 30 minutes West 8 chains and 48 links, thence run East 20 chains and 12 links to the West Right-of-Way Line of the Gulf, Mobile and Ohio Railroad; thence run South 13 degrees and 30 minutes East along the West Riht-of-Way Line of said railroad for a distance of 16 chains to the South line of the Northwest Fourth of Section 16, Township 21 North, Range 12 East; thence run West along said Quarter's South Line as it is marked by an ancient fence and hedge row 19 chains and 8 links to the point of beginning. Containing 30.18 acres and being situated in the South Half of the Northwest Fourth of Section 16, Township 21 North, Range 12 East, St. Stephens Meridian, in Chilton County, Alabama.

That the said petition, the applicant prays that this Court will make and enter an order appointing a day for the hearing of said application and for such other orders and procedure as may be necessary. You will take notice further that the Court has appointed the 15th day of June, 1960, at the hour of 10:00 A.M. to hear said application, and the hearing will be held in the Chambers of the Judge of Probate at the Courthouse in Clanton, Alabama, at which time you may appear and contest the same if you so desire.

Witness my hand this 17th day of May, 1960.

Sue Culp

Rev. Lane delivered a wonderful sermon to a nice crowd on Sunday morning. We had some visitors and welcome them back each time they can come.

The WSCS met at the church on Monday night. 12 ladies and six children were present. It was decided to have an ice cream supper on Saturday night. Everyone is urged to be sure and attend. Refreshments were served after the meetings.

Enjoys Fish Supper

Little Mike Scott spent Saturday and Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Smoke. Those enjoying a delicious fish supper at the camp of Mr. and Mrs. Smoke on Friday night were: Rev. and Mrs. Lane, Ray, Jr. and Phillis Ann, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Wililams and Debbie, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Mims, Billy and Betty, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wilson, Wayne and Elaine, Mr. Harold Gilliland and Miss Nancy Carter, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Ellison and Hal, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mims and Glenda and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Culp. Everyone had a wonderful time.

Miss Helen Kelley of Birmingham, was the week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Ellison and Hal. Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Culp were supper guests on Saturday night and dinner guests on Sunday of the Ellisons.

Mrs. G. C. Vance was honored at a birthday supper Saturday night. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Wilton Sanders, of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Taub, Mr. Dewey Hand and Miss Doris Sander and the honoree. Mr. and Mrs. Sanders spent the week end with Mrs. Vance.

Mrs. Sam Taub, Mrs. Era Wyatt and Glenda Kendrick visited Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Cost and Larry in Columbiana Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jones and children visited Mr. and Mrs. Marion Headley and children for a while Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Hollis Smith and Robin visited Mrs F. G. Mayfield in the Chilton County Hospital for a while Sunday afternoon.

We would like to add that Mrs. J. T. Williams made the trip to Partlow on Wednesday, May 4th. We are sorry that her name was left off last week's list.

We are very happy to report that Mr. W. D. Culp is doing some better at this time. We trust that he will continue to improve.

Pleasant Grove MYF came to our church Sunday night and presented their regular program. It was a very good program and everyone enjoyed it very much.

Remember the supper at the church Saturday night and be sure and attend.

Mrs. O. C. McCuller is spending a few days with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Headley and children.

$1200 SCHOLARSHIP OFFERED SOME CHILTON YOUNGSTER

The Federal Land Bank of New Orleans is awarding a $1200 scholarship each year to an Alabama farm boy who enters the school of agriculture or the department of vocational agriculture education at Auburn Univesrity, announced G. B Auburtin, manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of Marion, Alabama.

4 4-H or FFA Member

To be eligible for a scholarship the applicant must be a member of the 4-H or FFA. He must rate in the upper 30 percent of his senior class and show leadership ability, Auburtin says.

Auburtin states that according to John L. Ryan, persident of the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans, the scholarship is being awarded to stimulate farm-trained youth to enter Auburn and to assist those boys to obtain college degrees who might no otherwise be able to enter college.

$300 Per Year for Year

The $1200 scholarship for the winner will be given at the rate of $300 per year for four years. Once a boy wins a scholarship he will continue to draw the yearly amount so long as he stays in the upper 30 percent of the school or department in which he is enrolled.

Auburtin advises that interested boys should contact either the principal of the school, the county agent, vo-ag teacher, or the manager of the Federal Land Bank Association and request that an application blank be secured.

All applications are to be submitted to Auburn University, Auburn, Alabama.

Near 7,000 Receive $75 Old Age Pensions

Nearly 7,000 old folks are now darwing old age pensions amounting to at least $75 a month or more.

A large portion of these draw more than $100 a month.

The $75-plus pensions are paid to to persons in extreme need. All are in licensed nursing homes or require nursing care.

Gov. John Patterson reported that the number of perosns drawing pensions of $75 or more totaled 6,850 in the month of April. This is an increase of 1,000 during the last six months.

The average old age payment in April was $53.2'--a record high.

Dsepite the large number of old age pensioners receiving $75 and over, the average is reduced because of many payments of only about $10 going to persons who have sizeable "outside income." This income is counted in their budget in computing the amount of their old age benefit.

The average nevertheless has steadily climbed from $37.82 in September 1958 to -45.32 last September and past $50 for the first time in March.

Farm drownings have increased with the increase in farm ponds. So it is best to train children in water safety and consider safety features when the pond is built.

FHA County Office Clerk Cited For Superior Work

Mrs. Helen P. Blackmon, County Office Clerk for the Farmers Home Administration at Clanton Alabama, received a superior service award at U. S. Department of Agriculture ceremonies in Washington, D.C. ,today (May 17.) Six other employees from six other areas, including the District of Columbia, received similar awards presented by Ezra Taft Benson, Secretary of Agrculture, at ceremonies held on the Washington Mosument grounds.

Mrs. Blackmon's citation was for "Demonstrating unusual skill in carrying out county office clerical duties, excelling in training assistant county office clerks, and exceptional service to farm families in Chilton County, Ala."

Outstanding Office Clerk

FHA State Director James T. Lunsford, Montgomery, said Mrs. Blackmon is "One of our outstanding county office clerks," and said she is one of two FHA employees in Alabama who have received two "Outstanding" ratings. She has received cash awards for two suggestions for work improvement.

In addition to her regular duties in the Clanton office, Mrs. Blackmon has been responsible for training four assistant county office clerks. Three other assistant clerks have improved their knowledge of their duties to borrower families by serving under the supervision of Mrs. Blackmon for short periods of time.

Mrs. Blackmon was born near Okolona, Miss., and attended high school and business college in Birmingham, Ala. Before she began work with FHA in 1951 as assistant county office clerk at Clanton, her experience included work as a dental assistant, decretary, housewive, and circuit co ter. She was promoted ent position in 1953.

NAACP Bloc Negro Vote Backs Pepper for President of Public Service Commission

In the primary of May 3rd, Pepper received the official endorsement of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. For example:

In Precinct 9, Box 1, Birmingham, there are 1,300 qualified voters. Of these, 1,291 are colored.

PEPPER received	515 votes
OWEN received	26 votes
KING received	20 votes
SNIDER received	3 votes

Pepper received OVER 98% of the more than 70,000 Negro votes cast in Alabama.

Does this NAACP support mean that Pepper will help sabotage the segregation policy that Jack Owen has so rigidly enforced for thirteen years?

123 more pounds beef per acre with nitrogen

Recent experiments with Dallisgrass at the Alabama Experiment Station show that beef production can be increased up to 123 pounds per acre by fertilizing with nitrogen. At present prices for beef and nitrogen this amounts to over $3 worth of beef for each dollar spent on nitrogen. The amount of additional beef produced per acre increased as the nitrogen was increased from 0 to 40 pounds per acre and from 40 to 80 pounds per acre. Here are the figures taken from this report:

Pounds of Nitrogen	Pounds of Beef Produced
0—per acre	168 pounds per acre
*40—per acre	261 pounds per acre
80—per acre	291 pounds per acre

*200℔ USS Ammonium Sulfate Supplies 42℔ Nitrogen
400℔ USS Ammonium Sulfate Supplies 84℔ Nitrogen

Follow these proven results and top-dress your pastures with nitrogen. Nitrogen increases forage yields, protein content and beef production. You can graze more animals per acre, so your income per acre is higher, too.

For the best in nitrogen, ask your dealer for USS Ammonium Sulfate. It's granular, so it's easy to apply. It stays dry, doesn't absorb moisture. Won't clog your spreader. USS Ammonium Sulfate is 21% nitrogen, 24% sulfur and it's leach resistant. And it's available in bag or bulk. When you buy in bulk you get extra savings. USS is a registered trademark

This Is Your Life Program

Mrs. Katie Lou Payne was complimented at a surprise "This Is Your Life" program at Thorsby High School Tuesday night, May 10. She was escorted to the stage by PTA president, Mr. P. F. Singley, and seated in a spotlight. A pupil of hers, Royce Collins, carried a beautiful orchid corsage on a tray to the stage where Thorsby's Mayor Hon. Grover A. Bice, pinned the orchid on her and made a few well chosen remarks about Mrs. Payne, who is one of Thorsby's leading citizens.

She began teaching at an early age. Her first school was at Woodstock, Ala., and one of her first pupils, Troy Sansing and his wife, and daughter, attended the affair. Mrs. Payne boarded in the home they live in and Mrs. Payne would baby sit for his little sister, Mary Ellen Sansing, who was also present, but who now lives in Tuscaloosa.

Her next place to teach was at Shady Grove near Randolph, and coming from that school was a former pupil, Mrs. Ollie Posey and Mrs. Curry Smith of Randolph.

Mrs. Abney, a former teaching mate of Mrs. Payne, when she taught in Maplesville represented that school. While teaching in Maplesville she and Mr. Pope Payne, Sr., a member of the Chilton County Board of Education, were married and she came to Thorsby where she temporarily stopped her teaching career to help in Payne Dry Goods and Hardware Store. But she soon returned to her teaching this time, and first grade teacher in Thorsby Elementary School where she is now retiring from. One of her first pupils in Thorsby was Floyd Collins of Birmingham, who came down for the program and represented the class.

For the past 13 consecutive years she has been a first grade teacher in the Thorsby Elementary school. Representing the classes of the 13 years were the Kings and Queens chosen from her room at Halloween.

They were: Rebecca Collins and Leroy Blackmon; Rebecca Bentley and Danny Gletty; Judy Childress and Gary Ross; Serita Baggett and James William Collins; Julia Smith and Jo Michael Robinson; Pat Maddox and Tom Bentley; Trudy Collins and Hank Robinson.

Kathy Sharman and Chris Williams; Cheryl Martin and Kendall Martin; Rita Littleton and Kyle Porter; Brenda Robinson and Eddie Joe Wilson; Judy Kincaid and Ronny Giles; Patricia Gentry and Royce Collins.

Members of the Educational governing body of Chilton County: Supt. Bing Lecroy and wife; Miss Louise Foshee, and board members, James Duke Heflin and wife, and transportation supt., Mr. Spicer and wife were present, besides the honorees husband, Pope Payne, Sr. who is still a member of The Board of Education.

A reception following the program was held in the Thorsby High School dining hall where the big four tiered beautifully decorated cake in yellow and green, was cut the honoree cut the first slice and this was served with punch, nuts and mints to a large crowd of friends.

Hostesses were: Mds. Bruna Sharman, Ella Robinson, Bess Bentley, Evelyn Wood, Idell Kincaid, Elsie Payne, Clorine Littleton and Kay Collins. The latter two arrenged the entire program.

Maplesville FHA Elects '60-'61 Officers

The Maplesville FHA Chapter held it's final meeting for the year 1959-60 last Thursday in the Home Ec. Department.

The purpose of this meeting was to elect the new officers for the following year 1960-61.

New officers are: President, Patty Hayes; Vice-President, Dorothy Chapman; Secretary, Carolyn Harrison; Treasurer, Jackie Edwards; Reporter, Evelyn Short; Historian, Laura Ann Wilson; Parliamentarian, Joyce Chambers; Recreation Leader, Alice Fay McCinn.

Shall Electors Be "FREE" or Be DEMOCRATS?

The ten candidates for Presidential Electors listed below are Democrats who are pledged to vote for a Democratic president this Fall. Who are their opponents, who keep saying they want to be "FREE" to vote against a Democratic candidate for president?

For one thing, they are servants of the "Big Mu'es", employees of the Utility Trust, representatives of Wall Street, or big plantation owners who certainly are not interested in the welfare of the working man and woman, nor the small farmer, nor small business man.

These opponents keep talking about the race issue. There is no disagreement between ths two groups on the race issue. The disagreement is on ECONOMICS!

The State and National Democratic Party has fought for old age benefits, Social Security, TVA, REA, better housing, aid for small business, hospital construction and health protection, fair labor laws, aids to education—in general, FAMILY SECURITY. But . . .

These Alabama opponents, these "back-door" Republicans, "make-believe" Democrats and so-called "Independents" say they want to be FREE! Free for what?

FREE of any obligation to Alabama voters?
FREE to vote for Nixon-NAACP Republicans?
FREE to bolt and walk out of the Democratic Party?
FREE to throw your vote away as they did in 1948?
FREE to make secret back-room deals with your votes?
FREE to destroy the Democratic Party in Alabama?
FREE to bankrupt the working man?
FREE to bankrupt the farmer and small business man?
FREE to destroy old age benefits?
FREE to destroy TVA, REA, Social Security, etc.?
FREE to turn the federal government and national prosperity over to Wall Street and selfish interests?
FREE to help elect Tricky-Dick Nixon president?
FREE to enslave the common man with the shakles of the great corporations?

So as a "smoke screen" they scream about States Rights, which is not an issue at all because all factions are agreed on that question!

The primary May 31 is an ideal opportunity for you to "kill two birds with one stone"; i.e. VOTE FOR THE FOLLOWING 10 Democrats as presidential electors pledged to get the Republicans out of the White House and put the Democratic presidential nominee on the ballot in November so that you may have an opportunity to vote against Nixon, the Republican nominee. Chilton's Baptist Ministers Go To So. Convention

SEVERAL pastors of the Chilton-Unity Baptist Association are attending the Southern Baptist Convention in Miami this week. Approximately two thousand messengers are expected to register. The Convention is composed of, in round numbers, 31,000 churches with a membership of nine million. Evangelist, Billy Graham, will bring a message at the closing session of this meeting Friday evening. A goal was set to establish 30,000 new churches and mission within five years ending in September, 1964. To date the Southern Convention has advanced ahead of schedule toward reaching this goal.

Chilton-Unity Association is making progress toward her share of this 30,000 Baptist advance.

It appears that all 53 churches and Lomax Mission, are completing plans and preparations for Vacation Bible Schools. Your Missionary will assist any of the churches with plans and announcements for the schools. That address again: 110 Augusta Street. Telephone 1753, Clanton

The prospective bridegroom is employed by a distributing Company in Birmingham.

The wedding will be an event of June 25th at 8 p.m. at the Glen Iris Baptist Church in Birmingham.

LOCAL SCHOOL KIDS VISIT IN MONTGOMERY

First of all we went to the Foremost Milk Company. We toured the plant and learned many interesting things. When we started to leave they gave every child a cup of Foremost ice cream.

Our next stop was at the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. While we were there we were told how Coca-Cola was made and who made up such a wonderful drink. We also saw how the bottles were thrown out if they were broken. At the end of our trip through the plant we each received a Coca-Cola to drink. As we got on the bus each one of us was given a pencil sharpener, which had the name Coca - Cola on it.

When we went to the Capital Mrs. Ousley took us up into the Dome and explained to us who painted the large pictures in the dome. While we were in the Capital we went into Governor Patterson's office and he shook hands with each person and said he was glad we came.

Our next stop was Barber's Pure Milk Company. There we ate lunch in their party room. We rode on some rides after lunch.

From the ,Barber's Pure Milk Co., we went to Jefferson Davis home. His home has two stories. On the second floor we saw the bedrooms and many other things.

We then went to the History and Arlhives Building where everyone enjoyed seeing all the interesting things there. Mrs. Raybon Crew served us an ice cold drink which we enjoyed.

We went to the Governor's mansion and were permitted to see seferal of the beautiful rooms.

JEMISON

Mrs. George Naish

School News

The school yearbook, Volume IX, Panthertracks was delivered to the students last week. The cover is black and gold. Sponsors, Mrs. Edna Reynolds and Mrs. Jessie Ekblad. Lanelle Martin, editor; Irene Henry, co-editor; Ann Killingsworth, business manager; Gwynda Cleckler, advertising manager.

Favorites include: Miss Jemison, Lanelle Martin; Mr. Jemison, John Hall Smith; FFA Sweetheart, Helen Bean; FFA Hero, Raybon Ellison; Miss FHA, Jo Ann Dunaway; Mr. FFA, Ralph Ellison.

Music Recital

Mrs. C. L. Walton (Nell W.) presented a group of personality singers, The Cardinals, and the senior piano students in a recital, Thursday night, May, 12th at the school auditorium.

The setting was one of simplicity. Red birds decorated the back wall of the stage; a large arrangement of red roses was placed at the stage front.

The Cardinals, girls in white blouses, red ties and red skirts, boys in white shirts and black trousers.

Mrs. Walton was the accompanist as Miss Margo Gentry, soloist and leader, as the Cardinals sang, Do-Re-Me. Miss Joyce Champion was accompanist for the other leaders who were: Janet Collum, as the group sang, Mi Cheara; Velera Pate, leading Little Peter Rabbit; Harry Hale and Randall Chandler, as they sang, Lullaby and the concluding number, Delaware led by Susan Smith.

The Cardinals included with those already mentioned: Ricky Rutherford, Kay Champion, Veronica Harrell, David Sample, Amelia Bolton, Janelle Lenoir, Deborah Littlefield, Roger Smith, Mary Stricklin, Linda Killingsworth, Sherry Littlefield, Larry Garrett, Sheila Conway, James Morris, Louise Bolton, Wanda McCluskey, Judy Plyer, Michael Chandler, Brenda Glass, Gwen Nelson, Richard Guy Donald Glass, Judy Garner, Mark Pardue and Donna McNeill.

The senior music students taking their places on the stage presented a delightful picture, the girls in fluffy ruffled evening dresses in white, red, and pastels; the young men in white coats and black trousers.

There were 21 young people in progress. Numbers were presented this recital, each showing marked from Strauss, Handel, Gounod, Beethoven, Wagner, Debussy and Sibelius.

Special mention should be made regarding the three young men students, Donald Davenport, Charles Easterling and Franklin Johnson. Donald has several years to go, Franklin and Charles will present senior recitals in 1961.

Miss Karen Gentry sang, Eternally. Misses Lanelle Martin and Carol Brasher; Misses Maro Gentry and Carol Brasher presented duets.

Mike Celebrates

Monday afternoon, May 9th, was a happy time for Mike Woodley, when he celebrated his 10th birthday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Woodley.

The birthday cake, decorated with cowboys held ten candles.

The group played, pinning the donkeys tail, then separated, with the boys playing ball and cowboys, the girls, drop the handkerchief and tag.

Mike then opened his many gifts and displayed them.

The birthday cake was served with ice cream and punch.

The guests received party hats as take home gifts.

Those present to help Mike celebrate were: Vicki, sister of Mike, Barbara Headley, Larry Headley, Sherron Headley, Harry Hale, Randall and Michael Chandler, Mack. Nell and Earl Kililngsworth, Ronny Carmichael, Judy Plyer, Janelel Lenoir, Veronica Harrell, Roger Crowson, Michael Thomas, Murray Glass, Jr., Richard Guy, Judy Garner, Velera Pate, Bridget Price, Patricia and Cynthia Vnes. Mrs. Joyce Klilngsworth was present and assisted Mrs. Woodley.

WMU Circle Entertained

Mrs. Jeff Hand II entertained at her home in Columbiana Mon-Circle Two of the Jemison WMU day afternoon.

The program for the afternoon study was Missionary Organizations or Education Youth in Missions. Mrs. Annie Cooper was program chairman.

Mrs. Tom Cost gave the devotion, reading Psalm 127:3-4, Proverbys 22:6, 29:15, Matt. 11:4, 15A. Mrs. Sam Woodley led in prayer.

Those on program were Miss Mary Clements, Mrs. Sam Woodley and Mrs. Louis Brasher.

Mrs. Cost made a report on the organizing a YWA at Macedonia Church.

The hostess served a conjealed salad, sandwiches and cookies with cold drinks.

Surprise Birthday Dinner

Mrs. Euel Atkinson received a delightful surprise Sunday, when her daughter, Mrs. James Porter and Mrs. Albert Plier served a delicious dinner for her birthday. Each family brought covered dishes and all enjoyed the day together.

Those present to help Mrs. Atkinson celebrate were: Mr. Euel Atkinson and Wayne, Mr. Albert Plier and the two children, Mr. Jamfes Porter and two children, Mr. Athan Plier, Mr. Monroe Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. Alford Davenport, Kenneth and Donald, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Little and Ronny.

Coming and Going

Week end guests of Rev. and Mrs. Louis Brasher and family were her sister and brother-in--law, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Watkins and two young sons of Talladega.

S-Sgt. and Mrs. Virgil Lowery and two young daughters, Cheryl and Patti Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Lowery and Suzanne, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Powell of Birmingham were guests of Mr. and Mrs. K. V. Lowery, Ned and Robert.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse James and three children, Jeb, Jerry and Emily of, Lexington, Mass., were recent guests of her parents, the John eral days in Elberton, Ga., on L. Haymans. Mr. James spent sevbusiness.

Spending Sunday with Mrs. A. C. Bratton and Larry were Mrs. Ida Bean, Mrs. Leila Wilson, Mrs. Hazel Anderson, Mrs. Louise Byrum and Mr. Charles Nail.

BOTH EAST-WEST GAMES END IN TIES

by Wayne Atcheson

Both games of the East-West games ended in ties. The first ending 4 to 4 and second 2-2.

The West scored in the third inning of the first tilt when Forrest Brown of Montevallo walked and scored on a sacrifice, an error, and a double by Danny Thornton of Montevallo.

West Scores 3 in 5th —

In the fifth frame the West scored three runs. Two consecutive errors, a singe by George Underwood of Montevallo, and two sacrifices accounted for the runs.

The East squad rallied for all four runs in the fifth. They came after two outs, too. John Story of Alex Citf walked. Dick Northcutt of Jemison got the first hit of the afternoon for the East, by hitting a triple.

Gene Sorrell of Jemison walked and back to back singles by Henry Britt of Thompson Higa and Gerald Queen of Alex City brought the runs home.

Game Stopped After 6th

Since there is much substitution, which takes up time no winner is necessary, the games were halted after six innings even though they were tied.

CLANTON TIGERS TIE WITH ALL-STARS

The fifteen stars chosen by the scouts after the first game were George Underwood, Ruben Hayes, Forrest Brown, Danny Thornton of Montevallo; Earl Griffin and Kenneth Scarbrough of Verbena; Dick Northcutt of Jemison; Joe Bob Mitchell, John Story, Glenn Gilbert of Alex City; Joel Lovett and Earl Tyus of Shelby County; Kenny Goldstein of Indian Springs; Kenneth Reach of West Blocton and Garry Garrett of Vincent.

Underwood Led Game Off

George Underwood led the second game off by saling a double over the right fielders head. Clay Carroll attempting to pick Underwood off base threw wild to second base and the ball got by the centerfielder and Underwood scored.

Clanton Scores In 1st

Clanton scored a run in the first also after two outs. Kenneth Mims reached second base after the left fielder missed a fly ball. Clay Carroll promptly singled Mims home.

The all-stars tallied their second and final run in the second. Kenneth Reach of West Blocton doubled and John Story of Alex City singled to drive him in.

Tigers Tie Things Up

The Tigers rallied and tied things up in the fifth. Two walks went to Warren Edwards and Elliott Monroe. Kenneth Mims grounded to the second baseman who threw over to the shortstop for one out and in trying to get a double play the shortstop threw wild at first allowing Edwards to score.

Mims Relieves Carroll

Kieth Mims, only a sophomore, relieved Carroll in the third and did a fine job at the mound. Mims allowed only one hit.

Coach Don Finlayson of the Tigers made a wise decision by substituting Mims for Carroll in the third, because Carroll had to pitch against Selma last Tuesday.

If Clanton can get by Selma they only need to wine one more playoff to be in the State tournament.

WANTED!

Loyal Democratic Volunteer

CAMPAIGN WORKERS

You can come to the aid of the Alabama Democratic Party if you will do some campaign work in your own neighborhood or county. Give as much time as you can spare.

Supplies of Democratic Loyalist campaign literature have been published for free distribution and a supply will be sent to you promptly. Perhaps you can organize meetings in private homes, school houses, or public buildings. Distribute literature at such meetings or door-to-door, and don't overlook the use of your telephone to talk to your friends.

Finally, if you can make any financial contribution of $1 or more, it is needed and will be gratefully received. Contributions and requests for literature should be mailed to "Get the Republicans Out" Committee, Room 206, Molton Hotel, Birmingham, Alabama, or telephone AL 1-4026 or FA 3-6996.

Urge your friends and neighbors to go to the polls on May 31st and vote for these 10 Loyal Democrats: C. G. Allen, Dave Archer, Leonard Beard, J. E. Brantley, W. L. Chenault, Karl Harrison, Bill Jones, Wm. D. Partlow, Ben F. Ray, D. Hardy Riddle.

$1,000 Contributed To TB Association

L. O. Brackeen of Auburn, president of the Alabama Tuberculosis Association extended congratulations to Mrs. R. M. Tucker of Clanton, Chilton County's Christmas Seal Chairman, for helping to make this year's TB fighting campaign an outstanding success.

Mr. Brackeen said "Chilton County's campaign reached a final total of $1,003.50."

It took the cooperation of many to bring this year's Seal Campaign success", said the official. And he added that he especially wished to show deep appreciation, not only to the chairman, but to the many volunteers who gave countless hours of service to the TB effort.

Personal Notes

DR. Sigurd F. Bryan, professor of Bible at Howard College was the Saturday night guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bowden.

MR. and Mrs. C. E. Bowden, Mrs. Curtis Dykes and daughter Carolyn, attended the worship service of the Westview Baptist Church of Sylacauga, Ala. Sunday night where Dr. Bryan has been interim pastor for the past five months. Upon his completion there Sunday night of interim pastor. He leaves Howard College Friday for two months tour of the Holy Land. We wish for him the best of God's blessings on this wonderful tour.

Courthouse Bond Issue Saves Thousands

THE Board of Revenue and Control met in an adjourned session of a regular session Tuesday, May 24th, 1960 for the purpose of receiving and opening bids for the sale of 8600,000.00 principal amount of General Obligation Courthouse and Jail Bonds of the County which had been advertised for sale.

Low Bidders Awarded—

There were twenty firms who submitted four combined bids and as a result of tabulations, by the Board, of said bids it was ascertained that the proposal submitted by Sterne, Agee & Leach; Hendrix & Mayes, nc.; Stubbs, Watkins & Lombardo, nc.; Thornton, Mober & Farrish and First National Bank of Birmingham, for the purchase of Bonds in the amount of 3.9641%, net annual interest cost to county was the best and lowest bid and the bid was awarded to them.

Excellent Bid, Experts Say—

According to the best Bond expert opinions available, this was an excellent bid and it was estimated by them that the General Obligation Bonds saved the taxpayers more than $46,500.00 had it been necesary to issue Revenue Warrants which would have carred at least ½% higher interest rate and been payable solely and only from the 2½ mill road and bridge tax. Needless to say, the Board members were most jubulant over this huge savings to the taxpayers of this County. This savings exceeded their greatest expectations back in April when they asked the voters to detrmine this issue on May 3rd when you voted 3160 to 544 in favor of issuing General obligation Bonds.

It is a well-known fact that interest rates have increased greatly in the past four years but by comparison with the net Annual Interest cost to the County of 4.05765% on courthouse warrants offered back in October 1956 when the officials were considering building a courthouse, it appears that the present rate of interest now offered 3.9641% is far greater than could have been reasonably expected.

It was pointed out to the Members of the Board by Mr. John DeRamus, Representative of Thornton, Mober & Farrish that Moody Associates, National Rating Agency, had given Chilton County a B-AA rating which is considered outstanding for any County. This rating was given after a careful study of the financial structure and administration of the County government.

There is no doubt but what the harmony and unity of the Board and its action had some influence in convincing the voters of its earnestness and sincerity as reflected by ther overwhelming vote not only to build a new courthouse, but to issue General Obligation Bonds to pay for it even the financiers believe "United we stand - divided we fall" so let us all pull together for a better County in which we live.

yours truly

NOTE OF THANKS

I wish to take this means to express my deep appreciation for the many wonderful things my many friends did for me during my recent illness.

You may have thought it a small deed, but it was a big help to me. I shall never forget what each of you did during this time.

I am better now and invite all of my friends to come by and see me.

May the richest of God's blessings be with each one and all.

Many thanks again.

—W. C. MOORE

CARD OF THANKS

We are sincerely grateful for the kind words and thouhtful courtesies shown us during our bereavement caused by the tragic accident which took the life of our loved one, George Edward Raines.

Thanks is not enough for all the goodness which was manifested in so many ways, but it is all we can say or do! God bless each of you for your kindness in our hours of greatest need.

Solicitor Gives Voting Law

NUMEROUS complaints have been made to your Solicitor's Office regarding voting irregularities and violation of our voting laws in the May 3, Democratic Primary in Chilton County.

Acting on the belief that one of the primary objectives of law enforcement is the prevention of crime, additional plain clothes deputies will be stationed at many voting places in Chilton County on May 31. These individuals will be there solely for the purpose of observation and to witness and irregularities appearing around the polls.

It is believed that the vast majority of our people will obey the laws if they know what the laws are.

Below is a brief resume' of the laws pertaining to the conduct of individuals about the polls and the duties of the officials of the boxes:

"A Returning Officer shall not be in the voting place except to cast his own ballot and finally to receive the box to return it. Title 17, Section 357, 1940 Code of Alabama.

No ballot shall be counted until the polls are closed. Title 17, Sec. 363.

Each voter must mark his ballot in the room where the election is being held and not elsewhere. Title 17, Sec. 359.

If a voter is unable to mark his own ballot and request assistance, the inspector shall swear him as to such disability to mark his own ballot, and two, no more or less, inspectors shall assist the voter in making his ticket. Title 17, Sec. 359.

No inspector shall electioneer or attempt to electioneer with a voter or attempt to influence his vote by suggestion or otherwise; nor shall such inspector afterwards divulge how such elector voted in any race on the ballot. Title 17, Sec. 405.

Any person who assists a voter in preparing his ballot except as he is authorized to assist such voter under the primary election laws of this State, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Title 17, Sec. 404.

No person shall buy or attempt to buy the vote of another. Title 17, Sec. 396.

These Are But A Few—

The above are just some of the laws that our citizens have complained that have been violated in past elections in Chilton County.

Complaint has also been made that intoxicating beverages are being consumed around the voting places.

This cannot be condoned and will not be tolerated. The Sheriff's Office has been requested to have additional men deputized for the May 31st Primary and to apprehend any person found with any intoxicating drink at or near the voting place.

As your solicitor, call upon the citizens of Chilton County who are interested in clean elections to cooperate with us in stamping out now and and all violations of our election laws."

Respectfully,
Circuit Solicitor

"Children nowadays are tyrants. They contradict their parents, chatter before company, gobble their food, and tyrannize their teachers.

"Our youths love luxury. They have bad manners, contempt for authority, disrespect for older people."

The complaint's so familiar in this year of 1960 that I was surprised to read the other day it was made by Socrates, the Grecian sage, in the fifth century B.C.

So, from a long way back, elders have been viewing youngsters with some thing akin to alarm. And somehow through the ages the world has continued to spin . . .

On a TV program recently, an elder asked a group of teenagers what was most important in life. The silence finally was broken by a lad whose reply warmed my heart:

"I go along with my father. He says the most important thing is to have something to do, something to look forward to, and someone to love."

And isn't that just about it? So simply, so beautifully, so truly stated, for all of us to ponder.

NEWS OF — MACEDONIA

Mrs. Ezra Moore

Vacation Bible School begins Monday night, May 30. Mrs. Coy Rasberry is president and Mr. Briggs Lee Gibson is assistant.

Please have your children ready every one be at Mr. and Mrs. Billy to begin. Mrs. Rasberry asks that Hayes home Friday night to practice the songs to be used during Bible School.

H. D'ers Go To Birmingham—
The H. D. Club members from Macedonia enjoyed the annual trip Wednesday to many interesting places in Birmingham were: Mesdames Dick Langston, Morgan Ratliff, Marvin Mosley, Jimmie Ward, Proctor Davenport and Ezra Moore. The first places we toured were the Progressive Farmer Building, Museum, City Hall, the new Farmers Market, Arlington Shrine and the Zoo. This was a very enjoyable day.

A large crowd attended the graduation at Maplesville High School Friday night. Our graduates from this community were: Miss Emma Jean Rasberry who will soon take a business course at Alverson-Draughn and Mr. Briggs Lee Gibson who will enter Howard College. We will miss them sorely.

Our hearts were made sad over the death of Mr. L. L. Seales of Maplesville. Our heartfelt sympathy to the family.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Moore have moved into their new home here. We welcome them into our community. Their visitors during the week-end were: Mr. and Mrs. David Moore and Delera of Bessemer, Mr. Willie Hayes of Clanton, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Nix and children of Plantersville and Mr. and and Mrs. D. E. Moore.

Mr. Auburn Glass of Bessemer visited the Wards this past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Atcheson's Sunday dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Cooper. Their Wednesday dinner guests were Mrs. Joyce Tillery and boys of Randolph and Mr. and Mrs. M. Z. Atcheson from Calera.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Ward spent Sunday in Clanton with Mr. and Mrs. N. E. West. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Onzie Garner.

Mr. Joe Ward spent Sunday with his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Merchant in Thorsby. Mrs. Merchant is ill at this time and we wish for her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hayes, Miss Evelyn Nix, Mrs. J. W. Veazey and Miss Mariah Freeman visited relatives in Selma Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Gibson left Monday for a week's vacation in South Alabama.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Todd will be leaving next Sunday to spend a few days with his parents in Florence, Ala. before leaving for Ohio where he hopes to get his Ph. D. in Agriculture in the next 2 years.

Bethsalem HD Club Get 'Jam' Without Even Cooking

The Bethsalem Home Demonstration Club met May 12 with Miss Davis, 12 members and one new member present, in the home of Mrs. A. J. Wilkins.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. E. S. Short in the absence of our president, Mrs. J. O. McGee. Mrs. C. R. Pierce and Mrs. A. J. Wilkins gave the devotional and prayer. Mrs. C. L. Wilkins read the hymn and story of "More Love To Thee O Christ." We then ave the Alabamian Creed. Miss Davis and Mrs. Short were in charge of the demonstration "jam without cooking". We also received much information on freezing our foods.

Minutes were read and approved. Delicious refreshments and games were enjoyed by the group, with Mrs. Short and Mrs. M. Q. Yeargan winning the prizes.

We dismissed with the Club collect to meet with Mrs. J. O. McGee in June.

A rubber guard on the end of the kitchen faucet will help prevent chipped dishes or glassware.

SERVE sticks of peppermint or lemon candy with cups of steaming tea. Guests will stir, sweeten, and flavor their tea all at once and there are no spoons to wash. Peppermint or molasses sticks are also good with hot cocoa.

PEOPLE who aren't happy with what they have, probably wouldn't be happy if they had a lot more.

TEMPERAMENT is the polite name given to pure cussedness when it is one of our own faults.

IT'S about fifty-fifty. Half the people in the world don't know when they are licked and the other half are licked before they start.

MEN being human and all being born equal is what makes it so hard to forgive the success of our friends.

FOLKS who travel the straight and narrow path, never get into a traffic jam.

IT'S what so many don't know about driving that causes so many accidents.

HIGHWAY accidents would be cut to nothing if all automobiles were sold for cash only.

YOU soon learn that you can think a lot of things that you cannot say.

THE reputation of a man depends a lot on whether he chooses good friends or bad friends.

Congratulations Judge--

IT is a distinct honor for Chilton County to furnish the first judge for the new Circuit Court made possible by the last State Legislature for Chilton, Autauga and Elmore Counties.

It is an honor for Mr. Joseph J.Mullins, who has been elected to that office due to his overwhelming vote in the May 3rd Primary, to have received such a vote of confidence. No more honest, upright citizen has Chilton County produced than Joseph J. Mullins, and he goes into the new office with the confidence of the people that he will serve them to the very best of his ability.

We congratulate him heartily on his victory and wish for him a term of service to the people filled with justice, wisdom and dignity.

Don't Let It Happen Again--

IN 1948 the people in Alabama were deprived of the standard American choice—Democrats versus Republicans.

Then the Dixicrats captured the Democratic Rooster and deprived the voters in Alabama of the right to vote Democratic.

If the Democrats in Alabama want the right to vote for the Democratic candidates against the Republican-NAACP-Nixon ticket, they must now support the 11 Democratic candidates for Presidential elector.

In 1948 in Alabama, it was possible to vote for Dewey but not for the President of the United States—Truman. That must not happen again in 1960!

The 1948 circumstance was a bitter pill for Alabamians. There was much squawking about the "Right to Vote" but still Democrats could not vote for Democrats.

The trouble was the electoral college was not understood by people because all their lives it had been routine. The people did not understand clearly that they do not vote directly for a presidential candidate, but vote for 11 electors who in turn vote for a presidential candidate.

If the Back-Door Republicans and Make-Believe Democrats win in May, then we will have 1948 all over again. The door will be slammed on the people in Alabama who want to vote Democratic in November.

Nixon and his crowd would like for Alabama to lose its right to vote again.

This can be prevented by the election in May of candidates pledged to support the Democratic nominees for President and Vice-President.

2nd In Series -
What It Takes To Make A Doctor

WHO is today's doctor; what are his skills, his ideals, his ethics? What personal traits make him worthyof the title, Doctor of Medi-worthy of the title, Doctor of Medi-

The doctor of 1960 has undergone a process of education far beyond that required in the first decade of the twentieth century. The minimum training includes graduation from the high school, three to four years of college education, four years of medical education, one tc two years of internship, and three to five years of subsequent training if he wishes to become a specialist. Even then his education is not completed, because he must still attend graduate courses and clinics and medical society meetings, and read many periodicals and books to keep abreast of progress in medical knowledge. Moreover, he has never quite completed his examinations, because examinations are required for internships ir many hospitals entrance into many medical organizations, and for certfication as a specialist. For many of these steps in his progress he will have diplomas, usually prominently displayed on his office wall to prove his status.

The Making of a Physician—

Sir William Osler, that immortal physician, once said that "work is the master word in medicine." It begins on the very first day of the doctor's training, and it increases each day thereafter. Preparation for the practice of medicne, perhaps more than for most other human undertakings, is a combination of unending work and study.

Various experiments have been tried to make the academic training of physicians less burdensome. But, these plans have only demonstrated that there can be nc shortcuts in the making of a physician. In fact, authorities generally agree that the long and difficult years of preparation are necessary if we are to continue to have physicians educated in the best traditions of both the humanities and the sciences.

As to the physician's formal education, most medical schools still divide the four-year course into pre-clinical and clinical halves. The first two years of the prospective doctor's studies center upon the normal structure and functions of the human body and the diseases that beset it. These are the years of books and microscopes and laboratory experiments devoted to learning the architecture of the body and its "biological wisdom." There is an increasing trend in many schools, however, to provide students from the start of their training with experience in family and community health problems. In the ilast two years, the student passes from the classroom to the hospital wards and clinics where he begins to breathe the atmosphere he has longed for. There, under the guidance of professrs skilled in various specialties, he examines and treats patients—and sharpens his powers to observe and deduce, sometimes with the aid of diagnostic instruments, and always with eyes ears, and hands which will become increasingly sensitive to manfestations of health and disease.

The Motives for Medicine—

Medicine is no easy path to great riches. The motivations for embarking on a career in medicine are many. Perhaps one derives from an inborn love of science as applied to life and health. And the person who experiences this love simply cannot contemplate any other mission. Medicine may lure a few who see in it the opportunity to win fame by doing the spectacular—to performing seemingly impossible operations, for example, or discovering the cure for cancer. Many medical careers are also shaped by family traditions or by the desire to follow in the footsteps of a physcan whom one has admired. Though the motivations for choosing medicine as a career do vary, the best medical students and the best doctors are surely those who have a genuine interest in people, and a sincere desire to serve their fellow men.

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

ACTION by the House Committee on Appropriations last Friday made available unbudgeted funds that will benefit two great river systems which traverse our 6th Congressional District.

Holt Lock and Dam—

In behalf of the Holt Lock and Dam that is to be located in the 6th District, have been contacting individual members of the Appropriations Committee for several months in an effort to secure approval of the Budget item for this facility and also to obtain additional funds if possible. Not only was the $378,000 contained in the budget approved by the Committee last Friday, but an additional $171,000 was also included. While this added money was not earmarked for construction, there is a possibility that it can be so designated when the appropriations bill is considered in the Senate. If so, constructon of the Holt Lock and Dam will probably begin in calendar year 1961.

The Holt project — a 33-million-dollar navigational facility — represents the final replacement structure in the modernization of the important Warrior-Tombigbee Waterway. It will replace four locks and dams that were built betweon 1905 and 1915 and, when in operation, will greatly increase the operating speeds of barges and towboats above Tuscaloosa.

The new Demopolis and Warrior Locks and Dams and the soon to be completed Jackson Lock and Dam replace nine obsolete structures on the Warrior-Tombigbee and create an efficient water artery between Mobile and Tuscaloosa. With the completion of the Holt Lock and Dam, the long-cherished dream of extending the benefits of a modern river channel above Tuscaloosa will be realized.

Coosa - Alabama Funds—

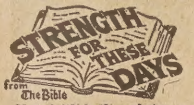
The Coosa-Alabama River System traverses the districts of five members of the Alabama Congressional Delegation. Those of us through whose districts this waterway flows, as well as the other members of the Alabama delegation, have worked closely in an effort to secure planning funds for the proposed Millers Ferry Lock and Dam that is to be located on the Alabama River near Camden. This facility has been recommended by the Corps of Engineers as the logical first step in plans to create an efficient, navigable channel on the river below Montgomery. A report by the Engineers indicates that the Millers Ferry dam and two other authorized structures on the river are economically justified.

For the past three years we have attempted to secure congressional approval of $200,000 in funds for planning the Millers Ferry facility. Each time the proposed appropriation has been voted down by the House Appropriations Committee. The Alabama Congressional Delegation again this year made personal contacts with members of the Committee in an effort to convince them that work on this great waterway should not be further delayed. Our efforts were rewarded when the Committee added to its appropriations bill the sum of $200,000 for further planning and designing of the Millers Ferry installation.

When the government adds locks to the proposed and existing dams built by private enterprise on the Coosa and then constructs three additional locks and dams on the Alabama River, including the Millers Ferry Dam, the Coosa-Alabama system will be navigable from Rome, Georgia, to the Gulf of Mexico.

Clanton Visitor—

It was a pleasure to see Mrs. T. E. Blackmon, Jr. of Clanton when she was in Washington last week to receive an award for superior service with the federal government.



Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.

SOUTHERN BELL

THINGS We see and hear

by BOB

ONE of the gentlemen running for President of the Public Service Commission has expressed 'his opinion' that the large utilities of the State of Alabama should not waste money advertising in newspapers and cut down on their "outrageous" rates. It is 'our' opinion that the utilities, being for the public, have all the more reason to advertise what they are doing so that the people which they serve will better understand the things which man is achieving. If the utility rates are too high, we can think of many ways they can cut down on the expenditures without depriving their customers of the right to know what is going on within the industry. There may be better means of advertising (although we seriously doubt it) but we think that should be decided by the heads of the industry and not the president of the PSC. Although the gentleman we are speaking of has a point —the utility rates are too high— his method of reducing them is impractical. How many of us would know as much as we do about our telephone company or our power company if it were not for the advertising of their services and steps of progress which they do through the newspapers.

AND while we're on politics, still another opinion: we think it should be made abundantly clear to the people of Chilton County that the Loyalist group running for Presidential Elector are not a bunch of "Yam Dankees". The Loyalist are running on the belief that more can be done for the South, and the whole nation, with a Democratc President, regardless of whch candidate. The "Independents' 'who in our opinion are playing on your 'Southern sympathy' by calling themselves States Righters are running on the assumption that if we cannot have the candidate of our choice, then we'll blow the whole thing. There does not seem to us to be much logic in not even being counted! If we completely throw away our vote at the Convention we will not have a chance. . . it will be just like not being there. On the other hand, for the good we can do, we should at least strive incessantly to get ourselves a Democratic President and then go on from there. Are you Southern Democrats likely to be heard by a Republican President — not on your Donkey's ear, you're not. We still have a chance when we are represented. If our votes are killed through the obvious futility of pride then we deserve to be 'ruled' by whomever comes along. Sticking with the Party, we in the South can, at least, argue with them when the time comes. . . throwing our votes away and bolting from the Party will not give us any such privilege and we will be left to the wolves. Courage and integrity, yes! There are very few things to be accomplished by pride alone. The right kind of pride is a by-product of integrity and courage of conviction. It is not much different from any other organization which you are familiar with. . .If we stay in the organization, we have a voice in what takes place (even though a small voice). If we get out of it, for whatever reason, we no longer have a voice. To our way of thinking that is the Democratic principle and one that should be considered come election day.

50 YEARS OF HUMOR

ED Norton, one of the South's best known men in business, TV and philanthropic circles, and former member of the Federal Reserve Bank in Washington, is fond of telling a story which he swears is true. Ed's father was a preacher and after he was near retirement he was placed in charge of arising funds for old Methodist Clergymen and otherwise to help with finances of the church.

A Mrs. P. Y. Gorman, a widow, and supremely rich, had no immediate relatives, so leaders of the church started working on her for a promise that she would leave the bulk of her tremendous fortune to the Methodist Church. She finally made the promise and then seemingly started on a crusade to outlive Methuselah. When she got s speaker, Dr. D. P. Culp, gave the address to the twenty-one graduates. He told them always be prepared and to face the future with what might come and to be ready to answer the questions that they will be asked.

The Invocation was given by Rev. C. P. Haggard. The principal, Mr. Gordon Conway introduced the speaker and gave some helpful remarks to graduates. Also, he awarded the diplomas after Miss Loyce Baker presented each grad.

The pupils of Isabella were all smiles as well as others from other schools last Friday when the last bell rang, at 10 a.m. for this school term.

Personals—

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Williams visited Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bryant and other relatives in Birmingham Sunday.

Mrs. Clyde Hightower and two little daughters of Jacksonville, Fla. are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Conway while their husband and father is away in training. Other week-end guests of the Conways were Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Smith and little daughter Cynthia of Marietta, Ga. and James Olen Conway of Jacksonville State College.

Mrs. Edwin Thornton and Holley visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Middlebrook the past week end.

Mrs. Anne Farmer of Titus visited her sister, Mrs. Flossie Wells and aunts, Mrs. Jeanette White and Miss Lona Manning recently.

Mrs. Mary Grooms and two granddaughters, Betty Gail and Cathy Lecroy visited the Odis Lecroy's in Jasper for a long week-end.

Mrs. J. H. Wells guest the past week were Mary Evelyn Lenoir, Sara Nell Spigner, Agnes Anderson and Peggy Spigner of Vermont School.

Mrs. James Minor and little son Jeff and Mrs. Renfro Veazey visited Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Smith and baby in Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. Doris Crowell and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Gaydon in Austell, Ga. the past week-end.

Miss Pauline Veazey is spending this week in Birmingham. She is visiting Mrs. Tula Smth, Mrs. Lella Mooney and other relatives and friends there.

Friends of Mrs. Carrie Zeigler will be interested to know she is visiting her daughter, Louise in Cocoa, Fla. She made the trip just fine on the train from Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCraw, Mr. and Mrs. Quinton White visited Mrs. L. H. Green in Weogufka Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Green is seriously ill.

Mrs. Jaunita White and Mitchell White and Mrs. Carrie Conway attended the funeral of Mrs. Lizzie Prytor in Rockford Monday afternoon. She was an aunt of Mrs. Vera Griffin.

Mrs. J. H. Wells enjoyed the week-end visiting her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Farmer in Titus, Ala. She was met there by her sister, Mrs. R. E. Tucker of Birmingham. They attended morning worship services at Titus Baptist Church where Joe B. Mizzell is pastor.

In the afternoon the three sisters visited their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lecroy near Rockford and the Manning Cemetery in Rockford.

Calfee Reunion—

On Sunday, May 22nd the Annual Calfee Reunion was held in the Pine Grove at Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Calfee's. At an early hour Sunday morning the guests began to arrive with well-filled baskets of delicious food. Until there was present for the day seventy-two men, women and childern. They came from Birmingham, Bessemer, Montgomery, Wetumpka, Maplesville and Clanton, and Niceville, Fla.

At noon a bountiful lunch was spread on tables which had been built under the beautiful pines. After all the guests were assembled around the table words of welcome were given by the host L. S. Calfee. Rev. L. E. Daniels gave thanks for the food, the day and the gathering of this large family. All the Calfee brothers, and sisters were present except Mr. Luke Calfee of Weogufka.

All present reported a wonderful day, talking, taking pictures and having the fellowship of being together. Refreshments of cold drinks were an added pleasure in the afternoon on account of having the boys and girls who are away at college with their families at the reunion. The day has been changed from the fourth Sunday in May until the second Sunday in June.

As each guest left with thankful heart and a prayer that God had spared them to gather again with the hope they all can meet again next year.

Notice—

Please get your news to me as soon as you can each week.

Thank you!

Mrs. Eula Tucker is home now after nursing Mr. Jim Langston, father of Miss Sybil Langston, teaseveral weeks. She is looking for

MULBERRY BAPTIST

Mrs. Gordon Conway

THE attendance for services at Mulberry has been larger than ever in our church recently. We are so thankful for this fine interest in the church, its activities and organizations.

May 30th to June 3rd is the date to be remembered by all the children of this community. This is the date of the Vacation Bible School. Preparation Day for the Bible School will be held Saturday, May 28th at 9 o'clock. Regular classes will begin Monday at 8 o'clock. All children between the ages of 4 and 16 are invited to attend.

The Homemaker's Sunday School Class will hold its regular meeting Thursday (tonight) with Mrs. Jas. Veazey. Each lady is invited to attend this meeting at 7:15.

Be much in prayer for our Summer Revival to be held in August.

The Youth Choir will have a regular practice each Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. Prayer services meet at 7:30 with Adult Choir practice following.

We have a newly-organized Training Union Class for the Young Married people. We hope every young couple of the community will become an active member of this class. We are proud of the fine work our young married people are doing in the church.

Rev. Daniel reports an excellent Southern Baptist Convention for 1960. He will bring a full report of the Convention next Sunday.

You must have loyal DEMOCRATIC Presidential Electors

Any American school boy knows you can't win a ball game by getting mad and walking off the field. To do so forfeits the game to your opponent. The first basic principle for a winning team is to stay in the game and fight!

Loyalist Democratic Electors are pledged to stay in the Democratic presidential contest and fight! Fight for Alabama and the Southern way of life, fight for States Rights, fight for the historic Democratic principles which improve the economic welfare and social security of the working people, the small business men, the farmer, veterans and the aged . . . FIGHT FOR A DEMOCRATIC PRESIDENT IN THE WHITE HOUSE. Keep on fighting WITHIN the ranks of the Democratic Party to keep the powerful committee chairmanships in Congress now held by Southern Democratic Senators and Representatives — a matter of vital importance to Alabama and the South.

RESULT

Alabama's Loyalist electoral votes will go on record FOR the Democratic Presidential nominee this Fall and thereby help to GET THE REPUBLICANS OUT OF THE WHITE HOUSE. With a Democratic president and a Democratic Congress, Alabama chances in the next 4 years to wage a successful fight for States Rights and the Southern way of life will be better than any other way.

LAST APPEAL OF REEDIE L. HILYER TO THE VOTERS

I would like to complete the promise I made you le of the county when you elected me your Board evenue Commissioner before. I promised to let eople say what to do about the undecided question County Courthouse.

ou have answered that question. At the polls you d on a new courthouse, then where to biuld it, st on May 3rd, how to finance it. On Tuesday, 00.00 of General Obligation Bonds of Chilton y were sold to Stern, Agee, and Leach of Birming- labama, to build the new courthouse. The net t rate on these bonds to be paid off in twenty- ears was 3.9641 per cent. In June the court- contract can be let. Your courthouse will be nd your votes on it realized in about one year.

u elected me on the promise I made you as now I trust that each fo you will keep your con- in me to let me complete the building of the use to your satisfaction. It cannot be com- and furnished during the remainder of my term. hank you for your votes, your support, and your ions of confidence in me in this run-off election. at you remember me when you go to the polls on y to vote.

School building going up . . .

One of the first educational systems to benefit from the State's record $100 million school construction bond issue is Auburn University. Here, Auburn Pres. Ralph B. Draughon (left) and Gov. John Patterson look over the site for Auburn's new $2.6 million library, which will be financed mainly by State bond money. Almost $20 million in State funds have already been allocated, and Alabama's largest school-building program in history is now underway.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

GET ON THE WING!

God says He deals with people in the same way the mother eagle deals with her young.

The eagle has a strong and powerful wing. She builds her nest on high places, in high trees or on high, rocky ledges. She hatches her eggs and raises her little ones in the nest, which is made of sharp briars to ward off intruders. The eagle is a wonderful mother.

The Bible speaks of the mother eagle many times. In the Scriptures (Exodus 19:4; Deuteronomy 32:11, 12) God compares Himself to the mother eagle.

He says: "As she taketh them and beareth them on her wings, so I, the Lord, did lead thee"; and, "As an eagle stirreth up her nest, fluttereth over her young, spreadeth abroad her wings over them, taketh them and beareth them, so I bear you on eagles' wings."

The mother eagle gets her young off the briar of the nest and into the air on her wings! She teaches them how to set their own wings, and bare their breasts so the wind will lift them above the storm.

This is the way God deals with humanity: First, He stirs our nests, making us feel dissatisfied with the status quo. He uses His mighty power to carry us above life's storms. Then He fills us with love and compassion and teaches us how to lift ourselves, with His divine help, above all problems of life.

God stirred the nest of the children of Israel when they were in Egyptian bondage. He delivered them because they did as He commanded, and they trusted Him.

Twelve years ago in Enid, Oklahoma, God stirred my own nest. I was pastoring a good church. But God's time had come for me to launch out, to bring the message of God's deliverance . . . to tell people how they can receive abundant life by choosing God . . . telling them how God saves souls and heals sick bodies.

God can let us down on the briars so hard that we become not only willing but glad to obey Him. And then when we do obey God, everyone around us will be glad!

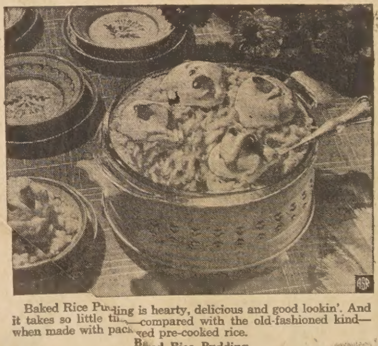
A person who is "on the wing" doesn't feel the briars of the eagle's nest. God's love helps him solve every problem along life's way.

When you accept God into your soul, you enter a different atmosphere. You are too big to come down to something little. You have a new outlook on life.

God loves us and wants us all to have life in abundance.

Are you sitting on the briars of the eagle's nest? Ask God to lift you up onto His wings, so that you, too, can enjoy life more abundantly.

A Rice Dessert For Dinner Success



Baked Rice Pudding is hearty, delicious and good lookin'. And it takes so little time—compared with the old-fashioned kind—when made with packaged pre-cooked rice.

Baked Rice Pudding

⅔ cup Minute Rice
2¼ cups milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten
⅔ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg (optional)
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg white
2 tablespoons sugar

Combine packaged pre-cooked rice and milk in saucepan. Mix just to moisten all rice. Bring quickly to a boil over high heat. Remove from heat. In a 1½-quart baking dish, mix together the eggs, ⅔ cup sugar, salt, nutmeg, and vanilla. Add hot rice mixture slowly, mixing well. Place in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 35 minutes, stirring after 10, 15, and 20 minutes of baking.

Beat egg white until foamy throughout; add 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, and continue beating with rotary beater until mixture will stand in soft peaks. Drop by spoonfuls on top of pudding. Return to oven and bake at [illegible]0°F. until meringue is lightly browned (about 5 minutes) makes [illegible] servings.

Soup Sauces Say Good Eating

MARCH can be dreary, but not if you latch on to some flairs . . . yes March flairs!

Today's suggestions for these flairs concentrates on sauces. sauces made with canned condensed soups. As you read about the origin of sauces, how they are used and made, you will be even more grateful for canned soups which are precision sauces and crowning achievements to many foods.

Canned, fresh or frozen asparagus is complemented with a soup sauce containing condensed cream of mushroom soup, ripe olives, and sour cream. It's a zesty accompaniment to man-sized hamburgers! Dessert makes use of canned fruit. Sliced peach halves topped with biscuit mix, baked to perfection and served with cream or hard sauce.

Make the sauce this way for your March flair!

Zesty Vegetable Sauce

2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
⅓ to ½ cup milk
¼ cup chopped ripe olives
⅛ teaspoon whole tarragon, crushed
¼ cup sour cream

In saucepan, cook onion in butter until tender. Add cream of mushroom soup and stir until smooth; blend in milk. Add olives and tarragon. Heat, stirring often. Quickly stir in sour cream; remove from heat and serve over cooked asparagus, green beans, or combination of peas and whole onions. Makes about 2 cups sauce.

Win A Lifetime Of Beauty Care

Would you like to win free beauty salon services for the rest of your life? That is just what some woman in the United States will win this year as first prize in a jingle contest with 100 beauty prizes including a new Gentle-tress hair style, as shown above.

The contest is being sponsored by the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association in observance of National Beauty Salon Week, February 7-13, according to Florian W. Harvat, President of the Association.

All any woman needs to do to be eligible is to complete the following jingle, submitting it on an official contest entry blank, obtainable free of charge at any member salon of the Association:

Here's a secret of beauty all women can share—
It's wise to rely on professional care
A regular date at your beauty salon—

(Add your last line, last word to rhyme with salon. Example: Keeps you lovely and loved as life dances on.)

The first prize of a lifetime of free professional beauty care goes to the winner, regardless of her age, and lasts as long as she lives. Funds have been set aside in escrow by the Association for payment of the beauty treatments for the winner.

MISS WESSON, MR. ROBINSON EXCHANGE VOWS

The marriage of Miss Marie Wesson to Mr. Rex Robinson took place May 14 at 4 o'clock in the afternoon in the First Assembly of God church in Clanton.

The Rev. W. F. Taylor of Hawkins, Texas, former pastor of the First Assembly Church of Clanton performed the double ring ceremony before an improvised alter of Southern Smilax and two tall baskets of white glads and mums. The candleabra holding white burning tapers gave a soft glow to the setting.

The nuptial music was presented by Miss Delores Jones.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. J. D. Wesson and the late Mr. Wesson, was given in marriage by her uncle Harvey Cleckler and wore a gown fashioned of chantilly lace posed over taffeta. The molded lace bodice was designed with rounded neckline and long sleeves coming to a point over the hand. The elbow veil was attached to a crown of seed pearls. The skirt was tiered and floor length. She carried a white Bible marked with an orchid and stephanotis with white satin streamers.

Miss Carolyn Wesson served her sister as maid-of-honor and bridesmaids were Misses Sherry Taylor and Avoline Eiland. They wore street length dresses of blue chiffon over net with matching headdress. Their bouquets were a cluster of white carnations with white satin streamers.

The groom, son of Mrs. F. K. Robinson and the late Mr. Robinson, was served by Mr. Ralph Marcus as best man.

Ushers were Mr. Thomas Swanner and Mr. Charles Hudson.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Assembly Hall of the Church. Flowers in the reception room were white snap dragons with fern.

Mrs. Wesson received in a dress of blue wearing a white carnation corsage. The groom's mother wore a pink lace dress and also wore a corsage of white carnations.

The guests registered in the bride's book presided over by Miss Carolyn Littleton.

The bride's table was covered with an imported Irish linen cloth. The three tiered white wedding cake was beautifully embossed with wedding bells and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

The bride's bouquet completed the

After the traditional cutting of table appointment.
the wedding cake, it was served by Mrs. Hugh M. Bates. Mrs. Emmett Blankenship, Jr. served at the punch bowl, assisting were Misses Frances Glenn and Helen Berkeley. Green and white mints were served.

The couple are making their home at 207 15th Street West in Clanton.

ALPHA DELTA CHAPTER MET

The May meeting of the Alpha Beta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma was a tea given by the officers and held in the lovely home of Mrs. Reid Mullins and Mrs. Stanley led the group in singing the Club's song, Miss Foshee invited everyone to the dining room where served. Red roses, the flower of Delta Kappa Gamma was used on the tables.

Mrs. Irby Deramus introduced a Verbena student, Mary Alice Ball, who graciously expressed her appreciation of being awarded the chapter's grant-in-aid to Alabama College. Mrs. Curry Thomas gave the highlights of the chapter's history, and as past presidents were mentioned, Mrs. Harold Smith presented each with a corsage of red roses. Miss Louise Foshee then introduced Miss Pearl Pepper of Lanett, the state president. Miss Pepper's address called attention to the workshop in Tuscaloosa and the international convention in Miami and paid tribute to international and state founder of the society.

After the meeting the members and their guests, Miss Pepper and the Misses Barnees of Lanett and Miss Blossom Crumpton of Maplesville enjoyed the roses and iris in Mrs. Gibson's beautiful garden.

The demonstration was an canning uncooked jam and jellies from the strawberries and blackberries sc abundant in this area.

Each member answered the roll by telling the worst mistake she had made in cooking. Mrs. Alma Cleckler told of her first one. She was commissioned by her mother when she was a young girl, to cook the evening meal and make biscuits. She forgot to add shortening and other ingredients so necessary in making good biscuits and the tragic results can be imagined

The secretary, Mrs. Jewel Smith was late as it happened to be her wedding anniversary, and as she rode up, accompanied by husband, Marion, everyone joined in singing, "Happy Anniversary" to the tune of the birthday song.

The Club discussed making a trip for members of the Thorsby Club only and Mrs. Nell Collins is to be contacted if you would like to make this trip. Please call her not later than Saturday, May 28.

The thought for the month of May is "The Richest Soil, If Not Cultivated, Produce the Rankest Weeds."

Everyone joined in repeating the Alabama Creed and sang Alabama.

The hostess served delicious refreshments.

Chilton Countys H D Club Plan "Clean-Up Campaign"

Projects for the Year

The Council selected three projects at the beginning of the year. They were: (1) sponsor cooking school, (2) work at Nursing Home, and (3) place emphasis on a "clean-up" campaign for the county. Mrs. M. L. Batson, a member of the committee to work on project of Nursing Home, reported work done on this project. Each of the 22 Clubs in the county have been assigned a period of two or more weeks at which time they are to visit the Nursing Home and carry flowers, entertainment, or refreshments. The Cedar Grove Club and the Stanton Club reported on their visits.

Plans "Clean-Up" Campain

Mrs. Aubrey Smith, a member of the clean-up campaign committee, reported on the correspondence the committee had received and sent out in an effort to promote this program. The committee is still at work and definite plans will be presented in July.

Mrs. Aiken Present

Special guests present at this meeting were Morris Moats, President of Clanton Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Boone Aiken, Birmingham News correspondent. Mr. Moats talked with the group about promoting a book mobile for the Chilton County area by joining with Shelby and St. Clair counties. The council was enthused oved the possibility and pledged their support in this all-out effort for a library for our county.

NAACP BLOCK NEGRO VOTE BACKS LOYALISTS

In the primary of May 3rd, the Loyalist Elector candidates received the endorsement of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. For example, these predominately Negro boxes voted overwhelmingly for the Loyalists as indicated below:

	Loyalists	States Righters
Macon County, Beat 1, Box 5	2456	408
Jefferson County, Beat 9, Dist. 1, (Legion Field)	4714	352
Mobile County, Ward 10	3271	886
Total	10,441	1646

The above statistics conclusively prove that the Negro knows what the real issue in the campaign is all about. Unmistakably it is SEGREGATION versus INTEGRATION.

In the first primary the Loyalists created such false issues as "Back Door Republicans" and said they were trying only to "Get the Republicans Out of Washington."

The people of Alabama saw through these false issues, so now the Loyalists in defeatist desperation switch to social and economic appeals.

All of these are mere smokescreens to hide the fact that they would trade off our SOUTHERN WHITE PEOPLE for their own self interest and party patronage.

The Loyalists are underestimating the intelligence of Alabama Democrats who will go to the polls May 31st and vote for Segregation and States Rights by solidly marking their ballots for the traditional Alabama Democrats whose names are as follows:

The $125,000 Smear Campaig Against C. C. (Jack) OWEN

Cannot Change Owen's Outstanding Record as President of the Public Service Commission

Our State has been flooded with false statements by the opponent of C. C. (Jack) Owen in a $125,000 campaign for the presidency of the Public Service Commission — a position that pays a yearly salary of $11,500.

Among these demagogic vote-fishing lures is the reckless charge that utility rates have been raised by Jack Owen.

The Truth Is and the Record Shows:

— That the Public Service Commission has NOT granted a single increase in electric rates during Jack Owen's terms in office.

— That excluding actual out-of-pocket cost of gas and wage increases, no increase has been granted the gas company.

— That increases in telephone rates were ordered by the Circuit Court of Montgomery County over Jack Owen's opposition. Jack Owen long has worked for a needed change in the law that would help him bring these rates more in line with other Southeastern States.

In every case, C. C. (Jack) Owen has defended the public interest against ALL unjustified rate increases. No reckless campaign of distortion and abuse can hide these facts.

Glad to have Mrs. Esther Cox, Gene, Janie and Shirley back with us; also Mr. and Mrs. Clint Billingsley and Addie M. Highland.

The church grounds and front of the church are taking on a new look thanks to everyone who has had a part in this work. The County road workers of District 3 have been most helpful and the cooperation of the men and boys in the Community has been very commendable. We hope to have all work completed and the new pews inin the church by August 14 if possible. This is the date for our Summer Revival. Let's also prepare for this date with prayerful hearts for the saving of lost souls and the revival of all Christians. We welcome visitors.

Mrs. Maudie Emfinger is at home after spending several days in Chilton County Hospital. She is improving.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Mullins and Mrs. Alcie Williams were Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Bice and Rev. and Mrs. A. V. Bice. They, together with Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Mullins visited Mrs. Emfinger Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clif Williams visited the Troy Orphanage recently. They, and our church, have a special interest there in Jimmy and Sandra Bowles. They made their home with Mr. and Mrs. Williams for five years prior to entering the orphanage and are members of our church here. They are doing fine.

Mrs. William (Marzelle) Carter is scheduled to undergo surgery in the South Highland Hospital in Birmingham Friday, May 27. We all hope that she goes well and she will soon be able to be back home.

Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Cox were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clif Williams, afternoon guests of the Williams were Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Keen.

JEMISON

Mrs. George Nrish

There is a Time

"To everything there is a season and a time to every purpose under the heaven." Ecclesiastes 3:1.

There is a time to rest in bed; there is a time to read the paper, but it is not on Sunday morning.

There is a time to prepare a big dinner, there is a time to visit the folks, but not on Sunday morning

There is a time to entertain friends, there is a time to wash the car, but not on Sunday morning.

There is a time to do your work, not on Sunday morning!

There is a time coming when your greatest need will be for Jesus Christ.

Take time now to get acquainted with Him, on Sunday morning.

Keep your Sundays for the great things of the soul." -- Copied from a Bulletin.

WMU Met in Columbiana

Mrs. Jeff Hand was hostess to the Jemison WMU in the regular missionary program, Monday afternoon, May 16, in her home in Columbiana. Mrs. Hand had spent five months in Jemison, coming from Mobile. She was active in the Jemison WMU.

Miss Mary Clements was in charge of the program, "Yon Can Tell." all repeated the watchword, from Zechariah 4:6. Miss Clements led in prayer, then read a poem, "If I Could But Tell All the Glory".

Those assisting Miss Clements with the program were Miss Ola Rogers, Mrs. Seymour Reynolds, Mrs. B. C. Lenoir, Mrs. V. O. Lenoir, Mrs. Herman Shirley. The program closed with sentence prayer. x

Mrs. Tom Cost, president, caleld for a short business session. The treasurer made a report, the secretary read the minutes and a few paid pledges.

The Stewardship Chairman read Ezekiel 22:12-13 and Proverbs 28:8.

The hostess served sandwiches, cookies and coffee, with Mrs. B. C. Lenoir of Jemison, pouring. The group enjoyed a delightful social hour. There were 18 members present.

WSCS Meeting

The WSCS of the Jemison Methodist Church met Sunday afternoon at the church at 2:30.

Miss Sybil Langston, president, called the meeting to order. She read Luke 9:35-38 and a Meditation story.

Mrs. Edna McNeill presented the program, Pledge to Serve. She held a lighted candle, members lit their candle from hers and pledged themselves to service in God's work.

There were seven members present.

Intermediate GA Meeting

The Intermediate GA's met at the Baptist Church Thursday afternoon May 12th at 3 o'clock.

The president, Sandra Rogers, called for order. All repeated in unison the Watchword, Star deals, and Pledge of Allegiance.

Mrs. Brasher, counselor led in prayer.

Those on program were James Porter, Sandra Rogers, Rena Blackmon and Mary Ann Bolton.

Jane Porter led the closing prayer.

Surprise Party for Joy

Word has come all the way from Texas of a lovely surprise birthday party for Joy Lewis.

On Tuesday, May 14th, Jay Lewis was honored by her mother, Mrs. J. T. Lewis at the home.

There were 24 little guests ,including Joy's two brothers, Stephen and Jerry. They were served ice cream, punch with cup cakes. The mothers were served cake and coffee.

Games were enjoyed by the group.

Joy is the 5 year-old granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W Lewis of Jemison. Mr. and Mrs Ray Bandel of Aibuquerque, N. Mex. and Mr. Vernon Middlebrooks and A1C Mrs. J. T. Lewis, formerly of Jemison are her parents.

All these folks in Texas, formerly of Jemison send cherry "hellor" to the folks in Jemison. And Jemison send a cordial hello to you, Joy.

Open Assembly Program

The subject for the opening assembly program for the Adult Sunday School was, Making Homelife Christian Through Discipline. Mr. V. O. Lenoir read, Col. 3-20, 21, 22, Mr. J. A. Chandler led in prayer.

The Brotherhood quartet sang He is Everything to Me.

Mr. Alford closed the assembly program.

Baccalaureate Exercises

The Baccalaureate Exercises of the Jemison High School were held Sunday at 11 a.m., May 22 in the school auditorium.

A large arrangement of red and white gladoli stood in front of the speakers stand. On either side was a low picket fence enthroned with red roses and ivy. The two posts held bows of red and white stin ribbon. Similar bows marked the seniors' pews.

The school choir assembled on the rostrum. The girls were wearing white blouses, dark skirts; the boys in white shirts, dark trousers

Mrs. C. L. Walton, pianst used Handel's Largo as a processional.

Rev. Lewis Brasher, pastor of the Jemison Baptist Church gave the invocation, the school choir the response.

The audience joined in sinigng, Praise Him. Rev. L. D. Brookshire, pastor of West End Baptist Church, Clanton, read Isaiah 40:9-12.

A girls ensemble sang, Service.

Miss Beck Sammon, a senior presented offeratory music.

Mr. Peterson, principal, introduced Rev. Brookshire, who commended the seniors, their parents, the school and all who had a part in the accomplishments of the day.

Rev. Brookshire's message: God's Good News to Seniors: For ye shall go out with joy and shall be led forth in peace.

Song, Footsteps of Jesus. Prayer and benediction by Rev. Brookshire.

Ushers: Rosa Cofer, Evelyn Porter, Gene Lesley and Gene Sorrell

Rosa Cofer led the processional, Eveyyn Porter, the Recesional.

Coming and Going

Among the early vacationers were Mrs. M. E. Guy, who accompanied her sons and daughters, Donny and Richard and Ann, granddaughter Penny Allen, Miss Gwynda Cleckler on a week-end trip to Gulf Shores. Mrs. Guy visited relatives in Atmore, Stapleton and attended a birthday dinner at Frisco City, that of her uncle who is 93. This was in the nature of a reunion, as Mrs. Guy saw a goodly number of her people.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Cooper of Knoxville, Tenn., spent the long week-end with their families.

Diana and Karen Brasher of Shelby were week end guests of the Louis Brashers.

MRS. BURNETT WRITES TO CHILTON VOTERS

Since this is the last paper to be published before the May 31st Primary this will be my final appeal to you for your vote and support in my campaign for County Treasurer.

Under the local laws under which this county operates, the records of receipts and disbursements are kept in the Board of Revenue office by the Clerk of the Board. The Treasurer issues a receipt for all incoming money and likewise is required to co-sign all checks or warrants issued by the county by the Judge of Probate.

Regardless of any additional duties or responsibilities concerning the building of the new courthouse, I feel that I am capable through training and experience to take care of the duties of the terasurer of this county without any additional expense to the county.

It is my intention if elected Treasurer, to serve all of you willingly, honestly and faithfully.

Again I would like to thank you for the wonderful support you gave me in the first primary and for the many courtesles shown me during my visits with you.

Tigers Bow To Demopolis- First Loss Of Season

Shutout 5 to 0—
MIGHTY TIGERS BOW TO DEMOPOLIS IN FIRST LOSS OF SEASON

by Wayne Atcheson

The third district championship was at stake and the Clanton Tigers, who were undefeated in eleven games, were to play the Demopolis Tigers, who had beaten every team they had played and had a 11-2 record, were to meet on May 20 at Clanton.

Everybody Threatens—

Clanton threatened to score in the first inning on two walks and a fielder's choice, but the rally vanished. The same thing happened in the next inning.

Demopolis threatened in the third on a walk and an error, but the hits just weren't there.

First Hit—

Then in the fourth frame Kieth Grable of the visiting team got the first hit of the game with a single to left field. But it proved to be in vain because Carroll, the Clanton hurler, struck out the next two batters to end the inning.

By the sixth inning Carroll had fanned ten.

Demopolis Rallies—

Then, going into the sixth inning with the score nothing to nothing Demopolis caught on fire and the Tigers couldn't put the fire ou until they had sent five runs across the plate.

The first hitter got on first via error and the following batter John Webb singled. Carroll fanned the next batter but Kieth Grable got his second single of the day and drove in a run.

Williams - Neilson Star—

Carroll then struck out another batter, but walked the next batter to load the sacks up. Before the Clanton hopefuls could retire the side, C. O. Williams had singled two runs in and Claude Neilson had singled the fourth and fifth runs across. The next batter popped up to the shortstop to end the inning and the Tigers' chances.

Going into the seventh, the Clanton Tigers, who had had the glory of not yielding other teams many hits this season were getting some of their own medicine.

No Hit Yet—

The Clanton squad didn't have a hit! One pop fly, over first base into right field by Elliott Monroe in the third inning was the only ball hit out of the infield.

Clanton Hits in 7th—

But Clay Carroll and Buddy Vines saved the day for Clanton. Carroll, the first batter singled through the box and Buddy Vines doubled but the next three batters went down in order.

Carroll's First Loss—

Although it was Clay Carroll's first loss of the season, he had pitched a grand game.

He had given up seven hits, and walked three, but the amazing thing was he had sat down fourteen batters by strike-outs. Another feat was spoiling the no-hitter also.

Neilson, The Winner—

Claude Neilson, the winning pitcher, had struck out and walked four batters each and had given up two hits.

The saying "you can't win 'em all" was very appropriate for the occasion.

Clanton Takes 11th Straight Win 8-3

by Wayne Atcheson

THE Clanton Tigers won their eleventh straight game of the season behind the one hit pitching of Clay Carroll against Selma, 8 to 3.

This game played May 17, was a semi-final game in the third district.

Carroll Eighth—

Carroll winning his eighth game of the season struck out fifteen Selma batters. Carroll fanned the sides in the second, third and fifth inning.

Bill Carter and Snuffy Smith pitched for the losing team and gave up six hits.

Monroe - Mims, Hitters—

Elliott Monroe and Kenneth Mims got four of the six hits with each connecting for a single and a double.

Warren Edwards scored the first run for Clanton after he reached first base on the third baseman's error in the first frame.

Elliott Monroe smashed a double and knocked him in.

Four Runs in 3rd—

The Tigers exploded for four runs in the third. Back to back singles by Warren Edwards and Elliott Monroe commenced the rally. Monroe drove in Edwards with his single and Clarkie Hutchinson walked.

Buddy Vines reached first via error. Don Jones walked and Kenneth Mims delivered a double in right-center.

Selma Scores—

Selma tallied all three runs in the fourth. Four errors and a wild pitch enabled the runs to score. No hits were made and Carroll struck out the last two batters.

Three More in Fifth—

The Tigers scored their last three runs in the fifth inning. Three consecutive walks to Clarkie Hutchinson, Clay Carroll and Buddy Vines, an error, a single by Kenneth Mims and a sacrifice fly allowed the runs to score.

The only hit off Carroll the second inning. Bill J a Texas League single.

Extension Dairyman
Auburn University

MANY Alabama dairymen have made sound and lasting improvements in their dairy operations during the last decade. How well dairymen fare during the next 10 years will be determined, to a large extent, on their ability to manage their operations to obtain high production per cow.

Dairying has become a highly specialized business with investment per cow increasing as much as 300 percent in the last 20 years. Fewer dairymen are producing more milk with more cows per herd and are getting more milk per cow.

To meet present day competition, the Alabama dairyman must continue to raise the production level per cow. This takes good management, and good management calls for a system of dairy records to use in making the right decisions. The Alabama dairyman who keeps no herd records would be wise to find out how the dairyman who kept herd records made out during the last ten years.

JONES

During the 50's record keeping on dairy farms in Alabama made good progress, yet only one out of every six grade-A dairymen today is enrolled in an organized record-keeping program. Production per cow increased from 4,756 pounds to 7,194 pounds—over 2400 pounds—during the last ten years in herds enrolled in Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA) testing, while herds not on test increased production to a high of only 5,300 pounds per cow.

Dairy records give a dairyman the factual information necessary in making the right management decisions on such things as which cows to cull, how much grain feeding is needed for the most profitable production, which heifers to keep for replacements, when to breed, and when to dry off. Records allow a dairyman to measure the effectiveness of his breeding program, to determine weaknesses in his feed program, and to decide which crops are producing milk and which are not.

Given the right information most dairymen can make the right decisions most of the time, but without the right information, decision making becomes only a hit or miss proposition, and it takes only a few bad guesses to be out of the dairy business.

FOR PROFITABLE BUSINESS DON'T OVERLOOK DAIRYING

IN looking at different possibilities to get into a profitable farm business, don't overlook dairying.

So says A. W. Jones, Auburn University Extension marketing specialist, who adds that during the depression years the most satisfied group of farmers that he worked with as a county agent were producers of milk for manufacturing purposes. "They knew to begin with that they couldn't buy much feed and make a go of the business. So, they stayed home, grew most of their own feed, milked cows, and bred their animals for higher production. And although they took a low price for their product, the milk checks wound up in the dairymen's pockets."

Producing milk for manufacturing purposes offers opportunities to many farmers interested in dairying who might not be able to get into the more limited fluid or grade-A milk market, declares the specialist. In such an enterprise with 40 cows—each producing an average of 7,000 pounds of milk per year and selling for three dollars per hundred pounds, you would gross around $8400.

The real challenge here is to increase production per cow. As milk production per cow increases, income above expenses increases even more.

There are dairy-product manufacturers in the state who are crying for more milk. One such industry tells us that they pay out each year for milk about $300,000 to producers, says Jones. But this supplies only about 10 percent of the dairy products they sell in the state.

Here is a $3 million opportunity for dairymen in just one area of about five counties. Similar opportunities exist elsewhere.

If you want to get into something that has long-range stability and opportunities for expansion, this looks like one of the best.

RESEARCH

they grow larger, production level per cow goes up. This is a good sign. Undoubtedly our main problem, from the standpoint of efficient milk production, is low production per cow.

Research and education have speeded changes that will lead to more successful dairying.

1. More milking machines to reduce labor and milk more cows per hour.
2. More milking parlors with raised platforms to save milkers from stooping, squatting, and too much walking.
3. Installation of sanitary pipes to carry milk from cow to cooler.
4. Use of automatic equipment for grinding, mixing, and conveying feed concentrate to the cows.
5. Use of more hay and silage to strengthen feed program. This has been possible through development of modern harvesting equipment and handy automatic unloading and feeding devices.
6. Greater use of proved bulls through artificial insemination. For herd improvement, use of outstanding, proved bulls is just as sound as the practice of using hybrid seed corn to increase corn yields. This program is beyond the experimental stage and has proved to be practical. It is available to 85-90 percent of Alabama milk cows.
7. Raising better replacement heifers. Research and education have stimulated widespread use of portable, outside calf-pens to cut down on diseases, parasites, and to raise better calves. The pens are now being used in 53 Alabama counties.
8. Better forage for milk cows. Research in recent years has proved that high producing cows must have high quality forage. Research has shown the value of such high quality forages as the small grains, alfalfa, immature Johnson grass, Starr millet, etc. The limitations of sericea and certain perennial summer grasses have been defined.
9. Other features of a sound milk production program include production testing programs (DHIA, WADAM), disease control, and use of skilled workers in the dairy barn.

There are many problems yet to be answered by research. But the Alabama dairyman has access to the tools for a strong and successful dairy program if he will apply the technology and know-how now available. To accomplish this he must break the "bottlenecks" of loose management, unskilled labor, and resistance to change.

Auburn University Agricultural Experiment Station

SPIDER MITE CONTROL. Spider mite infestations on cotton can be prevented by treating winter host plants around edges of fields, according to a study by the Auburn Experiment Station. Either demeton (Systox) spray at ¼ pound technical per acre or phorate or dimethoate granules at two to three pounds technical per acre give good results. Two or more applications are necessary. When infestation builds up in cotton, one application of ¼ pound demeton or ½ pound ethion or trithion spray per acre controls the mites. Spray is put on when the leaves begin to redden. If dusts are preferred, four percent ethion or two percent trithion at 20 to 25 pounds per acre can be used.

MUDDY PONDS. Yellow or muddy color of pond water in hot weather is often caused by millions of tiny plants. These microscopic weeds can be controlled by adding ¾ pound of bluestone (copper sulfate) per surface acre, Auburn studies reveal. Re-treatment may be necessary every three to four weeks. The bluestone is distributed by putting it in a tightly woven, cloth bag which is suspended from a stake in upper six inches of water. One bag will treat up to six acres of water. Use no more than ¾ pound per acre.

FARM EFFICIENCY. Careful study of a farm's operating efficiency can lead to greater profits. Research findings point up the importance of looking for strong and weak points in a business. When these are known, efforts can be made to take advantage of strong points and to eliminate weaknesses. Minor changes can make major income difference.

RURAL HOUSING. In a recent study in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, and South Carolina, rating was made of the housing of different occupational groups living in rural areas. Based on physical condition of the house, the number in family relative to the floor space, and such facilities as electricity and running water, ratings (perfect score, 100) were: full-time farmers, 64; part-time farmers, 68; farm laborers, 46; other occupations (non-farm), 72; retired, disabled, or unemployed, 66.

FALL MUMS. Chrysanthemums can be transplanted at any time, even when in flower. Plants grown in containers are best for transplanting, according to results of Auburn studies. Number 10 food cans with drainage holes make ideal containers. Plants should be planted in June or early July, using one plant per container.

PRESSURE EFFECT ON NEMATODES. Nematodes can withstand water pressures that occur in irrigation systems. The five commonly found kinds of nematodes tested stood pressures as high as 125-150 p.s.i. (pressure per square inch) as long as 15 seconds. This points up the danger of spreading nematodes by using contaminated irrigation water, since the pressure is not likely to kill the nematodes.

PEANUT LEAFSPOT. Although one of the most important peanut diseases, leafspot can be controlled easily. In experiment station tests, sulfur dust containing about 3.2 percent metallic copper has given the most consistent control. Except in unusually dry years, four applications of sulfur dust gave best control and increased yields by 110 to 1,150 pounds per acre.

Milk Is Clean

Dairy Facilities Improved

John Parrish
Extension Dairyman
Auburn University

TIME changes things. Sometimes they're good, sometimes bad. Often we are not even aware of changes. On the other hand, some are very dramatic, and we see or read about them.

How many times in recent years have you observed homesteads being moved for industry or highways and new housing developments going on around cities? These things you can see.

PARRISH

While all these noticeable changes are taking place, similar, unnoticed changes are taking shape on the dairy farm. Just a few years ago it was difficult to secure a reliable source of milk and dairy products. Today, in every county and at every crossroad you can buy dairy products with confidence, because you know your county and state health departments inspect every dairy farm and every dairy plant at regular intervals. You know your state and Federal veterinarians have checked the health of all animals in the dairy herd. You know the milk and other dairy products are processed in modern dairy plants and delivered to you or your market in modern trucks, refrigerated and clean.

Once, dairy farmers owned small herds of cattle averaging about 27 cows per herd; today these herds average over 50 cows, with some in the state going over 250.

Such changes mean that modern methods of feeding, managing, and milking are essential. Too, these changes mean that dairy farmers and dairy plants have made tremendous investments. Dairy farmers now have about $1,000 capital investment per cow. The investment in dairy plants has also increased per worker or per unit of products processed.

Changes are good for you—the consumer, because today your food dollar buys more nutrition in the form of dairy foods than any other item on your food bill. Did you ever stop to think how you would feed your family without milk, cheese, butter, evaporated milk, and many other dairy foods?

Yes, every day is "dairy day" in every Alabama home, and this month special features are being made to honor the dairy industry of our state.

Our progress in the past ten years has been good. Average production per cow is up from 4700 to 7200 pounds, and we now boast of herds about equal to the best herds in any state.

Remember, there has been no change in your daily requirement of calcium and other essential vitamins furnished by milk and dairy products. So, for good health, drink milk every day and include dairy products in all your meals.

Cotton Bollworm At Work

Could Be Limiting Factor

Use Insecticide At Right Time

Walter Grimes
Extension Survey Entomologist
Auburn University

A million bales of cotton on Alabama farms in 1960!

This is a goal that is by no means unrealistic, and one that is certainly a challenge to cotton growers in the state. Of course, this means that every acre of cotton planted in the state this year must average a little over 500 pounds of lint cotton. So you see, that's a lot of cotton—more per acre than we've ever made before—but it can be done.

Insect control can definitely be the limiting factor in making this a record-breaking year. So make preparations now for this all important phase of cotton production.

Farmers are already being urged to follow a pile-on-the-insecticide-regardless-of-the-insect situation program. This means applying poison from the day the cotton is up until it is harvested. Such a program is not based on experimental data. And an automatic control program is not only expensive but may actually create insect and mite problems that will require additional treatments. Certainly this type of program leaves much to be desired and is not recommended by Auburn University. Research shows that it's highly profitable to control insects when they appear in damaging numbers. And it does not pay to just treat cotton, but it does pay to treat cotton insects.

Effective and economical control of cotton insects demands that the grower use good judgment in carrying out his program. This is a must if maximum benefits are to be gotten. In order to know when a control program should be started, farmers must keep a check on the situation in each field. This can be done only through a systematic check at specific intervals. The most effective way is to check each field at least once each week from now until the top bolls are grown. Where time permits, check fields twice each week, especially during late June and early July, to determine emergence of first generation weevils.

GRIMES

The boll weevil still ranks first as the most destructive pest of cotton in Alabama. And an effective control program, based on experimental data, is to make three applications of a recommended insecticide at five-day intervals when the infestation reaches 10 percent. Make additional applications on this basis until top bolls are grown.

Up to now we have had little difficulty in controlling this pest; but such may not be the case this year because of weevil resistance to the chlorinated hydrocarbon insecticides. Resistance was found for the first time in several sections of the state last year. However, this does not mean that it is widespread,

Barbara Alys Bailey
Alabama State Dairy Princess

WHAT does a dairy princess do and how does she obtain this honor?

This question is only one of the many I have been asked repeatedly since I was selected Alabama's dairy princess a year ago.

The real purpose of the dairy princess is to serve as the dairy industry's number one saleslady and public relations medium. She is also the state's entry in the American Dairy Princess Contest.

MISS BAILEY

As Alabama's princess I have been called upon to speak on radio and television programs plus numerous state and local functions in behalf of the dairy industry. Other visits have taken me to see the governor, legislature, and the Alabama Department of Agriculture. I was hostess to our American Dairy Princess during her tour of our state and have made appearances as guest of many local dairy groups. For example, a local dairy in Dothan invited me to attend the National Peanut Festival as its honored guest.

Also during my reign as princess I have met and worked with such famous people as Miss America and Miss Alabama as well as TV and Hollywood personalities such as James Arness (Matt Dillon of Gunsmoke).

My selection as dairy princess climaxed last year's June Dairy Month activities. The state contest is sponsored by many groups—mainly dairy—who are interested in promoting the industry. Each county may select a contestant to enter the state event. This is done through the county Extension Service office with the home demonstration agent serving as chairman of the county event.

As your state representative of the dairy industry I must say that I have increased my knowledge in dairying. And I want to express my sincere appreciation to all for this profitable year in my life. Also, let me encourage every eligible girl to consider entering the contest.

Specialist Points Out

Milk Is Food Shopper's Best Buy

Dorothy Overbey
Specialist in Consumer Education
Auburn University

FOOD shoppers on the lookout for full value for money spent will find it in milk.

Milk and dairy products offer a lot of nutritive value, appetite appeal, and a wide variety of uses. Milk is an "any time for everyone" food—important to babies, parents, and grandparents. It provides calcium, excellent quality protein, riboflavin, and vitamin A.

MISS OVERBEY

Each day the family needs the following amounts of milk: Children, three or four cups; teenagers, four or more cups; and adults, two or more cups.

Part of the milk allowance per member of the family may be replaced by other dairy products such as cheese and ice cream. Here are some substitutions, based on calcium content: 1-inch cube cheddar cheese = ⅔ cup milk; ½ cup cottage cheese = ⅓ cup milk; 2 tablespoons cream cheese = ¼ cup milk; and ½ cup ice cream = ¼ cup milk.

Milk "As Is"

There is no special time or place for milk. It's tasty any time as a breakfast beverage or over a bowl of cereal; daytime or evening snack for quick energy pickup; luncheon drink, plain or flavored; or for the adult coffee drinkers, "milk now and coffee later" with dessert.

Also, milk used often in cream soups, with cereals and fruit, in puddings or custard, and in cream sauces for vegetables or meats will help to meet the required amount.

Star With Cheese

The diverse family of cheeses enables you to have cheese that is sweet, mild, nippy, stout, or salty in flavor. There are spreading, slicing, and grating styles—some are golden, others white or tawny brown.

Cheese is quite versatile in usage. It can be combined with fruits; adds to the flavor of meats; is among the favorites for sandwiches; and combines successfully with eggs. In the form of sauce, cheese goes well with many vegetables such as cauliflower, broccoli, spinach, or beans. And it can be combined, grated, or cubed in salads. Used in baked dishes, scalloped potatoes, and souffles, it also makes good appetizers in hors d'oeuvres and canapes. As cheesecake it is a favorite dessert in many places, and it's good just "as is" or with a piece of apple pie.

A Treat With Ice Cream

Summertime and ice cream go hand in hand, although a lot of ice cream is eaten throughout the year. Ice cream consumption has steadily increased to around 18 pounds per person each year.

With pie, cake, pudding, fresh fruit, and fruit sauce, ice cream makes a party dessert—especially with one of many favorite "accents" such as nuts, candy, gum drops, toasted coconut, macaroon crumbs, or chocolate shavings.

High on the list of favorites are milk and ice cream drinks such as shakes, malts, frosts; the list is endless. Ice cream balls rolled in coconut and topped with a sauce are an extra treat.

If you haven't been getting your daily milk allowance through milk or milk products, you'd better start now! It's up to you.

Auburn University Extension Service

June has traditionally been associated with romance, orange blossoms, and weddings. In agricultural circles, however, June is becoming generally known as a month in which the dairy industry is given special recognition.

We might add that there is no conflict between the two; in fact, both the institution of matrimony and the dairy industry are essential. Both will likely grow in importance and complement each other, as one contributes to expanding markets and the other provides a basic source of subsistence for an increasing population.

Dairying is big business in Alabama and throughout the country. It is going to become even bigger.

Nationally, 1,500,000 farm families, or about one out of every three, derive a major part of their income from dairy cows. Dairying provides 19 percent of the gross national income from agriculture and ranks as the number one agricultural enterprise.

Dairy products supply 30 percent of the nation's diet of animal proteins and provide 15 percent of the total retail food sales. The dairy industry is unquestionably the greatest single source of the food responsible for making this country the best fed nation on earth. Nutrition experts tell us that dollar for dollar, dairy products are the best buy in the housewife's food basket.

Dairying is important in Alabama agriculture also, ranking fifth as a source of income. Dairy farmers in Alabama last year sold almost $50 million worth of milk. Furthermore, in Alabama, milk and ice cream sales exceed $90 million annually. Capital investments in dairy processing plants are more than $35 million. Employment in city processing plants exceeds 30,000 people; employment in rural areas exceeds 35,000 people; and the annual payroll in dairy processing plants is more than $24 million annually.

What are the opportunities to expand still further—to make the dairy industry even more important to the business and agricultural economy of the state? Some indication of the potential for further development is found in the fact that we are falling short of producing the grade-A milk that we actually consume in Alabama during six months of the year.

The per capita consumption of milk in Alabama is under the U. S. average. This fact, plus the fact that our population is increasing, gives Alabama dairying plenty of chance to expand.

We have excellent opportunities also to expand income from dairying by producing more milk for manufacturing purposes. Manufacturers of condensed milk report that Alabama producers are supplying the milk for only one out of every four to five cans of condensed milk they sell in this state. Also, we produce only one out of each eight pounds of cheese we eat.

As in other agricultural enterprises, efficiency is the key to successful dairying operations. High unit production and low unit cost are basic elements of such efficiency. Last year, Alabama Dairy Herd Improvement Association records indicated that the cash

For Outdoor Chefs

Let's Have A Chicken Barbecue

IN the South nothing is better than a chicken barbecue for your family and friends. Nearly everyone likes barbecued chicken. The meat is always tender and tasty—and low in fat for those who watch their diets.

Setting Up Equipment

For the small group at home, use your back yard barbecue equipment. If you don't have a grill, check with your local hardware dealer—one can be bought for as little as $10.

Or you might want to build one yourself. A metal drum split down the center with short pieces of one-inch water pipe welded onto the bottom of the rounded side for inserting metal legs makes an inexpensive pit. Any old metal rack that will serve the purpose can be used to complete your outdoor grill.

Starting The Fire

Charcoal briquets are best for barbecuing because they hold the heat longer. Use one-half pound of briquets per chicken half, and it will not be necessary to add more during cooking. However, some people like to add a few briquets along to keep the heat about even.

Pile the charcoal in the center of the pit and sprinkle with recommended lighter fluids—never gasoline. Ten or fifteen minutes after lighting or when the briquets start glowing, spread them evenly—one layer deep—over the bottom of the pit. Allow about five minutes for smoke and dust to clear, then place chickens on grill over the hot coals.

Barbecuing The Chicken

Start cooking one and one-half hours before serving time. Use two-to two and one-half-pound fryers (broilers)—they can be cooked better without losing their natural juices. Be sure to allow more time for heavier chickens.

Hook the wing tip under the shoulder joint on the back and place all fryer halves, skin side up, on the wire. Turn as needed to keep from burning, using gloves, tongs, or a turning rack. Baste with barbecue sauce each time chicken is turned, and do not break the skin by using a fork, as the natural juices will be lost and meat will dry out. If the fire gets too hot, use a hand sprinkler to put water on the coals.

No one likes rare chicken. It must be well done. To make sure of this, test the chicken by twisting the drumstick. If the joint twists easily out of the socket, you can be sure your meat is well cooked.

Extension Service circular 563, "Let's Have A Chicken Barbecue," is new and available at your county agent's office. Prepared by Extension Specialists J. R. Hubbard, Jr., poultry marketing, and Fariss Prickett, foods and nutrition, it contains information used in this story, suggestions for planning the menu, selecting the sauce, and buying for groups of from 50 to 500.

production cost for cows producing 4600 pounds of milk annually amounted to $306 per cow; for a cow producing 8,000 pounds of milk, cash costs were $393; and for a 12,000-pound cow, $469.

Subtracting these costs from the value of the milk produced, we find that the 4600-pound cow lost $32 for her owner; the 8,000-pound producer returned a profit of $65; and the 12,000-pound cow returned a profit of $208 after deducting all cash costs—depreciation, interest, and labor.

These estimates of returns are particularly interesting in the light of average production figures.

In 1958, according to Auburn University Experiment Station economists, 28 percent of all milk cows were in grade-A units, with an average production of 5700 pounds of milk per cow. The 12 percent of the cows that were in manufacturing units produced an average of only 4200 pounds while the 60 percent that were family milk cows produced an average of 2,095 pounds. When we recognize the fact that some of the top dairy herds in the state are producing at an average of 8500 to 12,000 pounds annually, we realize that we have a long way to go in increasing efficiency.

Performance testing programs, such as DHIA and WADAM (Weigh a Day a Month) offer excellent opportunities to improve production efficiency. Cows under DHIA testing, for example, have shown an increase in production of some 38 percent in the last eight years. We need much greater participation in such programs.

Milk Consumption

WE Americans claim to live in the best-fed nation in the world, yet we rank 15th in per capita consumption of dairy foods.

Reports show that Americans use less milk and milk products per person than most Europeans and little more than half as much as our Canadian neighbors.

Ireland leads the list with 1,507 pounds per person. And the United States is behind a roster of western European nations with a per capita consumption of 691 pounds per year.

Speaking of Production

Seems that Farm and Home Development cooperators in Cherokee County have done more than think about raising production levels.

BYRD

Assistant County Agent Tom Owen tells me that three of the four grade-A dairymen on the county FHD program produced an average increase of 1,000 pounds of milk per cow in 1959 over their output in 1958. Good management, culling, and breeding practices did the trick.

Twenty-seven of his farmers produced cotton on 485 acres and made an average yield of 653 pounds of lint per acre. Also, there were 31 corn farmers who planted 1,277 acres last year and averaged 42.5 bushels per acre.

Owen went on to say that 20 cotton-hog farmers produced an average of 7.7 raised pigs per litter from 86 sows while the best average was 9.5 raised pigs per litter. In my opinion, that shows progress in close supervision.

No Refrigeration

Could it be that someday we'll again have no refrigerators?

Could be, and homemakers will keep their frozen foods in a cabinet at room temperature. Of course, the foods will have to go through a special process called "freeze dry." Meats, for example, will retain their original shape and be protected against spoilage bacteria.

Extension Meats Marketing Specialist Ray Cavender explained it this way. Water is removed from the meat through this process called "freeze dry," and when it is again added, the product takes on its original appearance.

Don't look for any of these products on the market right away. The process is in the research stage—and besides, the price is out of reach of the average homemaker's food budget.

Surplus Not Surplus

Over 19 million people in the United States have been helped through direct distribution of surplus goods in the past six months.

And before we "blow our tops" again about surpluses, we might remind ourselves that 14 of the 19 million people receiving the goods are our children who get the food through the school lunch program.

Changing Times

The cost of harvesting peanuts has been cut in half by use of pull-type pickers. And the average yields are almost the same—1,318 pounds for pickers and combines and 1,276 for stationary pickers.

Smaller Spring Pig Crop

THE number of sows farrowed in the spring of 1960 (December through May) for 10 of the Corn Belt States is 13 percent less than the same period in 1959 and 13 percent below the 1949-58 average. The March 1 survey indicates a decrease of less than 1 percent (23,000 head) from the spring farrowing intentions reported for these states as of December 1, 1959.

The 10 states included in this report accounted for 73 percent of the 1959 U. S. pig crop. Sows farrowed in these states during December, January, and February totaled 1,746,000 head—19 percent less than during the same period a year earlier but 35 percent more than average.

Farm Income Headed For 18-Year Low

Continued decline in farm income in 1960 with a drop that will bring it to an 18-year low was predicted in the U. S. Department of Agriculture's testimony before the House Committee on Appropriations.

"The best estimate we can make now for 1960," said the Department witness, "is that realized net income for farm operators will be something less than the $11 billion for 1959. With favorable developments we might break even with last year, but it probably will be half a billion less."

Watermelons

Prospective acres of early summer watermelons for harvest in Alabama this year totals 19,000, unchanged from a year ago.

Based on growers' intentions in all states, 297,800 acres of watermelons are expected for early summer harvest this year. If these intentions are realized, the 1960 acreage will be seven percent above that harvested last year and two percent above average. The larger expected acreage this year is primarily due to a 17 percent increase in Texas.

Cold weather has been unfavorable for the Texas and Florida spring crop with heavy replantings. This same situation was true in 1958.

Expanding Hatchery Industry

Alabama ranked second in the nation in the number of all chicks hatched by commercial hatcheries in 1959 with a total of 156,034,000. This is a far cry from 1948, when all commercial hatchings in the state totaled 9,110,000 chicks. Even with this small output, one small hatcheryman told me that he paid over $2,000 for air express shipping charges on hatching eggs coming from the New England area. Also in 1948 broiler production really caught on in Alabama with a six million head output!

Apparently one favorable factor for Alabama poultrymen right now is our high rate of hatching eggs and hatching production, enabling us to rapidly expand both broiler and egg production for a more favorable market than we had last year.

Broilers Booming

Broiler chick placements in Alabama for the last week in March totaled 3,977,000—knocking right on the door of 4,000,000 per week and a rate of 200,000,000 a year compared to placement of 164,800,000 in 1959. Broiler production last year totaled 154,200,000 birds. The national broiler placement rate is down, running in recent weeks at 95 percent of last year.

State Feed and Fertilizer Sales

Trends in the sale of feed and fertilizer are significant. February feed tonnage sales totaled 123,057 tons, up 30 percent from the 94,597 tons sold in February, 1959. Poultry feed was way out front with 73,000 tons in February this year as compared to last year's 59,000 tons in February. Dairy feeds at 14,000 tons was nearly doubled. And all classes of livestock feed sold were up except the 5,475 tons of hog feed which was down three percent from the previous February. Sales of oil meals, cereal by-products, molasses, and other feed were also up.

On the other hand, the 1960 February fertilizer tonnage totaled 53,244 tons, down six percent from February a year ago. Sales of some formulas were up, particularly 0-16-8, 4-12-12, and 8-8-8. In fertilizer materials, February sales of anhydrous ammonia, nitrogen solutions, 18 percent superphosphate and muriate of potash were above February last year, while other materials were less.

Sweet Potato Growers May Reduce Acreage

Farmers in the Southeast will likely plant fewer acres to sweet potatoes this spring after last year's large crop and low prices.

1960 plantings in the Southeast—based on growers' plans in early March—are estimated at 110,800 acres, or 15 percent fewer acres than the 130,400 planted last year. Alabama's acreage to be planted this year is indicated to be 10,000 compared to 12,000 last year.

Take Your Time

THE best fisherman is one who never "hurries" his fishing. Every now and then I see an angler who casts as if he has five minutes to get the limit. He reels so rapidly that I wonder if a bass or bream could catch the lure!

Even the best cane poler "takes it easy." Remember, you want to fool the fish by making your artificial bait act in the same manner as a live insect or minnow. Retrieve your lure with a combination of jerks. At times reel slowly, then rapidly. When you cast, pick out a definite spot that seems "fishy." Don't cast just to put the bait in the water.

The Easy Way

I use the popping-bug and floating-type casting lures more than all other types. When bass fishing with a floating plug that has a scooped front end, I cast to a likely spot and let the lure lie quietly for 30 to 40 seconds.

Then having taken up all the slack in the line, I make the lure dance and gurgle. If nothing happens, I wait a moment and make the lure "pop" the water again. If a bass doesn't sock the lure by this time, I make another cast elsewhere.

Trotline and Jug Fishing

This is the time of the year for taking channel and blue catfish on trotlines and floating jugs. Big sloughs on rivers and creeks and the area below stream dams will provide good catfishing. I do most of my trotline and jug fishing on cloudy days and at night.

Best bait? That depends on the preference of the fish. Shad are excellent; chicken entrails are good at times. Other baits are mussels, liver, homemade stink bait, doughballs, pieces of white soap, worms, and minnows.

Pond Care

Good ponds that can be profitably fertilized should have had several fertilizer applications by now. Fertilizer of the right analysis (ratio of N-P-K) produces abundant fish food and darkens the water to prevent some rooted weed growth.

Control Weeds

Probably the pondowner's biggest problem is water weeds. All weeds cannot be effectively controlled with chemicals. For many underwater weeds, sodium arsenite may be the answer, but this material is highly poisonous and must be handled under supervision.

Most above-water weeds can be held in check with 2,4-D. The granular type of 2,4-D is proving effective against many types of emergent weeds. For details on pond-weed control, see your county agent.

Safety First

Boating safety cannot be too highly stressed. Be sure you use a boat that does not leak. Don't overload it and wear an approved-type of life preserver regardless of how well you can swim.

Don't stand in a boat to fish. If your boat should overturn, stay with the boat! And be sure you do not use an outboard motor that is too big for your boat.

Wildlife Enemy

Keep fires out of woods and fields. Summer fires destroy food, nests and homes of game.

ALMOST 50 percent more milk in 14 days? Sounds fantastic, doesn't it? "But it can be done," says Hughes Hargrove of Limestone County. "And lush grazing started the extra milk flow in my herd."

Hargrove has been farming for C. A. Christian for sometime and only moved to the present 220-acre farm near the Clements School in February. This farm also belongs to Christian. He planted the grazing crops at the proper time so they would be ready for the herd when he moved them onto their new premises.

Ten acres of crimson clover-ryegrass, 20 acres of oats-vetch, and 11 acres of alfalfa make up the green ration. The alfalfa was planted last summer or early fall and the ryegrass in September. Both were fertilized according to soil test results.

Explaining the sudden increase in milk production, County Agent F. K. Agee points out that in February Hargrove moved his manufacture-grade milk herd to the new location. He started the cows on grazing during the second week of March and just two weeks later the production level was 47 percent higher.

Production in pounds of milk per cow per day ranged from two pounds to a high of 40 pounds at the beginning of the two-week grazing period. (Ironically, a cow named Number One gave only three pounds per day.) At the end of the period the range was from 13 to 54 pounds per cow per day.

STUDY RECORDS—Here, County Agent F. K. Agee (right) goes over Weigh-A-Day-A-Month records with Mr. and Mrs. Hughes Hargrove of Limestone County as C. A. Christian (extreme left) looks on. Christian owns the farm the Hargroves are operating. Lush grazing and proper management increased milk production in the 28-cow milking herd nearly 50 percent in 14 days.

Hargrove is using the Weigh-A-Day-A-Month testing program to point out culls, states Agee, and most of the 28 cows being milked at the beginning of the spring grazing test have been culled. Hargrove plans to cull more of the animals, too. But a farmer just can't change his entire herd overnight, says the farm agent.

Artificial breeding will be used on Hargrove's best cows to start some good replacement heifers in the herd, declares Agee.

On the 180 acres of open land Hargrove has 90 acres of permanent pasture. And this summer he is putting in 10 acres of Starr millet to provide the animals with temporary grazing during hot weather. An upright silo will be filled with corn silage to boost dry feeds next winter.

Hargrove got off to a good start on this farm, believes Agee, and he will have a mighty fine operation going before he's finished with it.

Worm Bed Lends Hand To Other Projects

A worm bed for fishbait has helped Doris Hollingsworth of Fayette County pay for materials and furnishings for her new bedroom. The Hubertville 4-H Club member and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hollie Hollingsworth of Glenn Allen Rt. 1, converted a back porch into a room, and with profits from selling fishbait, Doris put in the necessary furniture, wall paper, and curtains. The fishbait bed is built of concrete block with a slab of concrete for the bottom. Four by eight feet in size, the bed is 16 inches deep and is stocked with English redworms. Table scraps, cottonseed hulls, and other materials are thrown into the bed to feed the worms. Here, Doris and her father fill a box with 100 worms which will sell for a penny per worm. Besides her own room, Doris has helped with the remodeling of the entire house, doing such jobs as sanding floors and door facings and refinishing furniture. She also has projects in sewing, freezing foods, and forestry.

Meat-Type Hogs Not Bacon-Type

By Ray Cavender
Extension Meats Marketing Specialist
Auburn University

RECENTLY a hog producer asked how he could go about producing the bacon hog wanted by our markets.

Of course, this producer meant meat-type instead of bacon-type, for we know of no markets in Alabama that are looking for a bacon hog in the strict sense. On the other hand all markets had rather have the better quality hog, and many are proving it by paying extreme top market prices for the well-muscled hog.

Bacon-type is a carryover from the old country where hogs have been bred for many years to produce a high percentage of bacon. In fact, a majority of European produced pork is cured by salting down the whole side and processing into various kinds of bacon. Years ago when we imported some of these European breeds to the United States, the term, bacon-type, naturally followed along with the hogs. Due to a good program of breeding and selection for muscling, these imported breeds such as Landrace, Yorkshire, and Tamworth are no longer considered bacon breeds in our country, but rather meat-type breeds.

Bacon is a favorite on most of our breakfast tables; however, the demand for ham and loin makes these cuts very valuable. Therefore, we should talk about meat-type hogs, not bacon-type, as this type of pork is most attractive to processors and consumers. It, therefore, goes without saying that this type is the most profitable to grow considering research has shown that meat-type sows do better in the farrowing pen and that good quality pigs perform better than poorly bred pigs in the feed lot.

M. D. "Pete" Gilmer
President American Dairy Association of Alabama

THE American Dairy Association, commonly known as ADA, is a non-profit organization of dairy farmers set up for the purpose of increasing sales of milk and dairy foods.

A nation-wide organization, the ADA is owned, operated, and controlled by dairymen. There are 43 units functioning in the United States. In the Alabama association the other officers besides myself are Robert E. Lee, Sr., Gadsden, vice-president; Jonathan Wahl, Wilmer, secretary; Ed Roddy, Columbus, Georgia, treasurer and manager; and Brice Moore, Marion Junction, field representative.

GILMER

The program is voluntarily supported by dairymen throughout the country at the rate of two cents per 100 pounds of milk sold. This money is set aside and spent on the product from which it comes—that is, fluid milk money is used to promote fluid milk sales, etc.

June Dairy Month is just one of 18 milk and dairy products sales events that ADA promotes continuously throughout the year. And it is the greatest single annual food sales event in the nation. ADA is the senior sponsor, enlisting the cooperation of practically all the dairy industry and many related groups and food companies throughout the nation.

June Dairy Month headquarters—located in Columbus, Georgia—assemble radio, television, newspaper, and community promotion materials which are available, free of charge, to area chairmen and their leaders. Merchandising point-of-sale materials is provided for use in grocery stores, restaurants, etc. Dairy sales groups and others interested in sales materials may purchase mats, scripts, etc., at the cost of production. Then through their source of advertising the brand names can be added.

ADA has many research projects underway in schools and colleges across the country, including the one—elimination of off-flavors in milk—currently being carried out at Auburn University.

The American Dairy Association program and the June Dairy Month promo*tion event are excellent examples of a constructive phase of agriculture where the dairymen themselves recognize the need for a strong sales program* and have set about building such a program through better cooperation among dairy groups.

Other sponsoring organizations of June Dairy Month are the National Dairy Council, Purebred Dairy Cattle Association, American Butter Institute, Dairy Association Executives, Dairy Industries Supply Association, Evaporated Milk Association, International Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers, Milk Industry Foundation, National Cheese Institute, National Creameries Association, National Milk Producers Federation, and American Dry Milk Institute.

June Dairy Month is a time of special recognition for our great dairy industry and the people who make it so. It is a time for those of us in this tremendous segment of agri-business, dairy farmer and processor alike, to pause and reflect on the progress and future of our industry.

Today, we hear on all sides of us glowing remarks about the market of the sixties, the soaring sixties, and population explosions. The sales potential of our products is closely tied to the population growth of our country. We have a bright future, but our continued growth is not assured by population increases alone. Change is an element of progress, and these are rapidly changing times.

To hold our share of an intensely competitive consumer market and progress further, we must continue to aggressively sell our story to the consuming public about the refreshing, nutritious, and economic advantages of fresh milk and dairy products. We must keep milk attractively packaged, well merchandised, and conveniently displayed. But most of all we must always work earnestly and intelligently toward our ever common goal of supplying the highest possible quality product at a fair price.

If we will continue to do these things, then we are assured a healthy future in this expanding market of the sixties.

Let June Dairy Month remind us all of the excellent opportunities to produce more milk in Alabama and to expand our consumption of dairy products. We shouldn't stop with a Dairy Month—let's make every day, DAIRY DAY.

School Children Drinking More Milk

MILK consumed by children is continually increasing through the successful operation of the special milk program in Alabama public schools and child care institutions. The amount of milk moved into use through this program rose to a new high in the year ending last June and has increased further during this school year, according to Roy Alverson, state supervisor, local accounting and school lunch.

He says that in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1959, a total of 30,689,913 half-pints of milk was used in our schools, in addition to the 54,118,988 half-pints served with lunches under the National School Lunch Program. Reports also show that the program has continued to expand this school year at a rate of about seven percent, adds Alverson.

During the year 1958-59 there were 2,401 Alabama schools with an average daily attendance of 698,272. The records show that 1,616 schools, with an average daily attendance of 622,561, participated in the special milk program. Thus we note that 89 percent of the children attending public schools have access to milk through the program, points out the supervisor.

Schools, nursery schools, settlement houses, summer camps, and other child care institutions have found that children want to drink milk. The more opportunities found to serve milk during the day, the more milk the youngsters will drink.

The opportunity to make milk available to them at a special price—lower than they would ordinarily pay—through operation of the special milk program has resulted in substantial extra sales and increased milk consumption.

INSECTICIDES (from 1)

and if you got satisfactory control with the hydrocarbon insecticides last year, there is no reason to suspect that you cannot do so again this year.

Don't be too hasty in concluding that weevils are resistant. Several factors such as rainy weather, inadequate dosages, faulty applications, etc., may let weevils get out of hand. On the other hand, if there is real evidence of resistance in your field, you should change to an insecticide recommended for resistant weevils such as 10 percent Sevin, two and one-half percent methyl parathion-five percent DDT, 10 percent malathion-five percent DDT, two and one-half percent Guthion-five percent DDT, 20 percent toxaphene-10 percent DDT, or 20 percent Strobane-10 percent DDT.

Other pests that often cause serious damage to cotton include bollworms, aphids (plant lice), plant bugs—including flea hoppers and others, and mites.

Of this group the bollworm is perhaps the most destructive. Damage by this pest has been especially severe during the past two seasons and the yields of many fields were considerably below their potential before the appearance of this pest.

The presence of bollworms is not as easy to detect as is that of the boll weevil. Therefore, make a careful examination of terminal buds and young squares at weekly intervals. When eggs are plentiful and four to five young worms are found per 100 terminals, control measures are in order. A delay of one week at this point may prove serious since it is almost impossible to kill these worms after they are a week to 10 days old.

Spider mites may become a serious problem. These pests are so small that it is almost impossible to determine their presence with the naked eye until reddening and dropping of leaves occurs. By this time the infestation has usually spread throughout the field.

To combat this situation, carefully examine leaves on marginal or outside rows at least weekly from now until the crop is mature. There is an indication that treating the first 20 to 30 rows around the margins of the field will suppress infestations to the point that no special treatment for mites will have to be made. Do this when the first mites are detected on the marginal rows.

Many farmers start their control program too early, some wait too late, but most quit too soon. For best results, check fields at least once each week, apply a sufficient amount of insecticide when control is needed, follow a very definite schedule, and do not quit until top bolls are about grown or cotton starts to open.

For additional information on Auburn University cotton insect control recommendations and a list of recommended insecticides, see your county agent.

WOULD you like extra dollars from peanuts next fall?

A boost in yields is possible if you apply all recommended production practices at the right time.

This month two practices need attention. (1) Apply gypsum or basic slag according to soil test, and (2) dust with copper-sulfur to control leafspot.

Research shows that calcium is needed for high yields of sound, mature peanuts. What's more, this calcium must be present in the top layer of soil since it is absorbed through the young pods. When blooming starts, apply either basic slag or gypsum (land plaster) as recommended by your soil test. These materials may be spread on the land with a farm fertilizer spreader. However, be sure the entire fruiting zone is covered.

JERNIGAN

Large-seeded, Virginia-type peanuts require more calcium than runner peanuts. Therefore, growers of these nuts should apply either gypsum or basic slag at the rate of 400 to 500 pounds per acre.

Leafspot, a disease which appears on the leaves as black spots, causes plants to shed their leaves. This shedding reduces yield and provides decaying organic matter which is an ideal media for reproduction of stem rot organisms. Leafspot causes serious loss most years.

Leafspot disease can be controlled with copper-sulfur when properly used. Begin treatment on early runners during the last 10 days of June. Dixie runners mature a little later; therefore, start dusting them during the first week in July. Apply the copper-sulfur dust at 10- to 14-day intervals until about two weeks before harvest. Usually three to four applications are necessary for control.

Use copper-sulfur at the rate of 15 to 18 pounds per acre at the first dusting and 20 to 25 pounds for later dusting. Apply the material with enough force to cause it to rebound from the ground and cover the bottoms of the leaves. For best results, dust when the air is relatively calm.

Insecticides may be mixed with copper-sulfur to control leaf-feeding insects. However, peanuts should not be dusted with DDT or toxaphene for 30 days preceding harvest.

For A Good Harvest, Carry Out All Practices

During prolonged dry weather in August, late applications of copper-sulfur may not be profitable.

Below are data showing results obtained from dusting with copper-sulfur in Headland and in North Carolina.

Many Things Precede Dairy Profits

J. H. Blackstone
Agricultural Economist
Auburn University Experiment Station

DAIRY farming is a complicated business. Consequently, there are many things that must precede dairy profits. Good cows, good feeding and care, and good management all along the line are musts. But back of everything else there must be planning. Lack of planning may be the major problem with much of our dairy farming in Alabama.

Many Alabama farm operators are inefficient in their dairy farming. They are milking poor cows, raising poor heifers in a poor way, feeding them a poor ration, tramping through the mud in the barnyard, and producing a poor quality product. This is a mistake. Careful thought and planning must be given to every step in dairying. Success comes in no other way.

BLACKSTONE

Dairy farming can be a successful enterprise on many additional Alabama farms, with the making of a good profit as a fairly definite goal. Lest the profit be smaller than need be, it is important that dairymen establish a long-time plan or goal and work toward that goal as directly as possible.

Research at a number of substations of the Auburn Agricultural Experiment Station has shown that the dairy enterprise can be adjusted to farms of any size. However, dairying has several advantages over most other livestock enterprises on small farms. Limited capital for making farm adjustments is not as serious a handicap with dairying as it is with most other livestock enterprises. Manufacturing milk sales can be made from a few cows or from many cows.

Dairying as a farm enterprise has an open end for growth. Growth can be made by increasing the herd size, or through a year-to-year increase in milk production per cow, or by a combination of the two.

To be most profitable, dairying needs to be a year-round business with sufficient cows to fully use the land, labor, and capital goods devoted to them. Usually, this means 20 or more high-producing cows. Total milk production on the farm should reach some 200,000 to 300,000 pounds per man. For efficient use of labor, an inexpensive milking parlor and a cow-to-can milker is needed. The basic feed should be pasture and hay, with grain added to the ration at the rate of one pound of feed to five pounds of milk produced.

Other enterprises, such as cotton, beef cattle, or hogs should be carried on to the extent necessary for complete use of land, labor, equipment and other capital goods. These enterprises normally would be secondary to dairying. However, they should be given equally good supervision and management in order to increase the farm's net cash income.

Net cash income at the several dairy research farms differs according to the farm's size, acres of open land, use made of the land, number of dairy cows, and productivity per cow. However, each farm makes enough profit from dairying and other supplementary enterprises to cover depreciation on buildings and equipment, interest on investment, and wages for labor, after paying all cash operating expenses. The experience of these research farms and the readily available markets for manufacturing milk show that more consideration should be given this enterprise in Alabama agriculture.

Research, Education Have Speeded Changes

Dr. K. M. Autrey
Head, Dairy Husbandry

EACH year there are fewer and fewer dairy farms, but more milk is sold. There were about 2400 grade-A dairies in Alabama a few years ago. Now there are fewer than 1900, but the grade-A dairymen sell more milk than ever before.

What are the reasons for this? Is it necessary for Alabama dairies to grow larger in order to be successful?

In 1958, of the 683 million pounds of milk sold to grade-A and manufacture-grade markets, 26 percent of the dairymen milked 69 percent of the cows and sold 76 percent of the milk.

Our dairies are rapidly growing larger. As

MR. MILLER TAKEN ILL

MR. W. Henry Miller, father of newly elected County Treasurer Ott Miller was taken seriously ill early Wednesday morning and rushed to Chilton County Hospital for observation and treatment. Mr. and Mrs. Miller reside on Lay Dam Road in Clanton and he has been active in the service station business in Clanton for many years.

His condition was unchanged at presstime today and further examinations were being made.

KILLED BY TRAIN AT CALERA

BURL Pierce, age 48, was killed instantly last Sunday morning when the car in which he was riding was struck by a Southern freight train at Calera, Ala.

Funeral services were held at Oak Grove Baptist Church Tuesday afternoon at 2:00. Burial in adjoining cemetery. Rev's. J. C. Payne, W. R. Seymore and Thomas Glover officiated. Bolton Funeral Home of Columbiana was in charge.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Josie Pierce of Jemison, Rt. 1, two sisters, Mrs. Geneva Pierce of Birmingham and Mrs. Thelma Knowles of Montevallo; three brothers, Leonard of Chicago, Ill, Earl of Jemison and Jack of Calera.

Pallbearers were: Allen, Tim, Sonny and John Pierce, Jimmy Knowles and C. E. Harrell. Flowers were handled by friends and neighbors.

A native of Chilton County, he was the son of the late Tim Pierce and Mrs. Josie Lightsley Pierce.

LOOKS like the "M's" had it Tuesday in the runoff election between the high men in the May 3 Primary. Acie Mims campaigning in the Fourth District for Membership on the Board of Revenue and Control won over the incumbent Reedie L. Hilyer by a vote of 1179 to 1010.

Sherman Motley, now a member of the Board from District Three won over his opponent Buddy Lawley by a vote of 588 to 478.

Ott Miller running a close second in the First Primary increased his support enough to win over Mrs. Mildred Burnette of Stanton by 456 votes in the race for County Treasurer. The count was: Miller, 2161 votes and Burnette 1705.

Uncompleted returns over the State showed the States Rights ticket leading by a small margin.

Jack Owens was leading Ed Pepper by a substantial margin in two thirds of the State's some 3,000 boxes.

Below is a recap of the vote in Chitlon County by Boxes:

First n History—

Temple Assembly Observes National Membership Sunday

THE Temple Assembly of God will join thousands of churches of the denomination Sunday, June 5, in observation of National Membership Sunday.

The local congregation expects to receive five new members Sunday. This will bring its active voting membership to 95. However enrollment in the Sunday School is 190 with an average attendance of 175.

Those who will be added to the Temple roll are Mr. and Mr. Roy Mims, Mrs. Grady Davis, Mrs. Moses Mims and Miss Eula Mae Baker.

Currently the Assemblies of God, with International headquarters in Springfield, Mo. ranks 27th membership-wise out of some 258 denominations reporting to the 1960 volume of the Yearbook of American Churches.

Growth of the Assemblies of God during its 46 years can be credited to an active home missions and Sunday School program, according to the Rev. Nelson E. White, pastor at the Temple. The denomination has averaged opening almost a church a day for the past 10 years.

Churches of the Assemblies of God number 8,129 with a membership of 503,532. However, many of the churches have given little emphasis to membership before. The current Membership Sunday is the first in the history of the Assemblies of God.

Civitans Planning 4th of July Bar-B-Q

THE Cvitan Club of Clanton announces plans for the Annual July 4th Barbecue to be held at the City Park in Clanton.

The Civitans hope to have an all time high sale of tickets this year since all proceeds will go toward equipping the rooms of the special education classes at the county grammar schools. Further announcements about the Barbecue will be made.

Singing At Cane Creek

THERE will be an All-Day Singing next Sunday, June 5 at Cane Creek Baptist Church, east of Clanton on Lay Dam Road. Singing will begin at 10:00 o'clock. An old-fashioned dinner will be spread at the noon hour.

Singers are expected from all surrounding counties. Everyone has an invitation, especially all singers.

Rev. N. E. Cook is the pastor.
Oliver C. Boone, chairman.

American Legion Post 6 To Elect New Officers

ALL members of Chilton County Post. No. 6 are hereby notified that there will be an election of new officers, Monday, June 6th. All members are urged to be present promptly at 7:30 p.m. to cast his vote.

Freezer Demonstration At Local Armory

THERE will be an RCA Whirlpool freezer demonstration at the National Guard Armory in Clanton Tuesday June 7th at 2:00 p.m.

Mrs. Lucille Martin, RCA Whirlpool Home Economist will be in charge of this demonstration and will process and package foods ready for storage in the freezer. Mrs. Martin has many helpful hints that may save you time and trouble.

There will be a $59.50 cutlery set awarded as a door prize. The publics invited. Immediately following the demonstration Mrs. Martin will be available to answer any question that might come up on problems of properly freezing food.

Legion Tops Membership Goal

CHILTON County Post No. 6 has already gone over the top in their drive for membership. 186 members have already paid their dues for 1960. The goal of 175 was set by Department Headquarters.

This speaks well for Chilton County to be among the top Posts in the State.

Shrine Club Meets Monday

THE Shriners will meet Monday night at 7:30, June 6.

All members are urged to attend this meeting which will be held upstairs over Levine's Dry Goods

We Told You So--

We have been telling you all along that Chilton County is definitely on the grow'. Further evidence of our claim is seen over around Maplesville where a new industry employing some one hundred Chilton Countians is in the opening stages.

Maplesville, in the past few years, has received more that its fair share of bad publicity to witness the fact that it has not got them down is rewarding to say the least.

The citizens of Maplesville are always working to better their community, as a whole and they, being part of Chilton County should have the approval and support of all us Chiltonians in their efforts to obtain new industry for our County. We congratulate them on their economical progress and foresight!

Look Out For Our Toes--Big Shot--

WE don't mind the daily press (the Alabama Journal for example) laying it on the line to the Governor if they feel the need, but when they start referring to the weekly newspapers as "a weak reed. . ." then it's high time they were brought down a knotch or two.

In a smashing editorial Friday of last week the Journal saw fit to take the Governor to task for several of his "shortcomings" in their opinion and in doing so classified the weekly press, which they claimed he had threatened to depend on for his publicity and promotion, as weak, slow and unstable.

The average weekly newspaper has more personal appeal, more direct influence on the individual and more proportionate selling power than any daily ever thought of having simply because it is personal and more closely connected with the individual.

We will not argue that the daily does not have an awesome circulation in comparison with the average weekly; however, so does a boxholder cover a lot of territory, but how influential is it?

There's no denying that the daily newspaper has its influence, and rightly so. It boils down to the fact that the daily, like the weekly has a specific purpose. The first is fast and complete news coverage daily. The weekly's claim to fame is, however, not it's speed, but its usefulness to the individual and the small communities as an exclusive media for their own personal opinions and happenings which envelope they and their families.

There are quite a few statistics which disagree with the "weak reed" opinion of our daily friend, but common sense alone is enough to support the obvious fact that the weekly press is the mainstay of a community's spirit and integrity and has been termed as the "backbone of our free American way of life."

It might not 'get said' what Mr. Patterson wants said, but it gets to the people, and that's what counts.

And then too, in a more practical vein, not many daily newspapers could boost such fine "facilities" if it were not for the men in their mechanical departments who got their training in weekly shops. . Humility doesn't seem to be a virtue enjoyed by the daily press. Too Bad'.

Could We Please--

TRAFFIC is such on Hwy. 31 in Clanton at the peak of the busy-day traffic that we need something!

At the corner of 4th Ave. and 7th St. No. traffic turning left onto Highway 22 is usually bottlenecked by the merging traffic coming from the north. What we want to know is: can we use delayed green lights or something of that nature to relieve the bottleneck. It isn't many hours of the day, but it's getting worse!

Just An Idea--

CLANTON Motors has impressed upon us, through their actions, that the 'private'-parking lot we have been enjoying is just that -- Private!

Monday morning when we came to work we almost hung ourselves on a rope and then we needed a girdle to squeeze down the alley. The procedure just gives you an idea of how Clanton is growing -- all available space in town is being utilized for business purposes and the outskirts are continually further 'out'!

Clanton is on the go, along with the rest of Chilton County.

THINGS We see and hear

by BOB

WE were pounced on this week by one Alvin Ellison who claimed at the time that we were negligent in our duty for not covering the story of a redent meeting of the Rescue Squad. According to Alvin they had quite a time of it that night, big wigs and all and he thought it should have been covered. Alvin doesn't have to be told that we are always eager and willing to cooperate in any way with the local Rescue Squad. The progress they have made here in six years is amazing and Alvin is due mulh of the rredit for the organization's success. They now have a standing active membership of 80 fine uitizens and their usefulness as a team is manifested in many ways when emergencies arise. Nossir, we would not slight the Rescue Ssuad intentionally. We have tried to give them good publicity whenever we were able to do so. We appreciate it when we're not judged too harshly for one oversight . . . sometimes there just seem to be too many 'sights'. With a membership such as they have appoint or elect some sort of inand as active as they are, it would be a very reat advantage, and also much appreciated if they would ternal pubilcity department who we could work directly with. It would make our job much more effective and we believe would satisfy the organizatons need for publicity to a much greater degree. In other words, Al, how 'bout some help!

A couple of months ago, we could have sworn there were at least a hundred people in easy reach who declared that they preferred hot weather--today, it's 97 in the shade and when we tried to find one of 'em to see how they were liking their preferred weather, would you believe it, we can't find a single one! Ain't it hot ,fellers?

YOU have to know him (naturally) to appreciate it, but ole Bill Hays has the kind of humor that just appeals to us. Other day we were kidding him about going into the body business (automobile, that is) and we, assuming that everybody in business either contracted their jobs or worked by the hour, asked him how much he was getting an hour for a job and he says "Oh, I don't like to work an hour on a job!" That fixed that venture up. . . tell us Speedy (lazy) how much do you get per minute? We ain't got no body work anyhow!

The Old Timer

"The remarkable thing about school reunions is that your old classmates have gotten so fat and bald that they hardly recognize you."

T'S strange to us; the day after a political election, folks who the day before were crooks, thieves and skunks, are preetty good Joes and fit to live with after all. Guess it's just a manifestation of the old addage, "If you can't lick 'em. . . live with 'em anyhow!" At least until another election.

BUHL, Elrod and Echola! That's not a foreign language, it's names of town in and around Alabama. The folks living in that first one, must be down on just about everything. And that last one: that's what one old maid said to her sster Ola, when she saw mouse! You want to look them up. Look over around the mid-western part of the state and there they'll be!

WENT in to see a fellow, Monday morning about advertising and he began by telling us how bad we looked. Then when we got around to advertising—which is our stork and trade—he began telling us how sorry our business was; "like pouring it into a stump hole", says he! Mighty sorry way for us to start off a week, that's all!

IN our opinion, a weekly newspaper would not breathe many breaths of life among a people who felt nothing for their fellowman. That's what a weeky newspaper is . . . people! If you are one who is not ronserned with your lomlunity then it follows that you aren't very interesten in your fellow beings. It therefore follows that you aren't interested in your fellow beings. paper for the same reason.

SEE where Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Wilson have just been on a tour of Carlsbad Caverns. These Rt. 2, Clanton folks had a fine the pleasure of touring the Caverns with our friend, the late William time of it, we're sure. We had (Billy) Powell and it is true. . . Carsbad is indescribably awesome and beautiful. We'd go again in a minute, had we the chance. . . and the change!

Carsbad is in New Mexico, or did you already know that?

KNOW YOUR DOCTOR

The Physician's Ethics

More than three centuries before the birth of Christ the physician's way of life was spelled out in the Oath of Hippocrates. The maxims and ideals of conduct which this noble document specified are still subscribed to by physicians all over the world.

It could serve as a guide to good conduct in all walks of life.

Without Fear or Favor

To cope with changing times and conditions, physicians have also established 'codes of ethics". In the medical sense, ethics is defined as "the science of values in relation to the conduct of life as a whole." Among many items found in a recent ethical code of the American Medical Association, one of the most altruistic is that during disasters and epidemics the physician will continue his work without regard for his own health and safety. It is significant that the oaths, codes of ethics, and rules of conduct to which physicians are bound are formulated primarily for the welfare of patients and secondarily for the continuing good name of the medical profession.

Now He Has Help

As the world changes so does the practice of medicine. Years ago, the physician was primarily a family doctor possessed of deep understanding and practical wisdom, but with no more than a handful of really effective weapons against disease. Now the doctor has a wealth of amazingyl effectve therapeutic agents and improved techniques for the diagnosis, prevention, and treatment of diseases.

Specialists, The Order

Progress in medicine as a science has, however, brought about many changes in the physician's practice. Since no one man can master the whole of modern medicine, specialtiss have come to play a larger part in the cars of the sick. The specialist, in cooperation with the general practitioner, has greatly improved the treatment of many illnesses.

Physicians are making increased use of hospitals where they find a concentration of skills, special knowledge, and facilities available for the benefit of patients. Medicine, then, is becoming more and more a matter of teamwork.

New Roles for Physicians

The physician is no longer "isolated on an island of disease with his patents." His experience and knowledge are being brought to bear on a wide variety of affairs ranging from social issues at the community level to matters that are inter-national in scope. A call to physicians to exert themselves for the betterment of their communities was recently sounded by Dr. David B. Allman, past president of the American Medical Association. He urged them to abandon "the ivory tower of professional detachment" and step more actively into community affairs.

Safeguard, Improve, Progress

Evdence of the physician's expanding role is seen almost everywhere--in public health movements, in the formulation of laws to safeguard health, in the promotion of improved social services, in the progress of industrial health, to mention a few.

You and Your Physician

The medical profession is often subjected to criticism--and sometimes rightfully so--for certain shortcomings. Yet' most of us in our individual association with our physician find far more to admire than to censure. We recognzie that he, having made a study of human behavior, knows a great deal about "what makes us tick." We recognize, too, that his profession has made an enormous contribution to the welfare of humanity.

What He Values Most

What are the rewards of a medical career? Perhaps the one that the physician values most is the knowledge that his neighbors look upon him as an indispensable member of the community. He values, too, the privilege of intimate association with all kinds of people, the satisfaction of bringing new lives into the world, restoring the sick and injured to health, preventing diseases and accidents, and easing pain in hopeless illnesses. Such enduring rewards are known only to the phyhician dedicated and devoted to medicine, both as a science and an art.

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

A bill providing $1.3 billion in federal aid for school construction was passed by the House of Representatives last Thursday on a vote of 206 to 189. The measure provides for dividing among the states $325 million annually for four years, basing the allotments on each state's school age population. Funds allocated under the bill would have to be matched, dollar for dollar, by state or local sources.

Powell Amendment

As passed by the House, the school-aid legislation contains the perennial Powell Amendment, sponsored by Negro Representative Adam Clayton Powell, which denies federal funds to segregated schools. This, of course, will prohibit Alabama schools from receiving assistance, although the taxpayers of our state must bear the proportionate share of the financial burden involved in the expensive program. Needless to say, I voted against the bill on final passage.

Even if the Powell Amendment had not been attached, however, it was made clear during the debate that funds could be denied to segregated school districts. The author of the House-passed measure, Rep. Frank Thompson, Jr., of New Jersey, stated during the debate that "with or without a segregation amendment the law enforcement agencies of the federal government could deny funds to school districts that are in defiance of the courts." When asked if he thought the executive agency administering school assistance funds should deny aid to segregated areas, he replied in the affirmative.

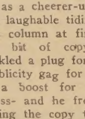
Last February the Senate approved a $1.8 billion two-year bill for federal assistance to help states build schools and improve teachers' salaries. However, an attempt to amend the House bill so as to permit part of the federal funds to be used to increase salaries in the teaching profession was defeated on the contention that the amendment was not in order.

Enactment Uncertain

Because of the differences in the House and Senate school construction bills, it will be necessary for a joint conference committee to draft a compromise measure. Since the Senate version does not contain the anti-segregation Powell Amendment,, the legislation may be blocked in the Senate by Southern filibustering if the amendment is attached to the compromise bill. On the other hand, pro-civil rights House members may refuse the bill if the amendment is removed.

In the event a compromise is agreed upon by both houses, there is no asuronce that President Eisenhower will sign the bill into law. His own program, which would have provided $2.2 billion over 30 years to assist localities in paying interest and principal on school construction bonds, was defeated by a vote of 80 to 319 when an attempt was made to substitute it for the Thompson Bill.

Another substitute proposal, which would have been more favorable to the South, was also defeated. Introduced by Rep. Frank Bow of Ohio, it would have returned to each state to use for educational purposes two cents of the eight cents collected by the federal government on each package of cigarettes sold. According to the author, such funds could have been used for any educational purposes desired by the states with no federal controls. The amendment offering the substitute proposal, which I supported, was defeated on a roll call vote of 181 to 219.



HI VANCE'S USED YARN LOT

50 YEARS OF HUMOR

Odd O. McIntyre was actually the most interesting, entertaining and readable columnist ever I read after, and I feel privileged to have been in on the ground floor at the start of his national career as a humorist and teller of stories; his human interest yarns being great. When he died it sorter threw a pall over the persons nationally, who had been depending on him daily as a cheerer-upper and bringer of laughable tidings.

His column at first was a giveaway bit of copy wherein was sprinkled a plug for this show, and a publicity gag for that restaurant, and a boost for some hotel, or actress- and he freely admitted it, sending the copy to the paper on which I worked, gratis. I had the pleasure of starting the thing off and the boss began to take interest. Later on there was a smal' fee for the privilege of printing, which we gladly paid. Some papers in the South were paying $85.00 per week for the column, when O. O. passed on.

As I remember it ,one of his favorite yarns went something like this:

Two gentlemen met in the smoker of a train. One said: "Didn't I see you in Buffalo once?" The other replied: "I guess not-I have never been to Buffalo. The chance acquaintance then countered with: "Neither have I - It must have been two other fellows!"

HOW TO GET YOUR PRAYERS ANSWE

One of the greatest statements in the Bible is, "And the Lord heard and answered." That statement is sweet music to a person seeking God in an intimate, personal manner.

At some time in every life there comes a need to pray. Every person reaches a point where the sky looks black and the horizon of the future is clouded with uncertainty—then he wants his prayers to be answered.

However, there are times when there seems to be no way to get a prayer through or an answer in return. What is the key? Is there some strange secret that God is trying to teach us? I believe there is a way to get prayers answered.

The Bible says that those who wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength. And each of us needs a daily renewing of strength. We need our determinations strengthened, our expectant faith made stronger, and our love increased in every way. If our prayers were answered immediately every time, we would not wait before God. So the Bible says, "They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength."

There is no man or woman who can pray and expect God to answer every time in an instant. There are many testings of character, many influences brought to bear upon prayer life and the answer that God would give. It is necessary to understand the value of waiting for God to answer own way and in His own

When a person prays h appeal to the love of God God is a good God. He good to do wrong, too w make a mistake, too str fail. Come to God in th that pleases Him most Bible says, "God is love."

Another step toward prayers answered is usin I believe that faith is pa and to have faith witho power is to have half- little faith. There must termination and characte stands up and dares to God—that knows God w give His blessing, and w tle for nothing less.

When I was a little b had a neighbor who had car. One day the car over and pinned his son it . . . and, although it w humanly possible to lif a weight, this man, whose was Mr. Raimer, picked end of that car by himse lifted it completely o child. He couldn't p have done that on any occasion. How did he His will gave him new str

That extra strength, th tra power given from G help us meet emerge flooded his being, and few minutes it made h superman.

God is a good God! He to give the very best H to us, and He is waiting to answer our prayers.

YOUR HEALTH

TONSILLECTOMY

Every year, more than one million Americans have their tonsils removed. Most of these tonsillectomies are done on children between the ages of three and eight years. Tonsils are normal structures located in the pharynx and can usually be seen when the mouth is open. Their function is said to be to absorb and destroy harmful bacteria that enter the mouth.

Infected tonsils contain bacteria that often cause repeated local trouble in the throat but also may infect the glands of the neck. Bacteria or poisons from tonsils may also migrate to remote parts of the body and cause disorder. When it is certain the tonsils are infected or when they become so enlarged even though not infected that they obstruct the throat, they are usually removed.

In surveying records of 9,000 cases of tonsillectomies, three leading causes of disirder were found. Repeated sore throat attacks account for 43 per cent of operations; earaches or hearing impairment, 31 per cent; and enlargement, 19 per cent. Only one in every 30 patients hemorrhages after a tonsillectomy, and only one in five of these hemorrhaging requires readmission to the hospital for further care.

About half of the patients reported in the survey received blood clotting agents prior to operation, and the same number received antibacterials. Tonsillectomy patients customarily spend at least one night in the hospital and have their operation following inhalation anesthesia. Tinsillectomies account for one out of every 16 general hospital cases, excluding maternity cases.

Phil Simms Receives Dental Degree From University of Ala.

ANOTHER one of our Clanton boys who graduated Sunday was Phil Simms, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benson Simms who received the degree of Doctor of Dental Medicine at the University of Alabama in a class of 45 students.

Dr. Simms will be stationed at Pensacola, Fla. for the next two years, having been assigned to dental service at the Naval station there.

Mr. and Mrs. Benson Simms, Mrs. Clarence Easterling, sister and Miss June Northcutt of Jemison went over for the graduation exercises.

This is the Kingswood 4-Door 9-Passenger Station Wagon

CHEVROLET
For Economical Transportation

With wagons like this one in the lineup, it's no wonder Chevrolet is the most popular car in the whole U. S. All five Chevy wagons, 6- and 9-passenger models, are widest where wagons should be wide—with comfortable seating space that becomes up to 92-cu. ft. of cargo area by a simple adjustment. All five feature all the things that are making Chevrolet first choice, too: FULL COIL SUSPENSION cushioning all four wheels . . . an ECONOMY TURBO-FIRE V8 that gets up to 10% more miles to the gallon on regular gas, or that well-known saver, the HI-THRIFT 6 . . . the shift-free smoothness of TURBOGLIDE . . . a wider front seat and more entrance height in Chevy's ROOMIER BODY BY FISHER than you'll find in any other car of the leading low-priced 3. FOUR members of the Maplesville Chapter will attend the Alabama Convention of the Future Farmers of America in Auburn June 8 - 10, announces Carlos L. Owen chapter advisor, who will accompany the boys to Auburn.

Official delegate of the chapter will be John Earl Short, a member of the Agriculture I Class and son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Short. John Earl will serve as vice-president of the Chapter next school year.

Charles Stewart and Kenneth Royster will receive their State Farmer Degrees at the Convention. This degree, the highest that a state association makes, goes to only two percent of the FFA membership. Requirements are based on supervised farming programs and leadership ability.

Briggs Gibson, 2nd place winner in the District Tractor Driving Contest will participate in the State Contest during the Convention.

The Convention will be attended by approximately 900 FFA'ers from 263 chapters in the State. The Convention program includes state finals in eight contests, announcements of winners and presentation of awards in all FFA contests in Alabama, election of officers and a speech by National President Jim Thomas of Patterson, Ga.

This year Miss Mary Alice Ball of Verbena High School was elected as a winner. Miss Ball was present at this meeting and accepted the award.

The 1959-60 officers are: Miss Louise Foshee, president; Mrs. Arah P. Stanley; Miss Ola Rogers, treasurer; Mrs. Rose Sutley corresponding secretary; Mrs. Laura Little, recording secretary; Mrs. Sarah Palmer, parliamentarian and Miss Sybil Langston, director.

FROM MY FRONT PORCH
I Watch the World Go By
by
CARL HELM

"Oh, if I could only think of something different for supper tonight!"

How often the harassed housewife wishes she could. Now she can! Meals that are really different, menus to become the talk of the neighborhood, are possible, with a bit of daring.

Begin with a choice of four soups: bird's nest, kangaroo tail, alligator, or shark's fin.

Then, how about a sizzling platter of fried ants, with side dishes of fried butterflies or caterpillars? Or fried grasshoppers?

The man of the house might relish something meatier, though. Octopus, smoked or on a skewer? Maybe iguana in mole sauce? For dessert, a choice of baby bees, silk worms, or cherry blossoms?

Different, alright, and people eat them! There's a "table delicacies" store in New York doing a brisk business in such imports from Japan and Mexico, and they're not too expensive.

So what's for supper tonight, dear lady? Steak and spuds? Fine! (But if anyone really hankers for fried ants, etc., I'll supply the store's address!)

SHOULTS

Mrs. Robert McAfee

We wish to say thanks to everyone who helped to make our Homecoming a great day in the Lord. Mr. Curtis Smith, our chairman for the day opened the service with a song and a prayer.

A testimonial service followed and many different churches were represented. Dinner was enjoyed on the ground and at one o'clock we gathered back in the church to sing. Special singers for the day were Mr. James Veazey and three daughters from Mulberry. Special music rendered by Miss Diann Royster and Mrs. Thelma Hathcock. They played accordians.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Harrison, Harley, Gary, Brenda and John A., Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Smith, Joyce McAfee and Rena McAfee all attended the Saturday night Singing at Friendship.

Birthday Dinner—

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Smith and Gregg gave a surprise birthday dinner last Monday, May 23 for Mrs. Robert McAfee. It was very nice and many thanks folks.

Mrs. Thelma Hathcock gave her son, James a surprise birthday party last Thursday night. Many friends came and a good time was had by everyone present.

Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Smith have moved from Selma to Plantersville. They like their new home very much.

Mr. and Mrs. Odis Smith and son from Seattle, Wash. are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Messer Smith.

Mrs. Harvey Grover left Sunday afternoon for Texas to spend three weeks with her daughter and family, Mrs. Billie Clemits.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Lawley and family from Hueytown visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lawley and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Maddox over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Maddox visited Mr. and Mrs. Dan Jr. in Montgomery this week.

Miss Joan Lawley from Birmingham is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lawley this week end.

Bobby Ray McAfee finished up his school year last Thursday at Jacksonville College. He starts to work Monday for Zeigler's in Selma.

Mr. and Mrs. Rocky Stone and two daughters moved Saturday into the I. D. Wilson home near Mr. Walter Lawley.

APPLICATION FOR NEW BANK MADE

SOME local businessmen in Clanton and Chilton County have made application with the State Superintendent of Banks for a new bank in Clanton. It will be the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Clanton and more than $200,000 has been subscribed.

Recently a petition has been going the rounds and has been signed by numerous citizens seeking the new bank.

The purpose is aiding and serving the community.

Thompson Receives Honorary State Farmer Degree

J. REED Thompson, vocational agriculture teacher and FFA advisor at CCHS was among the 20 vo ag teachers and 17 business and professional men who received honorary State Farmer Degrees from the Alabama FFA Association during the state convention at Auburn this week.

The recipients were guests at a special dinner on Thursday evening sponsored by the Alabama Council of Retail Merchants.

Honorary SF Degrees are awarded for outstanding service to the Alabama FFA Association.

Life-Saving Classes At City Park

FROM the time a person first enters the water he should begin acquiring the knowledge and skill which will enable him to take care of himself and to assist others in emergencies.

A course in Water Saiety and Life Saving by the American Red Cross is being offered at the local City Park beginning Monday, June 13th.

All persons 16 years of age and over and who are interested must register on the 13th in order to be accepted.

The class will be held from 11:15 until noon Monday through Friday

Daniel Official F.F.A. Delegate From Isabella

THE Alabama FFA Association will hold its annual FFA Convention in Auburn June 8-10. The Isabella FFA Chapter will be represented by the advisor and four FFA members. Curtis Smith, the advisor, Frank Daniel, delegate and three members who are to receive their State Farmer degrees.

Receiving the State Farmer degree will be Evan Calfee, John Wayne Veazey and Randy Wells.

These boys are three of approximately 300 FFA members in Alabama who will receive this degree for doing an outstanding job with their supervised farming program.

Daniel will be the voting delegate.

Baptists To Dedicate New Building Sunday

THE First Baptist Church, Clanton, will dedicate their new auditorium and educational building on Sunday, June 12.

Special music will be provided by the sanctuary choir and a solo will be sung by Mrs. William P. Burnett. Dr. A. Hamilton Reid, Executive Secretary, Alabama Baptist State Convention, will be the guest speaker.

The new auditorium seating 700 people is air-conditioned, has a special concealed public address system and also ear phones for those who have defective hearing. The new pews, constructed of northern maple, in natural color, with off-white scroll ends and foam rubber cushions, were furnished by the Page Church Furniture Company, Albemarle, North Carolina.

The new Sunday School space will provide four departments for adults, a department for married young people, and two primary departments. There will also be a group of classrooms held in reserve for future growth.

A self-operated elevator with a capacity of sixteen people will operate to all floors of the building.

The office suite provides a study educational and music offices workroom and choir room, also secretarial space.

A fine, modern kitchen and two dining rooms will provide ample space for all the social activities of the church.

One of the lovely features of the new building is the Moore Chapel. It is located on the first floor of the main building and will be available for all groups who do not demand large attendance. It will also be used as the assembly room for adult department number four.

During Dedication Week, June 12-19, the Daily Vacation Bible School will be held each morning and Revival Services will be held each evening.

Rev. Roy Bethune, Minister of Music, Grace Baptist Church, Nashvile, Tennessee, will lead the song services. The pastor will be the evangelist.

The new bell, tone "C" weighing 645 pounds, was cast in the Netherlands by VanBergaan Bell Foundries, Inc. The bell is placed in the steeple as a memorial to Dr and Mrs. J. P. Hayes, by their children. The bell will be rung for the first time Sunday morning, June 12. Mr. J. W. "Dick" Hayes will throw the switch which will set the bell ringing mechanism in motion.

Plaques will be placed in the vestibule of the church recognizing all memorials and special gifts.

Mr. Leo Thompson is the chairman of the building committee; Mr. Tom Kirkland, architect, and Andrew and Dawson the general contractors.

SPEEDING AUTO KILLS 1

DORSEY Phillips was killed on a County road eight miles West of Clanton last Wednesday afternoon. It was stated that his car left the road at a high rate of speed.

A companion riding with Phillips was uninjured.

Marvin Durbin Featured 'Farmer'

A traveling editor of The Progressive Farmer recently visited the Clanton farm of Marvin Durbin and a story of Mr. Durbin's peach crop practices appears in the magazine's June issue.

For instance, Mr. Durbin uses a boom attachment on his sprayer which makes putting on sprays easier and safer than hand guns.

"We have been using this boom for several years in spraying peaches," says Mr. Durbin "and it is almost as good as hand gun spraying with experienced help."

All-Day Singing At Mt. Pleasant

ALL-DAY Singing and Homecoming will be at Mount Pleasant Baptist Church, Sunday, June 12. Lunch will be served at the noon hour. Lawrence Hayes is chairman for the occasion. You have a cordial invitation to attend.

I Watch the World Go By

by CARL HELM

$1,000 for 1,000 square feet of land — but what glorious land!

It lies in and around Gettysburg, Pa., where the brave battalions of the North and the South fought and died for the cause each believed in, where they rest today in honored graves.

"This hallowed ground," Abraham Lincoln called it in his immortal address. It is preserved as a national shrine. But recently hot dog and refreshment stands, and all manner of shoddy enterprises have sprung up around it, to attract visitors who come in respect and veneration to the battlefield.

Patriotic citizens have formed a group to buy up, protect and preserve for posterity the immediate surroundings of the historic ground. Learning of this, Studebaker-Packard Corp. gave $1,000 to buy, in the name of the non-profit body, 1,000 sq. feet; many others, corporate and private, are following suit.

The movement is headed by Cliff Arquette, a resident of Gettysburg. You know this dedicated man — as TV's Charley ("Mt. Idy") Weaver!

WRECK INJURES TWO SUNDAY NITE

A WRECK one mile south of the Mountain Top Cafe Sunday night put two women in the hospital.

Hospitalized were Miss Katherine Thorpe of Birmingham who was taken to the Prattville Hospital and Mrs. Shelvia Strnsell, of Montgomery, who was taken to the Maxwell A.F.B. Hospital in Montgomery.

Spigener ambulance answered the call.

New Office Hours For County Agent

BEGINNING Monday, June 13, County and Home Agents office will begin opening at 7:00 a.m. and closing at 4:00 p.m. Lunch hour will be as usual 12:00 to 1:00.

It is felt that the new office hours can serve more efficiently the farmers desiring growers' permits and information needed prior to their day's work.

Amoco Oilers To Play Doubleheader Saturday Night

THE Amoco Oilers of Clanton will play Frisco of Birmingham in a doubleheader Saturday night, Jun. 11 at the City Park. Frisco is noted for having one of the best Softball Clubs in the State. They wll play in an Invitational Tournament in Springfeld, Missouri the first week in July.

Pitching for Frisco will be Ronnie Bell and Buddy Lee and pitching for Clanton will be Tex Kenyon and Don Merritt.

There will also be another Ladies Game between the ladies of Dan River Mills and West End. This game will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Mr. Franklin Davis Succumbs At 86

Mr. Franklin Davis, 86, died at 1:40 a.m. on June 5 at Chilton Co. Hospital. He was born on February 28, 1874 in Waynesville, Il. The funeral was held Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. at Liberty Hill Baptist Church with burial in the Clanton Cemetery. Rev. Harvey Matthews officiated.

His father was Frank Davis and his mother was Martha Cunningham.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. H. L. Vernon of Detroit; five sons, W. M. of Tuscaloosa, Frank K. of Detroit, Paul H. of Detroit, Hubert G. of Asheville, N. C. and Claud W. of Manhattan Beach, Calif. One sister survives, Mrs. M. B. Allen of Clarksville, Ga. 18 grandchildren and 23 great grandchildren survive.

Bible School Begins At Stanton Baptist

THE Vacation Bible School of the Stanton Baptist Church will begin Monday, June 13th. Classes will be held each day from 8:30 until 11:30 a.m.

Preparation Day and the parade will be Friday, June 10th at 2:00 o'clock.

Mrs. D. O. Burnette, Jr. is principal.

Parrish Takes Insurance Course

MR. James H. Parrish of Clanton has been invited to attend an advanced training course for newly appointed field representatives to be held at the Home Office of Liberty National Life Insurance Company in Birmingham. Mr. Parrish is with the Clanton District.

The course will be of four days duration and will bring participants the latest trends and techniques in service and sales to the insuring public.

With milk production per cow likely to continue its uptrend, an increase in milk production is likely this year.

Every year, every American receives the total output of 7.4 acres of land.

In Tragic Emergencies--

CD Rescue Squad Is Lauded For Efficiency

ABOVE is a representative group of the Chilton County Civil Defense Rescue Squad and some of their equipment. This group is gaining State and nationwide recognition for their efficiency and well planned action during emergencies.

THE local CD Rescue Squad was called last Sunday morning to help in finding the body of a Birmingham man drowned Saturday.

President, Alvin Ellison, was called about 10:00 a.m. and he was able to contact about 15 men of the Squad. They left with full equipment for the scene of the accident on the Little Warrior River.

The victim was 31-year-old Fred Kenneth Sosebee.

Arriving at the river near noon the local Rescue Squad had located the body of Sosebee within 55 minutes.

The Bessemer Sheriff's Department, the Conservation Department, the Magic City Frogmen Association and the Coast Guard Auxiliary all helped in the search.

The daily press at Birmingham complimented the local men highly on their efficiency.

New Officers Elected—

WATER SAFETY SHOW COMING

THE Chilton County Civil Rescue Squad met Monday Night to elect officers for the coming year.

Mr. Alvin Ellison, on a sweeping write-in vote was re-elected president of the group.

Mr. Paul Parrish is vice-president and Mr. Henry McKey is secretary and treasurer.

It was voted on and passed that the annual dues of the members be raised from two dollars to three dollars. All members who wish to remain active are asked to pay their dues by the 25th day of July.

There will be a Water Safety Show by the Rescue Squad the 26th of June at or near the Alaga Lodge on Blue Creek. Further details will be given as soon as possible.

Everyone is invited to this event. The show will last approximately one hour and there will be no admittance charged. Watch the News for details as they come up.

HD Club Endorses Library Possibilities

IN an endorsement of the Jaycees plan for library facilities for Chilton County the County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs stated in resolution:

"WHEREAS, the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Chilton County is sponsoring a program in said County for the construction of a room in the new Courthouse which Chilton County anticipates building, said room to be used for a library and whereas there is drastic need for a Bookmobile for said County.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs does hereby endorse the plan of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and requests the Board of Revenue and Control to make the necessary funds available to defray the expenses of public library facilities for Chilton County and to further designate the necessary space in the new Courthouse for the Chilton County Library."

The Resolution is signed by Mrs. Aubrey E. Smith, chairman of Library Committee of HD Clubs.

Rennings Receives Bausch and Lomb Science Award

Ralph Littleton, Ralph Hilyer and Lavender Ray are attending the FFA Convention in Auburn this week according to L. C. Shields Vocational Agriculture instructor at Jemison High School.

Littleton and Hilyer will receive the State Farmer Degree. This is the highest honor that is bestowed by the State Association of Future Farmers of America. These two young men have been very outstanding in their school and community.

Hilyer was the winner of the chapter corn growing contest last year and served as assistant treasurer of his chapter.

Littleton has served two years as president of his chapter and was the area winner in the Speaking Contest.

Ray, who is the new chapter president, will serve as his chapters official delegate at the Convention.

The parents of these young men are: Mr. and Mrs. Grady Littleton, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Hilyer and Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Ray, Sr. all of Collins Chapel.

Big G.A. Picnic Friday At City Park

Girls, ages 9-12, of all the Baptist Churches of the Chilton-Unity Association, remember the GA Picnic to be held at the City Park in Clanton Friday, June 10 at 3 o'clock.

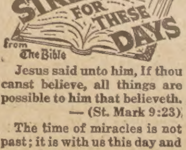
Bring a picnic lunch. Drinks will be on sale at the park.

According to Mrs. Gordon Conway, Assoc. GA Director, all pastors and GA directors are invited to attend.

Cemetery Working At Lime Springs

THERE will be a working at Lime Springs Church and cemetery, Saturday morning, June 11.

Please come early and bring hoes, rakes and tools. We would like for everyone who has loved ones buried here to come and help us.



Jesus said unto him, If thou canst believe, all things are possible to him that believeth. — (St. Mark 9:23).

The time of miracles is not past; it is with us this day and every day if we are strong and unshaken in our faith—and faith, ever the answer, means believing with all our heart and soul.

DRAINAGE PROBLEM NEARS ACTION

A letter from Congressman Armistead I. Selden brings to date a report on the work being accomplished on the drainage problems of Clanton. This report comes from U. S. Army Engineers Corps:

> "The report on flood problems at Clanton, Alabama, has been reviewed by the office, Chief of Engineers. Mobile District has made revisions in the report, responsive to that review.
